A YANKEE STORY.

The funny columns in the English papers derive more of their "stuff for smiles" from the journals of this country, than from any other source. We find in one of them this ludicrous anecdote of the "Bewitched Clock" which was quite new to us:

About half past eleven o'clock on Sunday night, a human leg, enveloped in blue broadcloth, "might have been seen" entering Deacon Cephas Barberry's kitchen window. The leg was followed finally, by the entire person of a live Yankee, attired in his Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes. It was in short, Joe Mayweed, who thus burglariously won his way into the deacon's kitchen.

"Wonder how much the old deacon made by orderin' me not to darken his doors agin?" soliloquized the young gentleman. "Promised him I wouldn't, but din't say nothin' about the winders. Winders is just as good as doors, if there ain't no nails to tear your trowsers onto. Wonder if Sally'll come down. The critter promised me. I'm afraid to move about here, cause I might break my shins over something nuther, and wake the old folks. Cold enough to freeze a Polish bear here.—O, here comes Sally."

The beauteous maid descended with a pleasant smile, a tallow candle, and a box of lucifer matches. After receiving a rapturous greeting, she made up a rousing fire in the cooking stove, and the happy couple sat down to enjoy their sweet interchange of vows and hopes. But the course of true love ran no smoother in old Barberry's kitchen than it does elsewhere, and Joe, who, just making up his mind to treat himself to a kiss, was startled by the voice of the deacon, her father, shouting from his chamber door, "Sally! What are you getting up in the middle of the night for?"

"Tell him it's most morning," whispered Joe.

"I can't tell a fib!" said Sally.

"I'll make it a truth, then," said Joe; and running to the huge, old-fashioned clock that stood in the corner, he set it at five.

"Look at the clock, and tell me what time it is," cried the old gentleman.

"It's five by the clock," answered Sally; and corroborating her words, the old clock struck five.

The lovers sat down again and resumed their conversation. Suddenly the staircase began to creak. "Goody gracious! It's father, exclaimed Sally!"

"The deacon! by thunder!" cried Joe.—"Hide me Sally!"

"Where can I hide you?" cried the distracted girl.

"Oh, I know," said he. "I'll squeeze into the clock-case!" And without another word, he concealed himself in the case, and closed the door.

The deacon was dressed, and sitting himself down by the cooking stove, pulled out his pipe, lighted it, and commenced smoking deliberately and calmly. "Five o'clock, eh?" said he.—

"Well, I shall have time to smoke three or four pipes, and then I'll go and feed the critters."

"Hadn't you better feed the critters fust, sir," suggested the dutiful Sally.

"No; smoking clears my head and wakes me up," replied the deacon, who seemed not a whit disposed to hurry his enjoyment.

Burr-r-r—whiz—ding! ding! ding! went the clock.

"Tormented lightning!" cried the deacon, starting up, and dropping his pipe on the stove; "what'n creation's that?"

"It's only the clock striking five! said Sally, tremulously.

Whizz! ding! ding! ding! went the clock furiously.

"Powers of mercy!" cried the deacon—

"Strikin' five? it's struck a hundred times already."

"Deacon Barberry!" cried the deacon's better half, who had hastily robed herself, and now came plunging down the staircase in the wildest state of alarm, "what is the matter with the clock?"

"Goodness only knows," replied the old man. It's been in the family these hundred years, and never knew it to carry on so afore,"

Whizz! ding! ding! ding! went the clock again.

"It'll bust itself!" cried the old lady, shedding a flood of tears, "and there wont be nothing left of it."

"It's bewitched," said the deacon, who retained a leaven of good old New England superstition in his nature. "Any how," said he, after a pause, advancing resolutely towards the clock, "I'll see what's got into it."

"Oh, don't!" cried his daughter, seizing one of his coat-tails, while his wife clung to the other. "Don't!" chorussed both women together.

"Let go my raiment," shouted the old deacon. "Ain't afeared of the powers of darkness."

But the women would not let go; so the deacon slipped out of his coat, and while, from the sudden cessation of resistance, they fell heavily on the floor, he darted forward, and laid his hand upon the clock-case. But no human power could open it, Joe was holding it inside with a death-grasp. The old deacon began to be dreadfully frightened.—He gave one more tug. An unearthly yell, as of a fiend in distress, burst from the inside, and then the clock-case pitching head foremost at the deacon, fell headlong on the floor, smashed its face, and wrecked its fair proportions. The current of air extinguished the light—the deacon, the old lady, and Sally, fled up stairs, and Joe Mayweed extricated himself from the clock, and effected his escape in the same way in which he entered.

The next day all Appleton was alive with the story of how Deacon Barberry's clock had been bewitched, and though many believed his version, some, and especially Joe Mayweed, effected to discredit the whole affair, hinting that the deacon had been trying the experiment of tasting frozen cider, and that the vagaries of the clock-case existed only in a distempered imagination.

However, the interdict being taken off, Joe was allowed to resume his courting, and won the consent of the old people to his union with Sally, by repairing the old clock till it went as well as ever.

THE PROVIDENCE DISASTER.

A few additional particulars, and some correctieus of errors, relating to the terrible railroad collision on the Providence and Worcester Road.

Killed: Rev. Samuel Penny, of Mansville, Mass.; Thomas Brown, of Whitinsville, Mass. Alexander Chalesworth, do; Wm. Fullerlove, do; Mrs. Geo. Plant, do; Peter Plant, her son, do; John K. Perkins, fireman on the down train of Uxbridge; Peter Rogers, of Milford, Mass; Jonathan Rogers, of the same town; Caroline Richmond, wife of Jonathan Richmond, Southbridge; Wm. W. Wood, of Milford; Mrs. Mallory, wife of Rev. S. S. Mallory, of Central Falls. Mrs. M. lingered till about noon. An Irishman, same unknown a second class passenger in the Providence train. Moses Bolton, of Whitinsville, who died at eight o'clock; fourteen in all. Twenty more were wounded; and some of them must die. Mr. Green, engineer, was very badly burnt, it is feared fatally. Mr. G. remained on the engine striving to slacken the speed until the moment of collision. George Griffith, the news-boy, who was reported as killed, was but little hurt.

Rev. Samuel Penny, of Mansville, Mass., was formerly Rector of the Episcopal church in that village, not Providence. Mr. P. was one of the most highly esteemed clergymen of the church of which he was a member. He was taken up dead, but showed no marks of bruises about his person; he must have died instantly from the effect of the shock. The wounded, with the exception of ten or twelve who were conveyed home, were taken to Pawtucket, about two miles from the place of the accident.

The large building, formerly occupied as the Pawtucket Hotel, was at once filled up, and used as a hospital for the unfortunate victims.

The accident occurred in Smithfield, a small village about a quarter of a mile from the Valley Falls Depot. The dead bodies were removed to Free Hall in Valley Falls, where an inquest proceeded to investigate the circumstances connected with the melancholy affair.

The accident is attributable to gross carelessness and neglect on the part of the conductor of the Uxbridge train, Mr. Putnam.—It appears the Uxbridge excursion train, waited somewhat over the proper time at Valley Falls; when the conductor was spoken to as to the propriety of continuing at that place until the up train, which was then nearly due, should arrive, he objected, stating that there was time enough to reach Pawsucket before the train arrived. A gentleman expostulated and endeavored to convince him, by two watches, that he was two minutes late. The engineer and depot master also urged a delay, but Putnam replied, "Go it—I'll risk it!" and his order was obeyed.

Before the train had proceeded sixty rods, the collision occurred. It was rumored on Friday evening that he had been arrested. He is represented as a worthy man, but incompetent for his position, which he has held but six weeks.

The Boston Courier, in remarking on this subject, says:

A few years ago the Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, in reply to a conductor who asked the question—"How long shall we wait for the down train, when it is late, before we proceed?"—said, "Wait until the wheels rust off, and then get new ones." Without doubt the Superintendent would be voted an "old fogy" by a large portion of the community—a man by no means fast enough for the present generation, inasmuch as he would not take the risk of landing his passengers in eternity, but preferred to allow them to growl at the railroad, and denounce its slow management, rather than to place in peril their lives and limbs. At this time, when railroad accidents are pouring in such disastrous results, it may not be improper to suggest to some of those who have stood an hour's delay with impatience and anger, that they should look at the consequences of mere lax direction, and answer whether anything but fixed and settled laws, which shall govern alike the passenger and the officer of the road, can ensure any safety to the community.

We believe the above mentioned regulation is still retained on the Eastern Railroad.

☞ At a meeting of the merchants of Philadelphia, $2700 was subscribed for the relief of the New Orleans sufferers by yellow fever. Gottschalk, the pianist, has tendered his services for a concert for the same purpose. In Baltimore, subscriptions were started among the merchants on Thursday, and $6000 collected in one day.

The contributions in New York in aid of the Howard Association of New Orleans, amount to about $20,000.

Master Paul Jullien has tendered a concert in aid of the same object.

☞ Twenty-seven persons died in New York on Friday last, from sun-stroke. Many deaths also occurred at Brooklyn, Williamsburgh, and other cities in the vicinity.

MATRIMONIAL.—In New York, on Monday, the 8th inst., Mr. Henry D. Beach, one of the proprietors of the Illustrated News, was united in wedlock to Miss Annie E. Fordham, among the most amiable and accomplished of the fair daughters of Gotham.

A NEW PETITION.—Some unknown hand has sent us the following petition, which is, we presume, designed for general circulation, and for presentation to Congress to its session:

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled:

The undersigned, citizens of —— respectfully petition your honorable body to provide, by law, that whenever any State of this Union, now admitting domestic slavery, shall decree the emancipation of all slaves and the final extinction of involuntary servitude within her borders, at exact enumeration of said slaves shall be made, and the sum of — dollars for each and every slave so emancipated shall be paid to such State from the treasury of the United States, at such periods, and in such manner as shall best promote the execution of said decree.

Those of our readers who are at all familiar with the opinions and writings of the late Andrew Halliburton, will recognize in it his petition, his oft expressed idea, that the proceeds of the public lands, or other means equivalent, ought to be devoted to a scheme of compensating slaveholders for emancipating their slaves. He saw the evil—felt the wrong and looked about for some practicable remedy. He could see nothing better than this.

THE DUEL.—Capt. Treanor and Mr. O'Donohoe, of duel notoriety, were examined before the Police Court in Boston, on Friday. The only witness called was W. F. A. Kelly, the complainant. He stated that he was first introduced to O'Donohoe on the morning after the Meagher Festival, and was informed that he had written letters to Mr. Meagher and Mr. Treanor, accusing them of ill-treatment at the dinner. Later in the day, at the request of Mr. O'Donohoe, witnesses called at the Adams House and had an interview with Maj. Mulcahay. What transpired at that interview was ruled out. Kelly told O'Donohoe to take no notice of the other parties, and if they continued to molest him, he would take measures to protect him. The next morning he saw O'Donohoe at the Pilot office, and saw a challenge in the hand-writing of Major Mulcahay, which was left at ten o'clock on Friday night. The court ruled that the acts of Mulcahay did not affect Treanor, unless there was evidence that he acted by the direction of Treanor. No proof of this being furnished, both parties were discharged from custody.—Boston Chronicle.

Thus ends the duel farce. Mr. Kelly has done a good act, nevertheless, as he has given the drunken patriots time to exercise a "sober second thought." If they keep sober hereafter, all will be well.

UNCERTAINTY OF LAW.—A laughable illustration of the heading of this article occurred in Illinois lately, as will be seen by the following from the Peoria News:

Mr. B. was out hunting with his rifle, and crossing the field of Mr. C., a Frenchman, C.'s large dog attacked him savagely, while C. stood looking on, without attempting to call off his dog; B. getting out of patience, shot the dog, and he fell apparently dead.—C., in high dudgeon, forthwith got out a warrant, and had B. arrested for killing his dog—swore to the killing, and was corroborated by two of his neighbors, who were present at the shooting. The magistrate fined B. ten dollars and costs, which amounted to about ten more; B. paid the fine and costs, and when the parties got home from the trial the dog had come home also, and was not killed. B. then got out a warrant against the Frenchman and his two associates for perjury, in swearing B. had killed the dog. They were frightened, and made peace with B., paid him back his twenty dollars, and ten more for his trouble—and no trial was had; and when the parties returned home from the last suit, lo! the dog was dead.

COCKNEYISM.—Every man who has not lived exclusively in the city, has observed that there is a verdancy of the town which is quite as deep as the greenness of the country, and a good deal more amusing. A diverting illustration of this is shown in the anecdote of the London cockney, who, never having been out of "the sound of Bow bells" before, escorted a lady to the observatory at Cambridge, to see an eclipse that was announced in the papers to be visible at a certain hour. The cockney driving rather slow, the lady expressed a fear that they would be too late to see the occultation. "O, never mind," replied the beau, with charming naivete, "if we should happen to be tardy, the professor, who is a friend of mine, will just go through the thing again!" An instance scarcely less amusing occurred at Hartford, Ct., not many months ago. An Oxford student, who was making a visit to Trinity College, on looking with great admiration at the rural beauties of the town and neighborhood, observed to one of the professors with delighted amazement, "You have scenery in America!" Well—we have—some—that's certain—and so the professor assured him!—Boston Post.

ABSOLUTIST ALLIANCE.—Le Republicain of the 3d inst., observes—"The various 'Chancelleries' have since 1852, formed a secred 'holy alliance.' The Jesuits have the idea, at once put in practice by the adherents of M. Bonaparte. The league embraces France, Russia, Austria, Rome, Naples and Spain.—It is a crusade, organized in the interior of each State, against liberal institutions—a war fermented against the nations who are yet free. The janissaries of the Pope, the company of Jesus, have furnished the directing committee; M. Carlier, and ex-prefect of M. Bonaparte's police, at present discharging no determinate functions, is the travelling agent. This political bird of the night is, in secret, uniting the threads of the conspiracy—the object of whose mysterious coalition is to annihilate Socialism, Democracy, Liberalism and Protestantism. In these sinister councils is meditated and planned the ruin and subjection of those nations whose liberties may not be stifled under the extinguisher of Catholicism. The dark conspirators have marked England and the United States on the map of the world, with a red cross, which designates those countries for proscription, should they prove difficult to subdue."

LOCAL.

SPARE THAT TREE!

We are told that there is a conspiracy formed—not to cut down one of the fine old elms on Islington street, for no one would think of doing that, in these days, we trust,—but to cut an awful gash on the butt of it, which must lead to its rapid decay. We hope wiser counsels will overrule any such projected inroad upon shade or ornamental trees, there or elsewhere in our city.

We remember full well a conspiracy against the good and beautiful elm tree which stood before Doctor Cutter's mansion house, (now the City Hotel) and shaded Congress street for a long way. The plea was, that the shop keepers and others could not see the dial of the town clock. On the same plea the poplars in front of the Rogers mansion were cut down.

It was all done in breach of the law, which gave selectmen no liberty to destroy trees properly located as they were, and which had been there a long time to the injury of no one.

The public have a right to the highway for travel and repair, and for no other purpose.—The land owner owns also the trees and their fruit, which grow in front of his premises, and towns ought not to take them away.

But beside rights strictly and technically legal, there are others of a moral kind, quite as strong. Thus, when public travel is impeded or injured by a tree in a widened or new highway, it ought to come down. A dead or rotten tree ought to be taken away, because it is dangerous; and a living tree ought not to be cut down, even by its owner, because its shade refreshes every passenger, and delights every beholder who has eye and taste. If the exigency or need of the owner were extreme, he would be justified in taking it down; but this rarely occurs.

If the new comers into our city, will walk out Middle street to the corner of Austin street, they may see a fine elm directly in front of a worthy citizen's door. That tree is much older than the house, and when the latter was in course of erection, some utilitarian said, Cut it down; it is right in the way.—No; said the taste of the mechanic who owned and built; the tree must stand; and I will build my steps to suit the tree. He did so; and the passers by to this day reverence his taste and bless his providence, though very few of them knew the man. The entrance and the tree give a character of beauty and dignity to the mansion and its neighborhood.

We have sometimes known trees in streets cut down or greatly bruised to make way for hauling houses. This is no legitimate use of a street—and the owners or movers of the house are clearly liable for damages. Moreover, no grant should ever be given for a house-hauling, except to a responsible man, and after careful examination of the route, to see whether trees, walks, &c., are in danger of injury.

True taste and real comfort belong together—and if with these were joined public spirit, the threefold cord would bind our citizens in bonds vastly stronger than mere proximity of residence or municipal regulations.

RAILROAD TO MONTREAL.

Messrs. Editors:—A good deal has been said and published lately, in relation to the distance from the seaboard to Montreal, and the assertion has been made that Portland is a great deal nearer than any other point.—Indeed I have heard it asserted that it is nearer or as near from Boston to Montreal by the way of Portland as by any other route. A few figures will show how this is. The distance from Montreal to Portland by the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railroad is 292 miles. The distance from Montreal to Portsmouth by existing routes is 304 miles, only 12 miles further than from Montreal to Portland. In order that there may be no cavil about this, I will give the railroads and the distance on each: Commencing at Montreal we have the Champlain & St. Lawrence to Rouse's Point, 44 miles; next the Vermont & Canada and Vermont Central from Rouse's Point to White River Junction, 144 miles; the Northern from White River Junction to Concord, 69 miles, and the Portsmouth & Concord, 47 miles, making 304 miles. By this route the distance from Montreal to Boston is 330 miles, while from Montreal to Boston by the way of Portland it is 396 miles—66 miles further than by the route through New Hampshire. Passengers leaving Boston in the morning, or Portsmouth at 6 A. M., arrive in Montreal at 6 P. M. of the same day.—When the railroad from Alton Bay to the Wiers is constructed, and from Wells River to Montpelier, Portsmouth will be 15 miles nearer to Montreal, than Portland is by the railroads now in operation.

FIGURES.

☞ Commodore Shubrick's despatches were under consideration in the Cabinet on Friday. It was a prolonged session.

☞ Alice Carey, in a poem—"An April Rhyme"—published in the National Era, uses this beautiful figure:

"Even for the dead I will not bind
My soul to grief—death cannot long divide;
For is it not as if the rose that climbed
My garden wall and blossomed the other side?"

A COSTLY MAN.—Bonaparte, by his wars, was the means, as is estimated, of destroying a million of lives. Probably his wars cost a billion of dollars. Keeping him a prisoner on the Island of St. Helena cost the British government a million of pounds sterling. He died and was buried, and in 1840 his remains were taken to France at a cost of $1,000,000.

FRANCE.—Since the attempt to assassinate the Emperor at the Opera Comique, neither the Emperor nor Empress had gone to a public theatre, but had arranged a series of representations at the private theatres of the Palaces, the first taking place at St. Cloud.

A balloon ascent took place at Mont-de-Marsan on the 20th, a young woman of 21 years of age, named Emma Verdier, the daughter of a gardener, being the aeronaut. In attempting to descend, the young woman fell to the ground in about two hours and a half after her ascent, at Montesquieu, a village 60 miles distant, and was killed on the pot.

The Toronto Patriot corroborates the statement of the Toronto Leader respecting the colored man that was found adrift on a gate in Lake Ontario. That paper, of this week, says:—

He gave his name as Ben Hockley, and stated that he had been a slave in Tennessee, from whence he had made his escape. At Oswego he heard that some men from the south were in pursuit of him, upon which he made his way to Lewiston. Arrived there he was afraid to apply for passage on any of the steamboats for fear of being detained or given up to his pursuers, but made a bold stroke for life and freedom by launching himself upon the gate, hoping by this means to make his way to the Canada side. He is a man of about 50 years of age.

If, as the informant of the Boston Journal alleges, the man was a resident of Toronto, it is singular that neither of the papers of that city should have learned the fact.

LUMBER TO PORTLAND.—Mr. Samuel Bidder, the Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, has made arrangements, as we are informed, to bring Lumber from Montreal to Portland, and it is believed that a large export trade in lumber will thereby be carried on between Portland and Liverpool—the Act of Congress, of Aug. 8, 1846, authorizing merchandize of every description, to be sent through our territory, under Bond, free of duty, from the British North American Provinces, to be exported thence within three years after. The plan of Mr. Bidder is to keep in Dock at Montreal, or on the Railway wharf, a supply of choice lumber, such as commands the highest price in the English Market. He proposes to attach to every freight train, that is not fully loaded with more valuable merchandize, one or more cars loaded with lumber, as the case may be. In this way every merchandize train will come fully loaded from Montreal, and no waste of engine power will be suffered. —State of Maine.

A TOOTH AS IS A TOOTH.—One of our citizens, Mr. B. L. Lewis, brought us this week a molar tooth of some leviathan of the deep, or monster of the land, found on the Withlacoochee river, partly in the bed of the stream, and partly in the mud of the bank.

The tooth, with only one fang remaining, weighs two pounds, measures five inches by three where the tooth emerges from the socket; is fourteen inches in circumference. There are six points, made by two deep cross indentions, and a shallow indentation lengthwise the plate. These points have protruded about two inches above the circuit of the gums; and the fangs were about four inches in their sockets. The whole is a petrified mass. The enamel of the tooth is perfect, except being blackened by the mud; which, no doubt, contains a large per cent. of sulphur. The animal, from the shape of the tooth, was evidently of the carniverous kind, and most likely an inhabitant of the water, or at least amphibious.

Mr. Lewis informs us there is at least a wagon load of the frame. He noticed parts of rib bones six inches broad, curving edgewise; parts of the spine, of immense dimensions, and part of what he took to be a shin bone, which was as large as a man's thigh; and the hollow which once contained the marrow, as large as the small part of his leg. He intends returning and bringing away all the frame to be found. We will notify our readers of all that turns up wonderful.—Ocala (Fla.) Mirror.

A ROMANTIC STORY.—A French paper relates that recently a young milk woman of the environs of La Baumette, newly married, was carrying the produce of her dairy to the market of Angers, when she found on her way a black cow fastened to a tree, and at a safe distance, under another tree, lay a huge bundle. Her curiosity was first attracted to the latter, which she found to contain a beautiful baby girl, wrapt in fine linen and warm flannels. On further examination, she found a purse containing twenty-five gold Napoleons, and an anonymous letter intimating that the mother of the child was driven by powerful considerations to part with it for several years; that the five thousand francs were for the person who would humanely supply her place, and the black cow was to afford the child milk; adding that the foster mother should every year receive an ample sum for the maintenance and education of the child, until circumstances permitted its natural parent to resume the charge. She young milkwoman accepted the trust thus reposed in her, and instead of proceeding to the market, hastened home with the young foundling, the cow, the purse, and the letter.

An inquisitive lawyer, famous for examining witnesses, had a nice old gentleman, and witty withal, upon the stand, questioning him upon his ability to loan money and give credit, resorting to all sorts of interrogatories to draw from him a statement of the amount of his property and in what it consisted—in fact how much he was worth. The old gentleman considering the questions rather impudent, for he was quite wealthy, answered that he had a wife he always called dear—a boy and girl that he would not sell for any money—a mortgage on two cows down east—a nice litter of pigs and the mother of the same—a barrel of cider that never saw daylight, and "a puppy that knows more than you do, for which I have been offered twenty-five dollars." —Boston Post.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 30 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Gen. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no pains to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life and its duties, with physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring the competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the signature in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and responsible dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and we have to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherons, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind. The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discounts to those who purchase by the quantity, and by ... the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF

Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of Merchants from all sections to their unusually extensive and well assorted assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

If having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

On and after Dec. 1st next, we shall occupy our New Marble Warehouse, now being erected, No 55 CHAMBERS ST., 4 doors from Broadway, directly opposite the Park. 1awsm fy 11

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This article which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND, Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

MR. ONCKEN'S MISSION.

Rev. J. C. Oncken, a Baptist preacher and missionary of Hamburg, has lately delivered a lecture in Portland, in which he detailed the rise and progress of the Baptist Church in Hamburg. He was its first pastor, and was ordained in his own house, in 1834.

He says:

We were then called to severe trials. The police descended upon us—the church was scattered—their pastor arrested and incarcerated in a dungeon. But out of that dispersion arose sixteen other meetings, and thus the gospel was spread through Hamburg. The pastor had a rest; and he found in the prison that union with God which can never be described. At last the pastor was released from prison, and as we could not meet where we had formerly met, his house was now the appointed place. But it became so crowded we were obliged to hire a larger house. This we did secretly. We resorted to our mighty weapon—prayer—and lived on.

Here occurred the great fire in Hamburg.—Was that to be made a blessing, an opening for the blessings of the Gospel? So it proved. When I saw that thousands would be without a home, we opened our chapel to the destitute. We housed and fed them, while we preached to them with great success—even to the conversion of hundreds. Under the circumstances these efforts could not be interfered with by the police of Hamburg with a very good grace; and in a little more than fourteen years our church had grown from seven to six hundred members, while we had thirty other stations round about the city.

Thus has this noble missionary spirit sent its influence into Holland, Denmark, Russia, Sweden and into parts of France, among fifty millions of souls. They have, so to speak, smuggled the gospel into Catholic Austria, in the form of portions of the New Testament, put in pamphlet form, having a cross stamped upon the cover. Thus have these beneficent teachings been sent where it would have been impossible for a missionary to have been heard. Beside this, boxes and boxes of other books and tracts, to the number of several millions, through the generous aid of Christians in America, have been strewed broadcast among the benighted and priest-ridden inhabitants of Europe.

IMPUDENCE EXTRAORDINARY.—A fellow named James Feeley, a sort of "middle man" at the North End, was arraigned in the Police Court Thursday afternoon, on a charge of assaulting and abusing a Mrs. McDonough.—The brutal treatment of the poor woman was made clear to all in Court, save one, the Judge on the bench. It appears that with little or no provocation, Feeley pulled her nose till the blood ran, struck her in the face twice, blacking both of her eyes, and not content with that, caught hold of her neck, and nearly choked her, she all the time holding her infant some three or four weeks old, in her arms. The case was clearly proved, but the villain was let off by Justice Cushing, whose action we think was very unjust, not to say stupid, with the low fine of $5 and costs.

The counsel for the prosecution, Mr. Harlow, in commenting upon the case, pronounced the conduct of the defendant,—and the testimony adduced in the trial warranted the use of the language,—ruffianly; whereupon Feeley jumped from the criminal block, and threatened to assault him. The Judge admonished the lawyer not to use such language; that the defendant was "high spirited" and "excitable," and so forth. Mr. Harlow repeated that the conduct of Feeley was outrageous; that he was a terror to his neighbors, and that the evidence in the present case went to show that he was a ruffian. Feeley again threatened to assault Mr. Harlow, and would have done so but for the interference of the officers. The case was at length brought to a close by the Judge ordering Feeley to pay a fine of $5 and costs. Feeley said, "I'd give ten more to have a slap at that fellow," pointing at Mr. Harlow. Upon this impudent declaration, the Judge observed kindly, "Stop, stop; don't you know I can commit you for contempt?" and then told the officers to keep Mister Feeley quiet. Feeley is a noisy fellow, and he has been before the Court for criminal offences times without number.—Boston Courier and Atlas.

We notice (says the Newburyport Herald,) that a prisoner before the Boston Police Court, was let off with a fine and costs, the whole amounting to $13, on conviction for a precisely similar offence, (only much more aggravated in its character,) for which an offender was sent by our Police Court, on the same day, to the House of Correction for four months, the Justice refusing to let him off with a fine.

Justice Cushing appears to great disadvantage in this report.

WITHOUT CREDIT.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Express, writing from Saratoga, gives the following:

Dinners at the Saratoga Lake, you are aware, form a prominent feature in the enjoyments of the season here.

Many of these take place every day, and it is customary to send the day previous to the host, announcing the number of which the party will consist, and the hour at which they propose discussing his fish and game. Well, yesterday, a gentleman gave orders for a repast to be served to-day, at 2 o'clock, for a select company from the U. S. Hotel.

"Very good sir, but who will be responsible for this dinner? I only wish one person to be so, that is my rule."

"Mr. Kennedy of Baltimore, late Secretary of the Navy."

"That may be, but I don't know anything about him," replied 'mine host.'

"Well, Mr. R. C. Winthrop of Boston, Speaker of the House of Representative, Senator, &c.—will he do?"

"Never heard of him, either—won't do," shaking his head, with a doubting expression in his eyes.

"Perhaps, then, you may have heard of Mr. Washington Irving, another of the party, sir,—will he do?"

"Why, I believe I have heard that name.—I suppose he may be responsible. You may have the dinner, sir,"—but still the manner was not over gracious, although the consent was gained of the cautious landlord. The party declare that Mr. Irving must now bear all the expenses of the entertainments, being the only one of credit among them.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1853.

ARMED FISHERMEN—DISARMED.

A well-informed Gloucester correspondent of the Traveller says:

The citizens of Gloucester have been somewhat amused in reading the telegraphic despatches from Washington, for the last few days; and it was original news to them in relation to the vessels from Gloucester being armed. Now the fact is, not a vessel has left this port this season armed, as the news-makers so have it at Washington. Muskets are carried by individuals among the crew, with a few ounces of powder and shot for the purpose of shooting game, &c.; this has always been done, and there is hardly a vessel afloat engaged in any business but what has one or more muskets on board. An armed vessel we should think, would be well provided with cannon and other warlike implements. The fishermen from Gloucester take a more manly course than arming themselves; they go to head-quarters and ask their government and their flag to protect them in their business, on all lawful grounds, at the Northeast coast.—They have a right to, and should demand a full protection from the government armed vessels.

A merchant of this town, who has lately returned home from Prince Edward's Island, where he spent several weeks, informs me that the people on the Island and that whole coast, did not demand from their home government or ask to have restrictions put on to keep away American fishermen; on the other hand they are willing to have Americans visit the coast, as they have had no little trade with them in years past.

But it is quite different from this at Halifax, St. John, and along that shore; from these places among many of the merchants, it is stated for a fact, the demand was made to the home government to have the "Yankee" fishermen routed from the grounds and driven off. This whole fishing trouble may be summed up in this, that the merchants at the Provinces want "reciprocity," and a good many other things for their benefit from the States: they are therefore pushing this fishing excitement in every way for the purpose, if possible, of bringing about "reciprocity." It is said that leading men from Halifax are now in Washington, and have been for some time time working for their interests on the fishery troubles. Hence, perhaps, the "telegraphic news" from Washington.

A DESPERADO.

In the Municipal Court, Boston, on Saturday, Henry Kelley, the chief of the harbor thieves, who stands convicted on three indictments, alleging attempts to kill officers Tarlton and Riggs, and to rob and kill Rufus Blanchard, was sentenced to ten years hard labor in the State Prison for knocking down Albert H. Felton, a railway conductor, on Sudbury street, in the night time, and robbing him of a gold watch valued at $125. Kelley, although a young man, is a desperate scoundrel. He is said to have been the leader of the Saal party of New York harbor thieves. He is not very well known in Boston. His fierce attack upon officer Tarlton—deliberately discharging six shots at him on the night of the arrest—shows his estimate of human life. The heroism with which the officer pursued the murderous highwayman is worthy of some token of public approval. Mr. Tarlton is one of the most efficient officers, and his recent display of courage has won for him the good will of the community. Such an officer is deserving of a purse of gold.

At the end of this sentence, for highway robbery, he ought to be sentenced to thirty or forty years more for the other crimes. Should a few of these six barreled thieves who shoot officers, happen to get shot themselves, it might diminish their relish for the business. The captain in New York harbor, who fired on a boat's crew of robbers, has done something towards diminishing the number of robberies.

The Newark Advertiser speaking concerning a wager on the milk product and keeping of cows, inquires what is the true equivalent in milk of one thousand pounds of common grass, or hay, fed to a first rate milker?—There are kept over six million cows in the United States, and not an owner thereof can answer the above simple question.

The question is quite simple; and the remark hardly less so; but the answer is not quite so simple. Before the true equivalent can be given, several questions more must be answered, such as—how far down in the catalogue do first-rate cows go, before we begin to see some that are second rate—whether 1000 pounds of grass are equivalent to as many pounds of hay—whether the cow has as much water as she needs, or half as much, or just enough to keep her from famishing—whether she is turned out of the yard into the pasture, or driven a mile—&c. &c.

When this question is answered, we have another, viz.: How far will a first rate horse trot in an hour, after he has eaten a peck of oats?

☞ The Boston Chronicle has commenced the second year of its existence. John H. Warland, late of the Lowell Courier, becomes its editor. Mr. Warland is a keen, vigorous writer, and has talents that peculiarly fit him for the position he has now taken.

THUNDER SHOWERS.—The thunder showers of Sunday evening were extensive and somewhat destructive.

We understand that three barns were burnt by lightning, at Kennebunk.

At Georgetown, Mass., the lightning struck the old Baptist parsonage, and instantly killed Mrs. Russell, wife of the Rev. Mr. Russell, the pastor of the Baptist church in that town. Mrs. Russell, at the time she was killed had a child in her arms, who was not injured; and four little boys were seated near her, all of whom escaped. One of the little boys, finding his mother did not move, ran to a neighbor's house and gave an alarm.

The lightning also struck in at least a dozen other towns in Massachusetts.

DEATHS FROM HEAT.—Nine persons died in Boston on Saturday and Sunday from heat, cold water, &c. 51 died in New York from like causes on Saturday; on Sunday the deaths in city from sun-stroke were 100. In Brooklyn, 96; Williamsburg, 3; Jersey City, 3; Staten Island, 4. The whole number of deaths by this cause, in five days, amounts to 220, nearly all foreigners.

A compositor in the N. Y. Herald office, Robert McCurdy, dropped dead at his stand on Sunday evening. Thermometer, at noon, on Sunday, was 93 1-2.

For the Morning Chronicle.

SONNET.—THE RAINBOW.

Child of the Sun! born of a thousand dyes,
Cradled mid-way between the earth and skies,
Bright thing of beauty to our vision given,
Too fair for earth—too fleeting, far, for heaven;
Last eve I watched thee, with enraptured eyes,
Trace out thy glowing pathway 'neath the skies,
With jewelled feet—at first with feeble pace,
Then, with a giant's stride, o'er-reaching space.
At first thy glittering hand, with diamond light,
Stretched faintly out to bid thy sire good night,—
Then, bolder grown, ye sought him in the West,
And waited, gazing, till he sank to rest;
And then ye faded silently away,
Like childhood's hour to manhood's darker day.

Portsmouth, August 14, 1853.

PEACHES are now coming forward in enormous quantities, chiefly from New Jersey, and the quality is improving. Seven or eight boat-loads, mostly from over the Camden & Amboy Railroad, arrive every day. The trade will reach its climax in about ten days. Up to this time, very good full sized peaches have been brought in. The price is about a dollar a basket, though some of the poorest qualities sell as low as twenty-five cents. We understand from a person in daily communication with the farmers, that it is expected the yield this year will be very large. Many farmers will each bring in three or four thousand baskets, and some as many as six or eight thousand. The trade is very useful to the thousand-and-one dock loafers who assist in unloading the boats and are to be seen going in every direction with baskets of fruit on their shoulders delivering to order. Some of them, if not closely watched, disappear mysteriously, and are not easily found.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

NEW MUSIC.—Some 60 years ago, says the Advertiser, a good lady from the interior visited Boston with her daughter, who had quite a musical taste, and urged her mother to satisfy it. "Pray, mother, buy me a ballad."—"Foolish child," cried the mamma, "you have as many as six ballads at home, Barbara Allen, the Merchant's Daughter, Young Johnny the Miller, and I know not what, what do you want of any more." If the young lady had lived in these days her worthy mother would have found it difficult to have put her daughter off with these remarks.

WHISKERS.—The Secretary of the Navy has issued the following:—

General Order.—The Regulations of this Department prescribing the Uniform and Dress of the Navy and Marine Corps, dated 8th March 1852, have been modified from this date so far as relates to beard, as follows, viz:

The Beard to be worn at the pleasure of the individual; but when worn, to be kept short, and neatly trimmed.

Approved, J. C. DOBBIN.
Navy Department, Aug. 3, 1853.

EARL OF STIRLING.—It appears that the Earl of Stirling, who has succeeded in getting his name into notoriety in connection with the fishing business on the shores of the Provinces, is the notorious Alexander Humphries, whose groundless claim to that title was completely destroyed by the proper court in Scotland some years ago.—Boston Advertiser.

At Northampton, Mass., on Friday, the 12th inst., while the officers were in the act of destroying about 250 gallons of liquor, it was set on fire by some thoughtless boys, and four of the bystanders were badly burnt, one of whom, named Cummings, was so severely injured that his recovery is doubtful.

NEW YORK POLITICS.—The State Executive Committee of the young Democracy, of New York, met in the Senate Chamber, at Albany, on Wednesday, and emphatically voted down, three to one, a resolution endorsing the Executive appointments of persons belonging to that State.

On Wednesday morning, as the cars were backing at the Greenwich station, Con., Rev. J. J. Woolsey, a resident at that place attempted to jump on the cars while in motion, and fell upon the track, when the wheels passed over one of his feet, crushing it to a jelly.—Amputation was immediately performed.

BARNSTEAD AGAINST THE WORLD.—There is a child in Barnstead, in this State, named Chesley, four weeks old, who has 2 grand-fathers; 2 grand-mothers; 3 great-grand-fathers; 4 great-grand-mothers, and 1 great-great-grand mother. All living in Barnstead and all enjoying a good degree of health.

LOCAL.

☞ We learn that the schooner Herald, of and from Rockland, with lime, bound to Boston, run on a ledge on Sunday evening, causing a leak. When near Boon Island, the captain discovered that the vessel was on fire, the smoke escaping through the seams of the deck. The schooner was immediately put away for this port, where she arrived (below,) on Monday forenoon. She was run ashore on Kittery Point, and stripped of her sails, rigging, &c. Of course she will be a total loss; at the last accounts, the fire had made such progress, that one could see through her sides. The captain's wife is reported to have been a passenger.

☞ Dr. Fitch gives his first Free lecture on diseases of the lungs, this evening, at the Cameneum, and we doubt not that those attending will be well rewarded for their trouble. The Manchester papers are unanimous in praising his lectures very highly; they are said to be plain, practical and strong in their reasoning, and very valuable for the advice they give.

Dr. Fitch may be consulted, at the Franklin House, for all diseases of the chest.

The Middle Street Baptist Society will make an excursion on the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad to Jones's Pond, near Raymond, on Thursday of this week,—starting from the P. & C. Railroad station in Portsmouth at half past 10.

The tickets are for sale at J. C. Carr's store, Market street—and it is particularly requested that all persons intending to take part in the excursion, would provide tickets as early as possible, on account of making proper arrangements.

I. O. OF O. F.—The Grand Encampment of New Hampshire held its annual session, at Concord, on Monday.

The Grand Lodge of New Hampshire holds it annual session to-day, in the Piscataqua Lodge Room, in this city. On Wednesday, the members of the Grand Lodge, accompanied by such members of the subordinate lodges as may wish to attend, will make an excursion to the Shoals in the Steamer Grace Darling, starting at 6 o'clock, A.M. Tickets for the excursion may be obtained of Bros. Geo. W. Towle, D. L. Stover and Thos. H. Odiorne.

MUSIC AND DANCING.—Our advertising columns contain a notice of the Festival of Beauty, which appears from the programme to be a Juvenile Opera, in which a large number of girls take parts, in singing and dancing. The children have been trained for several weeks by Messrs. Pennell and Packard, in preparation for the entertainment, which is to come off at the Temple on Wednesday evening. The same performances in other places, are highly spoken of in several papers published in the towns where they had their Festival.

☞ Rev. Mr. Moore is to be installed Pastor of the North Church on Wednesday afternoon. Public services commence at half-past two o'clock.

NAVAL.—The steamer Fulton was taken into the Dock yesterday, and the repairs needed were found to be so slight, as to make it unnecessary to float the dock into the basin. These repairs will be completed, and the steamer will probably come out of dock today.

☞ We understand Mr. Henry Whittemore, of this city, has received an appointment to be chief mason on the Navy Yard at this station.

LARCENY.—On Saturday last, a farmer from a neighboring town having purchased a lot of groceries for his family, had occasion to visit some friends in Court street, and stopped his wagon at the door. On his return he found his goods all gone, and was obliged to return and procure a new lot.

SUPERIOR COURT OF JUDICATURE FOR ROCKINGHAM CO., July Term, 1853.—Divorce was decreed between the following parties, viz:—

Susan A. Davis v. Alfred S. Davis, for extreme cruelty.

Dorothy Fisher v. Samuel Fisher for same cause.

Almira Balfe v. John Balfe, for same cause.

Shepherd v. Shepherd, for same cause.

John C. Hall v. Mary U. Hall, for adultery.

Several cases are still pending; in the meanwhile it becomes all husbands and wives to have a proper fear of the Superior Court before their eyes.—Exeter News-Letter.

ACCIDENT.—Capt. Thomas Frisbee of Kittery, while transacting business on Long wharf, Boston, on Saturday afternoon, fell and broke his leg. Dr. Brown of Beacon street was called, and set the limb, and the patient was then conveyed to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

YELLOW FEVER.—New Orleans, Aug. 13.—The deaths yesterday from yellow fever alone were about 200.

POTATO ROT.—The Salem Gazette says: "We learn that this mysterious disease has made its appearance in our vicinity with unexampled virulence, running like fire through whole fields, and leaving not a hill worth the digging. We understand, also, that some fields of squashes have met with a sudden blight.

Money Lost.

LOST, Thursday evening, probably in Vaughan street, a Porte Monnaie containing $86 in five-dollar bills—the earnings of a hard-working man. The finder shall be liberally rewarded, on leaving the same at this office.

From Washington.—Washington, Aug. 15.—The Cabinet is anxiously engaged on Costa, Gibson, the fishery and alleged English interference with slavery in Cuba.

A meeting was held here on Saturday, for the relief of the New Orleans sufferers. President Pierce addressed a letter enclosing a check for $50, and Banker Corcoran contributed $500; and about $800 were subscribed.—Committees were appointed to solicit material aid.

Disaster on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.—A passenger train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, while passing the switch at Cameron, twenty-seven miles east of Wheeling, on Friday, ran off the track, and three cars, containing over one hundred passengers were more or less bruised and scratched. The accident was caused by the turning of a switch, it is said, by some malicious person. Two men were lately discharged from the company's service, and they are suspected of having wilfuly turned off the switch, for revenge.

Hail Storm.—Much damage was done to crops in this town by a hail storm which passed through it last Monday, covering a track of about half a mile in width. Crops in the range of the storm, as a general thing, were entirely destroyed. Damage to farmers in this town could not be much less than three thousand dollars. Corn was broken down and cut to pieces, oats and other grain, cut up and completely demolished, and beans and other articles entirely ruined. Hail stones from the size of a pea up to the size of a pigeon's egg fell in great quantities, and in some houses hundreds of glass panes were broken. The damage to Mr. J. B. Peckett's crops is estimated at from four to five hundred dollars. —Bradford (Vt.) Enquirer.

Austria and the United States.—A letter from Smyrna, in the New York Times, informs us that the Kossta trouble made no difference in the usual courtesy displayed by the naval representatives of the two nations toward each other, for "on the Fourth of July the St. Louis was decked with her colors, and, very strange to say, the Austrian brig and schooner hoisted and saluted the American flag with twenty-one guns, which, as a matter of course, were immediately returned by the St. Louis." All the Consulates, including the Austrian, hoisted their flags in honor of the Fourth."

Result of Drunkenness.—A man named Welch, while drunk, was purposely thrown or accidentally fell from the fourth story window of a house in Half-Moon Place, Boston, on Saturday evening, and, striking upon his head, he was instantly killed. It appears that Welch's cousin, Cornelius Murphy, died in the place, from the effects of the heat on Friday. The family, without notifying Welch, took the body to East Cambridge for interment on Saturday afternoon. Upon the return of the funeral party, Welch was quite drunk and quarrelsome. The precise facts as to the manner of his death are not known as yet.

Opera Singing.—The musical critic of the New York Tribune thinks that the demands of the foreign singers are exorbitant, and says that a hundred dollars a night is enough for the best of them. Shameful! why the President of the United States gets three quarters as much! To be sure we can get music that people understand for a tenth the price; but if we want to hear singing that is entirely above our comprehension we must pay for it accordingly.—Providence Journal.

Mississippi Bonds—Important Decision. The New Orleans Bulletin of the 4th inst., says:—

By a private letter, dated Jackson, 30th ult. we learn that the High Court of Errors and Appeals—the Supreme Judicial tribunal of that state—have unanimously decided that Mississippi is legally bound to pay the Union Bank bonds; and that no action of the Legislature, or vote of the people, can affect the question. Each Judge delivered a very elaborate concurring opinion, which are represented as surpassingly able, convincing, covering the whole ground, and meeting and refuting every point raised in opposition.

Potato Blight.—In several fields in the neighborhood of St. Andrews, N. B., and in various other parts of the country, this dread malady has again made its appearance.

The heavy rains have proved fatal to the potatoes in the vicinity of New Haven. Many of them when pulled up by the roots are found to be so decayed as to present nothing but slimy strings, and large numbers of those taken from the ground, in an apparently sound and healthy state, decay in a few hours.

A Home-sick Colt.—The following story which we find in the Onondago Standard, presents one of the most remarkable cases of equine instinct that we have ever heard of:

"O. B. Herrick, Esq., of this village, purchased a colt, some four weeks since, in the State of Ohio, about twenty miles from Toledo. He led the colt to Toledo, then shipped him to Buffalo, on board a steamboat. From Buffalo he was brought by railroad to Syracuse, and then led to this place. Since he has been here he acts like a prisoner; has broken out of his pasture several times, and started off in the direction of Syracuse, but he has been overtaken and brought back. At last a heavy yoke was put upon him, to prevent his jumping. Last Monday night, however, he again escaped and ran to Syracuse. He got to the car-house about 3 o'clock in the morning, and ran immediately to a freight car, and tried to get aboard of it, but did not succeed. When the cars started west he ran after them as far as Geddes, but steam was too much for him, and he was obliged to give up the chase. He then returned to Syracuse, and tried to jump on another car, but he was prevented by his yoke. Some men about the cars then drove him away, but he shortly returned and went into the depot, seemingly determined to secure a passage at all hazards. Mr. H. found him there and brought him back.

The colt is a three year old roan, with black mane and tail. We are thus particular about describing him, as he may have a further inclination to travel, and may some day take passage on the cars, in which event his owner would be glad to hear from him.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, prepares prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He has invented and is the proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily derived from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, or here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as there are a few subjects only intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title-page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Founded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 250,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The higher point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m jel22*

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other house.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But which will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and as nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the alteration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted IS AND WILL BE DONE!

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in the full health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

DESTRUCTION OF THE IMPERIAL THEATRE, MOSCOW, BY FIRE.

At half-past nine o'clock on the morning of the 11th of last March, a dense cloud of smoke was observed from one of the fire station towers of Moscow, issuing from the roof of the large Imperial Theatre. Signals of alarm were immediately displayed; all the other fire stations being telegraphed to send to the place of the fire the engines at their disposal. It was soon found that the immense building was burning inside, and that the fire had already spread itself with an amazing velocity in all directions of the interior. The flames burst forth from the fallen roof and from the windows; black smoke rose high in the air, and sweeping over the northern vicinity of the theatre, obscured the light to such a degree that people could not well see what they were about.

Innumerable fire-brands flying in the air, threatened to set fire instantly to the whole neighborhood. Had there been more wind at the time, and had there not been snow lying deep on the ground and roofs of the houses, the catastrophe would have been inevitable. Notwithstanding an abundant supply of water, and the courageous exertions of the fire brigade, the whole building, one of the largest and best in Europe, presented at two o'clock in the afternoon, a mass of ruins, which continued to burn for two days.

The cause of the fire is not known. It originated on the stage, where there was work going on preparatory to a concert and tableaux vivans, that were to take place on the evening of the same day. The flames were first observed by one of the mechanics, who wanting to get some necessary instruments, opened the door of a small room, where they were deposited, and was scorched by the flames, that burst from this place, and which in an instant reaching the curtain, soon spread over the whole building.

From the suddenness of this melancholy occurrence, and from the number of employes permanently living with their families in the house, many lives were lost. Three skeletons were found in the ashes. Just at the commencement of the fire, three workmen, who had been engaged in the upper stories, finding no means to descend by the stair case—so rapid was the progress of the flames—jumped out of the windows to the lower roof, which, being of iron, soon became so intensely hot that two of the unfortunate beings, not capable of enduring the heat, threw themselves to the ground, and were killed by the fall.

The third with more presence of mind, made his way over the protuding broad cornices to the front roof, and there remained some minutes, till the greedy element, not content with the number of its victims, made its appearance close by him. The poor man cried loudly for help. Ladders were procured, but they did not reach the height at which he stood. He saw it; and, raising his arms to Heaven, he made a sign of the cross, and began to approach the edge of the precipice before him. In an instant more he would have become a corpse. Thousands of people stood all around gazing with horror at the immense pile, upon which this poor man remained helpless and hopeless. Silence like that of the grave reigned among the multitude. His fate seemed inevitable.

Suddenly was heard a voice, "Stay a moment, my good fellow! pray to God Almighty, and I will endeavor to save you!" All eyes were turned to the spot from whence these sentences were uttered. A group of three men were observed—common peasants—two of them holding by the arms a third, who was struggling hard to break from the hold of his friends. "Let me go, my lads," said he; "my heart is burning within me: I cannot bear the sight of a Christian soul thus perishing!"—With a powerful effort he broke from them.—The dense crowd gave way as he ran to the burning building, pulling from himself and at the same time throwing away his shool (sheepskin) and his hat. In an instant he was at the foot of the ladder; here he took off his boots, attached a rope round his waist; and seizing an oven-fork, which happened to lie close by, he began to ascend the ladder, which did not reach at the utmost to two-thirds of the height at which stood the victim.

Having attained the upper footstep, the generous man took hold of the rain-gutter; apparently it was not a very safe means of ascent, as it bent and rattled under his weight. But the man was resolved; he made the sign of the cross, and began to climb up. A cloud of suffocating smoke whirled around him; the flames were fast approaching; burning timber, red-hot sheets of roofing iron were falling down from every side; but what to him was all this? His heart was burning within his breast, he could not bear the sight of a Christian soul thus perishing.

This was a frosty day; the rain-gutter was cold as ice; his warm, sweaty palms and fingers stick and freeze to the iron tube, he tears them off painfully, leaving many bloody marks, and ascends higher and higher, till he puts his foot on a projecting cornice. From hence, by means of the oven fork, he handed the rope to the poor man above him. "Tie it fast to the hook which supports the gutter.—That's right. Now descend!" And he held the other end of the rope, and preceeding the man, still supporting him down the gutter, placed him on the ladder. The man was saved.

During all this time the multitude stood breathless; but when they saw them both out of danger, all hats were taken off, and the sign of the cross at every breast testified a general thanksgiving, and a loud shout approved the act of generosity. Every one pressed forward to see the hero of the scene. The first who approached him, an officer in the army, gave him twenty-five roubles silver, (about $20.) The example was followed: noblemen, merchants, peasants, took out their purses—some gave golden, some silver coins; some threw into his hat some copper copecks; all gave what they could. "God bless you, noble frend!" was heard from every side.

The name of this generous man is Bazil Marrin, a native of Government of Taroslaff. Being a roofer by trade, he for many years lived in St. Petersburgh, pursuing his vocation; but afterwards engaged himself as a boiler-maker at the Government Foundry at Kelpino. Last year he took leave of absence, and visited his native village. Having spent a few months with his friends, he was returning to St. Petersburgh, by way of Moscow, to avail himself of the railways. He came to the ancient capital the day before the fire; and, not having caught the train, was obliged to remain till the next day. As this was his first arrival in Moscow, he took the opportunity of seeing the Kremlin, the old fortress, and to visit its venerable cathedrals. There from some passer-by he heard of the fire, and hastened to the spot where he so nobly distinguished himself.

At three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day he took his seat in a railway carriage.—On the 13th of the same month he reached St. Petersburg, and again enlisted himself in the number of workmen at Kelpino. In two days after, he was summoned to the office of the police officer of the capital, where he was told that the Emperor desired to see him. He was accordingly taken to the palace. His Imperial Majesty received Marrin in his cabinet, and was pleased to say to him when he entered, "I thank you for a good action. Embrace me, and relate how you did it."

In simple words Marrin told his story; and when he finished, the Emperor dismissed him, saying, "Now you may go, but in case of need come to me at any time. Soon afterwards Marrin was rewarded with a medal and a sum of 150 roubles silver.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1853.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

GRAND JURY.

There is a considerable distinction between civil and criminal cases. Take the beginning of suits. Any individual aggrieved in person or property may freely resort to law, and prosecute at his will; but in a capital offence, for instance, the people, the country, by the grand jury, must first authorize a prosecution, and if they do not authorize it, it falls to the ground, and the accused is at once discharged. So it was in England. So it is here. This shield in favor of personal liberty is considered of so much value that the people in our organic laws, our constitutions, provide that no person shall be held for a capital or infamous crime, but upon the presentment of a grand jury. This great safeguard is thus Americanized—constitutionalized. As the country arraigns the accused, so it has been held from time immemorial that he might always put himself upon the country for trial and deliverance. If acquitted, the verdict is final. The court has no power to order a new trial. Nor can the jury be called to account for their verdict.

Such, says the Boston Post, is the radical difference between civil cases and criminal cases.

But anciently jurors often gave verdicts against the direction of the courts, and the first attempts to interfere with their ancient rights were by fining and imprisoning them. Blackstone, in alluding to this, indignantly denounced it as arbitrary, unconstitutional and illegal. Still jurors adhered to their rights. Then came the Star Chamber court, so familiar to all, of the infamous Stuarts.—This monstrous tribunal punished offences against the government with a heavy hand, and without the aid of juries. This was abolished by the long parliament in 1641, and then the government was obliged again to resort to the jury. It was in one of the early cases that Lilburne, whom Fox so warmly commends, threw himself on the jury.

Lilburne, who has been called the Cobbet of his day, was one of the levelers who was so insane as to demand annual parliaments, universal representation of the people, and to contend that Christianity did not justify kingcraft. While under sentence of banishment for a breach of the privilege of the parliament, and while under a sentence of death if he returned, he boldly made his appearance in England, and was arrested and tried. In this case the law was argued to the jury. But here the court charged against him and were for a conviction. For when the jury were called to account for having acquitted Lilburne, one of them, James Stevens, stated that the jury, "having weighed all which was said, and conceiving themselves, (notwithstanding what was said by the counsel and bench to the contrary) to be judges of the law, as well as of fact, they had found him not guilty." And when it is considered that such men as Harry Vane voted against the banishment of Lilburne, and that his offence was a mere political one, perhaps that of too great democracy, too great praise cannot be given to the high spirited jury who thus boldly stood between an innocent man and his enemies.

Death of an Officer.—In Philadelphia, on Starday, there were five deaths from the effects of the heat. Among the victims was General Bennett, who was taken sick while employed in the Assayer's Office at the Mint, —an appointment which he received only on Wednesday. Gen. Bennett served as captain in the Pennsylvania Volunteers during the Mexican war, and after his return was elected General of the second brigade. He was employed in a room at the Mint where the thermometer stood at 160. So say the papers—but can it be true?

Turkey in a Sunday School Procession.—The anniversary of American independence was celebrated in Sacramento, by a procession of the Sunday Schools, under the direction of Frances Tukey, Esq., chief marshal, and by a fireman's parade.

☞ In New York, on Monday, there were 27 more deaths from sun stroke, reported at the Coroner's office. These deaths occurred on Sunday.

☞ The collections in Philadelphia in aid of the New Orleans sufferers, amount to $11,000.

CHINESE CHRISTIANS.

Every person is more or less interested in reading the various stories of the Chinese revolution, in which the rebels or insurgents, as they are called if they fail, or the patriots as they will be if they succeed, are represented as Christians.

A newspaper, represents the images of Joss (Idol) as being all destroyed by the rebels, wherever they got the power into their hands. The rebels are making some stir and show about their Christianity. A Canton man who had been in Hong Kong, on being shown one of Tae-ping-wang's Christianity books, spat upon it, and said those who believed in it were thieves.

The reader may perhaps get an inkling as to what sort of people these new fashioned Christians really are, by some brief extracts from another paper published in China.

The Hong Kong Register of May 17, pronounces the statement that "the leaders of the movement are not merely formal professors of a religious system, but practical and spiritual Christians," sheer nonsense and humbug. It contends that the Christianity of these men has shown itself in robbery, licentousness and bloodshed. They glory in stating that they put to death 25,000 Tartars, without distinction of sex or age, since they have had possession of Nankin. It considers them as using religion merely as an engine to serve their ambitious ends. The way these men became acquainted with any part of Christian truth, is said to be thus:

Their principal leaders are men belonging to the Kwangse province in the South, and had never before been in the North of China, and the inference was natural that they must have obtained copies of the Chinese version of the Bible either in Hong Kong or Canton. This turns out to have been the case. A society of Chinese, called the Christian Union, which has been organized and instructed by Dr. Gutzlaff, was broken up when he went to Europe, and it is more than probable that some of the men now in high places with the rebels may have had some teaching at his hands, and others from missionaries in Canton.

At the late meeting between the British and rebel chiefs at Nankin, one of the leaders made mention of Dr. Hobson, of the London Missionary Society at Canton, and said that in his hospital, while under medical treatment, he had first heard of Christianity. No one can say what amount of Christianity may be in their ranks. The Register says there is undoubtedly great imposture and wild fanatacism among them. The leader, Tae-ping-wing, gives out that his origin was divine, and asserts that he his often taken up to Heaven, and has direct personal communion with God, and is the brother of Jesus Christ! His followers seem to entertain the same belief. In practice, he has thirty-six wives!

It is further stated that the use of opium is disallowed in their ranks and forbidden to their followers. In fact it is said that they have added the interdiction of the use of opium and tobacco to the ten commandments, tacking it on to the end of the seventh. It is stated that they have plenty of money. As they were poor men, they must have obtained this by plunder.

Too Good to be Lost.—A correspondent of the New York Times relates the following story:

As for advice, I doubt whether anybody—newspaper editors excepted—get so much of it and care so little for it as do publishers.—Many of them can tell good stories of their experience this way.

A number of years ago, a brace of very virtuous and somewhat elderly ladies formed themselves into a committee to remonstrate with a prominent publisher respecting the character of the books which he issued. Bulwer's novels, if I remember rightly, were the special objects of their indignation. The worthy bibliopole, who was at first taken aback by the vivacity of their assault, put in as a plea in mitigation that the greater portion of his publications were unexceptionable to even the severest criticism on the score of moral character.

The ladies looked dubiously over their spectacles.

Have you read this, or this, or this? he asked pointing out the titles of works on theology, and history, and biography, and poetry, and every department of literature which graced his extensive catalogue. Not one of them had the committee perused. Then, perhaps, hinted the publisher, you are not certain of the character of the works you object to; perhaps you have not read them.

Yes we have, answered the spokeswoman; we know their character perfectly well; we have read every word of them. Why will you publish such objectionable works?

Madam, replied the sly bibliopole with a smile, we publish them for ladies like yourself, who will never read anything else.

Suicide.—On Sunday evening, at Manchester, Catharine Colton, aged 22, and Clara C. Cochran, aged 19, factory girls, drowned themselves in the Canal. Cause, supposed to be disappointed love.

Charles Cummings, who was seriously injured by the burning of the condemned spirits in Northampton, Mass., on Friday, died on Sunday morning. He was aged 42, was the foreman of Hallett & Davis's piano forte manufactory, and was on a visit to Northampton, where the fatal accident occurred.

More Harbor Pirates.—In New York Harbor, on Monday, a desperate encounter occurred between Captain Thayer of the brig Alfred Hammond, and four river thieves, who seized him in the cabin while asleep, choked and attempted to throw him overboard. He finally drove them into their boat, and fired into it when one of the robbers was shot, fell overboard and was drowned. The others escaped.

Widow Paulina Newell, of Newport, N. H., whose son was killed on the New Haven railroad, at Norwalk, has received $3000 from the company.

THE METHODIST PIC-NIC.

The Sabbath School and Society connected with the Methodist church in this city, had a pic-nic on Tuesday, at Jones's Pond, in Raymond. The company was very large, filling four cars. They left the depot of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad between 10 and 11 o'clock, and arrived at the place selected for the pic-nic in good season for dinner, which was eaten among the trees and bushes.

After dinner the company were called to order by Rev. Mr. Spaulding, their pastor, and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Hoyt of Newington, who also favored his audience with a song, after which a few remarks suited to the occasion were made by Mr. Spaulding. After another song from Mr. Hoyt, the Rev. Mr. Mason of Raymond, came forward and read an original poem, written expressly for the occasion; the same gentleman then asked the benediction, and the company separated to amuse themselves as best they could till the hour arrived for departure.

A number of the party visited the residence of Mr. Scribner, the gentlemanly and generous proprietor of the woods occupied for the pic-nic, and were warmly received and hospitably treated.

The day was beautiful, and the only thing which occurred to mar the happiness of the occasion, was a disgraceful row, during which a number of old gentlemen were struck, one of them a severe blow in the face. The disturbance was caused by a gang of rowdies who seldom or never attend any church or Sabbath School, but who go to all the pic nics and make all the noise and trouble they can. The same fellows were at the North Church pic-nic last week, and caused some trouble. It would be well for those about having pic-nics, to ascertain who the rowdies are, and prevent them from going.

SEA SERPENT IN THE PISCATAQUA.

Three gentlemen of this city, Messrs. T. P. Moses, N. K. Raynes and Geo. Lolley, on Monday were down river in the pleasure boat Swan. When between Fort Point and Bell's wharf in New Castle, a serpent or snake passed close along-side, carrying his head about a foot out of water, nearly erect. The head was snake shaped, and the neck as large as a man's wrist. One of the party, Mr. Thos. P. Moses, struck the reptile a blow with an oar, which caused him to alter his motions as if hurt,—but after continuing his progress away from the boat's stern perhaps thirty yards, he changed his course as if to pursue the boat—but before the boat could be got about to reach him, he disappeared. His motions were quite rapid, and his snakish character beyond question. From what they could see of him, he was ten or twelve feet long, and might have been captured, if the men had had a small boat.

Naval.—The U. S. sloop of-war Cyane, arrived in Hampton Roads, on Friday, from Pensacola. She has been ordered to proceed direct to this port.

The U. S. steamer Fulton, needed but a trifling repair; she has come out of dock, and is lying near the Navy Yard.

☞ The Festival of Beauty, at the Temple last evening, was a pretty scene, of youth and flowers, seasons and evergreen. The light and easy dancing of the children in the presence of their parents—and the gentle voices that sung the Rose Girl and Dew Drop, made their way to ear and eye and heart. The whole piece, in four parts, is well devised and arranged; and, considering the short time for preparation, was fairly presented.

There was a good attendance; and the entertainment is to be repeated this evening, at a reduced price. See advertisement.

Sch. Herald.—Capt. Cranch, of schooner Herald, of Rockland, which was burnt in our lower harbor on Monday—desires us to say that his vessel did not strike a ledge, as reported—but probably sprung some small leak in the heavy sea. He first discovered the fire at about 7 o'clock on Monday morning, and immediately steered for this port, where the vessel arrived at 10, A. M.; was run ashore and stripped as before stated, and burnt to the water's edge.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE HUMBOLDT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.

Steamship Humboldt, from Havre 2d inst., Southampton, 3d, arrived at her wharf at 5 oclock P. M. She has 166 passengers, and brings dates from Liverpool to the 2nd and London to the 3d inst.

At Manchester business was satisfactory. At Birmingham there was much firmness in the iron trade, and copper was well maintained.

Admiral Dundas, of the English fleet, with all his captains, had been on a reconnoisance of the Turkish fortresses.

Russia demands of Persia, the concession of the province of Tauris, in lieu of the eighty millions of roubles due her.

There was a rumor in Vienna of a secret treaty between the United States and the Porte, and the probable cession of Marmarriza. Three American frigates were said to be in the Bosphorus.

It was feared that the Emperor of Russia would decline to withdraw his forces from the principalities as stipulated for in the proposition of the three powers. The English and French fleet would in that case be ordered to pass the Dardanelles, and a peaceful settlement greatly jeopardized. The telegraphic despatch of the 20th states that the Porte, and the representatives of the great powers had accepted the proposition of the Austrian Minister, which arranged that the English and French fleets should withdraw from Besica bay whilst the Russians evacuated the Danubean provinces. Turkey would then send an ambassador to open negotiations at St.Petersburg. Conferences were then to be opened at Vienna by the consent of Russia.

The Morning Chronicle reaffirms that the United States had offered the Porte money and active forces. (??)

A decline in the funds had been caused at Paris and London, by an article in the Constitutionnel declaring that France and England would not consent to the arrangement that had been proposed at Constantinople.

Great uneasiness was created by the news of a decree of the Czar ordering a fresh levy of recruits throughout the Empire, which was interpreted as a war measure.

It is asserted that the Porte intends addressing an ultimatum to Russia, in which after paying due regard to the rights of the Sultan's Christian subjects, that sovereign declares that if in spite of his repeated assurances, the Czar should persist in offering war, the Porte had resolved to accept it, but that the resposibility must lie with Russia. The above document, it is further asserted, had been communicated to the ambassadors of France and England.

A very favorable change had taken place in in the weather in England, which it was thought would have good effect on the wheat crop.

The reports of the spread of the potato disease are conflicting, but on the whole are unsatisfactory.

DEATHS AT NEW ORLEANS.—The total number of interments for the week ending at 6 o'clock, A. M., on the 12th inst., as furnished by the Secretary of the Board of Health was 1578, of which 1277 were by yellow fever; being an increase over the previous week, by the epidemic alone, of 398, and a total increase of 468. Nearly every person who can leave has done so.

The report of the Board of Health for the 24 hours ending 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, shows a slight diminution of the number of cases and deaths. The deaths by all diseases were 174, and by yellow fever 153.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A brakeman named Charles Bruce, was knocked off a freight train at a bridge on the Fitchburg Railroad, Tuesday morning, and instantly killed. He was standing upon the top of the cars.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps thought, or, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefited by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundredth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary interest.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot at manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal account to purchasers by the quantity, and by the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wsm je22*

IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF

Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of Merchants from all sections to their unrivalled assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not unlike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their stock, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are adapted to every section of the United States, Northern, South-ern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

On and after Dec. 1st next, we shall occupy our New Marble Warehouse, now being erected, No. 55 CHAMBERS ST., a few doors from Broadway, directly opposite the Park. law3m jy 11

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by its operation.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered: Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE PROVED.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Dayle; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND, Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

GREAT TRAVELLING.

We don't mean gliding over a railroad in a train drawn by an iron horse, or being dragged across the country by horses of another kind; but we speak now of real travelling on foot, by two Irish women, whose extraordinary effort at walking is recorded in the Cincinnati Gazette. They are immigrants, poor, and doubtless ignorant, but they must have great souls and warm hearts encased in healthy bodies. We have great hopes of the country which imports such women as these. Their vigor, faith and perseverance are worthy of being mixed up with the character of the best race of men on earth. The Cincinnati Gazette tells the story in this manner:

We were informed on Monday of a feat of walking, by two females, mother and daughter, which, for its extraordinary character, we never knew equalled. The females are of Irish birth, aged about 42 and 20 years respectively. They arrived in New York City from their mother country, (so they represent to us) five weeks ago from last Friday. They came alone, the remainder of the family having arrived and settled near this city about a year since. When the left the ship which brought them over, they had left about seven dollars in money. Not having enough to transport them to this city, and being entire strangers, they resolved on walking as far as they could, thinking possibly they might have an opportunity to ride over some of the road. The first three days they walked about forty miles a day. The fourth day they rode on a freight train about thirty miles and walked fifteen more. Thus they continued day after day, stopping at country houses for their food, and to rest over night.

At some of the places they were refused admission, while at others they were treated humanely. They kept the railway track from New York City up to Albany, thence to Buffalo. At Buffalo they rested two days, and then started again. They walked to Dunkirk, thence to Erie and Cleveland, and so anxious were they to meet their friends that they passed through Cleveland for this city. When at Spring Valley, on the Little Miami Railway, on Sunday morning, they requested of Conductor Fuller, permission to ride to this city, briefly stating their case, and recent tramp—satisfied that they told the truth, he generously took them on board and brought them to Cincinnati. They say that they asked of the conductors of the road roads permission to ride, and were in every instance refused.—Their time in coming through nearly 1000 miles on a railway track, excepting about 80 miles which they rode, was thirty one days and a half, resting two days. This was travelling on an average about thirty miles a day, a feat almost incredible for women, but we have every reason to believe it is true. Their names are Hannah and Mary Donohue.—Their friends are living in Covington.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Friday last, at 3 1-4 P. M., the express train on the Vermont Central Railroad, from Rouse's Point, ran off the track in Granville, about six miles below Roxbury, Vt. The engine and tender were buried in the bank, badly broken. The baggage car upset and smashed, and two passenger cars had seats broken and wheels torn off. The accident was caused by running against some cattle (killing 7 of them) while going at a rapid rate. On the engine was the engineer, fireman and a watchman, and in the baggage car were six passengers. No one was seriously injured. The passengers took shelter in the house of Mr. Ordway, about a quarter of a mile distant. Two or three passengers in the baggage car were some bruised, and one lady had her leg badly scraped. The conductor, Mr. J. B. Fletcher, did all that could be done to relieve the passengers. He sent a handcar back to Northfield, about 14 miles, and telegraphed to South Royalston for a train to come up and take them on.

After a detention of three hours the train arrived, and was obliged to back down to White River Junction, about 50 miles. The passengers attach no blame to the conductor or engineer.

Several gentlemen, with ladies, were on board the train from Boston and vicinity.—Among the passengers were J. C. Howe and lady of Boston, and Prof. Bowen and Thos. P. Ayer of Cambridge.

THE HORRORS OF SHIPWRECK.—Capt. Young and the only known survivors, ten in number—of the ill-fated bark Argyle, from Bristol for Quebec, laden with iron, before reported as having foundered at sea, arrived at Quebec 5th inst. Their sufferings have been dreadful. It appears they were nine days in one of the ship's boats, drifting about on the ocean, and that six of these days were passed without food or water—during which time several of the men in the boat died of exhaustion and hanger. Of the survivors, two are females—one of whom is an old lady, turned, we should say of 50, who, to add to her sufferings, was doomed to see her son, a fine strong young man of 23 years old, die of hunger by her side.

The other female is a young woman—and strange to say, both these females were exposed to the same privations that the men were, and yet they lived through them. There were twenty-five persons on board the Argyle, including three passengers, viz: the young woman, the old lady and her son, all of whom betook themselves to two of the ship's boats; one of which has not since been heard of, and it is feared that but nine of the twenty-five have been left to tell the sad tale.

SLAVE CASE IN ALLEGHANY.—Rescue of Slaves from a Supposed Kidnapper.—Yesterday information was received by certain persons connected with the "underground railway," in Alleghany City, that a man would arrive in the five o'clock train from Cincinnati, with four slaves, a mother and three children, which he had kidnapped in Missouri, under pretence of taking them to Baltimore and freeing them, when in reality his purpose was to sell the slaves. When the train arrived, sure enough, the gentleman and his colored friends were in the cars. The so-called kidnapper went in search of a cab, leaving the slaves in the cars. During his absence the "railway" men seized the woman and her children, and in spite of her own entreaties, placed them in a furniture car and drove up street at full speed.

Arriving at the Mayor's office, his honor, Mayor Park, was requested to take the slaves in his care; this he declined, but as a matter of humanity, allowed them to rest in the Mayor's office, as one of the children was unwell. While here, the choice of liberty or slavery for herself and children was left to the woman—she chose the former, and after restoratives had been applied to the child, the mother and her offspring were placed in the furniture car, and driven, no one knows where, but it is shrewdly supposed that they are now on their way to Canada. The gentleman in whose care the slaves were brought to the city, found it necessary to make himself scarce, in order to evade the fury of the colored hackmen and parties congregated at the depot.—Pittsburg Post.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 1853.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

NO JURY.

There are two sides to every question; and sometimes each may be seen from half a dozen points of view. We have our own opinion on the subject of jury trials, and on the importance of preserving our liberties from being explained away by the mere judicial decisions of irresponsible, independent, but not infallible judges.

Nevertheless, we are willing to present the other side of the question, and aim to do it fairly. We select therefore, from the new paper called "the State of Maine," a short article on Jury Trials, in which the editor takes the following strong ground in favor of abolishing the jury except in a very few cases:

Except in trials for political offences, or in capital cases perhaps, jury trials are the consummation of barbarous folly. Think of submitting questions of law and evidence to a set of men, who, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, know nothing about law or evidence! Think of requiring them to judge impromptu of a complicated case, upon which lawyers, after spending the best part of their lives in preparation, have spent whole days in clearing up! and then of being unanimous—all of one opinion, at their peril!

Notwithstanding our reverence for Blackstone, who had his reasons for upholding jury trials, and for warning us against all encroachments upon this "Palladium of British liberty"—we not scruple to say, that if such a clumsy contrivance were found among the ancient Mexicans, or Kaffirs, or Hottentots, and no where else, we should look upon it as conclusive evidence of their hopeless barbarism.—Instead of taking one man, or two, or three, acquainted with the subject, and with the law, and making them answerable, you give the question to twelve, ignorant, wholly unprepared—and then, to make all sure, strip them of all accountability, by insisting upon yea or nay, and nothing more!

Now we cannot think the principles of civil liberty have changed since Blackstone's day—though circumstances have changed materially.

In this country, in this State, our laws are made by legislators who stand on precisely the same ground as jurymen. Our statute laws are or ought to be framed by men who know what they mean, and how to say it.—And it would seem that it ought not to require uncommon learning to understand—plain English.

When nice questions arise, and when opposing lawyers tie up these questions into hard knots, then a good judge is wanted to unravel the tangled web of their sophistry, and judge between them, making his charge to the jury so plain that both they and the bystanders can see his points.

The jury, of "twelve ignorant, wholly unprepared" men, are now to take the law of the judge, the pleas of the lawyers, and the evidence of the witnesses, carry them out of court into their private chamber, and there weigh them in the scales of justice—until they can agree upon a verdict, which verdict is understood to be their own and not the judge's.

It is a poor compliment to the understanding of the mass of jurors, to suppose them incapable of understanding what a judge says, or of making up their minds, whether, on the whole, he is right or wrong. Such men have no business on the list. They ought to be thrown out as non compos.

The presiding judge has other important duties,—as a president over the whole, bar, jury, parties, spectators; as a moderator among the lawyers; and to protect timidity, or put down impudence in witnesses. To be, in short, the judge and minister of law, but not its maker, or dictator.

FOOT RACING.—After the trot on the Cambridge Park Course, on the 5th inst., a rather novel foot race came off by John Stetson, against time, for a purse of $400. He agreed to run around the course, harnessed to a sulkey, in 7:15, and did it in 6:45, the first half mile being accomplished in 3:47.

Another foot race took place on the 9th be between John Stetson and a man from Dover, N., H., for $50 a side. The Dover man won the race easily.

☞ The wounded fireman, Geo. H. Estee of Charlestown, Mass., who was injured on the 31st of March 1852, at the burning of the Tremont Temple, died of his injuries, on Tuesday. He was 28 years old. Flags were displayed upon the engine-houses in Cambridge and Charlestown, in respect to his memory.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

The arrival of the America brings Liverpool dates down to Saturday, August 6.

The eastern difficulty is within a few days of being settled, either for peace or war. The public generally look on the state of affairs as less satisfactory.

No one but Nicholas himself can know what his intentions are, and the multitude of statements telegraphed from Vienna, Paris and elsewhere, are for the mere purpose of influencing the market. At the same time, it is right to state that the conduct of the Russian Generals in the Principalities would indicate an intention to maintain permanent possession, and nothing has transpired elsewhere to show that Russia intends to retract; but nothing can be known with certainty, until the 10th or 12th of August.

This protracted uncertainty must be looked upon as giving an additional shade to the prospect. British Consols had declined slightly within three days. The contrast (remarks the Boston Courier,) which is exhibited between the conduct of the Czar and that of the Western powers is very striking, and any sharp observer may judge from it which of the two parties is likely to overreach the other. While they are manufacturing diplomatic notes, he is marching armies across the Turkish frontier. Moldavia and Wallachia are now firmly grasped in his clutches, and the Cossacks require but a word to pass the Danube—while not an arm is raised by Turkey and her professed allies to repel the invasion.—The game is now entirely in the hands of the Czar. He has ordered a new levy of 230,000 men. The ukase containing this order contains language of an exceedingly warlike nature, which the French journals have been forbidden to publish. The following is the concluding paragraph of the preamble:—"Russia fears nothing. In spite of calumny she pursues her course in the interest and for the greater glory of the orthodox faith, and will in the end scatter like dust all her enemies." It is worthy of remark, too, that the ukase is dated July 20th, the day on which the Czar received the last proposals from the French and British governments.

Latest by Telegraph.—The London Globe indicates the probable course of events, even if the Czar rejects the proposition, that an actual attack on the Russians will not ensue.—The allied fleets will merely take up a position under the walls of Constantinople. Negotiations will be resumed. Three months may elapse before they are completed, but war this year will be impossible, and a whole winter will be available to discuss matters.

This is doubtless an ingenious guess only.

Lieut. Maury met a highly respectable meeting of the Liverpool merchants on the 5th, and explained his wind and current theory. His observations were respectfully and apparently well received. The Mayor presided.

The order prohibiting the slaughter of cattle at Buenos Ayres has alarmed British importers of hides—the stock being lower than for fifteen years past.

The famous cab strike in London is at an end.

In the Liverpool markets, the unsettled state of Europe depresses cotton a little, and would raise the price of corn, but fine weather and free imports depress it.

Wheat is 2d lower. Flour 1s lower. Indian Corn firm at full rates. Western Canal Flour 27s; Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Ohio 27s 6d; U. S. white wheat 7s 10d; red 7s 3d 7s 9d; white Corn 31s32s; yellow 31s 6d. The harvest in Great Britain will be late, and Corn crops expected to be deficient.

SMART GIRL.—Not long since a C—n, pretty and accomplished, attended a ball in that city. She at once attracted the notice of a two-legged animal, miscalled a man, who proposed to her as a partner in the dance. The individual has a great respect for position in society, so after some conversation upon different subjects, he asked our young lady what profession her father followed. She fully appreciating the motive which induced the inquiry, promptly replied he was a wood sawyer.

This was altogether too much for the two-legged, and he bolted, not noticing his acquaintance again for the evening.

The fact was, the girl was the daughter of one of the wealthiest citizens in the town, and her father was a mahogany dealer, sawing out his own stock. The bolter subsequently found out how beautifully he had been taken in.—Boston Chronicle.

DEATH OF AN OLD SAILOR.—Captain Charles A. Beck, for twenty-eight years keeper of the light on Long Island Head in Boston harbor, died on Friday, at his residence on the island, aged 73 years. The deceased was a native of Sweden—served many years in the U. S. navy—was in the Constitution, and was appointed prize master of one of the vessels she took. At New Orleans, in 1815, he presented himself to Gen. Jackson, and worked a gun aboard the schooner Caroline on the day of the battle.

DIABOLICAL.—In Brooklyn, N. Y., last week, three fiends, pretending to be policemen, forced a young girl, 17 years of age, from her home, under pretence of having a warrant for her arrest. They took her to a bye place, knocked her down and violated her person, after which they successfully escaped. Hanging would be too good for such inhuman brutes.—Cour.

COMMON PLEAS JUDGE.—Ex-Gov. Briggs, Massachusetts, has been appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, in Place of Judge Merrick. The Pittsfield Eagle says that "the office was tendered to Gov. Briggs some three months ago, since which time he has had the matter under consideration up to within a few days, when he consented to accept the appointment."

LOCAL.

INSTALLATION.

Rev. Henry D. Moore, late of Philadelphia, was installed Pastor of the North Church in this city, on Wednesday afternoon, August 17. The attendance was very large and the services quite interesting. The following is the order of exercises:

Reading the Scriptures and Introductory Prayer, by Rev. Mr. Fay, of Hampton.

Sermon, by Rev. Professor Hitchcock, of Bowdoin College. His text was taken from 1 Timothy, 1, 11:—"According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust."

Consecrating Prayer, by Rev. Mr. Fitz, of Ipswich.

Charge to the Pastor, by Rev. Mr. Allen, of South Berwick.

Right Hand of Fellowship, by Rev. Mr. Robie, of Greenland.

Address to the people, by Rev. Mr. Clark, of East Boston.

Concluding Prayer, by Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Dover.

Benediction, by the Pastor.

EXCURSION.

The Grand Lodge of New Hampshire I. O. of O. F., by invitation of the Odd Fellows of this city, made an excursion to the Shoals yesterday, in the steamer Grace Darling, and appeared to enjoy themselves well, though their pleasure was somewhat damped by the rain which fell nearly all the time they were there.

On coming home, the Brothers of the Grand Lodge were called to order by Grand Master Tufts, and the following resolution was passed.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Grand Lodge be tendered to the Odd Fellows of Portsmouth, for this complimentary entertainment of a pleasant trip down the harbor, particularly the "chowder fixings."

Several pertinent conundrums were offered for solution, and the meeting dissolved.

☞ Orders have been received at the Navy Yard, to renew operations on the U. S. ship Franklin, and the seventy men discharged on Wednesday last have been recalled.

LAUNCH.—The beautiful clipper Morning Light will be launched from the yard of Messrs. Tobey & Littlefield, Noble's Island, on Saturday—probably about noon.

AUCTION SALE.—On Saturday last, H. F. Wendell, Esq., sold the Shorey House and land, on Anthony street, for $975.

NOT QUITE SO BAD.—Several papers, in Boston and elsewhere, have published a little paragraph, stating that a gentleman had his watch and money stolen from his clothes while in a bathing house at Rye Beach. The theft was of his watch only. No money was lost.

EXCURSION.—Engine Company No. 2, Niagara, Capt. Waldron, of Manchester, contemplate making an excursion to Dover, Portsmouth, and the Isles of Shoals. They are to leave Manchester on the eighth of next month, and will probably be here by the tenth. It is said to be a large company.

☞ Mrs. Partington recently visited Kittery Point; she made the passage in a small boat. Ike, having the helm, remarked, "Well, I think I'll not stand on this tack any longer." "Is it an iron or copper tack, dear?" said the old lady, looking up from her contemplative mood. "They say it's dangerous to stand on either in a thunder storm. But I wouldn't stand on it any longer, dear—for there's no knowing what may happen in these times of spiritual infections." "All hands, go about!" said the unmindful boy.

STRUCK.—A gentleman walking one of our public promenades, recently, was struck by a lady. It is thought that he will recover, notwithstanding the blow was a hard one—as the weapon used was only admiration. Such cases are of frequent occurrence in our streets.

☞ The contract for building the Eastern Railroad depot, Newburyport, has been given to Mr. William S. Dodge—which, says the Union, is a sufficient guarantee that the work will be performed in a workmanlike manner.

THE REPOSE OF THE DEAD.—One day last week, High Mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Church, in Newburyport, for the repose of the soul of a deceased brother of the Rev. Mr. Lennon, who died something like a year since.—Quite a number of clergymen were present, and the ceremonies attracted the attention of our Catholic population, as they were the first of like character in this city for such a purpose.

Our Puritan Fathers who settled here more than two hundred years since, so democratic in their notions that they elected their clergymen by ballot under a tree, so opposed to Catholic ceremonies that they buried their dead without a prayer, and even so averse to Episcopalian usages that they would not read the Bible in the meeting house, never dreamed that this would happen over their graves. It is a happy thing however, that each and all of us are in the full enjoyment of religious freedom, and in the eyes of the law there is no Jew and no Greek—but all alike may entertain their own opinions.—Newburyport Union.

☞ Dr. Fitch is to deliver a free lecture to ladies only, at the Cameneum, this afternoon, at a quarter past three o'clock.

ALLIGATORS.—The Galveston News has the following account of a most painful occurrence in Orange county, Texas:

We have just learned from Mr. C. C. Burch, from Sabine Pass, that about ten days ago, a small girl, ten years old, a daughter, he thinks, of Mr. Solomon Sparks, living at the mouth of Old River, Orange county, was caught by an alligator, as she was wading out to gather the nuts of the pond lily, and most horribly mutilated. Both her arms and both her legs were bitten off by pieces, and swallowed by the alligator, until her body was left limbless, and, of course, lifeless. This occurred near the residence of Mr. Sparks. As soon as the alarm was given, the alligator was shot and his body opened, where there was found not only the limbs of the unfortunate little victim, but also a part of a pair of pantaloons, with a pocket-book in the pocket, containing some money. The pantaloons were supposed to belong to a man, who had not long since been drowned in the Old River.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings sorrow to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

HARDSHIPS AT SEA.

The Boston Traveller tells the following tale of privation and terrible suffering at sea, where six persons lived in an open whale boat, for six days, without food or water.

On the 25th of February last, the schooner S. R. Soper, Capt. Samuel Soper, sailed from Provincetown, for a cruise in the Atlantic Ocean, for whales. Nothing unusual happened until about the last of July, when one morning a school of whales was discovered.—Three boats were immediately lowered, each containing five men, and commanded by the captain, first and second mates. The second mate killed the first whale, and towed him to the ship. The other whales then started off, pursued by the boats of the captain and mate. This was in longitude about 77—in latitude about 34. They continued the pursuit, and finally the captain fastened to and killed a forty-barrel sperm whale. By this time night began to set in, and no vessel was seen from the boats in any direction. This was rather startling, as they had no provisions or water on board, but upon consultation they agreed to stick by the whale until morning, in the hope that with returning daylight they should be able to find their vessel. When the morning broke, the horizon was anxiously scanned, but no vessel was to be seen.

All that day was spent in cruising round after her, and at night another consultation was held. They had compasses, but no time, and the captain ordered that during the night they should each go in a certain direction, and meet in the morning. The mate, Mr. Samuel Genn of Provincetown, states that he followed these directions carefully, but when the morning dawned, the captain's boat was not to be found. He spent a portion of the next day in searching for the captain, but finding his efforts vain, and that his crew were beginning to suffer dreadfully for food and water, they being in an open whaleboat, without protection from the fierce heat of the sun, he concluded that it was best for him to shape his course for the nearest land, which he did by steering a N. N. W. course. They had a sail but it was not of much use. Their sufferings from this time cannot be described. For once they saw a vessel. She was at some distance, and the sea was very rough, so that the mate deemed it impossible with safety to steer for her; and as those on board did not see the boat, they witnessed her disappearance with the feeling that their last hope was leaving them.

It now began to blow severely, and the mate was obliged to rig a "drug" with his oars and whaling lines, with which he was enabled to lie-to without danger. When the gale ceased he again put sail on the boat; but the crew were almost at the last gasp of suffering—their lips were black, and death seemed to stare them in the face. For the last twenty-four hours, so great were the pangs of thirst, that they began to drink salt water, which usually brings on delirium and death in a short time.

At the end of the sixth day they made Cape Fear, and went asore, reaching Beaufort, N.C. Mr. Genn and one of the crew, Cornelius Prince of Boston, worked their passage in a vessel to New York, and reached Boston on Sunday last, and are now at Provincetown.

What has been the fate of the captain and the five men in his boat, is unknown. They may have discovered the vessel, or they may have reached the shore. If they did not, they have probably all perished. There was a short rain one day while they were on board the boat, but they had no means to catch it.

The second mate and five men are on board the vessel, and she is probably safe, and will doubtless arrive at some Atlantic port in a few days. The face of the mate still bears the impress of the terrible sufferings he has undergone, in parched and blackenedlips, and sunken and deathlike features.

GAVAZZI.—Father Gavazzi spends most of his time at Flushing, L. I., visiting New York, and lecturing occasionally. It is thought that he will not revisit the Canadas—at least for the present. He proposed sailing immediately for Europe, in case active hostilities occurred, but the present aspect of affairs abroad is not regarded as favoring this design.

Father Gavazzi is in Saratoga, and was to have spoken in the grove on Monday.

THE NATICK MURDER.—Through the exertions of two benevolent ladies of Rev. Dr. Young's Society, of Boston, the sum of four hundred and five dollars has been contributed for the benefit of the children whose parents were murdered in Natick about a year since.

THE POTATO BLIGHT.—Many fields of four, six, and eight acres, in Roxbury, have perished entirely, and will be ploughed up. A week ago they were in fine condition, but now not a sound tuber can be found. The heavy rains, and the sudden transitions in the weather, have also proved fatal to the potato in many other localities, and it is feared the disease is very extensive. We hear of it in the vicinity of New Haven, Ct., and at St. Andrews, N. B., and other remote places.

DISEASED HIDES.—A young man, son of Mr. Bond, carrier, of Woburn, Mass., after handling some green hides, touched a scratch mark on his face, which produced poison, and death was the consequence.

Benjamin H. Bunker had three of his fingers sawed off in Jenness's steam mill at Strafford, N. H., on the 8th inst.

Four editors in New Orleans have died victims to the yellow fever—two of the Picayune, one of the Delta, and one of the Crescent.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,

CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.
THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Lincoln's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself—Portsmouth, Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClenry and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the testimonials given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power of the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during gulthood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge we dearly possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for causes simple and easy of cure and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence to which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE LATE SULTANA.

The death of the Sultana Bezur Aalem, mother of the reigning Sultan of the Ottoman Empire, has been announced. A letter dated Constantinople, May 5th, gives the following account of this remarkable woman. It is a remarkable fact, and one which we commend to the special attention of the advocates of woman's rights, that in a country where the woman are universally treated as playthings or slaves, a female should have acquired a powerful and controlling influence over the affairs of the nation:

"The princess was of Christian origin, and in 1811 was kidnapped by Circassian freebooters from a village near Ananour in Georgia. Her father was a wealthy peasant, and was killed fighting valiantly for the protection of his daughter. The girl, Mariam by name, was embarked at Sotcha, for Trebizonde, and from thence was conducted to Constantinople, and sold for £150 to the celebrated Kosref Pacha, who gave her the romantic name of Bezur-Aalem, (assembly of the world,) and on account of her beauty gave her an education to fit her for the imperial seraglio.—She learned to read and write, to play the tambourine, to sing, and to dance, and she acquired these accomplishments with astonishing facility. At the age of 14 she was presented by the Pacha to Heibctullah Sultana, Sultan Mahmoud's eldest sister, with whom she remained until she attained the age of 17 when, on account of her capacity and beauty, she was given to Sultan Mahmoud, who at once acknowledged her as one of his wives.—She had but one son, the present sovereign, Abdul Medjid, but she always maintained a superiority over all the other women, and was the preferred favorite. The monotonous life of the harem is easily imagined. It is a focus of intrigue and jealousy, and the princess had no occasion to display the talent and benevolence that has since rendered her so popular.

When in June 1839, the Sultan Mahmoud died, and his eldest son, Abdul Medjid, at the age of 16, buckled the sword of Osman, the Princess Bezur-Aalem became valide sultana, and took the reins of the State in hand. Things went on thus for many years. The son consulted his mother for every affair, and the mother's injunctions were religiously obeyed. We must slur over the intrigues of the sultana with Riza Pacha, they are of too notorious a character; but up to the last week she was engaged in the public business. She was naturally parsimonious, but her acts of benevolence are innumerable. She never forgot her Christian origin, and protected the followers of her former faith on all possible occasions. She was often to be seen incognito at the lokaf (tribunal) inquiring if justice was done to cases she had decreed, and more than one judge has been dismissed ,or acts of intolerance.

She often visited the poorer quarters of this city, and gave aid to the sick and needy, without making known her quality. The treasury allowed her a monthly stipend of £7727, but she expended double that sum, chiefly in acts of charity. She built and endowed the only Turkish civil hospital in Constantinople, and gave her name to it. She built and endowed the free school on the Lancasterian principle, under the direction of Kemal Effendi. She has also contributed towards the building and repairing of a great many public fountains.—The Turkish Steam Company was established through her influence and interest in the concern. The coal mines of Hereke are worked for her account. In fine, most of the enterprising commercial transactions have seen her among the chief shareholders with a view to encouragement. It is strange that she has not endowed a single mosque or Mussulman institution, and it is universally belived here that she still adhered to her Christian faith. She had repeated inquiries and researches made for the members of her family, but they were ineffectual. It is probable that the civil commotions and wars in the Caucasus have long since annihilated or dispersed her relatives.

LIGHTNING.—The house of Darius Angell, in Smithfield, was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon. It struck the corner of the house, and ran into the cellar,but did no other damage than knocking out a barrel head.—The same bolt struck a tree an eighth of a mile distant, in front of the house of Lyman Arnold. The sun was shining brightly all the time, and not a drop of rain fell. The rain passed to the North.—Providence Journal.

The cholera is on the increase in Persia, and advancing towards Tabriz. The plague had broken out in Khoristan.

SWIFT AND HIS SERVANT.—Dean Swift while on a journey, and stopping at a tavern, desired his servant John, who, by the way, was as eccentric as his master, to bring him his boots. John brought up the boots in the same state as they were taken off the evening previous.

"Why didn't you polish my boots?" said the Dean.

"There's no use in polishing them," said the man, "for they would soon be dirty again."

"Very true," said the Dean, and he put on the boots. Immediately after he went down to the landlady, and told her on no account to give his servant any breakfast. The Dean breakfasted, and then ordered the horses out. As he was ready to start, John ran to him and said—

"Mr. Dean, I haven't got my breakfast yet."

"Oh," replied the witty divine, "there's no use in your breakfasting, for you would soon be hungry again."

John finding his theory thrown back on himself, submitted to the privation with the same stoicism as did his master with his boots. On they rode, the Dean in front reading his prayer book, and the man behind at a respectful distance, when they were met by a gentleman, who after eyeing the Dean very closely, accosted the servant with,

"I say my man, you and your master seem to be a sober pair, may I ask who you are, and where you are going?"

"We are going to Heaven," replied John. "My master's praying and I'm fasting."

The gentleman looked again in wonderment at the master and man, and then rode off!

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19, 1853.

OLD IRONSIDES.

The following is a schedule of the ammunition expended by the frigate Constitution, in the action with the British frigate Guerriere, August 19, 1812, which lasted thirty-five minutes. It was copied from the log-book of the Constitution.

236	32-pd	"
10	18-pd	"
140	32-pd	stand of grape shot.
120	24-pd	" "
40	24-pd	cannister shot.
60	32-pd	"
47	24-pd	double-head shot.

Total 953 shot of all descriptions.
2376 pounds of gunpowder.

The above schedule is copied from a piece of paper found in clearing out an old office at the Navy Yard, and is presumed to be correct.

Additional interest may be attached to these memoranda from the circumstance that to-day, (Friday) being the 19th of August, is the 41st anniversary of the battle, in which the Constitution captured the Guerriere.

The Constitution, Capt. Isaac Hull, sailed from Boston on the 2d of August, 1812, and on the 19th, at 2 P. M., lat. 41° 42 N. long., 55° 33 W., discovered the British frigate Guerriere. After various manœuvres, at 5 minutes before 6 P. M., the Guerriere being alongside, within pistol shot, Capt. Hull of the Constitution, ordered a brisk firing to be commenced from all her guns, which were double-shotted with round and grape shot and so well directed and so warmly kept up was the American fire, that in fifteen minutes the mizzen-mast of the British frigate went by the board, and her main-yard in her slings.—Her hull was much injured; and her rigging and sails torn to pieces. The fire was kept up in the same spirited manner for fifteen minutes longer, by the Constitution. She had now taken a position for raking, on the bows of the British frigate; when the latter could only bring her bow guns to bear on the Constitution. The grape shot and small arms of the Constitution completely swept the decks of the British frigate. Thirty minutes after the commencement of the action by the Constitution, the mainmast and foremast of the British frigate went by the board, taking with them every spar except the bowsprit. She then struck her colors, which had been fastened to the stump of the mizzen-mast. The Constitution then set fore and main-sails, and hauled to the eastward to repair damages.—All her braces, a great part of her standing and running rigging, and some of her spars, were shot away. At 7 P. M., she stood under the lee of the prize, and sent a boat on board, which returned at 8 with Captain Dacres, commander of the frigate. She was the Guerriere, rating thirty-eight and mounting forty-nine guns. The hull of the Guerriere was so much shattered that a few more broadsides would have sunk her. She had 15 men killed, 61 wounded, and 24 missing, who, it is presumed, were swept overboard by the falling masts. The Constitution had only 7 killed and 7 wounded.

Among the wounded was Mr. Richard Dunn, who lost a leg in the action, and who has been a Gunner on the Navy Yard at this station, for a number of years.

BILLINGSGATE.

Billingsgate Market is situated on Thames street, London, and it is quite close to the river. It is there that a daily average of 60 tons of fish are brought, and are sold to men and women, who peddle them either through the streets, or in stands in the market. These women are proverbial over the world, for rude, unlicensed speech, and are also the type of coarse vulgarity. We have pleasure, (says the Worcester Spy) in presenting the ladies of Bellingsgate to our readers in a new and improved aspect.

The London "Nonconformist" gives an account of a free and generous supper given to some two hundred of these women in Bristol, by Mr. Edward Thomas, a member of the Society of Friends. They seemed to enjoy their repast richly; remained after the cloth was removed, and were addressed with affectionate kindness by Mr. Thomas, and by a benevolent lady (Mrs. Lloyd of Birmingham)—were cautioned against strong drink and scurrilous language; commended for their correct and pleasing deportment at this interview; were tenderly reminded of their relations to another world, and of the love of Jesus towards them, and at the close were entertained by the exhibition of a series of dissolving panoramic views, presented by means of the magic lantern. During the addresses, the greatest order and decorum prevailed; there was an utter absence of anything like levity or trifling, and the eyes of several were suffused with tears.

SLAVE ABDUCTION.—Paul Peguet, Esq., of Louisville, who was travelling east, and by force of circumstances, had been compelled to stop over night at Cincinnati, recently, had a valuable servant girl taken by the abolitionists of this city. The girl was valued at $1000 or $1500, and we understand that the owner has instituted a suit against the boat on which he was a passenger at the time, for the value of the slave.—Louisville Courier.

MUSIC IN GERMANY.

A translated article, on Music in Germany, appears in the Musical World and Times, from which we make the following extracts:

Composition.—"It is true, perhaps, that music is more an object of pursuit in Germany than in any other land; it may also be true, that there is more composing going on in Germany than all other lands put together; but the former serves only to prove a more universal appreciation and love of music, and the latter, an equally universal conceitedness as to the ability to produce better and more original things than others; that Germany produces more musical talent and greater masterpieces than other lands, is by no means herewith demonstrated."

Difference of Opinion.—There, as here, the public ear delights in tunes that can be understood—but some critics must have the extreme agony of catgut, and the most excruciating nonsense, to keep their ears erect.

"Nowhere else in the world are opinions concerning music so much at variance as in Germany. Either the public is well pleased with a new production, (like Lortzing's Czar and Carpenter, for instance) while critics either ignore it or condemn it altogether; or, the critics go into ecstacies over a work, while the public listens coldly and unsympathetically to the flattered production, or turns away with disgust therefrom.

In this respect I must place myself on the side of the public; for much of that which learned critics pronounce insignificant, affords me pleasure, excites pleasing sensations in me; while very much that is called exceedingly elevated or genial, leaves me cold, or repels me."

Only think of it; the silly man dares to trust his own ears, and likes or dislikes, without regard to science. Doubting after all, whether common people know when they are pleased, or not, he asks:

"Do the public and myself, then, lack proper understanding, or do we not possess the power of truthfully appreciating music?

I have zealously sought to be enlightened, have studied the criticisms of the leading journals, but—if I was first astonished at the variance between public opinion and the assertions of the critics, I am now still more thunderstruck at the sharp contentions of critics themselves, about one and the same work."

It comes back to this, at last, that our music, like our dinner, is a matter of taste, and if we think it is good, our neighbors need not be troubled. And this is no less true among Dutchmen than among Yankees.

A SINGULAR STATEMENT FOR A RELIGIOUS PAPER.—The New York Independent, a Congregational paper, with which Rev. Henry Ward Beecher is connected, holds the following language on skepticism and reform:

"Among all the earnest-minded young men who are at this moment leading in thought and action in America, we venture to say that four-fifths are skeptical even of the great historical facts of Christianity.

What is told as Christian doctrine by the churches is not even entertained by them.—And furthermore, there is among them a general ill-concealed distrust of the clerical body as a class, and an utter disgust with the very aspect of modern Christianity and of church worship. This skepticism is not flippant; little is said about it. It is not a peculiarity alone of the radicals and fanatics; many of them are men of calm and even balance of mind, and belong to no class of ultraists. It is not worldly and selfish. The doubters lead in the most self-denying enterprises of the day."

Other clergymen, well known in this vicinity, are also connected with the Independent. We suppose, however, that these clergymen overrate the amount of such extreme scepticism as is here stated,—though they are correct in supposing there is a great deal of it.

But we do not suppose they over-rate the degree of inattention to "what is told [held] as christian doctrine by the churches.". It is doubtless true to the full extent of the statement, and we see no present prospect of its being otherwise. Assent in words, or a tacit nod of the head in acquiescence, may be far removed from a hearty belief or mental conviction.

We think our young men would do well to study and master the Book of Job, in which the great principles of natural religion are discussed with such breadth and boldness of thought, as would prepare their minds to grapple fearlessly with every form of erroneous religion that can be presented, and then to shake them off, as Paul did the viper, and feel no harm."

MORE SHOE PEGGING.—We last week published a statement that two young men in Danvers pegged 160 pairs of women's spring heel shoes in ten hours, driving 125 pegs to a shoe, or 250 to a pair. But a young shoemaker in Sutton informs the Danvers boys that they must try once more, as two young men in Sutton pegged, not long since, 100 pairs of men's brogans in ten hours, two rows, 230 pegs to a shoe, or 460 to a pair, which is 6000 pegs more than the Danvers boys drove. Besides, the pegs for brogans are longer, and it is harder work to drive them.

SAD ACCIDENT.—The Milford Journal states that on Sunday evening, 7th inst; Mr. Freligh, with his wife and child, were on a visit at the house of Mr. Howley, when the latter, becoming ill with cramp or the like in the stomach, took chloroform; after which the sponge was laid near a bowl of milk used for feeding the child, which was about a year old, and of this milk the child soon partook, and in two hours it was a corpse. The milk had probably absorbed the evaporation of the chloroform.

LOCAL.

MUNICIPAL.—In the Board of Aldermen, Mr. E. S. Wendell represented that he intended building on the corner of Islington and Ann streets, and asked the usual privileges—granted.

Melcher street was accepted—the petitioners to furnish plans of the street.

The petitioners for the extension of Howard st. had leave to withdraw their petition.

A number of bills were approved, and the board adjourned.

In the Council no quorum was present.

☞ The Festival of Beauty, which was so successfully brought out by Messrs. Packard & Pennell, at the Temple, in this city, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings,—will be repeated, at the suggestion of many friends, on Wednesday evening next, at the same place. Particulars will be given in a future notice.

The young ladies and misses who are members of the class, will meet on Monday afternoon at 3 and 5 o'clock, in the Temple.

☞ Dr. Fitch has demonstrated in his lectures, that consumption, like other disorders of the human frame, is curable—and in his practice acts on such a conviction. He is ready to give advice in all cases of diseased and impaired lungs, and has for years been connected in most successful practice in such cases. See advertisement.

☞ The citizens of Exeter have subscribed an amount which has induced the owners of the telegraph, to open an office for the transmission of despatches in that town.

CORONER'S VERDICT.

The Inquest on the Providence Disaster have rendered a verdict, that the accident results from the carelessness, inexperience and want of judgment of Frederick W. Putnam, conductor; blaming, also, the managers and whole conduct of the road.

The Providence Journal adds:

Frederick Putnam, the conductor, has been arrested, and held to bail in the sum of ten thousand dollars to answer the charge made against him by the coroner's inquest.

It is not at all probable that a jury will find him guilty of murder or manslaughter, though he is probably guilty of the latter. The travelling public wish to go too fast—and our legislation in respect to railroads is so disjointed, variable and uncertain, as to give little protection to life or limb.

BOSTON CUSTOM HOUSE.

The latest news from that important institution comes to us via Concord, N. H., where a Boston correspondent of the Patriot writes:

"Affairs about the Custom House are fast being brought into proper shape. Gen. Peaslee is winning golden opinions on every side, for the considerate and business-like manner in which he executes his new duties. He takes hold of them, not merely as a politician who feels that there are demands on him from the party which ought and must be satisfied, but as a man of business. * * * On his accession to the Collectorship, he had a heavy and unpleasant work before him—the work of making removals and appointments. To meet the expectations of his friends in this respect, was to call down on his head the anathemas of his opponents; but he took the bull by the horns, and went through the work like a man determined to see that right and justice were done at all hazards. * * He has evidently aimed to secure the services of working men, and at the same time answer the just expectations of the party outside the city of Boston. Coming as he did into office untrammelled by the influences that are too apt to prevail and rule in this locality, he was able to be independent, and to act solely as the interests of the government and as justice to the rank and file of the party required."

A FIERY PARAGRAPH.—The Boston Courier says:

"Mr. Cummings, who was killed by the destruction of liquors at Northampton, Mass., was an excellent man, much esteemed by his friends and employers, and leaves a family to whom his life is of more value than are all the sanguinary liquor laws in the world.

Or liquor either, unless the widow and the children are fond of "the article."

The Courier continues,

"His wife has the same right in equity to indemnification from those who poured out the liquors by which he was killed, as she would have had if his life had been lost on a railroad. He was walking along the street—the executioners poured the liquor down hill, when some nincompoops set fire to it. The noodles above endeavored to extinguish the flames with a barrel of beer, but failed, and Mr. Cummings, while passing along, received part of an exploded barrel in his breast, and inhaled the burning vapor, so that he lived in agony a couple days, and then expired."

In addition to the "executioners," "noodles" and "nincompoops" above mentioned, —the bereaved woman might sue the owners of the liquor—but it is very doubtful if she ever got anything We think, however, she ought to have a remedy on the State, by the execution of whose law her husband lost his life.

☞ The merchants and others in New York have contributed the noble sum of $53,431, in aid of the suffering by yellow fever in New Orleans. In Boston the subscriptions amount to $31,25.

ENGLISH ITEMS.

A Religious Quarrel.—At the Exeter assizes the Rev. Mr. Fisher, vicar of Abbotskerswell, was sued for an assault by a Sunday school teacher named Creed, who, true to his name, stood out for strict orthodoxy, and quarrelled with the reverend gentleman to the extent that he provoked him on one occasion, when arguing on the school question, to assault him severely. The jury awarded Mr. Creed £300 damages.

Elopement.—Capt. Berkley, the son of Sir George of that name, eloped lately with the "unfortunate"—as the Liverpool papers call her—wife of Sir Bourchier Wrey. Sir Bourchier has been staying at his marine residence in Barnstaple, leaving the gallant captain on "a few weeks' visit" with his wife.

Disappointment.—An immense crowd had assembled at Pembroke dock yard to witness the launch of the ninety gun ship Cæsar. She glided down the slip with every appearance of success; but just on reaching the water, without any known cause, she came to a dead stand-still, and, notwithstanding every possible attempt to move her, there she stuck hard and fast.

Deaths from Heat in New York.—The New York Times gives a list of 48 cases of death, on which coroners' inquests were held on Tuesday. On the preceding day there was a still longer list. It is difficult to ascertain the precise number of deaths from this cause, as many deaths have been reported as of persons unknown, some of whom have been subsequently identified and reported.

It is added, at the most moderate calculation, not far from two hundred and fifty persons perished in this city alone, from the excessive heat. Of this number not twenty were born in this country. The large majority were Irish emigrants, recently arrived, and laboring as masons on new buildings, or servant girls, fresh in arduous situations. A few Germans and English helped to swell out the long and terrible catalogue of the deeds of the deeds of the sun.

The Virginia Pan Handle.—The map of the United States shows between Pennsylvania and Ohio, a strip of territory belonging to Virginia. This strip extends over sixty miles in length, and in some places not more than four miles wide. Its western boundary is the Ohio river, which divides it from the State of the same name. This territory, from its peculiar shape and its position towards the rest of the State, is called "The Pan Handle." The appropriateness of the name will appear by looking at the map. Midway in the length of the Pan Handle is Wheeling, on the Ohio, and twenty-five miles further up is Steubenville, which is about opposite Pittsburg, and on the line between that city and Columbus. On this line a railroad is projected and chartered by the Legislatures of Pennsylvania and Ohio, but the Legislature of Virginia, under the influence of Wheeling, which is the commercial rival of Pittsburg, has refused to allow the road to pass across the "Pan Handle." But the projectors have secured the right of way of the individual land owners, and are making such progress that they expect to complete it before the meeting of the Legislature of Virginia. There is no law to prevent the construction of a railroad in this way, and no necessity for a charter. When once completed and in operation, it will pass under the protection of the law of Congress, which makes all railroads post routes as soon as they are in operation. This is the "Pan Handle Railroad," of which we hear in the papers. It will make an important communication for Pittsburg and Philadelphia to the West. It is to be regretted that it is made the cause of so much jealousy between rival cities.

Open rivalry between cities, where each tries to do more and better than the other, is honorable. But that jealousy, which, as in the case above named, aims to prevail by keeping back another city, is as mean as a similar feeling and like course among individuals.

Sudden Death from Fright.—A young lady named Pierce, from one of the towns on Cape Cod, who was visiting friends in Blue Point, Scarboro', Me., in returning from a visit to the sea-shore on Tuesday evening, with a friend, instead of taking the public road back, took a bye-path across a pasture, which was shorter. In the pasture there were a few cows, who were playing together and joining horns in sportive contest, which frightened the girl, who supposed they would attack her, and notwithstanding the assurances of safety by her companion, who was familiar with such demonstrations, she fell into convulsions, through fear, probably ruptured a blood vessel internally, and died in three hours afterwards. She was an orphan girl, about 23 years old, and was greatly beloved by her acquaintances and friends.

The Missing Boat's Crew of the S. R. Soper.—A letter from Provincetown states that a letter had been received there from Captain Soper, to the effect that he found the ship in twelve hours after parting with the mate, and thus escaped the terrible suffering experienced by those in the mate's boat, as described yesterday.

The Cholera in Copenhagen.—The details of the ravages of the cholera at Copenhagen are heart-sickening. The accounts state that the most frequent passengers in the streets are the carpenters' men carrying home coffins. Omnibuses convey full loads of corpses to the burying grounds, where hands are insufficient to dig the graves, and clergy are wanting to read the burial service. Last Sunday 170 coffins were lying in the churchyard, exposed to the broiling sun, and had lain there since the Sunday previous. The lower orders divide their day between work and funerals; the reckless are to be heard rollicking in taverns. The rich have applied within the last few days, to the number of 14,000, for passports to leave the place; the hereditary Prince and his consort have resolved on staying in Copenhagen to serve as an encouragement and an example.

Washington, Aug. 16.—Mr. Zantzinger, of the Treasury Department, has paid up the deficiency in his account with the government.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 30 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to
S. R. CLEAVES, Agent,
At Portsmouth & Concord Station.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.
Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT!
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in the work entitled

Health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

BE OFF WITH YOU NOW.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Be off with you now—don't I know
That it's only cajoling you are;
With "cheeks like the rose's soft glow,
And glances more bright than the star!"
'Tis true that my waist is but small,
And my ringlets may curl like the vine;
But I'm not an angel at all!
Nor am I the least bit divine!

So be off with you now—don't I see
You're deluding from evening until dawn?
My steps may be bounding and free,
But I'm not in the least like a fawn!
But 'twas ever the method we know,
Since Adam and Eve began—
That bosoms were sure to be sore,
And necks were, of course, like the swan!

Come, be off with you now till you learn
To woo like a plain-hearted youth;
Let your mind, if you love me, discern,
To win, you must woo me with truth!
I would rather—instead of these flowers,
In which you are ever so rife—
That you promised to love me all hours,

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

COUGH REMEDY!

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,
AND ALL OTHER LUNG COMPLAINTS
TENDING TO

CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Antimony, Mercury, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilirating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers active in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted is FACT BEYOND DOUBT!

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1853.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
GENOA, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

HOW TO PLAY THE PIANO.

The other evening we were at a party of a friend of ours, and among the lot was a gay Miss, who had just returned from boarding school, when after many solicitations and apologies, she seated herself at the piano, rocked to the right, then to the left, leaned forward, then backward, and began. She placed her right hand about midway the keys, and her left about two octaves below them. She now puffs off the right to a brisk canter upon the treble notes, and her left after it. The left then led the way back, and the right pursued it in like manner. The right turned and repeated its movement, but the left out run it this time, hopped over it and flung it entirely off the track. It came in again, however, behind the left, on its return, and passed it in the same style. They now became highly incensed at each other, and met furiously on the middle ground. Here a most awful conflict ensued for a short space, when the right whipped off all of a sudden, as we thought fairly vanquished; but we were in error in what Jack Randolph cautions us, it had only "fallen back to a stronger position." It had mounted up two back keys, and commenced the note of a rattlesnake. This had a wonderful effect upon the left, and placed the doctrine of snake-charming beyond dispute. The left rushed toward it repeatedly, but seemed invariably panic-struck when it came within six keys of it, and as invariably retired with a tremendous roar down the bass keys; continued its assaults, sometimes by a zigzag movement, but all its attempts to dislodge the right from its stronghold proved ineffectual; it came close up to its adversary and expired.

Any one, or rather no one, can imagine what kind of noises the piano made during the conflict. Certain it is that no one can describe them, and, therefore, we shall not attempt it. The battle ended. Miss Jane moved as though she would have risen, but this Ma protested against by a number of voices at once.

"One song, my dear Jane," said Mrs. Small, "you must sing that sweet little French air you used to sing, and which Madame Pigsiguhaki is so fond of."

Miss Jane looked pitiful at her mamma, and her mamma looked "sing" at Miss Jane; accordingly she squared herself for a song.—She brought her hands into a capus this time in fine style, and they seemed to be perfectly reconciled to each other; then commenced a kind of colloquy, the right whispering treble very softly, and the left responding bass very loudly.

The conference had been kept up until we began to desire a change upon the subject, when our ears caught, indistinctly, some very curious sounds which appeared to proceed from the lips of Miss Jane; they seemed to be a compound of a dry cough and a hiccough, and it appeared to us, as interpreters between the right and left. Things had progressed in this way for about fifteen seconds, when we happened to direct our attention to Mr. Ross.—His eyes were closed, his head swung gracefully from side to side, a beam of heavenly complacency rested on his countenance, and his whole man gave irresistible demonstrations that Jane's music had made him feel good all over. We resolved from this contemplation of Mr. Ross's transport, to see whether we could extract from the performance anything intelligible, when Miss Jane made a fly-catching grab at half a dozen keys in a row, and at the same time instant she fetched a long dung-hill cock-crow, at the conclusion of which she grappled at as many keys with the left.—This came over Ross like a warm bath, and over us like a rack of bamboo briars. Our nerves had not recovered until Miss Jane repeated the movement, accompanying it with the squeal of a pinched cat. This threw us into an ague fit, but from respect to the performer, we maintained our position. She now made a third grasp with her right, and at the same time raised one of the most uncarthly howls that ever issued from the throat of any human being.

This seemed the signal for universal uproar and destruction. She now threw away all reserve, and charged the piano with her whole force. She boxed it, she clawed it, she scraped it. Her neck-veins swelled, her chin flew up, her face flushed, her eyes glared, her bosom heaved; she screamed, she howled, she yelled, she cackled, and was in the act of dwelling upon the note of a screech-owl, when we took the St. Vitus' dance and rushed out of the room. "Goodness!" said a bystander, "if this be her singing, what must be her crying?"

AN ASTONISHING YOUTH.—At the United States Hotel, recently, was stopping a colored boy, named William Marcy, whose extraordinary mathematical powers have greatly astonished all who have witnessed his demonstrations. He will add up columns of figures any length, divide any given sum, multiply millions by thousands within five minutes from the time the figures are given him, and with such exactness as to render it truly wonderful. Yesterday noon, in presence of a party of gentlemen, he added a column of figures, eight in a line, and about a hundred and eighty lines, making the sum total of several millions, in about six minutes.—The feat was so astounding and apparently incredible, that several of the party took off their coats, and dividing the sum went to work, and in two hours after they commenced produce identically the same answer. The boy is not quite seventeen years of age; he cannot read nor write, and in every other branch of an English education is entirely deficient. His parents reside in Kentucky, near Louisville.—Cincinnati Gazette.

BRIBERY AT ELECTIONS IN ENGLAND.—The agitation now going on in England on the subject of bribery at elections, has brought to light some enormous facts. One paper says:—"With all our corruptions we don't spend quite as much on contested elections as did our ancestors. In 1768, at the Northampton election (decided in favor of Lord Spencer) that nobleman spent nearly £140,000; Lord Halifax was ruined; and Lord Northampton, besides cutting all his old timber, to the amount of £50,000, sold most of his furniture from Ashby, and the whole of that at Campton, and spent the rest of his life in Switzerland."

ROME.—A letter from states "that the Pope has been laid up with a scalded foot." Punch says he does not wonder at this, since the Holy Father has been for a long time in hot water. News of the 12th from Rome state that the health of the Pope is daily becoming more precarious. He is suffering from a severe attack of asthma and general debility.—The Pope is 61 years of age.

Much agitation prevails in the Roman states from fear of famine. These has been a short wheat harvest in Tuscany, and much uneasiness at Ravenna, Faenza and Imola. The exportation of corn has been forbidden.

SAD CASE.—A Mrs. Wheaton, a woman with seven children, on her way to Wisconsin, was most cruelly robbed of $75, her all, at the Boston Railroad depot, at East Albany, yesterday afternoon, while selecting her baggage in the freight house, having just arrived from Pittsfield. Being left entirely destitute, she was compelled, with her children, the greater part of whom were females, to lodge in the station house over night.—Albany Transcript.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 20, 1853.

YELLOW FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS.

A despatch of the 18th sets down the total number of deaths for the week at 1532, of which number there were 1369 deaths by yellow fever. The Howard Association have taken charge of about 4000 patients at a cost of $10 each.

Total number of deaths for the last 24 hours was 213, of which 187 were by yellow fever. The epidemic rages as badly as ever. The weather is unfavorable.

A private despatch from New Orleans says they are unable to bury all the dead, and last week 125 bodies were burned.

In St. Patrick's cemetery corpses were left uncovered on account of scruples about consecrated or unconsecrated ground, thus showing the entire sincerity of the poor ignorant people who cherish such a silly superstition.

The ship Camillus, from New Orleans for London July 19th, returned on the 14th inst., in distress, Capt. Vickers and six of the crew having died of yellow fever. Contributions for the sufferers are in process of collection in all the northern cities.

It is deserving of mention that Rev. Mr. Clapp, the distinguished Unitarian and Universalist minister in New Orleans, being at the north on a visit, immediately on the news of the terrible ravages which the fever was making, cut short at once his visit, and turned his steps back to that city, saying he should be needed there, and more useful than anywhere else.

A writer in the Picayune traces the yellow fever, that now desolates New Orleans, to the men who discharged the cargo of the ship Adelaide, from Rio Janeiro, which ship left that port when the fever was at its height.—He says three successive gangs employed upon that job, sickened. He contends that every epidemic of the sort recorded, can be traced to importation.

The New Orleans Delta attributes a great deal of the mortality to whiskey drinking, excitement, impradence and uncleanliness among a large class of immigrants from Europe and the Northern States, who live in miserable houses, and bring with them habits and tastes which are bad enough any where, but which seal their doom at New Orleans in a fever season.

CASE OF RENDITION.

Despatches from Cincinnati inform us that a fugitive slave, represented as the property of Henry Mills, of Kentucky, was arrested at Cincinnati, night of 15th inst. The case was brought before Judge McLean, of the United States Supreme Court, who gave it one or two hearings, and at last, on the morning of the 18th ordered the slave to the custody of his master who took him over the river in the afternoon. An excited crowd was present, but no disturbance ensued.

Judge McLean, in answer to objections, raised by counsel for the slave, stated that the fugitive slave laws of 1793 and 1850 were constitutional; that no State had power to pass a law preventing fugitive slaves from being delivered to those to whom they owed service; that no proof was necessary before the Supreme Court that slavery existed in the State from whence the fugitive escaped, as it should be taken for granted that a Supreme Court judge knew the laws of all the States; that States could not be compeelld to give up a fugitive by a law of Congress if the provision in the constitution did not require them to do so; that slavery exists by the authority of law, and as it so exists in the slave states, said law not being an infringement on the constitution, the free states are bound to recognize it in delivering up fugitive slaves upon clear proof that they are such.

A Pill for the Doctors.—The celebrated Dr. James Johnson, editor of the London Medico Chirurgical Review, thus unbosoms himself:—

"I declare as my conscientious opinion, founded on long experience and reflection, that if there was not a single physician, surgeon, apothecary, man-midwife, chemist, druggist, nor drug on the face of the earth, there would be less sickness, and less mortality than now prevails."

No drugs on the earth? Why don't somebody imagine how it would be if there were no trees? One is just as supposable as the other. And the doctor and druggist will exist as long as sickness exists. If not by their present name, there must be such persons called by some name.

Mary Jane Whitham, aged 21, jumped or fell from a third story window of a house of ill-fame, in New York, two or three nights ago, while in a somnambulic state—and was killed. She was a native of Nottingham, N.H.

Off the Track.—A locomotive that runs without rails has been exhibited in Paris. It was attached to two cars, which it drew along the streets, around abrupt corners, advancing and retiring with ease. It has four wheels, with broad felloes.

FROM BOMBAY.

Rev. Amos Abbott, now city missionary of Portsmouth, but formerly a Missionary at Bombay, has favored us with an opportunity for perusing, if we can, a copy of "The Deepeeka," a Bombay newspaper, published by the natives in the Maratta language. The printing is good, though to us rather unintelligible. The matter for the paper is first written with a pen, and, by a chemical process, transferred to stone, from which the edition is printed—so that in fact the paper is a lithograph. The Deepeeka is rather smaller than our sheet, and of a dusky color. It is published weekly, at about a quarter of a dollar per month.

Mr. Abbot has translated for us the following paragraphs:

There is now in Bombay a priest of the Mormon order, residing near the Miller school house, by the name of Hugh Findley. He affirms that the Christian religion is true, but says that the Protestants do not follow the Christian religion at all. He affirms that God has hands and feet like us, and that Jesus and the Holy Ghost are in all respects different.—Now you Protestant priests (Missionaries) go to this Mr. Findley, and according to your wisdom, contend with him; show the same opposition to him that you do to the Hindoos. If not, we think your success among us will become more and more difficult.

We learn from the "Citizen," that the cholera is prevailing in Calcutta to an awful extent. In two days of one week about two thousand persons died with the disease.

Later from St. Thomas.—Accounts from St. Thomas to the 3d August have been received at New York:

There has been an insurrection among the negroes at the Island of Tortola. The town has been burnt, and several persons have been killed. All the whites were fleeing, and many have just arrived at St. Thomas. Soldiers were sent from St. Thomas to quell the revolt. This is only the beginning of what must eventually and soon be the result in all the British W. I. Islands, where the negroes have the supremacy of power, which is the case in most of the smaller islands.

This reads very much like what the sailors call "a yarn,"—and needs confirmation before it can be believed by any one who understands West India matters. There may be some facts in the statement; but the next accounts will change the face of the story.

The African Fever (called Yellow Fever,) which has caused such frightful ravages the past year, at St. Thomas, among sailors and strangers, has nearly left, and the Island is becoming once more healthy.

Macaulay.—The London correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune gives the following item:—

The third volume of Macaulay's history, is to appear in a few weeks, the celebrated author having at last delivered his MS. to his publisher. His friends never believed that he would be able to finish it, as the excessive use of opium, to which he is addicted, has destroyed his health, and prevents him from any continued mental exertion. A Tory author, whom I saw a few days back, remarked about the expected third volume of Macaulay, "it will be his story, but not History."

A correspondent of the London Christian Times states on the authority of the official visitor to the Roman convents, that one half of the nuns die raving mad, before reaching the age of 25 years.

If true, this is horrible; but it looks to us very like a falsehood. If the official visitor states it as a fact, we would like to see his statement. Till then, we remain incredulous.

Vagrant Sold in St. Louis.—A white man, named Charles Denoyer, convicted of vagrancy in the town of Carondalet, was yesterday sold by the Deputy County Marshal at the Court House door in this city, for ten cents. Sights of this sort are repugnant to the feelings of freemen, and we hope that if our sister city of Carondalet has any more vagrants to sell, the bidding may come off within her own limits. By the by, the heathenish custom of selling free white men ought to be abolished. It is one of the usages of the dark ages.—St. Louis News, Aug. 9.

Heathenish, sure enough, and ought to be abolished—but all of a piece with another dark usage which is common at St. Louis.

Wonderful Women.—There are now exhibiting in Boston three women who may truly be regarded as "female wonders."—There is Mrs. Norton, a young lady sixteen years old, and measuring only seven feet four and a half inches in height! By her side is Mrs. Briggs, measuring but thirty-one inches! To complete the tryo is Miss. Emma Taylor, seven years old and weighing two hundred and nine pounds. The three together present a novel combination of extremes.

LOCAL.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads: on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

Juvenile Rowdyism.—On last Thursday, as the steam-mill operatives were returning from dinner, the disorderly Irish, English and Scotch boys of the mill, waylaid other more respectable operatives with the pre-determination of producing a quarrel. There were at one time several close combats, while others were engaged throwing brick-bats, sticks, etc., at each other. Around these quarrelsome fellows were many lookers-on, in full enjoyment of the disturbance. One boy by the name of Drew, was injured by a severe laceration of one of his ears, caused by the sharp edge of a brick-bat, from the hand of a boy named Benson. In the height of the affray, Dr. Brewster, in his capacity as a magistrate, interfered and quelled the disturbance. Officer Towle shortly after pursued the culprits with a warrant, and arrested James Benson, Dennie Dwyre, John Buckley, James Hennesey and James Smith, and arraigned them before Justice Parker, in the Police Court. Others named in the warrant have disappeared, but are to be taken for trial. Hennesey was acquitted; the four others plead guilty, and were sentenced to pay fines and costs, amounting to $13.93, and stand committed as prisoners till the same be complied with.

His Honor, the Justice, offered some very appropriate warnings to the unruly urchins—the Major then marched them off to pay their fines, or be detained to receive rations.

Drunkenness.—A woman about 50 years of age, has just been sentenced by the Police Court of this city, to ninety days labor to the House of Correction, for the crime of being a common drunknrd. We withhold her name.

☞ Thomas L. Tullock, Esq., our late Postmaster, has been appointed Treasurer of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, in place of Samuel Storer, Esq., resigned.

Naval.—The U. S. steamer Fulton, Lieut. Com. Watson, left this port last evening, for the fishing grounds.

Launch.—The clipper ship Morning Light will be launched from the yard of Messrs. Tobey & Littlefield, Noble's Island, at about 12 o'clock to-day.

She is clipper built, of 1800 tons, and is owned by Messrs. Glidden & Williams, of Boston, and will load in their line of San Francisco clippers. Those who have inspected her say that for beauty of outline and strength of construction she is not surpassed by any ship of her class ever built in Portsmouth.—Journal.

Death of Capt. Haven.—A despatch dated Savannah, August 18, says, ship John Cumming, from New Orleans for Bordeaux, was spoken near Savannah, a few days previous to 16th inst., leaky and disabled. Capt. Haven, three seamen and two passengers had died of yellow fever, and the remainder were sick.

Captain Alexander Haven was a citizen and native of this city, a son of Mr. William Haven. His age was about 30 years, and he was a man of excellent character and much promise. His loss is deeply mourned by his relatives and friends.

N. H. SUPERIOR COURT.

☞ We learn that the Superior Court, which commenced its session in Concord, on July 12th, finally adjourned last week, on Friday. Not many cases were decided for Rockingham county, except the cases for divorce, and but one case for Merrimac county; all the cases not otherwise disposed of, are continued.

Clairvoyance.—Mr. Sandborn, one of the best clairvoyants and fortune tellers in the country, who has rooms at No. 4 Bow street, is to remain in the city a few days longer, and those who wish to consult him should do so soon. We called on him a few evenings since, and had a very pleasant time, and if our fortune is half as good as he prophesied, we shall be perfectly satisfied. For particulars, see advertisement.

A new born infant was found on the track of the Central Railroad in Louisa County, Va., naked except a handkerchief tied around its neck, with which it had probably been let down from the passing cars by its unnatural mother. It was taken care of by a gentleman in the neighborhood.

Steamboat Disaster.—Buffalo, August 18.—The new steamer Mississippi, collapsed her boiler last night, about 25 miles out of port, killing the fireman and scalding two others. The accident was caused, it is supposed, by a flaw in the iron of the flue. The boat has returned to port.

PROVIDENCE AND WORCESTER RAILROAD.—The Board of Directors of the Providence and Worcester Railroad were in session on the 15th inst., investigating the causes of the late collision. A vote was passed to continue the double track to Lonsdale; and also to station a flag man at the curve in the ledge until the double track is constructed. As many as thirty trains a day are sometimes run to and from Lonsdale; and only eight or ten trains above. At that point the track is visible for for two miles above and one mile below. The master of transportation, engineemen and conductor of the down train were promptly discharged.—Providence Journal.

SINGULAR ASSAULT.—The Traveller relates a singular story of an assault upon a Mrs. Hogan of Charlestown, which took place at Washington Village on Sunday. Mrs. Hogan was sitting under a tree, in conversation with her brother-in-law, when a vicious cow grazing near them rushed up behind, and without the least warning attacked Mrs. Hogan and her brother-in-law. The assault was so sudden that there was no time for defence.—The woman received the full force of the blow, and had three of her ribs broken, several of her teeth broken, and her jaw most seriously injured. The brother-in-law escaped harm.

A NUN IS NOT DEAD IN LAW.—A very interesting case has recently been decided in Ireland, in which it was declared by the court that a Nun could succeed to an estate as the lawful heir. The statutes of mort main were were declared not to apply to a person in her condition. The case is regarded as important, not only for the consequences resulting pecuniarily, but as making void, so far as the law can, the vow of poverty taken by professed nuns. The decision will make some noise in the world, and is taken to the British House of Lords of appeal.

A SAD CASE.—On Sunday afternoon, a German girl, twenty-six years of age, named Catharine Keepfield, left her home at 201 Twenty-Fifth street, in company with Mr. Seelepeqrell, also a German, for the purpose of being married to him. After the priest had performed the marriage ceremonies, they repaired to a saloon, and were in the act of taking cake and wine, when the bride complained of dizziness in the head, and in half an hour afterwards she was a corpse, her death being occasioned by excessive heat.—N. Y. Evening Post.

SINGULAR STORY.—We learn, says the Memphis Whig, from a reliable source, that as a married couple were travelling on a steamboat, the man sickened and died. When the boat touched at Memphis, the bereaved and distressed widow landed there with the corpse. When about to take leave of the body, the "dead man" recovered consciousness, became convalescent, under good treatment, and went on his way rejoicing with his "widow."

DROUGHT.—The Buffalo Courier states that the want of rain is severely felt in some of the northern counties of New York. So severe is the drought that the farmers are in many places compelled to cut up their spring grain to feed their cattle—grass being entirely out of the question. In addition, there are innumerable grasshoppers, which are like the locusts of Egypt, and are destroying what vegetables there are left.

CARS STOPPED BY GRASSHOPPERS.—The cars on the Watertown Railroad were stopped between that place and Cape Vincent, recently, by the multitude of grasshoppers upon the track. The rails were so thickly covered by them, and the car wheels smashed them up so beautifully between a hop and a jump, that it had the effect of grease on the rails, making the wheels revolve swiftly, while the train remained stationary.

There are thirteen colored persons residing in a Southern State, who have received their freedom from slavery through the voluntary action of a Rhode Island lady and a resident of that State. The liberated slaves are desirous of emigrating in a body to Liberia, and have applied to the Colonization Society for assistance, and the Society to the public for aid.

DEATH FROM POISON.—Andrew Seiber, a German, came to a horrible death in Baltimore on Friday last. He was a ragpicker, and while pursuing his avocation, picked up a piece of meat which had been thrown in the street for the purpose of poisoning dogs. He ate of it, and died in about an hour after.

TERRIBLE MORTALITY.—Speaking of the awful mortality among the Panama laborers, the N. Y., Freeman's Journal says:—"We are credibly informed that at the end of three months, the average mortality is fifty per cent, and that at the close of the fourth month the deaths range as high as eighty out of every hundred!"

A German mass meeting has been held in Cincinnati, at which it was determined to form a new political party, the principal tenets of which will be opposition to slavery extension, to the Maine liquor law, and the Jesuits, radical political reform, and a more strict accountability of representatives.

"Speaking of speed," said a wag the other day, "I reckon they travel on the Hudson river railroad. I stepped in the cars at Albany, got fairly seated at Hudson, lighted my cigar at Poughkeepsie, spit it out at Peekskill, and it hit a man at Sing Sing."

Capt. Hatch, of the ship Concordia, of Boston, died at Calcutta, previous to June 16.—The cholera had subsided. Its highest mortality reached 700 deaths a day.

CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.
THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxurious and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d & w6m je22

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT!
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
HALF A MILLION COPIES
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, she has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.
UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.
CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold most dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the wife of his bosom, a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 32 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages for the applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case he fails to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and the business conducted on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides saving a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power evolving disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Gitrate for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be used by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to female adults under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

A Safe and Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive organs in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic preparation, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

AS a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

OUR NATIONAL HEALTH.

LESS WORK AND MORE PLAY.

Brace, in his recent work on Germany has the following remarks on an important subject —Health.

There is throught Europe, a rich animal love of open air movement, of plays and athletic sports, of which we Americans as a people, know little. A Freachman's nerves quicken in the sunlight, even as a German would be very old and decrepid, when he should no longer enjoy a real tumbling frolic with his children. The Englishman, cold as he is in other directions, would lose his identity when his blood did not flow fresher at a bout of cricket, or a good match at the oar. We on the other hand, are utterly indifferent to these things. We might pull at a boat-race, but it would be as men, not as boys; because we are determined the Yankee nation should never be beaten, not because we enjoyed it.—We do not care for children's sports. We have no time for them. There is a tremendous, earnest WORK to be done, and we cannot spare effort for play. It is unmanly to roll a ball in America. Our amusements are labors. An American travels with an intensity and restlessness, which would of itself exhaust a German; and our city enjoyments are the most wearying and absurd possible.

We like being together well enough, but our gregarious tendencies are nearly always for the same object. We can crowd for a lecture or political meeting, but as to gathering in a coffee-garden, or in a park, it would be childish (or vulgar.)

I have noticed here this contrast to the Germans, because a most important subject is bound with it—a subject which must more and more demand earnest attention from our scientific men—I mean, our National Health.

We are an unhealthy race. No one can doubt it, who sees the old races of Europe.—Our faces are thin, complexions sallow;—dyspepsia and consumption are universal in a land which in all physical comforts, presents the greatest advantages for the preservation of health. Life may be as long in the average, but it is much less enjoyed. An American is as capable of strong muscular effort, and is as enduring as a European; but he does not get half the pleasure from his vigor. Indigestion and nervous diseases sour the life of half our people. The evil increases, too; and the probability is, the health of the Nation is degenerating. These facts are notorious in Europe, and our sharp worn American faces are known everywhere. There is much disease and bodily weakness among the poorer classes of the Old World; but in classes enjoying equal comforts it will be found that the Americans are confessedly inferior in robust health. The dyspepsia, which so curses our whole population, is comparatively unkown among the older nations.

In accounting for this, too much weight, in my opinion, is laid to the effects of climate. I could not see in North Germany in the autumn and winter, or in Hungary in the summer, that the differences in climate were very appreciable. There were the same sudden changes, the same extremes of heat and cold, and an atmosphere quite as remarkable for dryness as our own. The great and sufficient cause will be found to be, in this very difference in respect to out-door exercise and amusement.

We work too hard, and play too little.

Our nervous and digestive systems cannot sustain such an immense action of brain as the American life demands, without frequent pleasant muscular exercise. The people need out-door manly sports, and healthy amusements. These wearing, formal city enjoyments, with late hours and unhealthy fare, and those most useless trips to crowded watering places, must be dropped for something German-like—something cheering, healthful, boyish—or we shall be a nation of dyspeptics.

Other causes for our sickliness can be found in our general habits—our diet—our excessive greed for money—the little heed we give to quiet family enjoyments. And if in these respects, I shall be able to show how much, vitally important to our future we have to learn, from the Germans, I shall have written to good purpose.

As a practical conclusion, I would say to every man, who would deserve well of his country, play!—play more—patronize, encourage play!

Let there be something of heathful boyhood in us always! No sports, but what are pure, humane and moral in tone; but where there are such, let no notion of asceticism, or false dignity, restrain us! Of course each one will have his favorite amusement; whatever it be, let him remember it is nearly as important for his health of mind as his regular work. For my own part, as a 'brother of the angle,' I most recommend the 'gentle art.'

Those cheery mountain-walks, the clear dashing brooks, the air, the light, the easy occupation, which absorbs just enough to let the full, almost unconscious enjoyment of scenery pour into the heart. It makes one a boy again to remember!"

DISCOVERY OF A HUMAN FOSSIL.

The Zanesville (Ohio) Times of July 16, contains the following account of a remarkable discovery, made in that vicinity, which may open a new chapter in the history of human geology:—

On Monday last while some hands on the Cincinnati, Wilmington and Zanesville Railroad, at Casack's Mill, about five miles south of this city, were quarrying stone, a human skeleton was found embedded in rock, on a bluff bank on the South branch of Jonathan's creek, thirty feet from the surface. A small fissure in the rock, of perhaps two inches in width, opened to the resting place of these remains, which, in all human probability, may have been deposited there centuries ago. The rock contained a perfect indentation of the greater part of the body, as perfect as though moulded of potter's clay. From the hip to the foot, particularly, this sarcophagus was as complete as carving could have made it.—The proportions, curvatures, &c., of the limb were distinct and regular, and indicated that the skeleton had been that of a person of full size.

How, and at what period of the world, these remains were deposited where found, furnishes a wide theme for conjecture, as well as a subject for the discussion of geologists. The rational probabilities are, that at some very ancient period this body had been washed from the creek into the bank of the stream, and that the continual deposit of sand around it formed into a rock, which has been increasing for ages, and ages only could have formed the immense amount of very hard sandstone which surrounds it.

The discovery establishes what past history has entirely failed to establish, to wit: the phenomenon of a human skeleton within a body of solid rock. We have no hesitation in believing, from the appearance of the rock, that at one period the portion surrounding the body was entire and solid, but that the undermining of the rock by the stream, or some great convulsion of nature, had opened the fissure which existed when these remains were discovered. Toads and other reptiles have been frequently found buried in the solid rock, but history gives no account of the discovery of human remains in such situation.

We saw this skeleton, and the rock from which it was taken, the day after it had been discovered. The bones were in a good state of preservation. A portion of the skull may be seen at our office.

Dr. J. G. F. Holston, in an article in the Zanesville Courier, speaking of the discovery of these human bones, says:

"I made a comparison of these bones with some of those in the Athenaeum, comprising a fossil sheep, ox, and tusk of an elephant.—all yet contained animal matter, (apparently little diminished,) in all had the phosphate of lime to a great extent been replaced by carbonate; all were penetrated by oxyde of iron, and those of the sheep and human, being also by metalic iron. In calcining, the elephant tusk lost 12 to 15 percent.,; the human bones, 24 to 31; the sheep 40 to 42; the ox 44 to 47. The elephant tusk had evidently been subjected to destructive agencies from which the others were exempt. The owners of those bones seem to have been contemporaries of the same period, and as far as present evidence goes, the human bones appear to be the oldest—perhaps not less than 5000 years old; therefore not those of a child of Noah.

MONDAY, AUGUST 22, 1853.

PRESIDENT PIERCE DEFENDED.

An unknown correspondent sends us the following defence of President Pierce for an alleged lack of punctuality at the opening of the Crystal Palace in New York; showing that comparisons of merit between queens and presidents are not always fairly drawn.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—The London Times is down upon the New York Chrystal Palace, and down upon President Pierce for a want of queenly punctuality in his arrival at the moment appointed for opening the palace. About the iron and glass building, its situation beside an immense reservoir, which shuts off both the air and the view from one whole side, and the groggy surroundings, our own editors have not been very sparing in their criticisms—it is not a national affair—but when it comes to finding fault with our president for a want of that qualification which of all others England will find in a case of any importance he possesses to an eminent degree of perfection, it is rather too bad. The queen was punctual at the great London show; Gen. Pierce was overtaken in a shower of rain, which drenched his democratic suit, rendering a change necessary before he could make his appearance at the palace. This is a catastrophe which would not have overtaken her Majesty, as she probably never ventures out without an umbrella; and sooner than allow a drop of heaven's rain to fall upon her royal person, she would have demanded a slow-her of affection, in the shape of the cloaks and hoods of her lords, who would have paved her way with their garments, as did the obsequious Raleigh the path of good Queen Bess.

But it was a fortunate circumstance, or a matter of mathematical calculation on the part of the directors of the London show, that her Majesty was not detained at home by domestic duties, or by her state duty of providing future kings and queens to the nation. The right moment—whether by hit or any good wit, was found; and it has become a matter of boast that the queen was enabled to be on the spot punctually, to recite her lesson. Among all the lights and shades, sunlight and occasional showers to which our president is subject on this side of the Atlantic, we are thankful to know that on occasions of importance he can be punctual at all times, and on pleasure excursions he holds the right in common with all his fellow sovereigns, to do as he pleases, and above all to make himself comfortable, when all the citizens around him endeavor to do the same. ☞

For the Chronicle.

POLICE REPORTS.

Messrs. Editors,—In Friday's report of the trial of several young rowdy boys for an assault upon another boy by the name of C. Drew, your informer states that Hennessee was acquitted, and John Buckley convicted. The record is the reverse. John Buckley, to his honor, acted as a peace maker, and restrained another boy from going into the row, while certain men, be it said to their shame, stood looking on to see the boys imitate the example of dogs—and those boys, unfortunately, have had not much better training up. We have too many bad boys in the city—but their parents, for their criminal neglect to inculcate correct moral precepts, deserve punishment more than their children. The counsel acting for the State, finding no evidence against Buckley, and observing his placid countenance indicative of a good disposition, stated to the Court that he should be acquitted. By pursuing a path of rectitude, we predict that in manhood he will become a useful member of society.

The report also mentions that a woman, yes a woman was convicted as being "a common drunkard," and sentenced to the Alms House. There was no evidence that she was ever seen to drink liquor, yet the court probably knew that she drank to excess. It is bad enough for men to get intoxicated—but for a woman, horrible! Indeed almost too much to believe!—To be "a common drunkard" is a criminal offence. Now, then, let our police officers arrest every man in the city guilty of the crime, beginning with those in high life, because they are the most guilty, having the most knowledge;—and then take the woman, if any, in the higher circles, addicted to the criminal indulgence. In this as in other places, it has too long been the practice to make examples of the lowly and down-trodden, because the officers of justice have no fear of them. The beginning should be at the other end of society, and then followed up. Examples would then have a more powerful effect to reform society. Money or wealth would then be no exemption.

REFORMER.

Our correspondent Reformer ought to have learnt long ago, that human laws are like cobwebs, which indeed catch the smaller and weaker flies, while they are broken through by the larger and stronger.

We are painfully aware of the inequality at which he hints: but we know of no practicable way to remove it. And as to the particular case of the woman new under consideration, her sottish habits being well-known, her confinement is a kindness and a mercy, as well as a punishment. We see no force in the objection that she was not seen to drink. Men are found drunk in the streets, and put into the watch house though the watchmen did not see them drink.

SCENES AT NEW ORLEANS.

Some idea of the sickness and suffering at New Orleans, may be formed from the fact that the Howard Association have already expended $40,000 in nursing 4000 persons, and should the epidemic last a month longer, they will need $125,000 to $150,000.

The Crescent City newspaper draws a frightful picture of the burial grounds, with the corpses constantly brought in by carelessness and profane black teamsters, and tumbled about without ceremony.

The fumes rise up in deathly exhalations from the accumulating hecacombs of fast coming corpses. Men wear at their noses bags of camphor and odorous spices—for there are crowds there who have no business but to look on and contemplate the vast congregation of the dead. They don't care if they die themselves—they have become so used to the reek of corruption. They even laugh at the riotings of the skeleton, Death, and crack jokes in the horrid atmosphere, where scarcely they can draw breath for utterance.

The stoical negroes, too, who are hired at five dollars per hour to assist in the work of interment, stagger under the stifling fumes, and can only be kept at their work by deep and continued potations of the "fire water." They gulp deep draughts of the stimulating fluid, and reeling to their tasks, hold their noses with one hand, while with the other hand they grasp the spade, heave on the mould, and rush back to the bottle and gulp again. It is a jolly time with these ebon laborers, and with their white co-workers, as thoughtless and as jolly, and full as much intoxicated as themselves.

And thus, what with the songs and obscene jests of the grave diggers, the buzzing of flies, the sing-song cries of the huxter-women vending their confections, the hoarse oaths of the men who drive the dead carts, the merry whistle of the boys, and the stifling reek from the scores of blackened corpses, the day wears apace, the work of sepulture is done, and night draws the curtain.

The Delta says,

There are few, if any, parallels in history to the present visitation.

Should it continue in the same ratio, the frightful number will be swelled to 5000 by the first of September, which is usually the date when the epidemic begins its ravages in our city.

For the week ending on the 7th of August, its victims were one thousand. That for the week now passing will be as large, and thus, unless some sudden and unlooked for change occurs, the month of August will be held ever memorable in our annals for the largest proportionate mortality which has ever occurred in the history of pestilence. It will equal the violence of the Black Plague of the fourteenth century, and exceed that of the Plague of London in 1664.

Mobile, August 19.—The yellow fever prevails here, but the board of health pronounces it not epidemic.

No matter what they pronounce it. The New Orleans doctors, or some of them, say the fever is not epidemic: yet it kills its thousands of victims. What could an epidemic do more?

For the Morning Chronicle.

NOT YET.

Not yet, oh Death!
Shade not the golden locks with thy dark hand,
Pluck not the brightest from earth's rosy band,
Hush not in silence yet the silvery note
That from the lips of earth's fair beings float,
Steal not the breath!

Oh touch them not!
Place not thy signet yet upon the brow,
Close not the eye that beams with pleasure now.
Oh earth is all too bright for them to die,
Grief is not known, and sorrow not yet nigh,
Let care be all forgot!

The cheek will pale;
Old Time will leave its impress on the brow,
With bitterness the heart may overflow,
And sterner trials fill each passing hour,
And crush beneath its feet, youth's fairest flowers,
All pleasure quickly fail.

But come, oh come!
When the heart feels it is alone,
Friendship grows cold, its sorrows half unknown,
When the soul sickens of earth's selfish love,
And longs to share a nobler one above,
Then speed thine arrow home.

Not yet, not yet,
Come not so soon to light haired, sunny youth,
With coal all innocence, all love, and truth,
Spare them to cheer the heart of age awhile,
And light them "Home" with many a joyous smile,
Oh come not yet!

S . . . . .

A FAST PEOPLE.—We have a way of our own for doing up the essential acts of life out in this country, that cannot be beat this side of Australia, and perhaps not even in that golden land of convicts and kangaroos. One of Miss B——'s pupils, a young lady, stepped into the school room the other morning, and commenced gathering her books, stating that she was very sorry to be compelled to leave the school.

"For what reason?" mildly inquired her teacher.

"Oh, I was married last evening, that's all."

"Why did you not inform me before!',

"For the simple reason," replied the blooming bride, "that I did not know it myself until during the same afternoon—he never asked me till then!"—Minnesotian.

One of Uncle Toby's schoolmates was married from school—not waiting for her quarter to be up;—but she was spoken for some time before.

Cleanliness is so necessary to health, that Dr. Francis says, that if he should ever recommend a cure-all, it would consist of a bar of yellow soap.

The town of Lynn contains one hundred and fifty-five shoe factories, which give employment to ten thousand four hundred and eighty-six persons of both sexes, in the manufacture of shoes.

LOCAL.

LAUNCH.

The announcement of the launch of the clipper ship Morning Light, drew together a large number of people, on Saturday afternoon, to see a common but always interesting occurrence. A larger company than usual were attracted, as the ship was to be launched from a new yard, by a new firm—this being the first vessel built by Messrs. Tobey & Littlefield. The last plank that "bound her to earth" was sawed off at about 2 o'clock, and the monstrous ship glided lightly and smoothly into the water, untrammeled by ropes and cables to check her free progress. Every one pronounced it the most splendid launch they ever saw—a verdict that has been rendered at every launching within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Extreme length	225 feet
Length of keel	206 "
Extreme breadth	43 "
Depth of hold	27 1-2 "

We have now at our wharves four new ships—one from each yard on the river—making an aggregate of 5600 tons. Three of these were built to order, and the other is for sale.

THE PORTSMOUTH JUBILEE.—Under this title, Messrs. C. W. Brewster & Son, of this city, have just published a neat pamphlet of 80 pages, giving an account of the Reception of the Sons of Portsmouth resident abroad, July 4th, 1853, by the City Authorities and the Citizens of Portsmouth; a record of the Proceedings, Decorations, Speeches, Sentiments, Names of Visitors, &c.

This book contains matter which will rather gain than lose interest, as time rolls on; and will doubtless command an extensive sale.—It may be had of the publishers.

SHIP JOHN CUMMING.

Some additional particulars of interest may be found in the following extract, which we take from a letter written by Mr. Wm. P. Healey, second mate of the John Cumming, to his brother-in-law, Wm. H. Hackett, Esq., of this city.

SAVANNAH RIVER, Aug. 14, 1853.

It has come to my lot to report myself under circumstances which tend to show how little one knows of what is before him. The J. C. left Orleans Bar on the 23d of July, since which time death has made his ravages among our company. We have lost two seamen, a passenger, and alas, sad to say, that most estimable man, Capt. Haven, is no more. He was taken ill last Sunday morning, the ship at the time being on the south coast of Florida. On Monday, being seriously ill and somewhat delirious, the mate being also confined to the cabin, it placed me under rather dubious circumstances. I took one of the sailors to stand one of the watches, and have since been endeavoring to get to this place for medical assistance, but unfavorable winds have prevented our arrival before this afternoon. In the mean time the Capt. continued to decline, until yesterday morning, when he breathed his last, a little after 4 A. M. Every thing in our power was done for him, but to no purpose. I was by him much of the time during his sickness; he seldom had his right mind after Monday; he made no allusions to home or friends during his illness. This afternoon at 4 o'clock, we anchored in the mouth of the river opposite Tybee Island, where we have since decently buried him within one hundred yards of Tybee lighthouse. We had wished to carry him to Savannah, had his body preserved and sent north, but the warm weather would allow us to keep him no longer. His complaint was the yellow fever. The mate has been recovering, and resumed his duties yesterday.

We perceive by the papers, that the revenue cutter Hamilton, while off Typee, on Sunday evening, fell in with the John Cumming in a leaking condition. And that an officer and six men were promptly supplied from the cutter, and the vessel run into Cockspur Roads, where she now lies at anchor.

U. S. Steamer Princeton.—Halifax papers furnish accounts of a grand entertainment on board the steamer Princeton, to the inhabitants of Halifax, on Saturday last. Between two and three hundred ladies and gentlemen were present; among others, General Gore, Admiral Seymour, various Provincial dignitaries, the American Consul and lady, &c.—The music on the occasion was by the band of H. M. 72d Highlanders. The ship was handsomely fitted up and decorated, and dancing and feasting was kept up from about 3 to 6 P. M. The Acadian Recorder says that even the mackerel in the bay stopped to listen to speeches so "fishy and friendly." The Princeton would leave for the fishing ground upon the arrival of the U. S. steamer Fulton.

Eastern Railroad Depot.—In the course of the week the work of constructing a new depot for the Eastern and Lowell Railroad companies will be commenced. The building will occupy the entire square formed by Canal, Friend, Market and Traverse streets, being therefore very near the Boston & Maine depot. The entire length will be 322 feet, the width 145 feet, and the sides for a distance of 272 feet will be one story in height. The front, on Market street, is to be three stories high, and built of free stone. The rear part of the building will be of brick. The front will be 46 feet high, and the rear 41 feet. On the front of the building will be nine doors, and on either side five doors and nine windows, which will be of Romanesque style of architecture. The roof will be constructed in a manner to admit the light on both sides, the entire length of the building. It will be of a different style from any other building in the city, and will combine strength, durability and beauty of architecture. The main part will be completed by the 1st of January next, but it is not probable that the building will be finished throughout until May or June next.—Boston Chronicle.

Scoundrelism.—An Irishman was detected in stealing a watch from the dead body of Rev. Mr. Penney, while it was lying near the scene of the late railroad disaster. He was arrested on the following morning, the watch recovered, and a fine of seven dollars and costs imposed on him. Another scoundrel, dressed in white, whose name, place of birth, or residence, we could not learn, was discovered while picking the pocket of Mr. Wood, who was also dead. He gave up a gold watch and twenty dollars in money which he had stolen, but it is believed that he kept about sixty dollars. In the confusion of the moment, the wretch made his escape. There is good reason to believe that other bodies were robbed. No money was found in the pockets of several who, it is reasonable to suppose, had considerable sums with them.—Pawtucket Gazette.

Politics in Georgia.—Odd things get mixed up in political contests in Georgia, as well as elsewhere. A Georgia correspondent of the Newburyport Herald writes thus:

"In the political world—that is, in this State—it is my opinion the election for Governor is as well settled as it possibly can be before the actual voting takes place. I may be reminded that 'that there is no telling who is Governor until after election,' and I am free to confess, that it will be found true as often in this State as any other; yet, barring accidents, I think the event pretty certain.—Judge Johnson, although much of a gentleman, and nominated by the party usually in the ascendant, will have up-hill work all the way. In the days of Clay, he was called coon killer, and was famous in his efforts at that business; but latterly he has been a fire eater, and owes his nomination to that wing of the 'unterrified.' He is an able man and would undoubtedly make an excellent officer, but he has some how become identified with 'spirit rappings,' and some other 'isms,' and they hang like millstones around his neck. The fate of the dog with a bad name will be his, for the country people call him, in their efforts to designate his peculiar belief, a 'Norwegian;' 'Swedenborgian' being entirely too long for their untaught tongues."

Peaches in Georgia.—A Newburyport man, now in Georgia, writing home, says:—

"We have one luxury here that is seldom enjoyed in the 'old town,' (I can scarcely bring my pen to write 'city') to any great extent. We have carts retailing Peaches of the finest flavor about the streets, at $1 per bushel, the fruit measuring upon an average, over eight inches in circumference. I bought a peck yesterday, for twenty-five cents, and at least half that number measured full ten inches round; and some of the same kind measuring thirteen inches, have been sent to the Crystal Palace, at New York.

St. Johns, August 19.—Brown, the forger on the Casco Bank, Portland, Me., who broke out of the St. John jail, was caught near Woodstock, and lodged this evening in St. John jail.

New York, August 19.—Assault.—Ballard Hyler, mate of the brig St. George, was assaulted on board this morning by two of the crew with an axe, and so badly hurt that it is thought he cannot live.

Enterprise.—Gen. Veazie, in addition to subscribing for the balance of the stock of the Milford & Lincoln Railroad, has purchased the back railroad from Bangor to Oldtown, which will connect with the Milford & Lincoln road.

Sad Accident.—The Concord Reporter states that on Tuesday last Mr. David Edmunds, of that city, was thrown from the top of a load of straw by his horse taking fright, and so badly injured that he lived but five minutes.

As the congregation of the Methodist Church in Camden, N. J., were rising from the attitude of prayer, on Sunday evening, it was noticed that a lady remained on her knees. A close examination revealed the fact that she was a corpse.

CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheale's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most delightable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages of a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to S. R. CLEAVES, Agent,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 850,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and the was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy security of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for want of knowledge, causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself.

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence to which the exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundred Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a character strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful inroads upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Table pages and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION?—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

WILSON, FAIRBANK & Co., 13 and 15 Hanover st., Boston, sole manufacturers. Sold by all Druggists and Grocers throughout the country.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore
Anti-Expectorant,
And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an
APPETISER
It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.
Its natural, gentle warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and will be found as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the disease, allay pain, and, raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 78th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as
Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial &
Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,
With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

ASSYRIAN DISCOVERY.

At the anniversary meeting of the Royal Asiatic Society, held in London, the report noticed the progress made during the year in the field of Assyrian discovery. The researches carried on by the French agents, under M. Place, at Khursabad, have been attended with much success. A vast quantity of small articles in cornelian, agate and marble, beautifully polished, have been discovered; also many ivory trinkets, which, however, crumbled at the first touch. Quantities of earthern ware were found in one chamber, mostly in a broken state, and in another, where no doubt was the wine cellar, there was a number of jars, nearly four feet in height, containing a violet colored sediment, which must have once been wine. Two long colonades of clay pillars coverep with stucco, and all standing, having been partially cleared.

The letters of Col. Rawlinson from time to time have kept the Society informed of his discoveries. In one letter he gives an account of a bronze lion, discovered at Nebbi, bearing the inscription, "Esarhaddon, King of Kings, Conqueror of Misr and Cush," (Egypt and Ethiopia. In another he enclosed a copy of an inscription in a Semetic alphabet, being a specimen of a numerous collection of inscriptions upon sheet lead, discovered at a place called Abushudhr, packed in sepulchral jars. In a late letter he enclosed a list of the Babylonian month, found in a species of calender, by means of which the succession of events recorded in the inscription of Bisitum may be determined.

In his last letter he states, that he has at length received the long expected cylinder from Kilah Shergat, a splendid document, consisting of eight hundred lines of writing, which contains the bulletins of Tigiath Pilesor I., and is at least two hundred years older than any document yet discovered. Neither Calah nor Ninevah are mentioned on the cylinder, as in those days the capital was Kilah Shergat, which is everywhere on the cylinder called Assur.

Having fairly entered upon a period anterior to the glories of Ninevah and Calah, Col. Rawlinson says, he does not despair of ascending up to the institution of the monarchy.

Babylon and Ninevah, truly remarks the editor of the "State of Maine,"—are to the great multitude only Spectres of the Past—mere Superstitions—giant Shadows, like them that wander along the tops of the Hartz Mountains. To the few, familiar with the records of the Bible, with prophecy and with fulfilment, they are the testifying prodigies of another world—awful, mysterious, and at times, overwhelming truths; a part of the Hebrew Bible illustrated by Jehovah himself; buried for thousands of years beyond the reach of chance or change, earthquake or tempest, to be turned up in after ages by the mattock or the ploughshare—just when, and just where they happened to be most needed.

Only think of it! Ages and ages after the records of whole dynasties have perished from the earth, until most that we know of the household comforts and social habits of the Greeks and Romans we infer from the casts and relics, the bronzes and broken pottery, the medallions and seals—the fresco embellishments and the kitchen utensils, and pictures of Herculaneum and Pompeii, and other vast, long buried Empires, suddenly reappears upon earth, not as if disentombed by an earthquake, but more as if scared back into the light of day, with all its archieves and palaces, and monuments and temples, from their secret hiding places among the deepest foundations of all; and we behold, right before us, in our way, like a winged lion, if not another Bible—the edition of many a chapter, as they were foretold by the Prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah, and written out for this and other ages by God himself, and sealed up and put away for the help of after generations.—Lithographs are they in truth—a system of stereotype, whose every slab of sculptured alabaster not only multiplies and perpetuates, but telegraphs itself to all future time.

Think of seeing turned up right in your pathway, through the silent wonders of the East, a winged bull fourteen feet high, or a portrait of Senacherib the Destroyer—seated in his kingly chair, with such a stamp of individuality upon the countenance that you feel sure of the "inveterate likeness" uplifting the sceptre of wrath—and giving permission to destroy Lachish—the very Lachish mentioned by Isaiah—and lo! "The Desolator desolate! the victor overthrown!"

Think too, of being admitted to the very presence chamber of the great Assyrian, who having wasted Ninevah, styled himself the King of Kings—why not hope for a good likeness of some Pharaoh, if not of him, that drove out the children of Israel, a medallion of Cyrus or Nimrod.

Much of all this we do see—and more we shall see in corroboration of Scripture History, so that, by the help of Layard and Rawlinson, hereafter as hitherto, many a dark passage will grow bright—and other meanings flash forth from the cloudiness of long forgotten age, like the gleam of a distant landscape, or a thunder-storm. A new world is opening to Believers and to Unbelievers.

The custom of English railways, and perhaps of one or two in this country is worthy of imitation. Each conductor is furnished, at the time of starting his train, with a chronometer, wound and set by the time of a fixed meridian; and by this time he is required to run. The internal arrangement of the chronometer is inaccessible to the conductor, so that he is unable to change the time if he desired to do so. When he reaches the end of the route, the chronometer is delivered up to the proper officer, who carefully notes and corrects its time and prepares it for use back again to the other end of the line. Such a chronometrical arrangement is doubly important on our single track roads, and if adopted would render accidents from error of time nearly or quite impossible.

HARD LABOR.—The son of a gentleman recently appointed to an office in a Custom House, in Essex county, Mass., a lad of less than seven years, was sent home by his school mistress, with a note to his parents that he had been a bad boy. Upon his return the next day, the mistress inquired if his father read the note, "Yes, ma'am," replied the boy. "Did he whip you?" asked the teacher. "No ma'am," responded the child, "he came home from the Custom House so tired, that he could not attend to it." That boy must be one of 'um—a queer joker, and deserving of a year's salary for his ready wit.—Newburyport Union.

A FORTUNE MADE BY A MISFORTUNE.—Mr. Quigley, of Bowling Green, Kentucky, it is said, bought a large quantity of tobacco last winter, expecting to ship it to the southern market before the season of low water and high freights. Unfortunately, apparently, the Ohio fell before he could get his tobacco out of Green River, in consequence of which it had advanced in value on his hands to the amount of $20,000.

N. H. REPORTS,—Proposals for the copyright of one volume of the N. H. Reports were received until the evening of the 15th inst., by the Reporter, Wm. L. Foster, Esq., at Concord, and opened on the 16th, when it was found that Mr. Ervin B. Tripp, of Concord, had offered the largest sum. The bids were as follows:

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1853.

OFFICIAL FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.—It was known some days ago that late despatches from Com. Shubrick were received at the Navy Department. The Washington Union contradicts the story reported more than a week ago, that the English steamer Devastation had captured an American fishing schooner and sent her into Charlestown, and that the American schooner Arunah had been intentionally "ran into" on the 23th, causing such damage. The Union concludes its statement by the remark:—

We learn, indeed, that the information received at the Navy Department from Com. Shubrick is entirely satisfactory—that our fishermen have not been disturbed, and fishing vessels of the United States have not gone out armed.

AN OLD FASHION REVIVED.—One of our most respectable citizens, says the Richmond Inquirer, appeared the other day in breeches with knee buckles. It being his first appearance in the ancient costume, he elicited much attention. Several gentlemen, with finely-formed legs, were heard to speak approvingly of the fashion.

THE COMET recently discovered, is now visible to the naked eye, in the west, about an hour after sunset. Its nucleus is of the brightness of a star of the third magnitude—a tail of one or two degrees in length can also be distinguished extending upwards. It is thirty millions of miles distant from the sun, and more than twice as far from the earth.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—The Episcopal Convention of Western New York, commenced its sessions at Buffalo on Wednesday. Bishop Delancy, in his official report alluded to the apostacy of Bishop Ives, and attributed it to mental alienation, as he knew Ives, from personal acquaintance, to have been insane in 1850, and was aware that insanity was hereditary in the family.

Rev. H. H. Garnet, a fugitive American slave, now pastor of a church in Jamaica, W. I., has written a letter, which is published in the N. Y. Tribune, giving encouragement to colored agricultural laborers to emigrate from this country to Jamaica. Good field hands, he says, will always command remunerative employment. Colored immigrants to the British West Indies can become naturalized in a year after they land there. Mr Garnet speaks well of the productiveness of the Island.

Two or three nigths since, the depot at North Abington was burglariously entered, when Mrs. Frost, the wife of the depot master, whose house is in the same building, discovered the intruder, and immediately attacked him. The scamp attempted to escape through a window, and had partly got out, when Mrs. Frost closed the window upon him, and held him for some moments under the sash, but he at length effected his escape before assistance arrived.

Telling anecdotes of absent-mindedness, the Cambridge Chronicle says it knew a clergyman, a citizen of a town in Massachusetts, who, when a young man in college, called one day at the Post-Office for a letter on his own account; but when inquired of for whom he wished it could not recall his own name! This same clergyman afterwards became a married man, and with his wife he came into possession of a farm—and one day he actually yoked his exen and commenced ploughing in his neighbor's field.

SINGULAR.—The Patterson (N. J.) Intelligencer gives a curious incident of the late thunder storm:

"A little girl was standing at a window, before which was a young maple tree. After a a brilliant flash of lightning, a complete image of the tree was found imprinted on her body. This is not the first instance of the kind, but it is a singular phenomenon."

"UNTIMELY."—The Providence Journal criticises an expression used by a cotemporary who stated that a person had met an "untimely fate," at the age of 80 years, and says, "it is only in Newport that they can speak of a man of 80 as being cut off in the prime of manhood, and call a man of 60 a promising young man."

It is said that several gentlemen, commissioned by some New York merchants, called on the Secretary of the Treasury, to suggest the policy of relieving the pressure of the money market by loans from the sub-treasury, and that the answer is understood to be unfavorable.

On Tuesday evening, a young man named Goff, a member of the Boston Quintette Club, burst a blood vessel while serenading. He now lies in a critical condition, but hopes are entertained of his recovery, should not the hemorrhage again set in.

Nathaniel Roberts, a waiter on board the steamer City of Hartford, was drowned at Hartford, on Sunday, 14th inst., while bathing. This was the seventh Sunday in succession in which a person had been drowned in that city.

A student at the Union Theological Seminary, New York, died a day or two since from the effects of an over dose of paregoric. The deceased took six teaspoonfuls, and died in a few hours afterwards.

There has been received at Bedford, (Indiana) a letter postmarked at the office in Louisville, addressed to the "handsomest young lady in Bedford."

LOCAL.

Recollections of Old Acquintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

TRADERS IN OLD PAVED STREET.

BENJAMIN BRIERLY—WM. NEIL.—Workmen are now busily engaged in altering the central store of what used to be Edward Parry's block, in Market street. Uncle Toby was observed looking at the stone tablet which tells the story of the stores, and fearing it might be broken—but there it stands as good as new. May it stand a thousand years, if the store lasts so long, which is not likely. We have already mentioned Edward Parry as the builder of the block, and noticed the fact that he was a foreigner—by birth a Welchman. We now head this article with the names of two more foreigners, who were cotemporaries with Parry, as traders in the old Paved Street.—Mr. Brierly was an Englishman, and Mr. Niel, a native of Ireland. And the three were, for enterprise and efficiency, of no little importance in the street and in the town. Mr. Neil did not keep in Parry's block, and there is no other reason for grouping him with the other two, except that being all foreigners, they were also all eminent traders.

WILLIAM NEIL was a grocer, moderate in his motions; in these days he would be called slow; but he was sure as honesty, kindness and patience could make him. He was a good judge of groceries, would have none but such as he could sell with a good conscience, and never seemed to have the least doubt that he could suit his customers. He was right: he did suit them and they were many. He did not seem to notice them much; but if one aimed to go out, he would sometimes say—"Stay a little good woman, I'll wait upon you just now." She would be fidgety, again, presently, but he managed to keep and please all who were not specially unreasonable. His foreign accent and his native manner never forsook him, but he had the heart of a citizen, and his posterity have remained and are still with us. He was neither rich nor poor—he was comfortable, substantial, useful—apparently, and we suppose really happy. He did not live in vain.

BENJAMIN BRIERLY was an Englishman by birth, and so he always remained, though he lived many years in this place, and was largely engaged in business and social relations here.

He came to this country originally as one partner in the extensive Dry Goods importing house of Lang, Brierly & Co., who had a store on what was then Court, now Pleasant street. This house was dissolved, we know not exactly at what time, but before the First Great Fire, so called, which burnt every building in old Paved street. Mr. Brierly was in business by himself, for he advertised in the "Oracle of the Day," that having just returned from England, he had taken "the store on Spring Hill, nearly opposite the store of Mr. Peter Coffin," where he had a new importation of English Goods.

The fire above mentioned, which swept away so many buildings in the centre of the town, took place on the 26th day of December, 1802; and on the 7th of January, 1803, Mr. Brierly advertised that he had taken a room in Major Bass's House in Broad street. This was a large old house, unpainted, which stood on the lot now occupied by Messrs. Merrill & Brewster, blacksmiths, opposite to the place where the Stone Church now stands. A room in the same house was for some years used as the Post Office.

When Edward Parry's new block was finished, Benjamin Brierly took the middle store of the three, and his sign, handsomely lettered and gilded, glittered over the door in a way to catch the eye of every passer by, especially of Uncle Toby, who could not envy any body the privilege of seeing London, while he enjoyed the pleasure of reading the handsome signs of old Paved Street. But Uncle Toby did not enter; a sort of undefinable but real dignity in the manner of the tenant, in his manner, in his motion, in his look, kept the school-boy at his proper distance, and made him buy his fans and handkerchiefs elsewhere.

Mr. Brierly had a good wholesale custom, and of the retail business of the town he took much that was genteel and fashionable. He married here, and was strengthened by his alliance to a family highly respectable. He reared a family of his own, wherein was his delight; and for many years seemed prosperous. But business declined in the place; his business, in particular, of importer and wholesale dealer in dry goods, almost died out. He became a mere retailer of dry goods on a limited scale, and removed, after many years of trade in Parry's block, to another stand; finally removing, with his family, back to England, where he died.

Mr. Brierly was, as we have before stated, an Englishman by birth: he was always so in feeling. He was naturalized and married here, and was a good husband and a good citizen; but his heart always remained as decidedly English as his accent.

His love of country was not a theory; it was a principle and a passion; born with him and living in him, but never dying. We honor it, for it involved no hatred of any other country, and never prevented him from wishing well to this his place of residence; but he loved his own, his native land, with an inextinguishable affection. Her institutions, her government, religion and music, her soil, he loved. While here, no attendance could be more constant and devout than his, on the worship and service of the Episcopal Church; but we fancy that when finally in England, he prayed more heartily and fervently for the King and Royal Family, than here for the President and Congress.

His musical talents and powers, as well as those of his family, were of a high order—and that they were liberally used, there are yet living in this place a few happy witnesses. Well do we remember the cheering ring of his tenor as he broke out in the "Hallelujah Chorus"—"'Allelujah! for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth"; and as well do we remember and still seem to hear his swell on the cadences of the noble old Chants of the Church service.—He and his family were the life and soul of the most prosperous sacred music society we ever had in this place; and their departure from this country was the death of it.

So in our social system, he supplied the English element more intensely than any person within our recollection. And though peculiar, it was a valuable element. Some fancied him proud—but the impression he made on Uncle Toby's mind in boyhood was not pride, but dignity—and that dignity he retained equally in adversity as in prosperity. He came hither in early life, with buoyant hope, and self-possession, and genteel dignity of manner. He passed on to middle life, into and through adverse fortunes, with the same dignity and propriety—and he passed away from us in the same manner to land and die on his own beloved native shore—bearing with him the respect of those who understoon him, the good will of all who could appreciate his whole character; and being sincerely mourned at his death by those who lived with or had seen him in the bosom of his family.

APPOINTMENTS AT THE CUSTOM HOUSE.—Henry S. Rand, Inspector, vice Hanson M. Hart, removed. Samuel J. Dodge, Occasional Inspector, vice Wm. H. Laws, removed. Wm. B. Russell, Oliver P. Tucker, Night Inspectors.

The office of Night Inspector was recently said to be abolished as useless. It now appears, however, that the abolition only went as far as the officers. It is supposed that the recent visit to Washington of a distinguished leader of the democratic party in this city, was the procuring cause of these changes.

NAVAL.—The United States ship Cyane, Commander Hollins, arrived in our lower harbor on Sunday evening, and has taken a pilot, (Capt. Lawry,) for the fishing grounds, to which she will proceed soon. The following is a list of her officers:

Commander, Geo. N. Hollins; Lieutenants, T. P. Green, R. Forrest, J. D. Reed, C. M. Fauntleroy; Purser, C. C. Upham; Surgeon, W. A. W. Spotswood; Assistant Surgeon, George H. Peck; Master, Wm. H. Parker; Passed Midshipmen, N. H. Vanzandt, Jos. A. Seawill; Midshipmen, Cary Carter, Wm. E. Fitzhugh; Captain's clerk, J. S. Hollins; Purser's clerk, C. M. Gilbertson; Boatswain, F. Hewlett; Gunner, J. A. Lilliston; Carpenter, E. Williams; Sailmaker, D. C. Brayton.

☞ Advices were received at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, on Saturday morning, to fit out the frigate Congress. Her destination is supposed to be the fishing grounds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Despatches from Commodore Perry, dated Shanghae, May 16, state that he expected to sail for Japan immediately. He had heard that the Japanese were preparing to receive him in a friendly manner, though they were increasing and strengthening their fortifications.

Lieut. Fox, U. S. N., now attached to the Princeton, is to be detached from that vessel on her return to Portsmouth, N. H., and transferred for duty in connection with Law's line of U. S. mail steamships. Lieutnant Newcombe will take the place of Lieutenant F. in the Princeton.—Washington Star.

☞ Mechanics' and laborers' wages now rule at a pretty high rate, among us. We are told that the house-masons are getting $2.25 per day—house carpenters $1.75 and above.

Dr. Valentine is giving his inimitable comic entertainments at Newburyport. Dubufe's celebrated paintings of Adam and Eve, are also on exhibition in that city.

For the Chronicle.

SONNET—ON NIGHT.

Night and its dews come silently together down
to Earth,
Like kindred mourners to the grave of Day;
The stars look on with pale and trembling ray,
As if through tears, to watch them on their way.
O, calm and holy Night, what thoughts ye wake to birth
That slumber in the day, amid its din
And restless strife for gain, its glare and sin;
But Night, care-soothing Night, O, I would win
Thy Crown of Peace, and wear it on my brow;
I worship at thy starry throne, and bend my knee,
All weak and humbled. I look up to thee
And bless thee for the joy thou giv'st me now—
A joy so hushed and deep, I tremble, lest,
Dreamlike, it fade away within my breast.

THE MORTALITY AT NEW ORLEANS.—New Orleans, Aug. 20.—The total number of deaths yesterday were 242. The Washington school house has been turned into a hospital. The school will not be opened until November.

MORTALITY IN NEW YORK.—The report of the City Inspector shows that nine hundred and sixteen died in the city last week. Of this number, two hundred and fourteen resulted from sun stroke.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.—The total number of deaths in New Orleans, from May 28th to August 13th, was 5,674, of which number 3,836 were from yellow fever.

Western Texas gives large majorities for Ochiltree, the Whig candidate for Governor, and there is a probability that he is elected.

The mail between Atlanta and Montgomery, Alabama, has been robbed of letters for Mobile and New Orleans. From $20,000 to $30,000 are said to be abstracted.

NATIONAL FINANCES.—Washington, Aug. 20.—The United States stocks, purchased for the treasury department for the week ending to-day, amount to $1,100,000; of this amount $526,000 were of the stocks of 1847 and 1868, and purchased under the provisions of the treasury circular of the 30th of July, paying 21 per cent. premium.

PIANO FORTES BURNT.—In Boston, on Sunday afternoon, at about a quarter before four o'clock, a fire broke out in the rear part of the piano manufactory of Leonard Gilbert, No. 214 Washington street. When first discovered the flames were bursting from the filling room, as it is called; and the surrounding work shops being of wood, and filled with combustibles, the fire spread rapidly to all the contiguous apartments, making fearful ravages among the instruments; but by the well directed efforts of the Department it was subdued without having extended to the main building. There were in the several apartments some two hundred pianos, finished and unfinished, a large number of which were destroyed and nearly all more or less injured, as the rooms were flooded with water. We counted in one small room eleven valuable finished instruments completely charred and utterly ruined. One piano nearly done, valued at $800, was nearly ruined. There was also a large quantity of stock, some of which was destroyed and the rest badly damaged.—The loss, as near as could be estimated, it was thought could not be less than $40,000.

The property, which is thought to be worth $75,000, is partially covered by insurance.—The building is probably insured. The origin of the fire is not known. Some supposed it the work of an incendiary, as there had been no fire in any part of the building for some days. Others supposed it was caused by a cigar having been carelessly thrown into the room, where the fire broke out.

HOUSE IN SANBORNTON STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—During the shower on Monday P. M., the 8th inst., the lightning struck the dwelling-house of Rev. James Boutwell, in Sanbornton, and caused considerable damage.

The fluid first struck the gable end of the house, about three feet below the ridge pole, tearing off the weather boards and clapboards, and breaking a portion of the glass in one of the attic windows. It passed down a post as far as the chamber and then went into the chimney, and passing down that to the room below, left the chimney for a stove, thence through the floor into the cellar. In its course, it tore off the lathing and plastering, and scorched some woolen clothing, but did not set the house on fire.

His eldest daughter, with a younger brother in her arms, was passing within about four feet of the stove at the time, and was thrown down, but not seriously injured.—Belknap Gazette.

THE INSURRECTION IN TORTOLA.—New York, Aug. 21.—By the Spanish steamer "Borinquino," we have a St. Thomas Times of Aug. 10th, which confirms the rumor of the insurrection at Tortola. Many of the refugees, including the President's wife and family, escaped in boats, and were afterwards picked up by the mail boat Lady MacGregor, and carried to St. Thomas. Col. Chads was left on the island, but vessels and troops had been sent from Antigua, St. Thomas, and St. Croix. The Times gives no details of the insurrection; probably they were all given in a previous issue. From a despatch dated Tortola, Aug. 8th, we should judge the insurrection had been quelled.

IRON BELL TOWERS.—Two iron towers in which to suspend fire alarms bells, have been constructed on the western side of the city.—One of them, near the corner of Spring and Varick streets, is nearly completed. It is over 100 feet in height, and consists of several stories of iron columns. The bell, to be cast at Troy, will weigh 12,000 pounds. Besides the machinery required to ring the bell, the tower will contain telegraphic apparatus, connecting with other fire alarm stations. The tower was built by Bogardus & Hoppin. A spiral stairway runs from the bottom to the top.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

The Virginia Woolen Mills, situated on James River, near Richmond, were burnt on Thursday night. Less estimated at $200,000. Insurance only $70,000. Haxall's Flour Mills, near by, were also damaged. Between two and three hundred operatives are thrown out of employment.

We are pleased to learn that Rev. W. Horton has received an invitation to the Rectorship of St. Paul's Church, Newburyport. In our judgment, they could not have selected a better man.—Herald.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS. SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,

CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McClary and Constitution, the south side of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to S. R. CLEAVES, Agent, jul13 At Portsmouth & Concord Station.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical liner, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirit with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied and bettered,—too often, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all,) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.
AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SARSAPARILLA, combined with its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations, by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

WILSON, FAIRBANK & Co., 12 and 15 Hanover st., Boston, sole manufacturers. Sold by all Druggists and Grocers throughout the country.

COUGH REMEDY!

FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood,
AND ALL OTHER LUNG COMPLAINTS
TENDING TO CONSUMPTION!

THE above Expectorant, prepared by an experienced Physician and Chemist, has now become a standard Preparation, and is offered for the COMPLETE CURE of those diseases of the Throat and Lungs, which, if neglected, usually terminate fatally in Consumption. It contains no Opium, Calomel, or any mineral whatever, but is composed entirely of those Roots, Herbs, and Vegetable substances which have a specific influence upon the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effect is to allay all irritation, and gently remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air-passages, thus relieving the Cough, by subduing the inflammation and other causes which give rise to it. It is approved of and recommended by Physicians of the highest standing, and may be given with perfect safety to the youngest child or the most delicate female.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing
DISSOLVENT POWER,
By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore
Anti-Expectorant,
And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 28, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability; viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Smyrna.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

CHINESE REVOLUTION.

The insurgents are not only sturdy rebels, but fanatics also; and the proclamation of their "Christian" leaders are an ingenious compound of the spirits of Nimrod, Jephthah and David. Here is one which must have come from the pen of a soldier and a statesman:

A HOLY-WAR PROCLAMATION.

On the seventh day of the eighth month, in the Sinhae year, (thirteenth September 1851,) while at the city of Yung-gnan, the celestial king issued a proclamation, urging every officer and soldier throughout each legion and each camp, to display a public spirit, and not on any account to manifest selfishness, but to be single-minded; so as to be able to answer it to our Heavenly Father, our Celestial Elder Brother and ourselves. From henceforth it is commanded, to all you soldiers and officers, that whenever you kill the imps and take their cities, all the gold and silver, silks and satins, with precious things, which are obtained, must not be secreted for private use, but be altogether brought into the holy treasury of our celestial court. Those who offend against this, will condemned. Respect this.

On the 29th day of the ninth month, of the Sinhae year, 30th Oct. 1851,) while at the city of Yung-gnan, the celestial king issued a proclamation to all the officers and soldiers throughout the host, both great and small, earnestly beseeching them to obey the commands of Heaven, with joy and exultation, with courage and ardor, with united effort and energy, to press forward in the contest, reverently obeying the injunctions given us by our Heavenly Father, and the Celestial Elder Brother. It is now commanded to all the legions, that after every battle against the imps, (enemies,) every sergeant shall stand and record the names of the privates under his command.—Those who have been most distinguished for obeying orders and march forward, are to be marked with a circuit to indicate their merit; those who have been most distinguished for disobeying orders and running away, are to marked with a cross, to designate their crime. Those who have been distinguished neither one way nor the other, are to be left without a mark. When the record is complete, the sergeant is to take the book and hand it up to the centurion, the centurion is to give it to the leader of the cohort, and the leader of the cohort is to pass it over to the commander of the legion, who in turn is to present it to the general, and the general to the inspector general, who shall further send it to the director general, and the director general shall lay it before the minister of state, the minister of state shall further communicate it to the generalissimo, who shall report it to our little heaven, in order to settle the degree of rank to which each one shall be elevated or degraded. Small merits shall be requited with small rewards, and great merits shall be distinguished with conspicuous promotions. Let every one therefore put forth his utmost energies, and display self-respect. Respect this.

REGULATION CODE OF THE REBEL ARMY.

The North China Herald of May 28th, says:

"We hope soon to publish a translation of a short code of the principal army and camp regulations, said to be strictly enforced. The first regulation is diligently to obey the commands of Heaven; the second, to learn the Ten Commandments, the Creed, the Morning and Evening Prayers and Thanksgivings.—The Third forbids opium smoking and spirit drinking."

UNIFORM OF THE INSURGENTS.

The rebels are dressed in all sorts of clothing, but principally in silks and satins, with a red or yellow cap—the body of the jacket being of the same color. The Quangtung men are said to be those with the red uniform—the Quangsi those of the yellow. Some of the youngsters dress like females. The older followers may be distinguished from the younger by their long flowing hair. The new adherents, whose hair is still short, have a square piece of yellow cloth sewn to the jacket, with the character Tai-ping (Peace) on it; and also a little wooden tally suspended from a buttonhole, stating the name, and to what division the wearer belongs. After the hair becomes of length all round, they dispense with the tail, and secure the loose hair behind with a broad pin. Not having any whiskers, they have a very delicate and effeminite appearance.

THE FIRST OF AUGUST.

This event is not only the anniversary of the departure of the Pilgrims from Delf Haven, in 1620, but also of British West India Emancipation in 1834. The following brief account of the latter event is familiar to us, but may be new to many readers, and is unquestionably true.

In Antigua, the event was one of marked importance, and is now referred to with interest by those who were its observers. The time had been fixed and the people feared the result. Thirty thousand human beings were to be emancipated, and this was to be done in a moment. Many of the planters entertained the most gloomy apprehensions.—Some did not close their eyes on the night of the 31st of July. They feared that the bell which announced the freedom of the slaves, would toll the death knell of the masters. The Methodists kept night-watch in all their chapels during this night. The houses were filled with those who were about to become the sons of liberty, and the night was spent in thanksgiving and praise for the glorious event that was about to dawn upon them. As the last peal of the clock announced that the hour of 12 was passed, and that the jubilee had arrived, the lightning flashed vividly around, and the thunder burst forth in the sky, as if the God of Heaven was joining in the grand chorus of humanity and freedom. Earnest, heartfelt prayers were offered up by the negroes who thronged the churches, for the great event that had just transpired, and their concurrent voices joined in expressions of gratitude to God for such a signal blessing.

The first of August was on Friday, which was chiefly spent by the negroes in the chapels, engaged in praying and imploring divine favor. The day was like the Sabbath. No rude and boisterous mirth, no bacchanalian revelry characterized the occasion. A deep religious feeling seemed to pervade all classes. Gratitude was the pervading emotion throughout the Island. The cry of a liberated and disentralled people swelled the breeze with their joyful acclamations, chastened by a fervent religious sentiment. The testimony of the planters fully corroborates this statement. No acts of bloodshed, of riot or disturbance characterized the negroes. They received their freedom as if they were worthy to wear and have what belonged to them of right and justice.

A similar state of affairs characterized the Emancipation in the other Islands. It was a bloodless victory throughout, poisoned by no tears but everyway the triumph of morality over the lower propensities of man. Such was West India Emancipation on the first of August, 1834.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1853.

DEVASTATION.

Our old acquaintance is at his destructive work again—and our present national administration, so far as we can see, are pursuing the much condemned policy of the last. The latter was blamed, and as we thought justly, during the presidential contest, for not taking decided and efficient steps to protect the fishermen. We were not sure, however, that the fault did not lay in the treaties; but if it did, we wished two such lawyers as Fillmore and Webster would tell the fishermen plainly that it was so, and send a good cutter or two to keep our fishermen within their proper limits, as to location and behavior.

We were told then, that the election of Pierce and King would surely usher in an administration of great promptness and efficiency in respect to protecting our fisheries; which would be done, if need be, at the cannon's mouth.

But we have seen, thus far, by Pierce and Marcy, nearly a repetition of the old practice of Fillmore and Webster. The Boston Courier says:

One would suppose that half a year's tenure of office might enable the Cabinet of President Pierce to utter a word of information on this subject, from which the fishermen could understand whether the government intended or not to recognize the old American fishing rights, and whether the fishermen were to have the protection of their government in the exercise of their ordinary calling. But nothing of the kind has yet emanated from headquarters. We should be happy to receive any explanation of this matter which may clear our government from the charge of having neglected this important part of the concerns of the nation, but we have an apprehension that the government has nothing to say, because nothing at all has been done.

The piratical Devastation has recommenced the business of collecting prize money for her officers and crew from our fishermen, and she can do so with perfect impunity, for we do not know that the American fishermen have the protection of a single national gun on the whole ground. The Princeton is at Halifax, and her officers are giving balls and parties to the elite of the British and Colonial aristocracy—a service much more consonant to their dispositions than that of interfering between the vulgar fishermen and the thieving British cruisers. The Fulton is sailing back and forth between Halifax and the United States, bearing despatches. The Decatar is somewhere about the fisheries.

The Gloucester Telegraph announces the arrival at that port of the schooner Rosannah, Capt. Howard, from the Bay of St. Lawrence, who reports that on the 6th inst., the schooner Star Light, Capt. McDonald, of Gloucester, was taken by the steamer Devastation, about fifty miles above Gaspe, and carried into that place. The steamer passed by a fleet of fourteen or fifteen vessels, saying nothing to them, and proceeded about two miles to where the Star Light and another vessel were lying, becalmed, and took possession of the S. L., suffering the other to go. Why it was so, Capt. Howard did not learn. He did not stop at Gaspe to see what was done with her, but came directly home.

The Star Light was a new vessel of 100 tons burthen, and cost $5,500. She belonged to Mr. Wm. H. Steele. She had about 250 barrels of mackerel on board at the time of her seizure, worth $5000.

Capt. Howard met with poor luck, and reports mackerel scarce, having been absent ten weeks. He also reports that schooners Mary Niles and Ella Proctor, were chased out of the Bay by an English cutter and gunboat. It came up calm at the time, and at night they were lost sight of by the cutter. He thinks that the schooner Hannibal of Beverly, Capt. Lewis, who was chased out of Fox River, a short time since, was taken by the British cutter. The cutters and gun-boats, with the Devastation, are very strict in the vicinity of Gaspe and Seven Islands, not allowing the Yankees to keep in shore in case of a storm, &c. The Rosannah has not put into port since she left home.

Our fishing squadron are wanted on the fishing grounds, instead of laying in Halifax and the Gut of Canso, and they should be immediately ordered to the Seven Islands.—Capt. Howard saw nothing of the American fleet, and there were many inquiries by the fishermen on the ground, where they were.

The Star Light had a crew of sixteen hands, who will lose all their season's work, many having large families to provide for.

The Rosannah spoke several Newburyport and Gloucester vessels, with small fares of mackerel. Captain Howard is a very respectable citizen, and his statement may be relied upon.

The Coming Struggle among the Nations of the Earth.

The above is the title of a pamphlet from Messrs. Fetredge & Co., Boston, in which the unknown author attempts to describe, or rather predict, the events of the next fifteen years, in accordance with the Prophecies in Ezekiel, Daniel and the Apocalypse. It is a reprint from a London edition—and is for sale at Shores's.

PERIODICALS.—Single numbers of Periodicals are often sent to us, "with the respects," &c. It is expected that they will be noticed editorially. These notices we are sometimes willing to give, when the books are seasonable—especially when coming from our advertisers; but when they come two or three weeks after date, and after their reception from other sources, they do not deserve any notice. Odd Nos. of periodicals are of little worth.

COLLEGE DEGREES, &c.—The Boston Post says the last LL. D. is that bestowed on Horace Greeley by the University of Vermont at Burlington. We are not exactly sure whether this is the last or not: but certain we are that it could not have been bestowed more worthily than on the printer, editor, author and philosopher, who has made his own way up to a conspicuous station on the literary platform.

But hold! here is another degree conferred. The Daily Advertiser informs us that "the honorary degree of LL. D. was conferred on Franklin Pierce by the Norwich University, Vermont, at its late commencement. Gen. Pierce is one of the Trustees of the University." This also is well deserved. President Pierce was regularly educated, and a good scholar; he graduated at Brunswick, Me. But it would have been in better taste to have given him this title before his elevation to the Presidency. It must now seem to him quite a trifling affair.

Neither of these Doctors will ever make much use of their new titles, nor will their friends or foes. They will be known as Frank Pierce and Horace Greeley; they need no new handles attached to their names.

The commencement of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., will take place on the 7th of September. The President of the United States, a graduate of the College, is expected to be present. (Doubtful.)

BISHOP IVES.—Somebody says of him, "His defection, however, has scarcely been even a nine days' wonder, and has ceased to be regarded as of any great moment, either by those whom he has left or by those to whom he has gone."

The last statement is an error.—The Catholics regard it as an important gain.

NEW ORLEANS.—A late despatch says "the distress is very great, and the Howard Association are opening four new Hospitals." An asylum for orphan children, poor children, and the children of parents who are sick and unable to take care of them, has been opened. Several of the merchants of New Orleans have determined to close their stores in the afternoon at three o'clock, to afford their clerks and employees an opportunity during the remainder of the day to attend to the sick and friendless.

The Delta of the 14th says:

"On Triton Walk, yesterday, we noticed a boy about eleven years of age, carrying on his head a coffin, which, on enquiry, we learned contained the body of his little sister, who had died of yellow fever. He was accompanied by his elder sister, a girl of about thirteen years of age. They were slowly and sadly making their way to the cemetery."

At Algiers, a small parish of 1600 inhabitants, situated directly opposite to New Orleans, on the other side of the river, the mortality from Yellow fever is even greater than in the city itself. From the 7th to the 13th inst. the deaths were 42.

RESIGNED HIS OFFICE.—Patrick McDonald, Esq., mentioned last week as having received the appointment of route agent on the Eastern Railroad, went one trip to Portland and gave out. It seems that the office had been vacant for some time, and a despatch was sent to Washington respecting it. A reply came back stating that Patrick McDonald Esq., had previously been appointed, with a request that he be looked up. He was accordingly found, and upon being asked if he was the man whom the President had honored as one of his agents, replied, "Indade and I'm that same. Here are the papers in me hat, and I've had them for a month and a bit."—Esquire McDonald is now at work for his former employer, Mr. Robert Todd, in this city. Just as we expected, for it is rather our opinion that neither reading nor writing came naturally to Patrick McDonald, Esq., ex mail agent.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

FLOGGED.—A scene transpired in this city, this forenoon, that is all the talk. A married lady of respectable character had been insulted by a person who wears pants. The knowledge of this insult coming to the ears of the husband and another relative, it was agreed to take summary vengeance on the delinquent. The lady was armed with a raw hide, and the parties went to the place where the guilty one was doing business. The husband and the relative then seized and held him, and the lady administered a severe cowhiding. The affair was witnessed by a large company. It is the latest application of the women's rights, and won't be very popular with that class of delinquents. But the people said Amen.—Ohio State Journal.

DIVORCE AND RECONSIDERATION.—A resident of this city sued for a divorce from his wife in one of our courts last winter. It was granted, and the couple duly separated. He went to New Orleans and engaged in business, and she remained in this city amongst her friends. The yellow fever, which is driving so many persons from New Orleans at present, induced, as we understand, the ex-husband to seek refuge in this city. He arrived a few days ago, and one hour after his arrival here witnessed the second marriage knot tied between himself and former wife. It was said to have been done more effectually than before and both parties were confident that there would be no further need of untying it. Divorces are quite common, but such second marriages are of rare occurrence.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

WIDOW, WIFE, MAID.—An instance has recently occurred in Cincinnati, in which a lady was a maid, a wife, and a widow, all in one day. Mrs. Connel, wife of the man who was so cruelly murdered on Front street, had married her husband on the morning of the same day on which the fatal affray occurred. At morn a maid, at noon a wife, at evening a widow!

LOCAL.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

PIC-NIC OF THE MIDDLE STREET SABBATH SCHOOL.

This excursion, which was deferred from last week, came off on Monday. The number present was large—the day was fine—and the whole occasion was one which gave the highest satisfaction. The cars with their freight of 400, left the depot at 11. There was a detention of an hour at the New Market Junction, but if we could judge from what we saw and heard around us, all were too busy and interested in conversation to complain. About 1 o'clock the spot which had been selected was reached. It was about two miles above Raymond, (the same spot occupied by the Methodist Society last week) on a slight elevation which looked out upon Jones' Pond—a beautiful sheet of water, in front—and surrounded on every other side by forest trees. A few minutes sufficed to unload the cars, and to furnish some of the loftiest trees with swings, and some of the most favorable spots with rough benches. No time was lost. In fifteen minutes after our arrival we saw groups of elderly people seated engaged in animated conversation, and away in the distance circles of young people engaged in something more animated than conversation,—and Col. Hadley, true to his profession, kindling the fire beneath his huge coffee-pot, while his good lady and others were covering the grass with their white cloths, and covering the cloths with what made our looker-on impatient for the word to begin. Soon the Col., in a manner which showed he had done the same thing before, invited all to make themselves at home. It is of no consequence who furnished the huge melons and their abundant coating of sugar, nor by whom the lemonade, rich and abundant, was distributed. They were there, and they were taken care of.

An hour or two were then passed in pleasant rambles, in swinging and other amusements, when at the blowing of the horn the company assembled around the stump of a tree recently despoiled of its branching top by the woodman's axe, and from that as a pulpit the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lamson, addressed them on the excellence of the Bible, commending it to all as the foundation of their hopes and the guide of their lives. At the close of his remarks the melody of Old Hundred and of other familiar tunes floated away among the surrounding trees, and the voice of prayer and thanksgiving ascended to God.

At half past 4 the grounds were left, and at half past 7 all had reached home in safety, feeling that it had been one of the pleasantest excursions of the kind in which they had ever participated.

HAVEN PRIZES.

These prizes, of $12 each, have been awarded for the present year as follows:

To Joshua J. Laighton, of the High School, for passing the best examination in Reading and Explaining the common Latin Classics.

To John B. Haselton, of Mr. Harris's School, for the best Latin Composition.

To Alfred H. Hanscom, of the High School, as the best Mathematician.

MILITARY.—The Granite Guards, Capt. J. A. Gove, of Concord N. H., will make an excursion to this city on Friday next. On Saturday they will go down the harbor on a fishing excursion—have a chowder and a good time generally—returning to Portsmouth in season for the last train to Concord. The Guards will be accompanied by the Concord Brass Band, G. W. Ingalls, leader.

FESTIVAL OF BEAUTY.—By particular request of many persons who have seen this exhibition, and also of many others who have not seen it, Messrs. Pennell & Packard will bring it out for the third time in this city, at the Temple this evening.

The piece is a rich and varied fairy scene; in other words a juvenile opera, founded on the Four Seasons with their changes, and embracing Song, Chorus and Speech, Dancing, Decoration and Ceremony.

The fairies are a chorus of more than a hundred girls; the goddesses, seasons, song; stresses, dansenses and oratrices are a selected company, of no little talent and attraction.—The speech of the Dew Drop, and the songs of the Rose and Lavender Girls, were repeatedly called for in former representations, and highly applauded.

The audience this evening will undoubtedly be numerous; and the children, judging from the two former exhibitions, will appear as well or better than before. See advertisement.

On Saturday last, some young men in Rye, shot and killed a black snake, measuring four feet and a half in length.—No snake of this kind has been killed in that locality for many years before.—It was a female, and was lying asleep on the bough of a tree.

☞ Capt. E. G. Adams, of this city, recently of the brig Bloomer, left yesterday for Savannah, to take command of the ship John Camming, in place of Capt. Alexander Haven, deceased. The ship will proceed to Bordeaux.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARABIA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.

The Royal Mail Steamship Arabia arrived at her wharf at half past seven, bringing one week's later news from Europe.

Passed yesterday a large steamer ashore on Nantucket Shoals, supposed to be the Pacific.

The Great Britain sailed on the 10th inst., for Melbourne. Bets were taken that the Sovereign of the Seas will outsail her, and that the Great Britain will not make the passage out under sixty days.

A great naval review had taken place at Portsmouth before Her Majesty Queen Victoria.

Nothing of general importance has been received from France. The wheat crops were mostly all in, and are reported to be only a two-thirds average yield.

Rev. Dr. King's affair is drawing to a satisfactory conclusion.

The Caucassians have again defeated the Russian, having taken on the night of the 3d of July the important fortress of Toprac Kale, and dismantled the same with a gain of 220 pieces of artillery.

By the overland mail it has been telegraphed that the Monumental City was totally wrecked on the 15th of May, while on her passage from Port Philip to Sydney, and that 35 persons perished.

The ship Arab, with the Bombay mail on board, foundered and, 179 Lascars drowned.

The Chinese Imperialists were preparing to retake Amoy. The insurgent force (probably Imperial) was within four days' march of Nankin. A private despatch says they (the insurgents had beaten back the imperial fleet from before Nankin, and had concluded not to attack Canton until September.

LATEST.—Despatches from St. Petersburg, dated 5th inst. have been received in Paris.—They state that the Emperor had definitely accepted the proposals of the four powers.

A despatch from Trieste says that the Porte accepts without modification the proposals drawn up at Vienna. An Extraordinary Ambassador was to leave Constantinople for St. Petersburg with the Sultan's decision as soon as the Russian Troops are ordered to evacuate the Principalities.

STEAMER PACIFIC.—The Collins Steamer Pacific, Capt. Nye, which left Liverpool Aug. 10th, for New York, has not yet arrived, though the Arabia, which left Liverpool on the 13th, three days afterwards, has reached New York. The Arabia reports that she saw a steamer ashore on Nantucket Shoals, which she supposes was the Pacific. There is no certainty about the matter, though the Pacific is beyond her time at New York.

P. S.—A telegraphic despatch from New Bedford, says that nothing was there known yesterday at noon, of the Pacific being ashore. It is suggested that the Surveying steamers Corwin and Bibb, who are engaged on the Shoals, may have been mistaken for a steamer ashore.

SICKNESS.

Natchez, Aug. 20.—The yellow fever is prevalent in this city. Upwards of 200 persons having died of it within a few days, many persons have left the city and others are leaving.

New Orleans, Aug. 20.—The number of interments in this city reported to-day is 295. Yellow fever is prevailing to a moderate extent in Mobile, Natchez, and Vicksburg.

Cumberland, Md.—The cholera broke out in this place last week, and fourteen deaths have since occurred from it. It is now subsiding, and the few cases under treatment are perfectly manageable. The disease was caused by an overflow of the small canal, running through the lower part of the town. Many families have left. The latest despatch, August 22, says the cholera is increasing in Cumberland, but the disease has assumed a milder form. Three thousand have left town.

DIED.—A seaman, belonging to the schr Richmond, of Rockland, Me., was found in the streets of New London on the 4th or 5th inst., laboring under a violent attack of cholera morbus. He was placed in charge of the physician of the hospital, where he remained until his death, which took place on the 12th inst.

The Pacific Mills Company, at Lawrence, was organized on the 19th inst., by the choice of Abbott Lawrence, President, and Jeremiah S. Young, Treasurer. This is the great company that are just completing their building, in which 50,000 spindles and 1000 looms are to be run. The capital is one million dollars, divided into a thousand shares of $1000 each, all of which have been taken.

Bayard Taylor, the intrepid foreign traveller of the New York Tribune, has joined Com. Perry's Japan expedition, and has been assigned the place of an artist on board the Susquehanna, with the rank of Master's Mate.

The New Orleans papers have advices from El Passo to July 22d, which mention that a collision had occurred there between parties of Americans and Mexicans, in which the former were fired upon by the Mexican troops, and the District Attorney of El Paso county, Texas, was killed. Great excitement existed.

Judge Jesse Hughes, of Clinton county, Ohio, died on Tuesday last, of dropsy, at the residence of his son, Charles D. Hughes, aged 87 years. Judge Hughes, when a boy, attended Clark in his famous expedition against Kaskaskia, in 1778.

A NEW PARTY.—The following are said to be the "planks" which compose the political platform of the party recently organized in New York, viz: universal education—reformation of the naturalization laws—protection of American labor—a liberal system of river and harbor improvements and the extension of Government aid to the Pacific Railroad—the sale of the public lands to actual settlers—the economical administration of the Government, and the strict accountability of its agents—the continued and harmonious union of the States—and opposition to legislation which shall interdict the use of the Bible in the public schools, or which shall vest property devoted to religious or charitable uses exclusively in the hands of the clergy.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 30 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Stark, McClary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to
S. R. CLEAVES, Agent,

FARE 25 CENTS each way. The Landing at Gerrish's Wharf, near the Hotel now kept by J. W. WESTON, is pleasant and convenient, and the place delightful. jy19tf

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years: And what days and nights of anguish we might have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the compensating security of that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy vigorous bodies and healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that blessing consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

Late Commissioner of Patents."

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing the weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting desease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor of the Fluids, prepared of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub.ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

PENNY WISE AND POUND FOOLISH.

BY DR. J. H. ROBINSON.

"Well, Mr. Mettler, am I to see my friends soon? You know I promised to visit them twice a year, if not oftener."

"Mrs. Mettler, travelling costs money, and I have much demand on my purse at present; I must hold the strings tight, or very soon I shan't have anything."

"Mother is not very well," resumed the lady earnestly, "and I think it my duty to go and see her. I know that your affairs are in a very prosperous condition, and that I practice all that prudence in the household economy which any reasonable person could require.—A journey of an hundred miles by steamboat and railway costs comparatively little."

"Wife," replied Mr. Mettler, impressively, "the greatest secret of existence is, to get all you can, and keep all you get. That's my motto, and I mean to adhere to it. If your friends want to see you, let them come here; that is, if they don't stay too long," he added parenthetically.

"I really cannot be put off in this way," responded the wife in a melancholy voice. I must talk plainly to you. You are penny wise and pound foolish; you are selfish also."

"Selfish, Mrs. Mettler?"

"Very selfish, Mr. Mettler."

"I'll trouble you to prove that assertion, if you please," added the gentleman, ironically.

"I'll do so. Allow me to ask what your excursion down the harbor cost, at the time you were absent two days and a night, and came home sick."

"Bah! a mere trifle. It didn't cost me much over ten dollars, and I don't go down the harbor very often. Besides, on that occasion I went for my health, having been long confined in the counting room."

"If you went for your health it was a grand failure, certainly; for you returned in much worse condition. Why, it took me a week to nurse you up, and the doctor's bill couldn't have been small."

The gentleman looked at his watch and began to whistle uneasily.

"Don't wince, Mr. Mettler, I havn't begun yet. Be so condescending as to permit me to inquire, what your fishing excursion to the lakes cost? If I remember rightly you were gone eight days, and gave every evidence when you returned, of having had a merry time of it."

"I don't see what comfort you can take in alluding to such things," said Mr. Mettler impatiently.

"To prove that you are selfish."

"Indeed, Madam Mettler! Would you keep me shut up in the counting room the year round? Would you have me lead the life of a convict—deny me the pure air, and the green fields? Don't my lungs need to be expanded, and my muscles put into action once in a while? I once thought you had some regard for me, Matilda."

"Keep cool Joseph, and let us see what we shall arrive at. Have I been on any excursions during the past year? Have I had the benefit of green fields and pure air? Do you call the air of the kitchen 'pure' and all that the 'lungs' of a woman require? Have I been to festivals, pic-nics, concerts, or balls? Have I heard the sweet voices of any of the celebrated prima donnas? And yet you took one of your fishing excursion friends to hear the Swedish Nightingale, at the moderate expense of ten dollars! Economy, truly!"

"Such things don't happen only semi-occasionally, returned Mr. Mettler, producing an elegant cigar case, from which he drew a fragrant Cheroot.

"Here comes another evidence of your selfishness. Not long ago I heard you say that it cost you twenty-five dollars a year for cigars which you and your friends smoke."

"You can smoke cigars if you want to," said Mr. Mettler pettishly.

"No, I thank you; if I had any taste for the vile weed I am too much of an economist to make use of it. By the way, Joseph, how much did that seal ring cost?"

"Confound it, Matilda! your name ought to have been Caudle!"

"And I observe at this instant a new watch-chain, at least twenty carats fine, and which will weigh at the smallest calculation, probably, thirty pennyweights."

"Where's my hat? I can't stand this," grumbled Mr. Mettler.

"I've put it safely away; it shall be forthcoming, when I get done with you," rejoined the lady firmly.

"You belong to two clubs, she resumed; and I am aware that you are no stranger to champagne suppers. If I have any knowledge of such matters, those luxuries are expensive.—It seems to me, it would be a good plan to write your motto on your coat sleeve, where you can see it all the time. Singular economy!—Spending hundreds of dollars for your own gratification, and cannot forsooth, permit me to gratify a natural desire, as well as a duty? What do you think of this view of the subject, Mr. Mettler?"

The gentleman addressed, replied, only by smoking more vehemently.

"I presume," added Mrs. Mettler, "that your conscience accuses you of inconsistency and injustice. Now, is not your philosophy sufficiently expansive to make you feel and understand, that the wife has claims on her husband's care, attention and purse? Will your reckless companions, on whom you annually expend so much money, have a more exalted regard for your interests than myself?—Will they practice economy for you? Will they assist you to keep all they get? Will they take better care of your children than I do? Will they visit you in sickness, and adhere to you in poverty? Judging by your conduct, they ought to do so; you lavish your money upon them less grudgingly than you do on me. I have never made any unreasonable demands upon your purse. I have never asked for money to defray needless expenses; I have never demanded it for the purpose of paying for oysters and champagne suppers, foolish fishing excursions, balls, theaters, etc., etc.—But I have wants and desires as well as yourself; my own heart aspires after the pleasures of friendship; but I shrink from such companionship as yours. I prefer the society of those whom I have proved, and to whom I owe a natural debt of gratitude and obedience. It has been long since I have visited the home of my childhood, and when I express a wish to revisit the loved scenes of my youth, you assure me that "travelling costs money;" that money must be hoarded; that we must "get all we can, and keep all we get," without regard to the noblest sentiments of humanity, and forgetful that you have expended so much for gratifications in which I never participated. Mr. Mettler, be good enough to examine your appearance in the mirror which I am holding up before you."

Mr. Mettler threw away his cigar and for the next half hour appeared to cogitate deeply. At heart he was not a bad man, and his inconsistencies were rather the result of thoughtlessness than design. He saw himself reflected in Mrs. Mettler's mirror, in a form that startled him; and her true remarks shook the dogged resolution which he had resolved to maintain when the controversy commenced. He saw and felt that he had been selfish.

His wife, perceiving that her words had taken effect, wisely forebore to press the subject farther at that time. On the following day her husband confessed the errors into which he had fallen, and made a manly resolve to reform, and indulge in no pleasure which could not be shared by his wife.

The proposed visit was made without further opposition. She never had occasion to complain that her husband's purse-strings were grasped too tightly, and Mr. Mettler learned to repose in her a manly confidence, which is ever becoming to the marriage relation, and does honor to the human character.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1853.

MORMON MORALS.

In a late letter written by Hon. L. H. Reed, the newly appointed Chief Justice of the Territory of Utah, he evidently intends to make out a fair case for the Mormons, representing them to be at least as good as the average of American society. Judge Reed is not a Mormon, and therefore his assertions go farther than if he were one of them. yet he is evidently disposed to take the best possible view of their morals. He says:

Nearly the whole population of Salt Lake City and Utah Territory are Mormons. I doubt whether more than 200 outsiders can be found. The state of society is different from anything we have been accustomed to. All matters, or nearly so, pertaining to religion or domestic affairs, are regulated by the church, and controversies of every kind are settled by the ecclesiastical councils.

The plurality system, as it is called here, (or polygamy in fact,) prevails extensively; but those who suppose that licentiousness, or looseness of manners or morals, prevails to any extent, are very much mistaken. The women are exceedingly modest and circumspect in their deportment. I have had the pleasure of an introduction to a number who are very sensible and agreeable, and, I think, compare fully with the well-bred ladies of the States.

They are from New York and New England, (those I am speaking of,) and differ in nothing from their sisters in the eastern States. From all I can see and learn, there is far less licentiousness and vulgarity in this city and territory than any other place of equal population in the United States. The men are jealous of all interference in their domestic affairs, and seduction and adultery, if discovered, are apt to be punished by death of the offenders. Some cases of this kind have happened here.

Now these last statements are doubtless true. We know full well, that the most licentious men are the most jealous of husbands, while the purest men are least suspicious.—And in Turkey, whence the Mormon Apostles seem to have imported their model Christianity, it is well known that adultery is punished with death. Such severity on the part of profligate men, is not merely a modern corruption, or new invention, but is as old as the history of the Patriarchs. If the reader will turn to Genesis, chap. xxxviii, he may see that Judah, the great progenitor of the tribe bearing his name, and of the subsequent Jewish nation, being himself anything but pure, was yet so indignant at his erring daughter-in-law for alleged unchastity, as to say, "Bring her forth, and let her be burnt."

The zeal and watchfulness of the Mormon polygamists, then, is rather a slender argument to prove a pure state of society in Utah—and the introduction of it by a new fledged Judge rather shows that he has not yet forgotten the art of special pleading, which he practiced while only a lawyer. He will be apt to be a lenient Judge of Mormons—and they will doubtless continue to gain strength till some schism rends them asunder. Their notions also may be modified by time—but their superstitions, like almost all others, have laid fast hold of many thousand minds, which will be held by them till the day of death.

These things must needs be so, we suppose; but we could never see why Congress had need of erecting these fanatics into a territory by themselves—or why President Fillmore should appoint their high priest and military chieftain as civil governor. Such follies must bear their appropriate fruit in due time.

THE COMET, which is now visible to the naked eye, in the west, about an hour after sunset, is probably, says the Newburyport Union, the comet which was to have returned in the year 1848 or 1856, as predicted by the astronomers. It is one of the most splendid of which history gives an account, and was seen for the first time in the year 104, and has made its appearance five times since, with an interval of about 300 years. The last time was in the year 1556, when it caused great consternation in Europe, and the emperor Charles V., partaking of the superstition of the age, abdicated his throne in consequence.

CAMA MEETING.—The Second Adventists will hold a camp meeting in Concord, N. H., commencing on Wednesday, September 14, and continuing through the following Sabbath. Rev. J. Howell of Connecticut, Rev. J. Cummings, Rev. Mr. Hemmenway, &c., are to be present.

☞ Pearl-st. House, a large hotel, in New-York city, was burnt on Tuesday night. It was 7 stories high. Loss of building and contents, $200,000; viz. Hotel, 40,600, insured: Landlord, Mr. Potter, 120,000, not insured: boarders, 40,000. Mr, Tibballs, an engineman, was killed.

An oil-store in the basement, lost 15,000; stores burnt same night, in Veasey-street, loss 20,000; also a shirt-store in Beaver-st., 15,000 and several houses, stables and horses, at Williamsburg, 20,000.

☞ We are indebted to the Commissioner of Rockingham Co., Albert H. Hoyt, Esq. of Exeter, for a copy of the seventh annual report of the Board of Education.

AN INSANE BOY.—In September, 1851, a little boy, 10 or 12 years of age, fashionably and richly dressed, clothes scarcely soiled, was found, totally insane, in an orchard in South Framingham, Ontario Co., New York. At intervals of apparent sanity, he has stated that he came from Virginia or Maryland, that his name was Edward Radcliffe, (or Topliff) that he had parents and a little sister living there, who thought he was dead; and frequently speaks of being in an academy or college, and sometimes of an asylum. He was taken care of by a farmer in the neighborhood, but subsequently was sent to the Insane Asylum at Utica, where he now is. Letters have been sent to the postmaster where the child said he came from, but no one resided in that neighborhood that knew any thing about him. The boy's brain seems to have been injured by over mental exertion.

RAILROAD CARELESSNESS.—A serious collision occurred on the Sandusky, Cincinnati & Mad River Railroad, Aug. 21st. When the express train from Cincinnati arrived at Oregon, it had to pass another train of cars switched off the road. Through carelessness, the switch had not been replaced, the express train therefore ran off the track on to the turn-out, coming violently in contact with the other train, and badly smashing six cars; wonderful to relate no lives were lost, but several passengers were hurt; among them one had a leg broken. One car was cut completely in two, and the passengers were thrown on each side; their escape was almost miraculous.

Three young ladies of Cincinnati, sent in a petition to the Common Council there, a few evenings since, setting forth that they were inmates of the City Infirmary, and that they had been seduced by two officers of that institution, Drs. Marsh and Victoria, who afterwards conveyed them to a Justice of the Peace, and made oath that they were lunatics, and caused them to be committed to the Commercial Hospital. The females claim that this was done to hide the conduct of which they had been guilty. The petitioners asked counsel to investigate the matter and get redress. Several members of the Board stated that information of these and similar outrages by these officers had come to their ears, and it was high time an investigation was made.

A SAD STORY.—Yesterday, officer Underwood had occasion to arrest one John Brian and wife, (Irish) residing on First street, and while there he discovered their child, aged about eight months, lying on a pallet of straw, where it had remained entirely neglected, with the exception of some gin and sugar administered by the mother to make it sleep, for the last two weeks, and apparently in the last stages of existence. The little sufferer was nearly a skeleton. It was immediately taken into a house near by, and a physician sent for; but it is believed it cannot long survive. —New Bedford Mercury.

RECKONING WITHOUT THEIR HOST.—The groggeries and puppet shows that sprung up with the rapidity of the prophet's gourd, and as plentifully as Egyptian frogs, in the vicinity of the N. Y. Crystal Palace, now present a mournful spectacle. Public sentiments struck them with blight and mildew, and about half of them have already disappeared. Buildings are left in an unfinished state, and the ominous words "To Let," are conspicuously placarded. Their owners calculated too largely upon the depravity of the race.

A SPAN OF HORSES MELTED.—Mr. Warren Tanner, one of our Livery stable keepers, lost a fine span of horses, valued by him at $350, last Sunday. He let them to Mr. Massey, barber of our village, to go to Bridgeport on a visit. Massey was cautioned to go no farther than Middletown on that day, the weather being so excessively hot; but as he says when he got there, the horses appeared to be in such excellent condition, he was tempted to go on to Fair Haven, where he stopped. The horses had not been in the stable more than fifteen minutes, when they both dropped dead from melting.—Willimantic Medium.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.—These provisions are likely to be abundant and cheap during the coming autumn. Though the crop, in most parts of New England, has been somewhat less than the average, yet the "fall feed," which furnishes the basis of nearly all the dairy product that goes into the marked, promises to be uncommonly luxuriant and nutritive. The present high price of butter cannot long be maintained, as large quantities are now being packed in the grazing districts, which must reach the market in a few weeks. —Boston Post.

THE LATE FIRE AT RICHMOND.—The destruction by fire of the woollen factory at Richmond on Thursday night last, involves a very heavy loss. The establishment was owned by a joint-stock Company. The building and machinery were valued at $120,000, and the stock on hand at $60,000, making altogether $180,000. There existed policies of insurance for only $77,000 on the whole establishment, so that the stockholders lose upwards of $100,000 by the fire.—National Intelligencer.

BRIDGING THE ST. LAWRENCE.—The arrival in Montreal, of Mr. Stephenson, the great British engineer, who built the Tubular Bridge, in Wales, has created a great deal of interest, which is to find expression in a grand dinner to the distinguished visitor in a few days. The object of Mr. Stephenson's visit is to survey the St. Lawrence at Montreal, in order to judge of the feasibility of placing across a Tubular Bridge, two and a half miles long, similar to that in Wales, the cost of which will be two millions of dollars. This bridge is to be the connection of the "Grand Trunk" Railroad of Quebec with Portland.

REMARKABLE CONVERSIONS.—In Burlington, Vt., there have been remarkable conversions to Protestantism, eight adults in one day having publicly disowned the church of Rome. Two of this number were men of education, sent out as faithful missionaries to the States among the French. By many their lives are thought to be in danger. One of the number was conspicuous as a Bible burner at Champlain, some years ago, whe represents his conscience as being a tormentor.

LOCAL.

PLEASANT STREET SABBATH SCHOOL PIC-NIC.

The scholars, teachers and friends of the Sabbath School connected with the Pleasant Street Baptist Church, numbering between four and five hundred, left town on a pic-nic excursion to the beautiful grove near Jones' Pond, in Raymond, on Tuesday. The day was a delightful one, and a two hours' ride upon the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, including a brief delay at the "Junction," brought us to our place of destination at a very respectable dinner hour, and with appetites well sharpened by the inhalation of a pure and invigorating atmosphere. Agreeably to previous notice, and by general consent, first on the catalogue of amusements came the destruction of the edibles, which was engaged in with a hearty good will. The collation partaken of, the company was addressed by the Rev. Mr. Holmes, pastor of the Society. He remarked that this happy occasion was to him one of peculiar, and almost painful interest. He could not banish the recollection that the first pic-nic he had ever attended was given by this Society, shortly after the commencement of his pastoral connection with them. Since that time he had been drawn to them by still stronger ties of sympathy. He had rejoiced in their prosperity and happiness—had watched over them in the hour of sickness and distress, and had smoothed the pathway of those who had gone out from among them to return no more.—And now, the thousand ties which connected the hearts of pastor and people, were to be sundered. To-day he meets that Sabbath School for the last time, in pic-nic festival.—He had been proffered, and had accepted, the duties and responsibilities of a teacher in Antioch College, Ohio, and two brief weeks would conclude his connection with the Pleasant Street Society. But in his far off Western home, he hoped to hear good reports from the younger members now gathered around him, as they grew up to manhood. He trusted that those correct principles which their Sabbath School had inculcated, would never be lost sight of in all the vicissitudes of life, and this hope rendered less poignant the pain of their anticipated parting. Mr. Holmes concluded his interesting remarks, which were extended to a considerable length, by expressing the hope that some of the lads present would adopt the ministry as a profession, in which event he would be happy to meet them as students in the University with which he was in future to be connected.

Rev. A. S. Dean, of New York, and Dr. Frank Fuller, of this city, being called upon, offered pleasant and entertaining remarks, at the close of which prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Holmes, and the company separated to engage in the various amusements which might suggest themselves, until the hour of departure arrived.

Without an accident to mar the pleasure of the occasion—with no untoward event to detract from the enjoyment of any who participated in the pleasing festival—with a total absence of anything like rowdyism during the day—the company reached Portsmouth about 7 o'clock, highly pleased with the excursion.

We should not omit to mention that the gentlemanly proprietor of the grove, John Scribner, Esq., kept "open house" on the occasion, and is entitled to the thanks of the company for numerous kind attentions.

Excellent water was furnished by Mr. Abraham Hodgkins, and the citizens of Raymond, many of whom participated in the pleasures of the pic-nic, seeming anxious to do all in their power for the comfort and enjoyment of their Portsmouth friends; their kind attentions will long be held in grateful remembrance.

NOT QUITE SO BAD.—Several papers, in Boston and elsewhere have published a little paragraph stating that a gentleman had his watch and money stolen from his clothes while in a bathing house at Rye Beach. The theft was of the watch only. No money was lost.—Chronicle, Aug. 18.

Possibly, some of our readers may place some confidence in the paper above quoted, and suppose our last week's paragraph incorrect. But Capt. Towle has a warrant for the apprehension of a rogue for the theft of a gold watch and $180, and at least two other gold watches have been stolen at Rye Beach this season.—Messenger, Aug. 24.

Possibly both may be correct, after all. Our paragraph was almost a verbatim copy of a note from the keeper of the Ocean House, received by us on Wednesday morning, which could have no allusion to the Messenger's statement, as the keeper of course had not seen it.

We presume the note from the Ocean House, was literally true when written, and related to one of the "two other gold watches"—and that the theft set down by the Messenger, also took place also, as stated. For want of knowledge or "confidence" we cannot tell how many gentlemen lost gold watches, nor how much money went off—but there was doubtless some thief round who nabbed all he could, and we hope Capt. Towle will nab him.

But let nobody be frightened at a concussion of items like the above.

Our Washington correspondent telegraphs that Secretary Marcy is deeply afflicted by the death of his son Abraham, a young man aged about 23 years. He died on board the sloop-of-war Preble, on her way to Fayal, Azores.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.

The Pacific mail steamer arrived at New York on Tuesday evening. It appears that when four days out from Liverpool in lat. 50° 14, lon. 38° 10, she broke her main centre shaft, and made the rest of the passage with only one wheel, with which in fair weather she attained a speed of eleven knots an hour; her greatest distance in 24 hours being 240 miles. The vessel was not ashore at Nantucket; the steamer seen there was one of the surveying steamers, afloat.

TWO WEEKS LATER NEWS.

Arrival of the Northern Light from California, with $1,124,000 in Gold.

The steamer Northern Light, from San Juan, arrived at New York, Aug. 23, having left San Juan on the evening of the 15th, with California dates to Aug. 1, and $1,124,000 in specie.

The time through from San Francisco to New York, is but 20 days and 18 hours.

The transit across the Isthmus occupied only 48 hours.

The store-ship Manco was burnt in San Francisco harbor 24th of July, together with all her cargo, valued at $40,000. The store-ship Canonicus and the Herbert were saved with great difficulty; both store-ships with cargoes were owned by Crosby & Dibblos.

The clipper ship Typhoon has been nearly repaired, and would be ready for sea in a week.

Joaquin the bandit, has been captured and beheaded, and all his gang either taken or dispersed.

The rust is injuring the wheat crop. Barley, corn and potatoes promise a heavy yield. Accounts from the mining regions are more cheering.

FROM OREGON.—Oregon dates are to July 25th. The mines in the vicinity of that territory are not doing well, owing to scarcity of water. The weather has been very warm.—The crops promise well.

FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.—A correspondent of the Traveller writing from Gloucester under date of Aug. 23, says:—

The clipper schooner Gold Hunter, Capt. McIntyre, arrived last night. He fully confirms the report brought by the Rossannah, of the seizure of the schooner Star Light by H. M. steamer Devastation. Capt. McIntyre has been fishing in the vicinity of Gaspe, and states that the cutters are very strict in that vicinity. Saw nothing of the American squadron. They were much inquired after by the American fishermen on the grounds.

Our squadron should most certainly be ordered immediately to the fishing grounds.—Most of the vessels seized last year were taken in the fall, when they had good freights of mackerel on board.

Capt. McIntyre informs me that the Star Light and crew were carried off several miles before landing at Gaspe by the Devastation. She will have a trial at Gaspe. Capt. McIntyre saw the steamer take the Star Light.

THE RELEASE OF THE STAR LIGHT BY THE ENGLISH.—A letter from the American Consul at Charlottetown, P. E. I., of Aug. 15th, has been received in Boston, which states that the schooner Star Light of Gloucester, was brought in there a prize by the English steamer Devastation, for fishing within bounds. The consul protested against the jurisdiction of the Admiralty Court there to try the matter, on the ground that the Star Light was seized in Canadian waters. The Captain of the Devastation then announced his intention to take the Star Light to Quebec for trial, but finally, upon the promise of Capt. McDonald to be more careful in future, he consented to release him upon payment of costs, about $60. No other American vessel was known to have been captured.

EXTRAORDINARY HAUL OF FISH.—On Wednesday last two boats from Bristol, R. I., engaged in Menhaden fishing, on drawing their seine, found that it contained five good sized Porpoises and no other fish. The five would weigh about 1500 lbs. The blubber would make about 10 gallons of oil. This is the first instance within the recollection of the "oldest inhabitant," that Porpoise have been caught in a Menhaden seine.

HORRIBLE.—The New York Tribune has private advices that the clothing, soiled linen, &c., of persons who have died of the yellow fever in New Orleans have been shipped to New York by the rag collectors. Even at the Charity Hospital, the clothing of those who have died of the disease is sold to the highest bidder, instead of being burnt.

On Saturday last in New York a reporter for the Tribune visited the Tombs and lost his ticket inside the gate. He was, however, permitted to escape, and a watch kept for the ticket, which was some 15 minutes afterwards presented by John Duke, a prisoner confined there on charge of embezzlement. Of course his ticket did not pass him out.

PROTECTION OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP.—The legislature of Indiana has passed a law forbidding the erection of booths, &c., for the sale of intoxicating drinks within two miles of any place of assemblage for religious worship, under a penalty of fifty dollars.

PENN YAN, Aug. 23.—A fire occurred here this morning which destroyed the stores of Charles Read & Co., and A. Wolf, and damaged other buildings. The loss is $100,000.

A contemplated insurrection of the slaves in Nottoway county, Va., has been discovered and suppressed. Their intention was to murder all the white inhabitants.

A fatal fever has made its appearance in Gilmore and Gordon counties, Ga., and already 100 deaths have occurred; whole families have been swept off by it.

John Murphy died in Boston on Monday, of delirium tremens; and James Nesbit, on Tuesday, from a similar cause.

IMMIGRANTS.—Within a fortnight, three ships have arrived at Boston from Liverpool, bringing 1934 immigrant passengers.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge early possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married or contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. THE GREAT SEAL OF ENGLAND.—We had an opportunity of examining the other day this impress of England's sovereignty—the Great Seal wherewith Queen Victoria signifies to her subjects her royal will and pleasure. It was appended to the Letters Patent which Oliver L. Reynolds, Esq, of this town, has just obtained in that country, for his ingenious Sewing Machine. The seal of her Majesty is no wafer and sealing-wax affair, such as suffices in this republican country, but a solid cake of wax some six inches in diameter by two inches in thickness and weighing at least three pounds. It was inclosed in a tin box and tied to the document of which it formed a part by two or three yards of ribbon, and the whole concern was packed in a wooden case about one foot square. On the seal were various inscriptions and devices, among which was a figure of the Queen on horseback. This fashion of tying two or three pounds of wax to public documents,—"passing them under the Great Seal," as the phrase is,—is probably as old as the Norman conquest, and if so, the amount of wax which is stored away in the archives of England must be incredible.—Dover Enquirer.

A New, Delicious Temperance Beverage.

AMBROSIAL MEAD!

THIS excellent Compound is prepared from the best SPANISH SARSAPARILLA, without its dark, repulsive appearance, being beautifully transparent and entirely free from all impurities. Its qualities as a beverage, a single trial will give it a pre-eminence over all other preparations by its freedom from noxious ingredients, agreeableness of flavor, and its exceeding cheapness, one bottle being sufficient to make thirty glasses of the beverage.

CAUTION!—The proprietors of this excellent preparation have spared no expense to bring it to perfection, and would caution purchasers to buy none without the fac simile of Wilson, Fairbank & Co. on every bottle.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effects of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

A ROYAL CHAPTER.

Nota Bene:—Our democratic readers are respectfully requested to skip this column, in which the intelligent Turin correspondent of the Newark Daily Advertiser gives the following sketch of the royal personages of the Court of Sardinia:—

The King of Sardinia—as all the world knows—hates courtiers, court etiquette, and, above all, court balls; loves his army, his hunting forests, and his "good fellows"—in short, his own and his subjects' liberty. This, any one who did not know, would know on looking into his square, honest face, which has no more alliance with beauty than his tastes have with despotism. He never suffers himself to be shut into that gilded cage, a state carriage; but leads on the royal train of equipages, filled with the faces of his queenly queen and blooming heirs, on a lovely bounding courser, which he sits right royally, so that then when one hears c'est le roi! one does not respond, where?

As ladies are never presented to his Majesty, when he chooses to notice at a court ball a dame d'honneur, or a minister's wife, the brusque bon jour Madame! from his Sardinian lungs startles, rather than pleases; for, it may as well be owned, Victor Emanuel is not a "ladies' man," and does his gallant duties with about as much grace as a war horse would dance the polka, or snuff the Lubin extracts of a drawing-room. Not so his royal brother, the Duke of Genoa, whose tall, slender form moves pliantly to the graceful evolutions of the waltz, and whose quintescence of smiles and gentle words are lavished on the diamond-decked dames of his brother's Court, as freely as if it were not the double expressed oil of royalty. In short, the handsome Duke—though no less courageous on the battle field than in the ball room—"does up" all the softer services of the crown with ineffable condescension, saying all sorts of amiable things, though always so dividing his favors that his fair-haired Saxon Duchess need never be jealous.

The Queen—an Austrian Princess, daughter of the late Viceroy of Lombardy—is, in beauty and queenliness, a match for any sovereign in the world. Never shall we forget her, as she first rose before us at a presentation, as a vision of Juno, without the hauteur of the Olympian Queen—tall, full, dignified, gracious; a profusion of black, glossy hair, parted en bandeau under her tiara of diamonds; large, soft black eyes, good, though not chiseled features; teeth unsurpassed by her pearls; arms that adorned the brilliants that encircled them; the movement of majesty; the smile of goodness; the spotless toilette of white glace silk—train and skirt the same—embroidered in silver sheaves, the whole forming a tout ensemble, which realized the fairest ideal of a Queen. Nor is this all: Victoria herself is not more a model wife and mother, than is the Queen of Sardinia; would that her female subjects—like those of the English sovereign—were as loyal to her domestic virtues, as to her regal rights!

The young and pretty Duchess of Genoa receives the courtly homage paid to her with dignified grace, and is as much a favorite with the ladies as her ducal spouse. This is a living compliment to her amiability; for when the wife of a handsome prince is popular among the aspirants for royal favor, she must be something more than an ordinary jewelled princess.

The Queen dowager—widow of Charles Albert—maintains all the "pomp and circumstance" of her actual reign; and so much of filial fidelity has the king that the richest apartments in the palace are still reserved for his mother; hers is the most imposing of the State carriages, drawn by six black horses, with as many footmen and outriders, sparkling in the crimson and gold livery of the court, though she herself is but a diminutive type of royalty and a devotee—patronizing all charitable institutions, and humiliating herself to wash the filthy feet of certain beggars in holy week—her meekness does not in the least diminish the splendor of her suite. This may only be the effect of long habit, as she lives very retired; has never appeared at a court entertainment since the death of the late king, and always receives in a black velvet train, her maids of honor wearing the same. So devoted to her happiness is the young queen, that for the first year of her reign she would not wear the crown jewels, lest it might remind the queen dowager that from her the sceptre had departed; and when the king insisted that she should put on these insignia of majesty, she still hesitated, until assured by his mother that so far from reminding, it would gratify her pride to see the beauty of her daughter-in-law heightened by the brilliants that had only shamed her own unqueenly looking brow.

HOW FISH BEHAVE IN THE NET.—In the net the tunny behaves like a gentleman, and rarely conducts himself in an unseemly manner. "There would be no need of ropes," the head fisherman told me, "if we caught nothing but tunny; spiders' webs would hold them tight enough, for when they see resistance to escape, they only swim round and round the net, as if they must go out through a door in a decorous manner. But there are sharks.—They are abominably stupid. A shark last year broke through the meshes, like a burglar as he was, robbed us of 18 yards of net, and dragged away an anchor that it took us three days to recover. Dolphin we seldom catch; they are so clever that you would think they could smell the net at a thousand yards distance. Now and then one will forget himself in the heat of his chase after a tunny; but when he does get into our beath-chamber, he examines cooly every mesh, and if he finds a damaged rope or a place where the net is somewhat thinner or weaker than elsewhere, he makes a dash at it with his whole body, beats his way through and escapes. So far as he himself is concerned, we can afford to let him go. His flesh is bad, and he is useful to us when he has his liberty, for he will often hunt a tunny into the mandrague."—Dickens's Household Words.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL HAND.—Two charming women were discussing one day what it is which constitutes beauty in the hand.—They differed in opinion as much as the shape of the beautiful member whose merits they were discussing. A gentleman friend presented himself, and by common consent, the question was referred to him. It was a delicate matter. He thought of Paris and the three goddesses. Glancing from one to the other of the beautiful white hands presented to him, which, by the way, he had the cunning to hold for sometime in his own, for purposes of examination, he replied at last—"I give it up—the question is too hard for me; but ask the poor, and they will tell you the most beautiful hand in the world is the hand that gives."

LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

So much of the eighth section of the eight hundredth and thirty-sixth chapter of the laws of this State, and so much of the fourth section of the nine hundred and seventy-sixth chapter of the laws of this state, and all other acts and parts of acts as are inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 4 This act shall not be in force unless the inhabitants of the city of Portsmouth, at legal meetings called for that purpose in the several wards, shall, by a majority of the voters present and voting thereon, by ballot, determine to adopt the same.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26, 1853.

JUDGE McLEAN'S OPINION.

We have been carefully reading the published report of Judge McLean's Opinion in the case of Washington McQuerry, claimed as a fugitive slave of Henry Miller of Kentucky.

McQuerry is a bright mulatto, twenty-eight years old, well built and intelligent looking. For the last four years he had resided near Troy, Miami county, Ohio, and was an industrious, well behaved, upright man. He has a wife and children at the place of his residence in Ohio.

His claimant was Henry Miller, of Springfield, Kentucky, fifty-five miles back of Louisville, engaged in farming and sporting; Miller, his son, and three neighbors, all testified to the fact of Washington's being a slave—of which there is no doubt. Washington absconded with three other slaves of the same master, and was persuaded to do so by Stephen, one of the three.

Judge McLean noticed the strength of the evidence—and laid down some points of law for which we have no room, as also several which we have already noticed in brief.

We make some brief extracts.

It had been claimed that the slaveholder had the right to take his slave into the territories where it was not legalized, and where long usage had not sanctioned the institution. Usage constitutes law after a sufficient lapse of time. But the Supreme Court has decided the claim to be without foundation. Slavery exists only by local law.

There has been no evidence on the part of the defendant except the admissions by the claimant's attorney, which were that McQuerry had lived four years in the State of Ohio, during which time he had been recognized, treated and considered as a free man. This was proper. This is the theory of our laws and constitution. Every man in Ohio, without regard to color, is presumed to be a free man; her laws do not sanction the trade of a slave. This treatment of McQuerry in Ohio, therefore, is nothing more than the presumption of the law which, in my judgment, is counteracted by the conclusive proof of the claimant that he escaped into this State from "service and labor due" in Kentucky.

In regard to the constitutionality of the fugitive slave laws of 1798 and 1850, after noticing sundry decisions, Judge M. says:

This is strong authority in regard to the power of Congress to legislate upon the subject. Authority, certainly, that should over bear individual opinion, unless the number of individuals entertaining an opposite opinion, is great enough to change the organic law of the land; to such a change the efforts of those who deny the power of Congress to legislate on the subject of slavery within the states, might, and not improperly, be directed.

He might have added, no sane man expects to see any such change in our organic law, or would make much effort for it as matters stand. Every effort of lovers of freedom can be made to tell better in some other direction

As soon after the adoption of the constitution as 1798, we find an act of Congress providing for the rendition of "persons owing service or labor in one State, escaping into another." This act was passed by a Congress, some of whose members, if I rightly remember, were delegates in the convention that framed the federal constitution; all were contemporaneous with the convention, and the discussions that preceded and attended its deliberations. Those who enacted the law of '98 were not ignorant of any of the provisions of the constitution, for they had been scanned with great ability, and especially in Virginia.

There is a weight of authority on this point which cannot be centered on any other in the constitution.

We hope no one will say this is not plain. The strongest point in the whole constitution is this requiring rendition! All those points which purport to sustain liberty, or regulate trade, or any thing else, are comparatively weak or doubtful. Rather a sorry account of a free constitution—but it is Judge McLean's account. Who will gainsay it?

It was urged against the constitutionality of the laws of 1793 and 1850 that they denied the right of trial by jury. It is my opinion, based upon my judicial experience, that a trial by jury would not decrease the number of renditions of 'persons escaped from service or labor.' In an instance that I call to mind, a decided anti-slavery man was upon a jury in a case involving the liberty of escaped slaves. But he considered the solemnity of his oath to support the law and the constitution, and he agreed with his brethren to give a verdict of damages against the persons through whose instrumentality the slaves had escaped.

This is not a final decision as to the liberty of the defendant. The question here is strictly whether he owes service or labor to the claimant, but this decision will be no bar to the question as to the liberty of the man.—He may be sold; his condition may be wretched, but the fault is not with the judiciary.

The judge here evidently feels that in laying down the law he violates the gospel. He is ill at ease, and betrays his well known feelings of humanity. He closes by saying he is bound to remand the fugitive for his master.

At the conclusion of his argument, Mr. Ware stated that Mr. Miller would emancipate his slave for the sum of $1200, and donate $50 himself to a fund for that purpose; or he would take the appraisement of disinterested parties at Lexington.

This case also, then, seems likely to be one of those ransom cases, by which the present laws keep the whole subject before the people.

THE NEWS BY THE ARABIA.

The commercial circulars brought by the steamer Arabia, generally refer to the Turkish question as being about to be settled, and funds and markets felt the pacific impression, and reflected it in the fall of breadstuffs and more buoyant appearance of money affairs.—The improved prospects of the harvest had sustained no check, and the weather was completely favorable. The accounts of the potato crop in Ireland were highly satisfactory, the cases in which the blight had appeared being merely exceptional. In many parts of England, however, this crop had fared badly. The grain market had been dull, and cotton had fallen a 1-2 to a 1-06 of a penny during the week.

In relation to the reports that the Russian Emperor had accepted a note from Austria, and the consequent hopes of peace, the Boston Courier says:

We find simply this fact: It is announced at St. Petersburg that the Czar has accepted a certain note on the Eastern question presented by Austria. Now what is this note, and what does the acceptance of it by Austria amount to? To the first question no answer can be given. Nobody knows what the note contains. To the second, we reply that the acceptance of the note is an indication that the Czar will be graciously pleased to receive an ambassador from the Sultan, and fresh negotiations will be opened. This, we believe, is the whole of the matter—like the last chapter of Dr. Johnson's Rasselas, "a conclusion in which nothing is concluded."

What probability is there that the new negotiations will be more successful than the old ones? We see none. It has been the policy of the Czar from the beginning of the business to spin out the time, and amuse his antagonists with negotiations, while he was mustering his armies. So successful a piece of cajolery was never before practised as that of of which the British and French governments have been the victims.

THE TROUBLE IN TORTOLA.

In the Daily Chronicle of August 20, we published—and doubted—an account of "an insurrection among the negroes of Tortola." We discredited the account, chiefly because we have read scores of such accounts since August, 1834, not one of which proved to be correct; and also because it contained the following sentence:

"This is only the beginning of what must eventually and soon be the result in all the British W. I. Islands, where the negroes have the supremacy of power, which is the case in most of the smaller islands."

We could not exactly see what occasion any people could have for insurrection, where they possessed "the supremacy of power." We were not aware that the negroes in Tortola were supreme, but we knew they were free, and could not imagine what they had to rise against.

At a later date, Aug. 23, we published a telegraphic scrap, stating that the account of the insurrection at Tortola was confirmed; but giving no particulars.

Now, we get from the Boston Courier the following additional particulars, condensed from St. Thomas papers, making all as plain as daylight.

"There were no negroes connected with the movement. The primary cause was] the endeavor of the government officees to collect an additional tax of twelve cents a head upon cattle, in order to raise a fund for poor law purposes. The law was obnoxious to the people, and the levy was resisted by an appeal to arms. The country people offered to pay their old tax upon cattle, which was refused. A trouble ensued, and several of the countrymen were arrested and confined. Their brethren demanded their release of the Governor, which, not being accorded, they broke open the jail and let out all the prisoners."

This puts the boot on the other leg. It is no negro insurrection at all—but a case of resistance to taxes, by white men, somewhat after the manner of our ancestors, who would not pay stamp and tea taxes, and the still later case of Shay's rebellion.

MURDER! MURDER!—These words, uttered as a midnight cry, are truly frightful.—Such a cry, issuing from a boarding house window in Union street, Portland, startled the watchmen of that city, last Tuesday night, near twelve o'clock. They rushed into the house, and to the door of the room whence they heard the outcry. This they found barricaded by a bedstead and some chests, but succeeded in forcing it open. A man in the room commenced beseeching them to save his life, though they might take his money. Seeing his state they judged it best to take him to the Watch House. There he showed all the terrible symptoms of delirium tremens, making efforts to kill the devils he imagined surrounded him. Said that he had drank nothing in Portland, but that drugged liquor had been given him in Boston. In his cell he succeeded in moving a very heavy bunk against the door; and the officers were troubled to open it from the outside. The unfortunate man was found to have about his person over $25. A sharp razor was also found in his possession. He was well-dressed, and apparently well educated. Said that he was an Irishman by birth, and that he had been a book-seller in Liverpool. Hailed last from Worcester, and was in Portland selling prints.

LOCAL.

OLD PAVED STREET.

We have just been looking at a beautiful engraving of Old Paved Street, as it was dressed with evergreens and adorned with arches on the Fourth Day of July, 1853, at which time the traders therein took account of stock.

The view embraces the entire arcade, and was taken as the procession passed through it. The picture, which is published by Messrs. Albert Gregory and Thos. P. Moses, exhibits one of the most imposing scenes of the day—and is a fine specimen of a fine art, as well as a most agreeable memento of a happy day.

The engraving will be for sale by booksellers in this city, and by agents in Boston, New York, Lowell, &c., in a day or two. It will be a fit companion for the "Portsmouth Jubilee," published by Messrs. Brewster, and a beautiful ornament for the parlor.

☞ In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, sundry bills were approved for payment.

The use of Jefferson Hall was granted to the Granite Guards, during their visit from Concord.

FESTIVAL OF BEAUTY.—Messrs. Pennell and Packard gave their third exhibition of this beautiful fairy scene, in the Temple, on Wednesday evening, to a good house, somewhat more numerous indeed, than at either of the former representations. It has proved, in their hands, by judicious management, one of the most popular exhibitions offered here for a considerable time. We believe a third exhibition here, of any such entertainment, has never taken place before.

THE PIC-NICS.—We have already given large space to notices of the several grand excursions recently made by various religious societies in this city, because we deem them worthy the encouragement and participation of all. On our last page to-day, we publish the Poem written for and read at the Pic-Nic of the Methodist Society in this city, held at Raymond, last week—for the type of which we are indebted to our neighbor of the Messenger.

NAVAL.—The U. S. ship of war Cyane, Commander Hollins, sailed from our lower harbor on Thursday morning, for the fishing grounds.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, the train on the Cochecho Railroad from Alton to Dover, near the depot in Rochester, struck and killed an elderly woman, Miss Ellis, aged about 70, who was crossing the track not far from her house. She was taken up on the cow catcher and thrown against the engine frame, breaking in her skull and killing her instantly. The woman was deaf, and did not hear the whistle. No blame is attached to the engineer.

PATRICK M'DONALD, ESQ.—A correspondent of the Lowell Courier says, of the above named Irish gentleman, who was appointed Mail Agent on the Eastern Railroad, that he received his appointment through the influence of his brother, who is a Catholic priest at Manchester, N. H., and who used his endeavors to induce the Irish to vote for Gen. Pierce last fall. Mr. M'Donald entered upon the duties of his office on Tuesday morning, the 9th inst., and Wednesday morning he reported himself at the Counting Room, ready to resume his labors on the wharf in Charlestown, having satisfied himself that the title of Esq. did not qualify him for the office to which he had been appointed. He is said to be a first rate hand among lumber, wood and coal; but did not find himself exactly at home in a travelling post office.

WOLFBOROUGH CONVENTION.

The Free Democracy of New Hampshire held their meeting at Wolfborough, on Wednesday last. The number assembled was estimated at about two thousand; and there being no building sufficiently capacious for the multitude, the meeting in the forenoon was held in a grove near the village, where Hon. Amos Tuck was chosen President of the Convention, and the usual officers appointed. Mr. Tuck made the opening speech, and was followed by Moses A. Cartland and Hon. John P. Hale. In the afternoon Mr. Hale resumed his speech in front of the Pavilion House, (the rain having commenced) and was followed by Mr. Talbot, of Maine, and Mr. Goodale, of Manchester.

The Meeting in the evening was held in the large Tent, when Mr. Claggett of Portsmouth (Mr. Tuck being absent) was called to the chair, and addressed the meeting, which was also addressed by Messrs. Willey of Maine, J. P. Hale of New York, Dame of Nottingham, J. H. Ela of Rochester, G. G. Fogg of Concord, and Fletcher of Nashua; and after animated discussions, was dissolved at 10 o'clock. Several reporters from New York and Boston were present. There was excellent music by a band from Milford.

SICKNESS AT THE SOUTH.

New Orleans, Aug. 21.—The fever increases almost every hour, and has now become very alarming. No one appears exempt from its ravages, and many of our oldest and most respectable citizens are now suffering from it.—Among those more recently attacked are A. M. Holbrook, Esq., of the Picayune, Thomas Adams, Esq., President of the Crescent Insurance Co., and others. Mr. Holbrook arrived here only a few days since in the Black Warrior from New York. He has previously had the fever, and been in the midst of nearly all the fearful epidemics that have ravaged our city. This shows with what fearful malignancy the fever rages, and how almost impossible it is for any one to feel safe from its attacks. Among the deaths yesterday were Mr. John G. Browers, and Mr. Robson of the firm of Robson & Allen, merchants of this city.—Mr. John Siddell, of the firm of Siddell, Green & Co., is also numbered with the dead. Many of the clerks in the various stores have been attacked, and at the present moment at least one hundred are suffering with the fever. The rain is pouring down.

August 22.—The total number of deaths reported by the Board of Health for the forty-eight hours ending six o'clock this morning, was 562, including 469 from yellow fever.—Besides the above there were thirty deaths from diseases not stated, which would swell the entire deaths during two days to nearly 600.

Louisville, Aug. 24.—A despatch just received from Jackson, says that yellow fever is prevailing to an awful extent in Vicksburgh and Natchez, and everybody who can possibly leave those cities is doing so.

APPOINTMENTS, &c.—Washington, August 23.—The mission to Constantinople was filled to-day by the appointment of the Hon. Carroll Spence of Maryland, vice Mr. Marsh removed.

George Sanders' commission as Consul to London was forwarded to him to-day by mail.

Hon. Lewis Cass, Jr., late Charge to Rome, arrived here to-day.

The administration is adopting means for securing the Sandwich Islands station for our mail and trading ships in the commerce about to be opened with China and Japan.

RELEASE OF THE STAR LIGHT.—The release of the schooner Star Light was mentioned in the Daily Chronicle of Thursday. It does not appear that Capt. McDonald denied the charge upon which he was taken by the Devastation.

If the above statement proves to be correct (says the Boston Transcript) it would appear that there was no hardship in the case of the Star Light, but on the contrary the crown officers appear to have acted upon liberal principles. From what we know of the views and feelings of the residents in the fishing districts, we believe that they have no sympathy whatever with those who violate the treaty in any respect, as it has been understood for a generation since it was made. They only ask the government to defend their rights, and we now reiterate the statement made by us many weeks since, that we know of many fishing vessels now on the grounds, whose officers and crews have both the means and ability to defend themselves against outrage and insult.

RUNNING BY PLACE, NOT TIME.—An anecdote was current a few days ago of a railroad superintendent, who being asked by a conductor how long he should keep his train waiting at a place where another was due from the other direction, answered, "till the wheels rust off, and then get new ones." The same superintendent lately explained to a friend of ours his arrangements by which a collision is impossible without a violation of orders. This train runs not by time only, but by place. The turn outs where the trains are to meet are fixed, and the time-table is arranged for them to arrive there simultaneously, but the train that arrives waits till the other comes, no matter how long, or until positive information is received that it is not coming. This sometimes makes delay, but it always insures safety.—Providence Journal.

A LAWYER CONVICTED OF FORGEY.—Alfred J. Works, Esq., has been found guilty, before the U. S. court at New Haven, of fraud, in attempting to obtain a pension for the heirs of Col. John Lillie, a revolutionary patriot.—He is a young lawyer of New Haven, and has a wife and family. His clerk, James H. Conklin, was also convicted of the same offence.—One of the witnsses was Edward J. Baker, of Dorchester, Mass., son of Col. Lillie's wife by a second husband. Col. Jessie Pierce, and E. L. Pierce of Dorchester, and Nathan C. Martin and Miss Crehore, of Milton were also witnesses. It seems certificates were forged to prove that the widow Lillie (Mrs. Baker) was never married a second time.

THE COMET.—This wanderer, now visible in our hemesphere, last evening presented a beautiful appearance. It is visible soon after sunset, in the north-west, about 30° above the horizon. The nucleus appeared like a star of the first magnitude, and the tail spanned an arc of about 10°. The Boston Journal says it will reach its perehilion, or nearest approach to the sun in a few days—and its appearance will vary from day to day.

THE BUTTONWOODS.—The disease which so long assailed the buttonwood tree, appears to have died out. The Providence Journal notices that the buttonwoods by the roadside are apparently vigorous and flourishing, although bearing marks of their former suffering.

We have observed the same thing in this region. The old trees which seemed to be dead, are putting on the appearance of new life and youth.

THE DRAM SHOP.—An article in an Edinburg journal, says that in 40 cities and towns of Scotland, every 149 of the population support a dram-shop; while it requires 981 to keep a grocer, 1,067 to support a butcher, and 2,281 to support a bookseller.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to meet the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot and Laboratory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.
Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in later years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deriving sickness and ruin upon the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her such suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion,

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can have acquired a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

ORIGINAL POEM.

[Written for the Methodist Sabbath School Picnic at Raymond Aug. 16th.]

BY E. MASON.

To show the Father's matchless love
To fallen, guilty man,
He chose no gorgeous, prince-like show
In which to introduce below
His great redeeming plan;

But in the garb which childhood wears,
The lovely stranger first appears,
Borne in maternal arms;
And thus at once to childhood given
Is signal honor, stamped by heaven
With undecaying charms.

And while He graced that humble state,
He did the fair example set
How childhood's hours should pass;
He first by sweet submission proved
The preciousness of filial love
As long as time shall last.

And this his life and action joins
With God's command, which strictly binds
To honor in the Lord,
Father and Mother, (precious names,)
And richest promises proclaims
To all who keep that word.

Of early industry and skill,
Some useful calling to fulfil,
A model fair he stands;
And with his rising stature grew
In wisdom and in favor too,
With God above, and man.

And when, arrived at riper years,
He entered on those wider spheres
For which to earth he came,
Amid his numerous toils and cares,
The love which he to childhood bears
Still glowed a ceaseless flame.

Passing the city's crowded streets,
Or when in country walks he meets
The prattling infant race,
He spreads for them his friendly arms,
And smiling with celestial charms,
Extends the warm embrace.

How sweet the tones that meet the ear,
Suffer the children to draw near,
Nor turn their feet away;
For such compose the heavenly band,
Which in my Father's kingdom stand,
In realms of cloudless day.

And ere he passed o'er Jordan's tide,
Lo, as he doth his flock provide
With Shepherds love and care,
Their way in pastures green to lead,
He gives command his lambs to feed,
And guard with special care.

And while he now in glory reigns,
His work on earth he still maintains,
And gathers fruit for heaven:
We hear his voice in kindness speak,
That such as first his kingdom seek,
To them all good is given.

How blessed then in Jesus' sight,
When christian hearts and hands unite
To train the rising race,
How precious are our Sabbath schools,
Governed by heaven-appointed rules,
Which teach them wisdom's ways.

Already, guided by their light,
Thousands, arrayed in glory bright,
In paradise appear;
And thousands round our altars stand,
As beacon lights to Canaan's land,
Who found their Savior here.

Here swearing lips are taught to pray,
And wayward youth long prone to stray,
Have ceased from God to rove;
And saved from folly, sin and guile,
Their lives have made the desert smile
With fruits of peace and love.

'Tis ours to view the glorious sight
Which must to angels yield delight,
And christian zeal inflame,
Of tens of thousands in our land,
Who in these hallowed nurseries stand,
To hear of Jesus' name.

Well then may we beneath this shade,
By nature's hand above as spread,
A grateful offering bring;
That we and ours may still abide
Hard by the soul-reviving tide,
That gushes from the spring.

We offer praise for Sabbath hours,
The gospel's glorious-saving power,
The word of truth and love;
For Sabbath schools, with blessings fraught,
Where infant feet are early taught
The path to realms above.

Here too we most devoutly pray,
That truth divine in this our day
May speed its onward flight,
Till young and old its power may know,
And join through all this world of wo
To spread its sacred light.

And when our days of toil shall cease,
May we like Simeon go in peace,
And meet our friends in groves of bliss,
Adorned with fadeless green;
Where life's pellucid streamlet flows,
And Canaan's fruit luxuriant grows,
Beyond where sin its shadow throws
To cloud the radiant scene.

May we be there, this gathered throng,
To swell redemption's blissful song,
While angels join the lay;
And may this hour, to friendship given,
Inspire new zeal for God and heaven,
And speed us on our way.

Raymond, August 18, 1853.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Vine Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to work with life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

ELEPHANTINE FROLICS.

The elephant and her calf, now so familiar to the visitors of the London Zoological Gardens, reached them on the 10th of May, 1851. The infant prodigy is the most quaint looking old fashioned little thing that can be imagined. Young animals have certain characteristics as a general rule, which mark them at once.—No one can mistake a foal with its long, slit-like legs and its bushy tail for a small, full grown horse, and the baggy skin, clumsy legs and boiled eyes or a puppy, unmistakably stamps it as such. But the young elephant is to ordinary observation, a full grown elephant seen through a diminishing glass. He has the same rough, grey skin, the same eyes, the same general proportions as his mamma, and were it not that he betrays the heedlessness and vivacity of youth, with the peevishness at times of a spoiled child, he might pass for a specimen of some such breed among his race as the Shetland pony is among horses.

We were amused, says a writer in Ainsworth's Magazine, while watching the little gentleman one day literally sucking his finger. He coiled his trunk up into his mouth, and appeared to rubbing his gums; perhaps one of his coming teeth might be troubling him. He then rolled the trunk from one side of his mouth to the other, and appeared to suck the finger end, giving a sort of odd snort now and then. His foot itching, he raised it up and rubbed it with his trunk, (as Socrates rubbed his leg in the Phædo of Plato,) and after again sucking it in a thoughtful mood, he suddenly ran backwards, until he bumped against his mamma, who welcomed him with several caresses of her trunk, passed affectionally over him, and as speaking a look of fond, maternal pride as any countenance could express.

On a blazing hot Sunday in July, we witnessed an amusing scene with these elephants. Heavy rain had reduced the clay of the paddock in which they are kept to soft mud, which had not dried on one side, and had been worked by the animals into an unctuous, sticky mass. The sun had dried the other side. The little fellow enjoyed his liberty, and was in as great spirits as a schoolboy on a fine holiday, frolicking about with a "de il may care" air, picking up bits of dirt with his trunk and putting them into his mouth. His mamma watched him for some time, and seeing a clod of most unconscionable dimensions popped in, she walked quietly up, took this out of his mouth with the finger of her trunk, and threw it down with a look and action expressing as clearly as words—"You naughty child, how can you eat such filth?" On this the culprit gave a rebellious toss of his trunk, strode into the water, and threw several trunks full over his mamma, after which the two went into the mud, and he sat down on his haunches like a dog. The parent deliberately laid down on her side, and proceeded to plaster herself all over with mud, daubing it on with her trunk. The infant prodigy did the same, taking a most unnecessary and preposterous quantity on his own person, and daubing it also on his corpulent mamma, who returned the compliment with interest. When she got up—no easy matter, by the way, on account of her stoutness—one side of her body and one half of her face were hidden by a mask of clay, fully two inches thick, the eye being completely closed. With her trunk she first picked the dirt from this organ, and after a general shake proceeded with all the solemnity and wery much the appearance of a tipsy "laborer in many vineyards," to the water, in which she soon disappeared, nothing but the end of her trunk being visible above the surface. In this bath she was soon joined by her little one, and the two engaged in a game of elephantine romps extremely edifying to behold.

CAN THE ETHTHIOPIAN CHANGE HIS SKIN?—Dr. Hood, of Whiteville, Ga., describes a white negro woman living near him, 34 years of age, the mother of ten ebony children, whose skin, since she was 11 years of age, has changed from a pure black to a white, as fair as any of Circassian blood. Her eyes and hair retain the African peculiarities. No diseased condition of the skin or system has been discovered to show cause for this change of color, which began upon her forehead, in a small spot, and gradually affected her whole body, the black disappearing from her neck downwards in a single week after her face had become entirely whitened.

T. M. Stoughton, of Greenfield, informs the Springfield Republican, that the man who took a watermelon from his field, and left a pocket book containing $500 to pay for it, can have another melon, and a larger one, free of charge, as he never charges over $25 for the largest. The intimation of this paragraph is declared to be sober fact.

EXPLOSION OF FIRE-DAMP ON BOARD SHIP.—An explosion of fire-damp aboard ship, which ended in loss of life, serious injury to several others, and much damage to the vessel, formed the subject of a legthened investigation at Cardiff, before the coroner. The proceedings were more than usually important, from the circumstance of so many ships, laden with Welsh coal, exploding of late. It appeared that the barque Independent was lying in the Bute dock, and had taken in 250 tons of Aberdare coal for the West Indies, when a quantity of gas generated in her hold, suddenly exploded with fearful violence. The deck beams were snapped asunder, the entire deck was blown up between the fore and main mast, and the long boat, which was stowed near the hatches, was thrown up a considerable disance.

Deceased, one of the seamen, was standing on the deck at the time, and the poor fellow received the full force of the concussion. He was dreadfully burnt, as were others of the crew. They were forthwith removed to the infirmary, where the deceased died on the following day. The other sufferers continue in a sad way. The cause of the accident could not be learned, but it was stated that the explosion could not not have happened without a light being introduced into the hold. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, with a hope that every care would be exercised in shipping cargoes of coal from the port.—Liverpool Mercury.

"SALOON" CARS.—The Hudson River Railroad Company are about placing on their road "Saloon cars," intended for the use of families and parties of friends.

They are divided into different apartments six by eight ft. each apartment, furnished with a sofa, chairs and a centre table, and capable of containing eight or nine passengers. These apartments are carpeted, and handsomely adorned. A waiting maid is to be in attendance, who will furnish refreshments.

AGED.—Our friend of the Democrat, yesterday came across a centenarian in the shape of an old negro, who says he is 115 years of age. There is one peculiarity about this venerable darkie which is worthy of notice, and that is, "he nebber seed Gin'ral Washington." He is the only exception to the rule, for all the "Uncle Neds" we ever saw or heard of, were either body servants or had frequently seen the Gin'ral."—St. Louis Republican.

LIBERAL OFFER.—The St. John (Newfoundland) Post, of July 27th, says that Miss Dix has lately made an offer to pay £1500 towards a Lunatic Asylum in Newfoundland, provided the citizens of St. John and vicinity subscribed £2000. A subscription paper was opened, on which the Governor and two leading merchants subscribed £100 each.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 27, 1853.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

FACTS IN MAINE.

The celebrated John Neal, of Portland, is out under his own proper signature, in the state of Maine, against the no less celebrated Neal Dow, and against the Maine Law so called, of which Mr. Dow is the author.

John Neal says, speaking of Neal Dow,

With the reputed author [of the act] we have nothing to do here, beyond the acknowledgment, that we know him to be both unprincipled and treacherous; and that, having this opinion of him, we avow it openly, that our arguments may be watched, and proper allowances made by the few, if any there are, who still care enough about him to desire that he may be fairly dealt with, we put our name to what we say, so that any decent man with a tolerable regard of truth, may take up the cudgel in behalf, either of the law itself, or of its reputed author.

Either this is a great libel, or Mr. Dow is—no better than he should be.

Mr Neal goes on, in a critical way, tearing the law to peices, and says:—"Hereafter we hope to finish the work, and finish it in such a way that the law itself will need no tinkering." He says the time has fully come when the whole truth should be known in regard to the humbug and falsehood which have been publised in regard to the practical effects of the severe statute known as the "Maine Law."

He goes on to make the following statements:—

At this moment—and it has been growing worse every day, since the first three months were over, when people were blinded by its rashness—there is more intemperance and more drinking in this city and neighborhood, and probably throughout the whole State of Maine, with here and there a doubtful exception, than there has been at any other time for twenty years. Young men have banded together in clubs to evade the law. Travellers have brought liquors with them to our public houses. Chiidren carry liquor flasks about with them; and bottles are made in the shape of Bibles, so bound as to deceive the eye.

Hundreds of demijohns of liquor were distributed among our householders the very day the law went into operation—if we may believe the "embodiment" when he testifies; and these demijohns have been replenished as fast as they were emptied; and now, at this hour, it can be had any where and every where.—And yet, with a boldness and effrontery without example—the story continues to be repeated, for the western and Canadian markets, week after week, that the drinking houses are all broken up in the city of Portland, and that the sale of liquor in the State of Maine is no more!—a shameless falsehood, which has never been true, or any thing like true, since Maine had a place on the map of North America.

In confirmation of these statements, the editor of the Boston Transcript says:—

Upon a recent visit to a portion of the state of Maine, we found the large stories published in regard to the public sale of liquors, were sheer fabrications. The sale of liquors, as we witnessed it at the hotels of Maine, was as open and undisguised as such sale is in the city of New York. And merchants and public men of Maine informed us, that there was a more general use of intoxicating drinks through the state than was ever before known. The statements of these gentlemen confirm the opinion given by Mr. Neal.

Now we are never afraid of facts: we like to get hold of them on all subjects,—and if we could get at the truth on this subject, would be glad to publish it. And we are willing, according to the Pauline rule of charity, to hope all things and believe all things, as far as possible. We hope it will appear that the above representations oi morals in Maine are too dark for the truth, and that there is not so much drunkenness there as these witnesses say. Yet they are credible witnesses, and their testimony must weigh till something heavier outweighs it. If it is true, the Maine law is a failure, and worse; and so far from being enacted elsewhere, ought to be repealed in Maine.

But there are some things hard to believe, after all. If these things are true—if more liquor is used in Maine than ever before, and sold opealy everywhere—if the law does not injure the trade—we cannot understand why the great liquor dealers in Boston should be so earnest for its repeal. Nor can we understand why so strong a feeling exists among thousands of good men in Maine against its repeal.

Just this question arises in our minds about the law, viz., Does it do good? We wish for more facts yet, before we can decide. One thing is quite clear—if these bad statements are half true, something ought to be done! Will Mr. John Neal please to tell us what?

THE NEXT CONGRESS.—So far there have been 142 Democrats, 66 Whigs, and 3 Abolitionists elected to the next Congress. Maryland, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana, entitled to 23 members, have yet to hold elections.

DRUNKENNESS IN THE CHURCH.—A correspondent of the Christian Observer, giving some account of the proceedings of the Assembly of the Established Church (not the Free Church) of Scotland, says:—"Year after year, the chief business of this venerable court seems to be the deposition of her ministers for the sin of drunkenness. No less than five depositions have taken place at this Assembly this year. The first libel was against the Rev. Mr. Burtt, containing sixteen charges of drunkenness; the second against the Rev. J. Wilson, containing twelve charges; the third against the Rev. Mr. Houston, containing nineteen charges; the fourth against the Rev. J. Duncan, and the fifth case was that of the Rev. A. Todd, who was charged with habitual drunkenness from 1847 up till 1852. Deposition was in each case pronounced with the usual formalities.

We ask attention to the wretched state of things in the Kirk of Scotland, as displayed in the above deplorable account of intemperance among her ministers; not because we regard her sons as sinners above all other ministers in the British Isles in this respect; but rather because the peculiarity of her discipline exposes her delinquent clergy to the public gaze, and so gives us a fair specimen of what might otherwise be incredible in this country, viz., the great amount of intemperance in the churches and among the ministers of our fatherland.

These things are worthy also of comparison, in a serious and reflective way, with the state of things in New England, as it exists now, and as it was thirty or forty years ago.

We take great pleasure in stating, as we do, from an actual acquaintance with a large number of ministers, and good means of information with regard to the rest, that intemperance is almost unknown at this time among ministers of any and all denominations throughout New England; that suspicions of it in regard to any of them are extremely rare; and that a very large proportion of them are and have been for years, known and avowed tectotalers.

The same resmarks are generally true in regard to regular members of the several churches.

But between thirty and forty years ago, how was it? At that time, spirit and wine drinking were almost universal in this community, among all classes, church members and ministers not excepted. And the natural consequences followed. The physical and moral influence of daily potations were apparent in church and pulpit. At that period there were three ministers living within a few miles of this place, who had fallen from the pulpit into the gutter, by dreadful intemperance; and one or two more for whom their friends trembled. And the records and dockets of many churches were encumbered with cases of drunkenness among members, for many successive years.

In this comparative view, the question is pertinent, How came the change? The answer is, not by law; for this state of things grew up under the old license laws:—but it was brought about by moral means and voluntary associations. All the clergymen in this place, and a few laymen, became members of the Portsmouth Temperance Society, [anti distilled spirits] about 25 years ago,—when similar societies spread over New England. A few years later total abstinence societies, and then the Washingtonian effort, with the Sons, and the Rechabites, carried on the work.

The results, as to purifying the New England Churches and their Ministry from such a vice as now taints the Scottish Church, are not only apparent, but undeniable. And we wish to place this accomplished good to the proper account, viz., moral force, argument, entreaty, example!

We are willing, nay, desirous, that laws shall do all the good they can. Laws we must have, and let us have the best possible for the punishment and suppression of every vice; but in the promotion of any virtue, we must have stronger motives and better means than fear of pains and penalties.

A SAD AFFAIR.—The Napoleonville (La.) Poineer, announces that a few days ago a young creole of that parish, (Assumption) a member of an old and much respected family there, was seized in his own house by a crowd of exasperated citizens, and led in front of Col. Pugh's warehouse, where he was instantly stripped, tarred and feathered. The reason assigned for this act of violence is a good one, if such can exist for a breach of law, namely: that the youth in question had seduced his wife's sister. The father of the girl has gone crazy.

We think the offender in this case, is highly punished: he richly deserves a long imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary: but we suppose the laws of the State of Louisiana do not mention such seduction as a crime. It should come under the head of adultery, and be punished as such. We cannot defend the lynchers: in the eye of the law they are criminals, but the culprit has no cause to complain.

CHLOROFORM AS A MOTIVE POWER. The French Government has constructed a vessel to be driven by chloroform. Its powers were tested recently at L' Orient, and the experiment was considered very satisfactory. An equal power is obtained at an expense of 50 per cent. less than by steam.

LOCAL.

VERDANT.—A short time since a number of youths from the rural districts, took it into their heads to visit one of the neighboring watering places. They came into the city, hired the most stylish carriages, and each accompanied by his "bright particular," they drove to the hotel and ordered dinner. They made a great deal of noise at the table, calling out to each other in a way that completely astounded the waiters—"Sal, give me some of that stuff," "Tom, give us some of them ere fixins," "Betts, pass me that 'sass'," (pointing at a dish of preserved quince) but one fellow fairly carried off the palm. Seeing some hard sauce before him, and thinking probably it was some sort of pudding, he took the whole plate full and speedily devoured it, leaving the rest of the company to eat their pudding without sauce.

MILITARY VISIT.—The new company of Granite Guards, Capt. Gove, of Concord, made a fine appearance in our city, yesterday. They were accompanied by the Concord Brass Band, eighteen pieces, who made excellent music. The company numbered about forty muskets, among whom were eleven printers. "First in war," &c. The Guards quartered in Jefferson Hall, and dined at the Piscataqua House. To-day they make an excursion in the steamer Grace Darling, to the Shoals.

☞ What 's better than a short excursion down river, this fine weather? With a select company, (the signification of which term we dont exactly understand) sail to the fishing grounds near Wood Island—catch a mess of cunners, (by the way, flounces and drapery sleeves dont render this operation more convenient)—and having coaxed 'em into a brown, eat your length through them—the only limit on these occasions being the stock of eatables. Then arrange it so as to get up just before the wind dies away, and you 've had fun enough for one day. What more need be had—charming ladies, a glorious sail, "grand fishing," "delicious dinner," "delightful scenery," a "gorgeous sunset," and a "magnificent comet."

The Portsmouth & Concord Railroad Company, are negotiating with Mr. Leighton of the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, for the purchase of Hog Island, with the hotel and other improvements. They have offered the sum of fifty-five thousand dollars; Mr. L. demands sixty thousand, and will probably get his price. The company design having a steamer ply regularly in connection with this road from Portsmouth to the Shoals. The hotel will be remodeled, and all the improvements that the first-class houses at our fashionable watering places enjoy, will be added. The visitors at the Islands have increased five hundred per cent. within a few years, and rooms are already engaged for the coming winter, by residents of Boston. Although but ten miles remote from the shore, the atmosphere during the winter is some twenty degrees warmer there than ashore.

The above paragraph, from the Newburyport Union, is a most improbable story in almost every respect.

The P. & C. Railroad have no spare funds to buy islands with—and the idea of Bostonians wintering on the Shoals is simply ludicrous. Somebody must have been imposing upon the Union.

POLICE COURT.—On Thursday morning, before Justice Parker, John W. Nute, of Dover, plead guilty to the charge of making a brawl and tumult, and was fined $1, and costs 4,60.

AN UNNATURAL FATHER.—The police of Boston, on Tuesday, upon complaint of the neighbors, visited a filthy house in Lucas place, occupied by Patrick Fleming, and found his son, a young man about twenty-three years old, lying upon a bed of straw in a damp cellar, quite exhausted from the the effects of starvation. The story is that young Fleming has been sick for some time,—that his father paid $18 for him at the hospital, but that finally his father brought him home, and placed him in the cellar. For three weeks past he has not been at all attended to, but has remained helpless in his bed, with only the stealthy aid of a little girl to furnish him with a sufficiency of nourishment to save him from dying. The police removed the sufferer, and caused Fleming's house to be whitewashed at the public expense. Another son of Fleming was killed last week upon one of the railroads. The body was brought home to the father, who placed it in a rough box in the clothes in which he died, and deposited the remains in the South Bay land. For this offence he will no doubt be prosecuted. It is said that Fleming has property, but is a complete miser.

If this last statement be true, it is devoutly wished he may be made to "bleed" freely.

THE CASE OF FLEMING.—Coroner Smith summoned a jury of inquest in Boston on Thursday on the body of John Fleming, 28 years of age, who died at Deer Island during Wednesday. Deceased was son of Patrick Fleming, of Lucas place, the circumstances of whose brutality have already been detailed. The father, Patrick Fleming, has been arrested by order of the Coroner, to await the result of the investigation. We hope some law can be found which will empty the miser's pocket and humanize his heart.

SIX PENNY SAVINGS BANKS.—The New York Courier & Enquirer says that the establishment of the "Six Penny Savings Bank" in that city, has already led to small savings on the part of a large number of children as well as adults, and will eventually accomplish much good to the poorer classes. The total deposits up to this day amount to about ten thousand dollars. Interest at the rate of six per cent, is allowed on all accumulations under $500, and five per cent. on all above that sum. Interest is allowed after the deposits reach three dollars.

One of the first deposits in the Six penny Bank was made by an urchin who was without shoes and stockings. His first deposit was the sum of five cents; and before the end of the day it reached thirty-one cents. He begged that his deposit book might be retained at the Bank; otherwise his parents would claim all his future earnings (as they had all his previous ones) for the purchase of liquor. It is only necessary to have the objects of the institution generally known, to induce thousands to avail themselves of the privilege of depositing their small earnings.

ABBOTT'S LIFE OF NAPOLEON IN HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—At the recent Educational Convention, held at Pittsburg, many of the speakers alluded, in terms of censure, to the low character of much of the magazine literature of the country. The partisan life of Napoleon, by Rev. Mr. Abbott, came in for a share of the denunciation. One of the most severe rebukes administered on the occasion was given by Bishop Potter, of Pennsylvania. A clergyman of his high standing and amiable character must be deeply moved to utter language so usual for an Episcopal Bishop. He is reported to have said:

A series of articles are now being published, he continued, in one of the popular periodicals of the day, said to be written by a clergyman. I hope, for the honor of the profession, this is not so. These articles throw the halo of glory round the character of a selfish, ambitious and bloody man. They make him out kind, benevolent, and almost everything that is good—making his crimes virtues, because developed upon such an enormous scale. Now, if a man lies, it is our duty, if we speak of him historically, to say he lies. Away with literature that would make a paragon of excellence out of a monster!

The portly editor of the Detroit Advertiser relates the following anecdote. Those who know the "jolly fat man" will appreciate it:

By the way, these Indians are intense wags in their own conceit, and one of them must needs have a crack at me, as though there can be no peace for a fat man, even in the wilderness and among savages. Thinking to make the descent of the rapids in a small party, Judge Douglass asked the Nitchie how many he could carry; the answer was—holding up the fingers—five or six. I ventured to suggest so many to be a pretty good load.—"Ugh!" said he, surveying me, "I carry you and one more!" I held no further converse with the aboriginal upon that topic.

No LL. D. YET.—It was reported that the degree of LL. D. had been conferred on Horace Greeley, by the Vermont University, at Burlington. The degree was conferred on Horace, but it happens to be Horace Green, M. D., President of the New York Medical College. The Boston Bee says, Mr. Greeley, not Doctor Greeley, is still only "one of us." The Tribune will appear daily as usual, and Mr. Greeley is a Doctor of News, without thanking any College for the degree.

FEMALE POPULARITY.—If a woman wishes to be a general favorite with her female acquaintances, she has only to permit them to outdress her. The more intent they are on gewgaws and decorations, the more profound will be the respect for her who totally disregards them. Let any one look amongst his or her friends, and see if she who is most beloved is not one of less pretension to fancy than those around her.

A letter written in Montreal in 1761 represents the houses of the principal men of that place as "really magnificent," and the people as fond of dress. It says of the latter, "they are all finely powdered, walk with their hats under their arms, and wear long coats adorned with tinsel lace."

The Northampton Courier states that Augustus Clarke, the postmaster of that town, has proved a defaulter to the government to the amount of nearly $2500. He left for California about a fortnight since, leaving nine good bondsmen.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

FARE 25 CENTS each way. The Landing at Gerrish's Wharf, near the Hotel now kept by J. W. WESTON, is pleasant and convenient, and the place delightful. jy19tf

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseased of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

MARRIAGE.
Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that his own pecuniary improvement.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.
DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PRINCIPLE, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids: they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is no idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and IS WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. S. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

JOHN RANDOLPH—DEATH SCENE.

The following is from Garland's life of the eccentric John Randolph:

Next morning, (the day on which he died,) Dr. Parish received an early and urgent message to visit him. Several persons were in the room, but soon left it, except his servant John, who was much affected at the sight of his dying master. The doctor remarked to him, "I have seen your master very low before and he revived, and perhaps he will again." "John knows better than that, sir." He then looked at the doctor with intensity, and said in an earnest and distinct manner, "I confirm every disposition in my will, especially that respecting my slaves, whom I have manumitted, and for whom I have made provision."

"I am rejoiced to hear such declarations from you, sir," replied the Doctor, and soon after proposed to leave him for a short time, to attend to another patient. "You must not go," was the reply; "you cannot, you shall not leave me. John! take care that the Doctor does not leave the room." John soon locked the door, and reported, "Master, I have locked the door, and got the key in my pocket; the Doctor can't go now." He seemed excited and said, "If you do go, you need not return." The Doctor appealed to him as to the propriety of such an order, inasmuch as he was only desirous of discharging his duty to another patient. His manner instantly changed, and he said, "I retract that expression." Some time afterwards, turning an expressive look, he said again, "I retract that expression."

The Doctor now said that he understood the subject of his communication, and presumed he will would explain itself fully. He replied in his peculiar way—"No, you don't understand it, I know you don't. Our laws are extremely particular on the subject of slaves—a will may manumit them, but provision for their subsequent support requires that a declaration be made in the presence of a white witness; and it is requisite that the white witness, after hearing the declaration, should continue with the party, and never lose sight of them until he is gone or dead. You are a good witness for John. You see the propriety and importance of your remaining with me; your patients must make allowance for your situation. John told me this morning—"master you are dying."

The Doctor spoke with entire candor, and repli d that it was rather a matter of surprise that he had lasted so long. He now made his preparations to die; he directed John to bring him his father's breast button—he then directed him to place it in the bosom of his shirt. It was an old-fashioned, large-sized gold stud.—John placed it in the button-hole of the shirt-bosom—but to fix it completely required a hole in the opposite side. "Get a knife," said he, "and cut one." A napkin was called for and placed by John over his breast.

For a short time he lay perfectly quiet, with his eyes closed. He suddenly roused up, and exclaimed—"Remorse! remorse!" It was thrice repeated—the last time at the top of his voice, with great agitation. He cried, "Let me see the word; get me a dictionary—let me see the word." "There is none in the room, sir." "Write it down then—let me see the word.

The Doctor picked up one of his cards—"Randolph of Roanoke." "Shall I write it on this?" "Yes, nothing more proper." The word remorse was then written in pencil. He took the card in a hurried manner, and fastened his eyes on it with great intensity.—"Write it on the back," he exclaimed—it was so done, and handed him again. He was extremly agitated—"Remorse! you have no idea what it is; you can form no idea of it whatever; it has contributed to bring me to my present situation—but I have looked to the Lord Jesus Christ, and I hope I have obtained pardon. Now let John take your pencil and draw a line under the word," which was accordingly done. "What am I to do with the card?" inquired the Doctor. "Put it in your pocket, take care of it—when I am dead, look at it."

The Doctor now introduced the subject of calling in some additional witnesses to his declarations, and suggested sending down stairs for Edmund Badger. He replied, "I have already communicated that to him."—The Doctor then said, "with your concurrence, sir, I will send for two young physicians, who shall remain and never lose sight of you until you are dead; to whom you can make your declarations—my son, Dr. Isaac Parish, and my young friend and late pupil, Dr. Francis West, a brother of Capt. West."

He quickly asked, "Capt. West of the packet?"

"Yes, sir, the same."

"Send for him—he is the man; I'll have him."

Before the door was unlocked, he pointed towards a bureau, and requested the Doctor to make a remuneration for his services. To this the Doctor promptly replied, that he would feel as though he were acting indelicately to comply. He then waived the subject, by saying—"In England it is always customary."

The witnesses were now sent for, and soon arrived. The dying man was propped up in the bed, with pillows, nearly erect. Being extremely sensitive to cold, he had a blanket over his head and shoulders; and he directed John to place his hat on, over the blanket, which aided in keeping it close to his head.—With a countenance full of sorrow, John stood close by the side of his dying master. The four witnesses—Edmund Badger, Francis West, Isaac Parish and Joseph Parish, were placed in semi-circle, in full view. He rallied all the expiring energies of mind and body, to this last effort. "His whole soul," says Dr. Parish, "seemed concentrated in the act. His eyes flashed feeling and intelligence.—Pointing towards us, with his long index finger, he addressed us."

"I confirm all the directions in my will, respecting my slaves, and direct them to be enforced, particularly in regard to a provision for their support." And then raising his arm as high as he could, he brought it down with his open hand on the shoulder of his favorite John, and added these words—"especially for this man." He then asked each of the witnesses whether they understood him. Dr. Joseph Parish explained to them what Mr. Randolph had said in regard to the law of Virginia on the subject of manumission—and then appealed to the dying man to know whether he had stated it correctly. "Yes," he said, and gracefully waving his hand as a token of submission, he added—"the young gentlemen will remain with me."

The scene was soon changed. Having disposed of that subject most deeply impressed on his heart, his keen, penetrating eye lost its expression, his powerful mind gave way, and his fading imagination began to wander amid scenes and with friends he had left behind.—In two hours the spirit took its flight, and all that was mortal of John Randolph of Roanoke, was hushed in death. At a quarter before 12 o'clock, on the 24th of June, 1833, aged sixty years, he breathed his last, in a chamber of the City Hotel, No. 41 North Third street, Philadelphia.

MONDAY, AUGUST 29, 1853.

THE PRESIDENT'S TURN-OUT.

From the following, written by an Englishman, at present stopping a few days at the Capitol, it will be seen that President Pierce has as good a turn-out as anybody's folks:

"In walking along Pennsylvania Avenue, on one of the hottest days of the season, my attention was drawn to a magnificent carriage, standing by the sidewalk, between Ninth and Tenth streets. It was certainly, for beauty, richness and uniform appropriateness, one of the finest establishments I have seen, reminding one of the splendid equipages of some of the British nobility, which may be seen of an afternoon in Hyde Park. The horses were fine large bays, covered with a harness heavily and richly ornamented with silver. The doors and panels were filled with heavy plate glass elaborately cut, and the morocco linings, Turkey carpet, and rich silk tassels and lappets, gave it an air of comfort and luxury seldom met with in this practical age. The driver and footman were white, clad in blue livery with gilt buttons. This turn-out being much superior to anything I had seen in America, made me desire to notice it the more particularly, and led me to inquire respecting the owner of so rich an equipage, and halting a moment in the shade of one of the elms on the sidewalk, I saw it entered by a middle-aged lady in black; the heavy door closed without noise, and the footman, encumbered with his immense and heavy cloth coat, ascended with difficulty to the elevated seat with the driver, and the prancing steeds were driven up Pennsylvania avenue. In answer to my inquiry of a bystander, as to the owner of what I supposed could only belong to some foreigner of distinction, I was informed that the carriage belonged to President Pierce."

We read all this, and thought it very fine for Mrs. Pierce, a feeble woman, (the daughter of our good old President Appleton, formerly the minister of Hampton,) to have a good coach to ride in, and a couple of steady men-servants to take care of her. It did not seem exactly democratic, to be sure, but we let that pass, in view of the comfort of a worthy woman who has seen a deal of trouble.

The New York Tribune, however, is not so tolerant, but is down on the liveries in the following style:

O ye poor, trodden down and despised sons of toil! When shall come the day of your deliverance? When will you be too intelligent to be the menials of small lawyers, who abuse their professions of equality and at the first opportunity betray you to shame and dishonor? What is there in this man Pierce, that he should dare to degrade the democracy of his country in the persons of liveried menials!

What was the meaning of Secretary Marcy's circular to the legations and consuls, inviting them to leave off barbarian trappings and rise to the dignity of men? If their liveries are degrading and infamous, equally so are they on the backs of persons in their employ.—Liveries for the democrats who help a Democratic President to discharge his Democratic duties, and live the Democratic life proper for the head magistrate of this republic! Faugh upon such Democracy! Let Secretary Marcy at once issue a new circular for home use.

We shall be told, perhaps, that this is a hard doctrine, and that since it is customary for great families and rich men in the large cities of the republic to dress their servants in livery, we must not complain if the President adopts the same blessed privilege.

We do not feel called upon to join in these censures of President Pierce; but on the contrary, to defend him on the score of custom, usage and public opinion—taking care, at the same time, to express our opinion, that the less American citizens imitate foreign foppe ries, the better.

It should be considered that all the Presi dents have ridden in coaches, and that the people expect them all to do so. Most of them have bought their own, and they have not generally been particularly elegant,—some of them not even new. But the carriage, horses and harness of our democratic President Pierce were all a present to him, by distinguished democrats of Boston and vicinity.—Could he refuse such a gift? Could he act as driver of his own coach? Or could the hired driver act also as footman? Admitting that he must have both a coachman and a footman, why might they not dress alike, and why might they not dress well? It would not do to disgrace so fine a coach and horses by a shabby looking driver and footman.

A cotemporary suggests that Abbott Lawrence, our minister to England, was stigmatized as an aristocrat last year, because he had a splendid carriage and liveried servants in London. We know it; but that was all "gammon," got up to gull those flats who can believe in this day, there is any such democracy as requires the slightest self denial in any such respects as are here alluded to. The cry of aristocracy, we know, is very convenient when an election may be affected by it; but he must needs be ignorant who does not know that great democrats ride in coaches.

Portsmouth has often been called an aristocratic city; and perhaps it is so: but for a number of years previous to the decease of our late eminent fellow-citizen Gov. Woodbury, he owned and used the only private coach in this city. No one will call in question his membership in the democratic party; and no person here thought the worse of him because he rode in a coach.

Going back to the old Republican gentry of our ancient town, Governor Langdon, and Judge Langdon his brother, kept carriages and drivers. And so far as equipages go, we remember no marked distinction between political parties—the wealthier and more showy of both were magnificent, or if you please, aristocratic, in their turnouts. But, we are happy to say, our manners and customs here have become so plain and simple that no man now troubles himself with a coach, driver and footmen; but many of our citizens drive their own horses—and public coaches abound, in which any man can have a good ride at small expense.

President Pierce but follows the courtly usage of the day, in this matter, and ought not to be greatly blamed for it. We never expected him to be a sturdy, iron-hearted reformer in any respect—certainly not in matters of show and taste.

OPERA SINGERS AND THE PRESS.—The N. Y. Musical World of the 26th, says:

It is reported of the Sontag "management," that they have paid out several thousand dollars to the press for complimentary notices.

Sontag complains that she has made nothing, or but very little, during the year that she has been in this country. Much money has been taken at her concerts and operas, but she has received (according to her own statement) but very little of it; and when she asks for it, she is presented with enormous bills of expenses, among which are those of the press, as above stated. "Oh, the newspapers cost so much," said she, elevating her hands and eyes toward heaven, "it is impossible to make anything."

The Boston Transcript comes out in strong terms against such agents, and says:

We believe our own experience with opera and musical agents, is similar to that of other journals, and we have always found advertising and printing for them is attended with more risk and loss than any other branch of newspaper business. From what we have seen of their movements, we have no manner of doubt, that the sums swindled out of singers and charged to the account of "the press," have been squandered among the dissolute of one sex, and the abandoned of the other—and that tickets intended for editors and musical critics, have been given to bar-tenders and characters popularly included under the general head of the "Fancy." All that is needed to reform these abuses, is for the press to unite in exposing the shameless tricks of those who have thus imposed upon artists, the public and the press.

Well may the Musical World, in reporting that $15,000 had been expended by Sontag's agents to bribe the press in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, ask "Who has the money?"

A BANK MISTAKE.—On Wednesday, the paying teller at the Hanover Bank, in New York, paid by mistake to a German, who presented a check for $9.12, the sum of $912.—The man on being arrested denied all knowledge of the matter, but upon searching his trunk, $800 in $100 bills were found, and on his person enough additional money to make nearly the amount drawn by him. He was locked up for examination.

We don't see why he was locked up. The bank have a civil action against him for so much money had and received—but he was not bound to count his money. The teller ought to be looked up, if any body.

INSTALLATION.—Rev. John H. Merrill, late of Pembroke, N. H., was installed as Pastor of the Congregational church in Tamworth, N. H., on the 17th inst. Sermon by Rev. H. E. Parker, of Concord.

RESIGNATION.—We are informed by the New Bedford Mercury that Rev. Charles Lowe, assistant Pastor of the Unitarian Church in that city, has determined to resign his situation on account of ill health. He will spend some months in foreign travel.

☞ Rev. David Thurston, of Maine, declines the honor which the Faculty of Dartmouth College have recently conferred upon him by making him a D. D. He has scruples respecting the propriety of such distinctions between Christian brethren.

On Wednesday night, about midnight, the staging surrounding the spire of the new Baptist church, now going up in this village, gave way before a strong wind and came to the ground with a crash. The roof, which is covered with tin, was somewhat injured, being broken through by the falling timbers; and the spire itself, which had reached a height of about one hundred and fifty feet, was racked from its foundation, but remained standing. The spire, we understand, when completed, is to be one hundred and sixty-eight feet from the ground.—Fitchburg Sent.

A racked steeple is poor property, and a dangerous nuisance besides. Better pull it down, and build a stronger one, if not quite so high.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 26.—A Public Meeting was held this afternoon, to consider the late Worcester railroad collision. Resolutions, mild and exculpatory in their tone, were reported, but were amended so as to strongly censure the road. The first conclusion reported commenced thus:—"Whereas, in the providence of God," &c. which was struck out and the following inserted:—"By the mismanagement of those having charge of the Providence and Worcester Railroad Corporation," &c. A number of persons then left the hall, Dr. Wayland, who presided, having previously left the chair, pleading an engagement. The meeting was not large, but the debate was sharp.

LOCAL.

LYCEUM.

We understand the Directors of the Portsmouth Lyceum have resolved not to have a course of Lectures the coming winter, in consequence of the Course proposed at the Temple under the Direction of the Mechanic Association. It is to be hoped, that under the favorable circumstances, the capacious temple will be filled, and a City Lyceum, or Mechanic Lyceum, worthy of either name, be fully sustained.

The course will begin on Tuesday evening Nov. 8: and the lecturers, as far as announced, are able and well known.

THE GRANITE GUARDS were prevented from making their visit to the Shoals, on Saturday, by the bad weather. The steamer landed them at Newcastle, and they were politely received and entertained by Maj. Austine at Fort Constitution, with a salute, refreshments, &c. The Guards were invited to dinner at the City Hotel, on Saturday, by Capt. Towle of the City Greys. They took the last train for Concord, Saturday afternoon—leave a very favorable impression here among all who became acquainted with them, as soldiers and gentlemen.

In the Police Court on Saturday, the Justice fined a couple of young fellows who were brought up on different charges of assault and battery—one of them to the amount of $10.11, costs and fine. We refrain from giving their names, as the request of one of them, for his mother's sake. If they have any shame in them when sober, we won't expose them any farther than they have exposed themselves.

GOOD CORN.—Mr. Gilman Berry, of Rye, has left us a beautiful ear of yellow corn, with twelve rows of about forty kernels each. The seed was sown on the 21st of May, and the ears are fully ripened on the 26th of August—ninety-six days. The seed came from the north.

☞ The Methodist Camp Meeting at Kennebunk, last week, was attended by about 4000 people; 59 tents were pitched on the camp ground. The exercises were conducted with spirit and regularity—and some of the discourses were able and eloquent.

SMALL POX IN HAMPTON, N. H.—There is considerable excitement at present in the usually quiet town of Hampton, N. H., caused by the appearance of the small pox in town. Last spring a stranger visited the town, was taken sick with the small pox, and to prevent all danger of contagion, a house was erected at the north part of the town, and there he was nursed. After his recovery, it was designed that the building should be torn down, but this precaution was neglected and the house was suffered to remain. A few weeks since a number of children visited the vicinity in quest of berries, and entering the house, found some old clothes, left hanging on the wall. With these they played for some time, and then returned home. Soon one of them was taken sick with the small pox, but little was thought of it, and he attended school all the time, the disease not being recognized. One and another was attacked, and on enquiry being made, the above facts were elicited. There are now several cases in town, but energetic measures are being taken to prevent the further spread of the disease.—Boston Traveller.

We heard of some cases of small pox at Hampton, a week ago, and also heard that no alarm was felt about the matter, as vaccination and other appropriate measures were resorted to. We deemed it hardly worthy of mention.

BURIAL GROUND FOR CAMBRIDGE.—The city government of Cambridge have purchased a fine lot for a public cemetery in the vicinity of Mount Auburn—a convenience which has been much needed in that city for several years.

The city government of Portsmouth would do well to make a similar purchase, which could be done now on reasonable terms—but which, if let alone for a few years, when it must be done, will cost a great deal more, perhaps twice as much.

There has been a real need of a Public Cemetery here, for thirty years, and out of this need in part have sprung our elegant and costly private cemeteries, which do not, after all, meet the full extent of the want, and from their costliness can never do it. We need a City Cemetery, of adequate size, in good taste, under municipal regulations, accessible to all the people on easy terms. In a few years we must have it. Is it not better to be about it in season?

NEW HAMPSHIRE MANUFACTURING.—A letter from Moultonborough, N. H., says:—"There is a fine water power in this town, which has been recently purchased by a company from Boston, and a machine shop and foundry are soon to be built, under the direction of an agent of Seth Adams & Co., the present proprietors of the present location.—The company was incorporated by the last Legislature as the Red Hill Manufacturing Company; and if all reports are true, the little village, known in this vicinity as "Moultonborough Falls," is soon destined to become a second Lawrence. So may it be.

STEAMER CHEROKEE BURNT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Cherokee was entirely destroyed by fire last evening. She had on board but very little freight for New Orleans, many shipments having been countermanded. We hear of insurances on goods only, to the amount of $10,000 or $15,000.—The boat was not insured, her owners, Messrs. Law and Roberts, taking their own risks.—She was valued at about $200,000.

NEW ORLEANS.—The total number of deaths by fever at New Orleans on the 23d were 258; including 234 from yellow fever. On the 24th, the total number of interments reported was 229.

A NETHERLAND WAR STEAMER AT NEW YORK.—His Netherland Majesty's steamship Amsterdam, via Fayal, arrived at New York on the 26th, after a passage of 13 days.

The Amsterdam mounts 8 guns, and has 125 men. She comes on a visit to the Exhibition, &c.

The Amsterdam is a new vessel on her first cruise, about 1100 tons, Dutch measure, 300 horse power. She will remain in port a couple of weeks, and then proceed to Venezuela.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A battery of six pounders, and other implements of war, are being prepared at the Arsenal, destined for the Rio Grande, to which point several companies of regulars are now on their way.

HOPE FOR THE POTATO CROP.—The New Bedford Mercury reports that potatoes were never in a healthier condition in the neighborhood of Freetown than at present, with every prospect of a fine crop.

The Worcester Spy says, that the potato rot has indeed made its appearance in that city, but so far its ravages seem confined to one variety, the Chenangoes. The market is abundantly supplied with early potatoes of excellent quality, which are selling at from fifty to sixty cents at retail.

FATAL SPRING.—On Thursday evening, an infant child of James J. Edmands, who resides at Charlestown, was playing upon a bed, when hearing a noise in the yard below, it sprang from the bed out of a two-story window. It struck on a plank walk, and although no bones were broken, will probably not recover from the effects of the fall.

RAILROAD DISASTER IN GEORGIA.—The Savannah News reports that on Saturday, 29th, a locomotive on the Georgia state road blew up, at a watering place about 9 miles from Marietta, Ga. killing the conductor, Mr. Greeson, and two Tennessecans, (passengers) names unknown, and seriously wounding others.

Father de Smet, of St. Louis, complains of a great lack of Catholic priests, which is "keenly felt in a country where Protestanism, indifference, irreligion, infidelity, rush like a torrent in all directions, and bear in their current thousands of Catholics."

CAN THIS BE BEATEN?—The Pawtucket Gazette knows a lady in the Massachusetts side of the village, who is more than eighty years of age, who now resides on the estate where she was born, who has resided in three towns, and yet never resided in any other place than the one where she now has her home.

The Tomato, which is now so commonly used at our tables, is of late introduction.—Thirty years ago, its name was almost unknown; the demand for it now is so great, that we import it in the spring from the island of Bermuda.

MISTAKE.—The newspapers announced recently that Mr. Butler, a poor man in Vernon, N. Y., had received a legacy of $94,000. The three cyphers were thrown in for a flourish, and Mr. Butler's legacy is only $94.

THE NORFOLK TRAGEDY.—Charles H. Comstock is now on trial in the Fairfield County Court of Connecticut, on an indictment charging him with manslaughter, for having through carelessness, as conductor of the train, caused the horrible massacre at the Norwalk draw-bridge, on the New Haven railroad last May. Edward W. Tucker, the engineer, who was also arrested and held to bail to answer a similar charge is declared by his physicians to be unable to attend the court, in consequence of the injuries he received at the time.

A BAD GIRL.—Yesterday, Jane Brown, a Welch girl of some 17 years, who has been a resident of this city from childhood, was brought before the Police Court, as a vagrant. The charge was fully sustained, and apparently many other charges could have been, and she was sentenced to the House of Correction in Ipswich. During the examination she had appeared very well, and was a pretty looking girl; but no sooner had the sentence been pronounced than she assumed the form of a shedevil. Her first attempt was to seize the papers from the Judge, and quickly they were flying round the room as though a young hurricane had started them; in a moment she commenced tearing her clothes and a good portion of those were immediately prepared for the rag bag; next she demolished the City Marshal's hat, crushing the beaver beneath her feet.

By this time the police officer was endeavoring to hold her, and the crowd of spectators were much excited by the scene. She struggled like an Amazon, and if she had been half as strong in mind as she was in body, she would never have been in that scrape. Marshal Brown's face showed how such kittens can scratch, and some of the spectators who assisted, came in for their share of the drubbing. A well konwn deaf and dumb man, who put his hand on her within reach of her teeth, felt his fingers grinding up as though she had eaten nothing for the day, and with an unearthly screech Johnny shot out of the door half across the market, looking as though daggers were in him. She was finally overpowered and put into jail, where she kept up her noise through the night.—Newburyport Union.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.
Steamer Grace Darling,
CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.
THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheafe's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.
This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.
Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.
The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and many fashionable and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.
PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.
Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.
Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to
S. R. CLEAVES, Agent,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—Tha effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot: 0ne manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.
WHY IS IT!
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
HALF A MILLION COPIES
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

EDWARD LAMBERT & CO.,

51 Broadway, (opposite U. S. bonded warehouse)

IMPORTERS AND JOBBERS OF Rich Silks, Paris Dress Goods, Shawls, Gloves, Embroideries, White Goods, Ribbons, &c., invite the attention of Merchants from all sections to their unrivalled assortment of

Silk and Fancy Dry Goods,

Imported with special reference to the wants of first class buyers, and in three important particulars, viz.: TASTE, VARIETY AND PRICE, believed to be unequalled.

Messrs. E. L. & Co., having been engaged in this business for many years in Philadelphia, where the taste is not so alike, in many respects, to that of the Northern and Eastern States, they would call particular attention to their styles, many of which are controlled entirely by them.

It having been remarked that our business is almost exclusively Southern, we would beg leave to say that our goods are equally adapted to section of the United States, Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western, and that in style and price they will be found equal to any other House.

On and after Dec. 1st next, we shall occupy our New Marble Warehouse, now being erected, No 55 CHAMBERS ST., 4 doors from Broadway, directly opposite the Park. law3m jy 11

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the NUTRITIVE PROCESS, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength; while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting decease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the present condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with the instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c., forwarded by Express to any part.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries, besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S GREATEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

AS A FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

THE OCEAN.

LINES FROM "LYRUNA."—Scene, the sea shore.

LYRUNA.

How the Old Ocean frolics with the sky!
Showing the stars his red, phosphoric veins;
First shrinking back as if in coy disdain,
Then leaping up, he weaves
A misty pillow for the amorous moon.
Mark how he pants!
Fanning himself with waves—as if for lack of breath,
And throws himself upon the shell-decked shore,
As once did Antony on Cleopatra's breast;
And then retreating, leaves a pencilling of foam,
As Time leaves wrinkles on the brow.
O! what a fiery-hearted fool the Ocean is!
Lashing the shore he kissed a moment since,
Upbraiding it with groans,
Reproaching it with sighs.
I loved a maid with dewy eyes like stars,
Who loved me as the ocean does the shore—
Capriciously. She was a beauteous bud,
But like a flower of the field,
She only bloomed to die. I know her grave;
'Tis in a leafy vale, hard by a village church,
But far from earth and its impurities
As Jesus from the sinful Magdalene.
The slanting moonbeams rest upon that mound,
As birds upon the branches of a tree.
When melancholy memory haunteth me,
And closely whispers to me of the past,
As sea-shells of the sea, I seek that grove,
That flowery, sun-fed grove, and dream the hours gone by.
I wish, oft times, I might sink in the earth
And mix with violets, as rain comes down
And mixes with the sea.
I wander there at morn,
Staying till daylight writhes in death;
Nor think I of the world, until his corpse,
Wrapped in a dingy shroud, is borne
By unseen mourners to the crimson west—
To that great graveyard full of buried days.
I linger there at night,
As some poor linnet who has lost its mate,
Flies fondly round the nest. [Pauses.

ICONOCLAST!

I have been dreaming, I will dream no more.

(Looking on the Sea.)

Ah! how he roars!
Like some fierce chained beast.
My inward self is like that ocean vexed,
Foaming with wrath and groaning for more room.

T. B. A.

FANNY FERN'S MUSINGS.

I have a horror of "best" things, come they in the shape of shoes, garments, bonnets or rooms. In such a harness my soul peers restlessly out, asking "if I be I." I'm puzzled to find myself. I become stiff and formal and artificial as my surroundings.

But of all the best things, spare me the infliction of a "best room." Out upon a carpet too fine to tread upon, books too dainty to handle, sofas that but mock your weary limbs, and curtains that dare not face a ray of sunlight!

Had I a house, there should be no "best room" in it. No upholsterer should exercise comfort, or children, from my door-sill. The free fresh air should be welcome to play through it; the bright glad sunshine to lighten and warm it; while fresh mantle flowers should woo us visits from humming-bird and drowsy bee.

For pictures, I'd look from out my windows upon a landscape painted by the Great Master, ever fresh, ever varied and never marred by envious "cross lights:" now wreathed in morning's silvery mist; now basking full in noon's broad beam; now flushed with the sunset's golden glow; now sleeping in dreamy moonlight.

For statuary, fill my house with children—rosy, dimpled, laughing children: now, tossing their sunny ringlets from open brows; now, veiling their merry eyes in slumberous dreams, 'neath snow-white lids; now, sweetly grave, on bended knee, with clasped hands and lisped words of holy prayer.

Did I say I'd have nothing "best?" Pardon me. Sunday should be the best day of all the seven;—not ushered in with ascetic form, or lengthened face, or stiff and rigid manners. Sweetly upon the sabbath air should float the matin hymn of happy childhood; blending with early song of birds, and wafted upward with flowers' incense, to Him whose very name is LOVE. It should be no day for puzzling the half-developed brain of childhood with gloomy creeds, to shake the simple faith that prompts the innocent lips to say, "Our Father." It should be no day to sit upright on stiff-backed chairs, till the golden sun should set. No; the birds should not be more welcome to warble, the flowers to drink in the air and sunlight, or the trees to toss their lithe limbs, free and fetterless.

"I'm so sorry that to-morrow is Sunday!" From whence does this sad lament issue?—From under your roof, oh mistaken but well-meaning Christian parents; from the lips of your child, whom you compel to listen to two or three unintelligible sermons, sandwiched between Sunday schools and finished off at night-fall by tedious repetitions of creeds and catechisms, till sleep releases your weary victim! No wonder your child shudders, when the minister tells him that "Heaven is one eternal Sabbath."

Oh, mistaken parent! relax the over-strained bow—prevent the fearful rebound, and make the Sabbath what God designed it—not a weariness, but the "best" and happiest day of all the seven—N. Y. Musical World & Times.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS TRIUMPHANT.—The cow of one of the citizens of Elmira, New York, feloniously broke into the garden of a widow lady residing near. In order to obtain damages, the widow locked the cow up in her barn. The owner came for his cow, but thought the damages charged were too much, and left the cow until he could procure legal advice. The learned counsel informed his client that he could obtain possession of the cow by suing out a writ of replevin; but as that would involve considerable cost, he had better procure the services of some stout man, and bring the cow from the premises of the spunky widow, vi et armis. The latter project was adopted, and the owner of the cow with his man, properly equipped, sallied forth to the widow's barn. He found the disputed cow, and proceeded to drive her home; when the enraged widow, with a garden-rake, made an onslaught upon the parties. The man hired for the occasion was soon vanquished, and the two disputants were left to fight their battle alone. The old gentleman claiming the cow was soon routed, and the widow was declared victorious. This, the Elmira Republican thinks, is a glorious triumph of Woman's Rights.

BABIES ON THE ISTHMUS.—A gentleman who has lately "travelled over Jordan," on his way to the promised land of California, relates a queer incident that took place while he was crossing. It seems that there was quite a number of ladies in the company, from Aspinwall to Panama, and many of them were bountifully supplied with responsibilities, whose ages floated from one to eight years. On these occasions female timidity is apt to get a little the better of maternal anxiety, and the said responsibilities, instead of being attached to the apron-strings of their anxious mammas, were packed in baskets and carried on the backs of the natives with the trunks and other baggage, and fell considerably in the rear. When night came on, and the party halted at a hotel on the road, the babies in the wood were among the list of missing. There was great wailing and weeping among the bereaved, (and probably some gnashing of teeth by the "children," who were desperately hungry.) A party was despatched to the rear in search of the lost treasures, and they found the natives encamped in the woods with "Young America," utterly unconscious of the fuss that was going on, and no doubt supposing that if the children and other baggage were got to the steamer in time for sailing, it would be all right. The young ones were handed to their several mothers about daylight, and grief was speedily changed to rejoicing.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1853.

ODD USES OF WORDS.—The Boston Atlas says, in speaking of the old ship Franklin, "she was built in 1815, but never finished," &c. We don't know in what sense the Atlas used the word finish. If in the sense of complete, the Franklin was finished years ago, and went to sea. But if it means used up or destroyed, as "he shall finish transgression," then she is not quite gone, though she comes very near it, but is shortly to be rejuvenated, and then to be finished in a better sense.

The Washington Union says of the same ship:

"The Franklin has long been in an unserviceable condition as a sailing vessel, and instead of attempting to repair her, the Secretary designs to dismantle her altogether, and to use that portion of her timber which is as good as new for the construction of a powerful and efficient steamship."

We always thought that a ship was dismantled when her sails and rigging were off, and therefore considered the old Franklin was thoroughly dismantled when she came round here from Boston without a spar, mast or gun. Webster, in his dictionary, to be sure, has, as a sixth definition of the word dismantle, given "to break down," and then has quoted as a precedent, a line from Dryden, "His nose dismantled." This extreme use of the word might do well enough for a nose, and for Dryden. But if the Union means to take it as a precedent in maritime language, then we say the Franklin was dismantled when she was hogged.

But this is nonsense. To dismantle means to undress—and a ship of war is dismantled when she is stripped of armament, sails and rigging—not when her frame is taken to pieces.

A Louisville paper said, the other day, that a man's family had been decimated by death. We read on, and expected to find that of his family and slaves, one in every ten had died. But we found nothing about slaves; and found further, that the whole family had died, leaving him alone. We made it read desolated, and passed on.

There is a definition in Webster, of decimated which means takes by lots; but it is improperly applied here, and cannot properly mean any other lot than a tenth.

GOLD DIGGING IN MAINE.

A correspondent of the Portland Advertiser writes, from the vicinity of the gold diggings in Franklin county, Me.,—

There is no question as to the existence of the gold, while the region, according to all inductive notions, must be very favorable to its general diffusion. The east branch of Sandy River, where they have discovered the gold, comes out from among the Saddleback range of mountains, the highest in that section of the State. This range has a perfectly natural connection and affinity with the mountains about the Chandiere, or the Canadian gold region, from which, of late, come well-established and very flattering reports. At the new mines they have introduced a long-tom, a la California, and they speak of ten and twelve dollars per day. These facts will have a tendency to send adventurers up amid the hills of Franklin, and will prove a god-send to tavern keepers, &c. We hope the discovery may operate to attract settlers on to the rich, finely timbered lands of these northern ranges.

Now let California and Australia look to their laurels, lest they find themselves outdone by the gold diggings of Maine and Canada.

ERRONEOUS JUDGMENT.—No class of errors can be more common, than those which decided wrong in regard to the relative characters, merits and demerits of foreign potentates, doing injustice, not so much to them—who may never hear of it or care much about it—as to ourselves, being misled by our prejudices. On this subject the Newburyport Herald says:

We need to be cautious in making up our judgment of distant races and nations and their rulers, when we consider how the various parties and their leaders, and our own rulers whom we know so much better, are often maligned at home, and how difficult our people here find it to learn the truth of them.

A good and wise ruler, whatever may be his title, or whatever the tenure by which he bears sway, will seek the happiness and prosperity of his people, and even, if he be not so good or wise as to do this from high and honorable motives, enlightened self-interest is amply sufficient to lead him to act thus.

Dr. Baird, who perhaps knows more of the personal character of the Emperor Nicholas than any other American, testifies to his honorable conduct, his ability and devotion to the best interests of his country. We have yet seen no sufficient evidence to disprove the testimony.

THE BRITISH ARMY.—The Freeman's Journal gives the following as the present disposition of the British Army:—

"There are at present 34 regiments or battalions on Home Services, one of which is a reserved battalion (the 33d.) Twenty six regiments are in India, or on their way thither; 5 in New South Wales, Australia and New Zealand; 7 in British North America; 5 in West Indies and Bermuda; 14 in the Mediterranean; 7 at the Cape of Good Hope; 2 at Ceylon; 2 at Mauritas, and 1 at Hong Kong. There are likewise two reserve battalions at the Cape, and one in British North America.

THE DUYANODAYA.

This title, being translated, means the Rise of Knowledge; and it is the name of a little newspaper, half of which is in the Marathi language, and half in English, and is published in Bombay, from the American Missionary Press. The one we have before us is May 2, 1853, from which we make the following extract.

NATIVE GIRLS' SCHOOLS.—The examination of the Girl's Schools of the Students' Literary and Scientific Society, which took place on Thursday the 21st ult., was attended by a large number both of Natives and Europeans. About 500 Parsi and Hindu girls were in attendance and presented a most interesting spectacle. Most of them are very young and have learned but little; still a great advance has been made in the matter of female education, and what we are now permitted to witness is a pledge of still greater progress in time to come. The Parsis, especially, have entered upon this work with commendable zeal. They supply a large part of the funds for the support of the schools of the Students' Literary & Scientific Society, as well as the greater portion of the scholars; and in addition, there are 300 Parsi girls in the Sir Jomsetjee schools. The whole number of girls, at the present time, attending schools on the island is, we believe, not far from two thousand. A few years ago not a single native female was at school in all Western India, and when the work of female education was commenced by the missionaries, their efforts were regarded with apathy or disapprobation by the natives generally. What a gratifying change has been wrought during a single quarter of a century! And a similar change is in progress in nearly all the larger towns of this Presidency.

INCIDENTS OF THE YELLOW FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS.—A letter from the Picayune office, dated Aug. 11, says:—

"I closed the eyes of our old book-keeper three years ago, who died with yellow fever, and our present one was taken down last Sunday; there hopes, however, of his getting over it.

Our burying grounds have presented a scene of much confusion, and in some instances, of fighting; so much so, that the Mayor and Recorder have been obliged to send a large force to keep order in many of them.—So many dead bodies are brought, and the friends claiming precedence of burial, until they actually get to blows.

A poor French emigrant, in the neighborhood of our office, arrived here about three months ago, with a party of twenty-six; he was taken about a week since with the fever—at the time all his companions were buried but eight—he however recovered and got out today, when, on inquiry for the little remnant of his party, he found that he was the only survivor—all had been buried but himself."

INDECENT.—The Boston Post says of the New York Tribune—

"One of its Washington letters contains a description of the President's carriage and coachman; and is even so violative of all decency as to contain allusions to the President's lady."

The allusion to Mrs. Pierce is this: after describing the beautiful carriage, the letter says, "I saw it entered by a middle aged lady in black." We could not see the indecency of the allusion when we copied it; and cannot exactly see it now, even by the aid of glasses.

THE TOMB OF MR. WEBSTER.—A marble block has been placed in front of Mr. Webster's tomb at Marshfield—similar to those which he erected in memory of his wife, son and daughters—which bears the following inscription:—

DANIEL WEBSTER,
Born Jan. 18, 1782,
Died Oct. 24, 1852.
Lord, I believe, help thou my unbelief.

Philosophical argument, especially that drawn from the vastness of the Universe, in comparison with the apparent insignificance of this globe, has sometimes shaken my reason for the faith which is in me; but my heart has always assured and reassured me that the gospel of Jesus Christ must be a divine reality. The sermon on the mount cannot be a merely human production. This belief enters into the very depth of my conscience. The whole history of man proves it.

DANIEL WEBSTER.

GRASSHOPPER SCOURGE.—A most melancholy story is told of the destruction of vegetation by grasshoppers in Chataque county, New York, where they have devoured the hay crop, the wheat, oats, beans, turnips, cabbages, garden vegetables generally, Indian corn, and run over the pastures and meadows. Other counties are affected in that State and Pennsylvania. It is to be hoped that the reporters of this news, as well as the farmers, are more frightened than hurt.

A letter received at Marseilles, from Mogadoro, Morocco, dated July 12, announces that the Emperor and his son had gained a complete victory over the Kabyles, who had not hitherto acknowledged the Emperor's authority. The victory was dearly purchased with the loss of 500 the Emperor's best troops, and the loss of the Kabyles was still greater.

BEQUEST.—Mary Flannerty, described as a "Hammersmith spinster" has lately died leaving Lord Brougham a bequest of nearly £30,000, "out of respect and admiration for his unequalled abilities, public conduct and principles."

The Endicott pear tree at South Danvers is in full bearing and contains upon it not less than two thousand pears. It is enclosed with a fence, and cannot be less than two hundred and ten years old.

There were 1591 births in New York city in July, males 831, females 760, black males 6, females 6. Marriages 492, all white. Deaths 1200 males, 1133 females; of cholera infantum 308! The deaths exceed the births 742.

LOCAL.

☞ We understand that Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew, yesterday, made sale of the splendid ship Dashing Wave, of 1209 tons, to a Boston firm, on private terms. The ship is beautifully modeled, and no doubt will maintain the reputation of her builders.

We are informed, also, that Messrs. F & P. have laid the keels of two new ships, one of a freighting ship of 1025 tons, on their own account; the other of a clipper ship of 900 tons, for parties in Boston.

A LITTLE SHIP.—A ship frame appears on Noble's Island, now that the Morning Star is launched. A passenger says to the tollgather—"That's a small ship." "Yes," is the answer, "only about 600 tons." But, says Uncle Toby, in the first year of the war, 1812, the privateer Thomas, (nicknamed the Revenge,) Thomas Shaw commander, brought in the British ship Falmouth as a prize. The news spread abroad that a ship of five hundred tons had arrived; and all the boys in town, with not a few men from the country, went down to the Pier to see a ship so large as five hundred tons. But now, after the lapse of forty years, six hundred tons is a little ship—merely because all things are great or small only by comparison.

ON THE OUTSIDE, to-day, will be found one of Fanny Fern's best peices—Original Poems, &c.

And Ike read, "At Paris the dressmakers, jewelers and milliners have all been occupied in furnishing the trousseau of the princess Wasa." "Stop, Isaac," said Mrs Partington, raising her finger and glancing at him over the top of her spectacles, "is that so?" He assured her it was. "Well," continued she, and a blush of offended modesty crossed her features, like the sun-flush on a newly reddened barn door, "that may be the way they do things in Paris, but it isn't modest to begin with. A woman has no right to ware 'em.—'Tis agin natur and decency. And what does she want so many of 'em for? She can't wear but one pair to a time, and here she has got all of the dressmakers making trousers for her, as if she was going to live long enough to wear 'em out. Ah, women aint what they were once!" She rose suddenly as she spoke, and Ike who was upon the back of her chair endeavoring to tie a string to a nail in the big beam that traversed the ceiling, was thrown violently against the table, breaking three plates and a tea cup in his descent.—Post.

STEAM AND ETHER.—A correspondent of the Boston Post, says:

It seems the determination of of our scientific men that steam, as a motive power, shall be superceded at any cost. First we had a galvanic engine which the Czar was pleased to patronize extensively, and which, as an experiment, was declared altogether successful. Somehow or other it never went into practical operation; the copper plates were coined into kreutzers, and the zinc furnished cream pans to the dairies along the Baltic. Then came Ericsson with his caloric motor, his triumphant trials, vast expenditure, and an offer to drive anything anywhere with what heat he could generate from one of Newell's safety lamps. But where is his propeller now? and echo answers "where?" In France at last the question has been brought to a crisis, to which there can be only one of two solutions—steam or ether?

Diplomatic experiments are over; consulting engineers no longer tender their good offices to bring about a termination of hostilities. The packet ship De Trembley, of seventy horse power, and driven by ether, makes regular trips between Marseilles and Algiers, carrying merchandise and passengers in direct violation of the prerogatives and supremacy of steam, and saving (so says the report of M. Montet, engineer in chief of France) seventy-five per cent. of the fuel used in old Fulton's method. Gauthier & Brothers, of Lyons, have purchased M. De Trembley's invention, and announce their design of forthwith building several Atlantic steamers for mail and emigrant use, this to go at an average speed of twelve and that at sixteen knots an hour. Let Ericsson and the Collins company look to it! If on the French model an average speed of sixteen knots can be obtained, what could not such an engine in the Pacific accomplish?

THE MOTHER OF VICTORIA.—The Duchess of Kent is at Frogmore, which is an extensive cottage ornee in Windsor Park, once inhabited by Queen Charlotte, of snuff memory, who has been immortalized by Byron as "An ugly, bald old woman."

The Duchess, as mother to our Queen, is provided for by the public. She has an annual allowance of £32,000, besides sundry residences, rent free. The curious part of the matter is that, while her daughter was heiress-presumptive to the crown, (which was a position involving some expense,) the Duchess had £20,000 a year; but when Victoria became Queen, lessening her mamma's outlays, the obsequious Melbourne ministry got Parliament to raise it to £32,000—thus showing that the less she had to spend, the more she must receive!

It was whispered at the time, that Lord Melbourne wished to become third husband to the Duchess, who was then aged 51. Nothing came of it, and the lady, now in her 68th year, is not likely to change her condition.—The has been a fine woman, with dark eyes and hair, but is now very stout and flabby—known, wherever she drives, by the immense quantity of rouge with which she bedaubs her cheeks.—London correspondent of N. Y. Sunday Times.

EFFECTS OF BAD EXAMPLE.—Following the example of the "Portland case," some one has caused to be incarcerated in the jail in this county, for debt, a female, where she must remain till she can take the poor debtor's oath, or be otherwise discharged.—Farmington (Me.) Chronicle.

Fanny Fern's late husband, Mr. Farrington, lives in Chicago, and recently got a divorce from her.—Milwaukee News.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, Aug. 26.—The steamer Texas from Vera Cruz, with California dates of Aug. 1, and City of Mexico to 18th has arrived.

Judge Gadsden, the new American Minister, had arrived at the capital. Judge Conklin was at Jalapa awaiting his departure by the next steamer.

The slave ship with which Judge Sharkey's name was connected has been seized by the Mexican authorities on the island of Carmen.

The total number of deaths in the city on Thursday last were 219, of which 200 were by yellow fever.

The deaths to day amount to 183, of which 154 were by yellow fever.

Aug. 27.—O. L. Dabbleton, Mexican Consul died to day. The interments to-day number 185, 159 of which were by yellow fever.

HUNGARIAN REFUGEES.—Ex-Governor Ujhazy and family recently passed through Fort Smith, Arkansas, on their way from the town of Iowa, near San Antonio, Texas, where they have purchased a tract of land, and intend to make their home. They complained of the extreme cold of Iowa, and expressed their intention to devote themselves to stock raising. The youngest of the party was a young lady of the family, sadly accompanying her father through a land of exile.—The sisters of Kossuth are now in New York. One keeps a boarding house, and the others intend to open a lace and silk store. They were to go to Newport last week, in the hope of finding customers among the crowd of wealthy and fashionable people assembled there. Five years ago they were wealthy themselves.

THE MISSION TO CHINA.—We have reason to believe, says the Courier and Enquirer, that there is no truth in the statements that the Steamer Alleghany has been designated by the government for the conveyance of Mr. Walker to China, and that the report concerning the Saranac is equally unfounded. The Saranac cannot be got ready before November, and if then ready to set out, would not reach Canton before March, by which time, it is believed British diplomacy will have concluded a commercial treaty with the successful insurgents. The Alleghany cannot accomplish the voyage at all. It has been decided not to purchase or charter a steamer for this special service. There seems to be no probability that Mr. Walker will proceed upon this important mission.

GREAT MORTALITY IN A FAMILY.—The family of Captain James Price, of Louisville, Ky. has been desolated by the yellow fever in New Orleans. His family was in New Orleans at the time the epidemic broke out there, and he went down to bring them away. On his arrival he found his wife and two of his children dead, and two of his other children and his aged mother stricken with the disease, with but slight hopes of their recovery. He took his remaining child, James Price, a boy of fourteen, and started for this city on the Fanny Smith. After a few days' journey, the boy was smitten with the disease, and though all that human skill could do was done, he too fell a victim to the ruthless destroyer, and was buried on Dr. Martin's plantation, on the banks of the Mississippi, five miles below New Madrid. The grief and shock to the father at the loss of this last child, so overcame him that he was completely prostrated, and was landed at Paducah in a very precarious condition of both body and mind.

PATENT SHUTTLE GUIDE.—Mr. H. T. Robbins, the agent of the Jackson Company in this town, has invented and patented a means by which shuttles are kept from flying off the looms. He has applied them to the looms in the Jackson Company's mills. We have seen their operation, and have the assurance of those best qualified to judge, that it is a great improvement. Manufacturers will understand its operation when we say it is so constructed as that if by any means the shuttle is thrown from its place, it must still pass along, outside of the web, and take its place in the opposite box, ready for its return passage, when it resumes its proper place, and the work goes on without the interruption of going half way across the room to pick up the stray shuttle. Besides, it prevents the occurrence of accidents of a serious nature to the machinery, and not unfrequently to the persons of the weavers. It also makes a large saving in the cost of shuttles. The invention is very simple, but effectual. The cost is but trifling.—Nashua Telegraph.

Alfred J. Works, the lawyer, and James H. Conklin, his clerk, have been sentenced to the Connecticut State prison for two years, by Judge Ingersoll, of the U. S. Court, for attempting to defraud the pension office by a false certificate. The sentence is a light one, on account of the previous good character of the convicts. Conklin is not 22 years old, and has been in the habit of sending his mother $10 a month of his earnings. He was formerly a compositor in a printing office, which business Works induced him to leave.

Mr. Wolfolk, late the sheriff of Tioga county, New York, committed suicide a few days since by hanging. Shortly before his father hung himself. Three years ago his grandfather ended his life in the same way. They were all wealthy men, in happy circumstances, and had gained their means by frugal industry and slow accretion, and were universally beloved for their uprightness, kindness and honorable bearing. They were victims of hereditary insanity.

Sir George Simpson has returned from Quebec from a tour of inspection through Hudson Bay territory. He reports that trade is brisk, the circumstances of the people improving, and that the company has substituted tea and coffee for the liquor formerly served out to persons in its service.

At the late election in Texas, a popular vote was taken on a bill appropriating $250,000 for clearing out the channels of the Texan rivers of the rafts, &c., which obstruct them; and by the returns thus received, it appears to be negatived. Its defeat is attributed to the feeling in favor of railroads, and the influence of the railroad companies, which are desirous of aid themselves from the state.

PORTSMOUTH TO THE SHOALS.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

Steamer Grace Darling,

CAPT. SAMUEL BILLINGS.

THE superior steamer Grace Darling, Capt. Billings, will leave Sheale's Wharf, daily, (until further notice) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads—and return from the Shoals in season to take the last trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most delightful Summer resorts for the Invalid, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing, and other amusements conducive to health and pleasure. The Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea-voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in 24 hours.

Hon. Thomas B. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience, both for luxury and comfort can be found.

The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the river, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, McCleary and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, New Castle, Rye, and numerous islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

Tickets may be obtained on board, or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

Parties from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. Billings on board, or to

S. R. CLEAVES, Agent,

FARE 25 CENTS each way. The Landing at Gerrish's Wharf, near the Hotel now kept by J. W. WESTON, is pleasant and convenient, and the place delightful. jy19tf

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, think the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for lack of knowledge, in cases simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that experience which his situation entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, but they are of a nature strictly confidential for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

THE BURDENED EDITOR RELIEVED.

See him o'er his papers bending,
Brows contracted, knit, and firm;
God of Wisdom's courtier sending,—
Thought—the darkness there to pierce.

Forehead clasped by hands all trembling,
Throbbing with a heavy pain;
All in vain his thoughts assembling,
Quickly scattered yet again.

Hush! a gradual change comes o'er him,
See the wrinkles disappear;
Brighter prospects now before him,
Goal of visions must be near.

Yes; 'tis true; just see, he's smiling,
Hope's bright ray has come to cheer;
In the Book of Wonders, filing—

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered! Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before the SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

JOHN NEAL AND NEAL DOW.

In this contest Greek meets Greek. We have already published some paragraphs from John Neal. Neal Dow thus responds:

That article purports to be a criticism of the "liquor law," while it is little else than a violent attack upon myself. I do not choose to notice his personal attacks upon myself any further than to say, that here in Maine where we are both known, they will do me no injury; and for the rest, bad men everywhere will profess to believe them to be well founded, while good men will not believe them without proof.

As to Mr. Neal's actual position on the "Liquor Law," I will merely say, that for some months after its enactment, he professed to be its warm friend; attended meetings called expressly to rejoice over its enactment; presided at such meetings, and defended the law publicly, from attacks of persons unfriendly to it. He joined a secret organization called "Watchman's Clubs," which was established in this State for the express purpose of bringing all temperance men to act together, for the enactment of a prohibitory liquor law; and in meetings of the "Active Club," of which he was a member, publicly defended and approved "The Liquor Law of Maine." What led him to change his opinions or his position, he does not state.

Mr. Dow then copies the statements of Mr. Neal, which we copied—and replies:

Mr. Neal seems not to have perceived, that so far as this statement is true at all, it overturns completely his whole declamation as to the failure of the law to suppress grog shops.

Mr. Neal's statements, as to the actual results of the "Liquor Law of Maine," stripped of its guise, may be reduced to this—that it has failed entirely of its objects; that there is more liquor now sold and drank in Maine, under the operation of the law, than at any time before for twenty years. His declaration is by no means new—it has been often made by the enemies of the law, for the last two years. Often have similar statements been published by anti-temperance newspapers out of Maine, but always by anonymous writers.

Such exclamations are so notoriously false, that never has any one been bold enough to publish them over his own signature, until Mr. Neal did it; and the wonder among the people of Portland is excited, not more by the untruthfulness of his statemeets than by his bold effrontery in making them. I have no hesitation in appealing to the Rev. Mr. Chickering and every other member of the High St. Church, to which Mr. Neal belongs, upon the declaration that his statements upon this subject, are entirely, unqualifiedly and notoriously untrue.

The facts in relation to the working of the Maine Liquor Law in Portland and through Maine, have been published often for the last two years, in most of the papers of the State, and never has any attempt been made by any responsible person to disprove them.

At the time of the enactment of the Law, rumselling was carried on openly, in all parts of the State. In Portland there were between three and four hundred open rum shops, and immediately after the enactment of the law, not one. The wholesale trade in liquors was at once annihilated throughout the State, and the retail trade, so far as it existed at all, was carrried on with great secresy and caution.

Mr. Dow then goes on to quote the oft published statements of the reform in Portland at different periods up to March, 1852, and adds:

Such were the actual effects of the Liquor Law in Portland, and generally throughout the State, wherever it was enforced. In many parts of the State, rumselling is entirely unknown at the present time, so thorough has been the effect of the law.

During my late tour through the eastern and northern parts of the State, I could not learn that there was any open grog shop.—Rum-selling, where it exists at all, is carried on secretly, and in large districts of country, it is extinguished; and everywhere a marked improvement is seen in the condition of the people, as acknowledged by all unprejudiced persons whom I met. Even in the frontier towns, such as Eastport, Calais, Hodgdon, Houlton and Presque Isle—intemperance is very greatly diminished.

For the entire truth of my declarations, so far as Portland is concerned, I have no hesitation in referring, though without consultation with them, to the Aldermen of 1851-2: Stephen Frothingham, George Pearson, Samuel Chase, John K. Cummings, Charles Jones, Wm. W. Thomas and Hiram Brooks, Esqrs.; to J. M. Thompson, City Marshal; to Wm. Huse, City Marshal of the present year; to all the Clergymen, and every other man in Portland of any character for truth and veracity.

I only add, in conclusion, that Mr. Neal had abundant means at hand of learning that the facts were quite contrary to his declarations. He did not choose to avail himself of the sources of correct information, but boldly made statements in relation to a most important subject, which had no foundation in truth.

NEAL DOW.

If Mr. Dow would give us the report of the year from March 1852, to 1853, it would be more to our present purpose. Will he or some one else do that?

CHEAP LITERATURE.—A few months since I was applied to myself to contribute to a new journal, not gratuitously, but at a small advance upon nothing—and avowedly because the work had been planned according to that estimate. However, I accepted the terms conditionally, that is to say, provided the principle could be properly carried out. Accordingly I wrote to my butcher, baker, and other tradesmen, informing them that it was necessary, for the sake of cheap literature and the interest of the reading public, that they should furnish me with several commodities at a very trifling per centage above cost price. It will be sufficient to quote the answer of the butcher:—"Sir respectin' your note cheap literater be blowed. Butchers must live as well as other pepel—and if so be you or the readin' publick wants to have meat at prime cost, you must buy your own beastesses, and kill yourselves."—Thomas Hood.

Dr. Johnson's definition of the word "oats," was—"It is a grain on which horses are fed in England, and men in Scotland!" A Scotchman present proved quite a match for the Doctor by instantly replying, "And where do you find such HORSES and such MEN?"

HISTORY.—An English writer remarks that to form an opinion of human nature from a perusal of history, is like judging of a fine city by its sewers and cess-pools.

A literary lady living in Freetown, who robbed a New Bedford schoolhouse of books two months ago, has just been arrested, after eluding the officers all summer by sleeping in the woods.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1853.

MORALS AND POLITICS IN MAINE.

The approaching election in our neighboring State of Maine, is one of great interest in many points of view. A majority of its legal voters were found for several successive years on the side of the Democratic party.—In the midst of this power came in the "Maine law" so called, not introduced by any political party whatever, but by zealous advocates of a statute intended to break up drinking establishments.

A strong party was soon got up to repeal the law; but this was not a political party; that is, it was not identical with any former or known partizan organization. The regular democratic re-nomination last year was given to the Governor who signed the law—but a liberal or wild-cat democrat nominee was pitted against him. Both failed; and by a singular jumble of parties, a whig governor was elected, though some whig votes were given for both democratic candidates.

This year the liberal or wild-cat democrats succeeded in getting one of their men nominated as the regular democratic candidate for governor; and now the Maine Law or ramrod democrats set up an opposing candidate of their choice. The whigs re-nominate the present incumbent, and there is, we believe, a free democratic candidate besides.

Great confusion exists, as the old party lines are crossed in every possible direction, by the conflicting opinions and discordant action on the liquor law, among people who used to march shoulder to shoulder.

We have already given some remarks of Mr. John Neal of Portland, against the Law and its author, Mr. Dow. On our first page, we give a portion of Mr. Dow's reply. Their issue is taken, not on the political aspect of the law, but on its moral character and practical effect.

In the mean time conventions of all parties, but especially of democrats, are being held, every one of which is compelled to do something about this troublesome law. In one of these conventions, at Gray, as appears by the Portland Argus—

Mr. Jordan, of Westbrook, stated that he had promised, should he hold a seat in a convention for this county, that he would introduce a resolution of the tenor of the one he would now present. He would now fulfil his pledge, and submit the following:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention, the statute known as the Maine Liquor Law, is opposed in some of its provisions to democratic principles, and ought, therefore, to be either essentially modified or unconditionally repealed.

Col. Clapp moved an amendment to the effect that the repeal or modification should apply to fermented, and not distilled liquors—and that our senators be instructed, and our representatives be requested to use all proper means to effect this result. Mr. Jordan accepted the amendment.

On this fact, the Portland Advertiser remarks:

Col. Clapp, in times past, has been regarded as a very strenuous opponent of the law.—But within a year past, it has been rumored that the actual operation of the law, combined with a more careful and dispassionate examination of the question, had wrought a material change in his opinions and feelings in relation to the whole subject, and it was this, we suppose, that made him feel it necessary to defend himself from the charge of "ramrodism" at the Gray convention. But while he disclaimed being what is generally understood by the term "ramrod" in its obnoxious sense, the amendment which he proposed shows very clearly that his position is not one of unqualified hostility to the law. * * * True it does not cover the entire ground—Mr. C. still objects to that part which applies to fermented liquors. But it covers all the contested principles of the law—the question of constitutionality, the right of search, &c.,—in fact, everything except the expediency of including the fermented as well as distilled liquors. This admission cannot fail to have its effect. Mr. Clapp, it is well known, exercises a great influence not only in the city but in the county and State. In times past, that influence has been understood to have been adverse to the law, not only in part but as a whole. He was understood to be opposed to its general principles and provisions, its "leading and material features," as well when applied to distilled as to fermented liquors. Now, he would not "essentially modify or repeal" the law, so far as it applies to distilled liquors.

This is said deliberately, and after a careful observation of the operation of the law, by one of our shrewdest and most influential citizens, whose impulses and prejudices were certainly at first very strong against the law.—The Maine law men may say to Mr. Clapp, as Mr. Morrill said to the editor of the Norway Advertiser, "You are not only on probationary ground, but very near to the kingdom of heaven!"

Our readers may apply this to Maine Politics, as they see fit: our own application is, that Col. Clapp of Portland—one of the wealthiest men there, a brother-in-law of the late Judge Woodbury of this city—is a good witness on the law. Its operation, as he sees and understands it, has brought him to the ground he now occupies. Let his testimony stand for its true value.

☞ Ashland, the home of Hon. Henry Clay, will be offered for sale at auction on the 20 of September, by his executors.

THE OLD GUARD.—The following paragraph is from the Republican Standard, published at Bellows Falls, Vt.:

"The Vermont Patriot, in its last week's issue, backs out of its former statement that Edmund Burke is a disappointed office-seeker, and says the 'real grievance is that General Pierce is President, and he (Burke) is known to him as a venal lobby man.'"

To this, Burke's Old Guard replies:

"What will he say when we tell him that Gen. Pierce, whom the N. H. Patriot pretends to defend, but is really stabbing him in the back, was for years a 'lobby agent,' if appearing as counsel before committees of the Legislature of this State, and getting bills through that body, constitutes a 'lobby agent?' This was one of the most lucrative sources of Gen. Pierce's practice.

And what will our friend think when we tell him, that John H. George, recently a whig, a mere neophyte in Democracy, and Samuel H. Ayer, a stripling politician without sense or discretion, Butterfield's coadjutors in assailing us, are "lobby agents" constantly hanging about the Legislature of this State, in the service of corporations? Yet, these are facts. Gen. Pierce appeared and made a speech in behalf of a corporation, before a committee of the Legislature of this State after he was elected President of the United States!

In view of these facts, is it not very consistent and honorable in the editor of the N. H. Patriot, to charge us with being a lobby agent because we have been employed as counsel by half a dozen private individuals since we have retired from public office—a mere private citizen—to prepare their petitions and papers for extending patents owned by them?"

SUICIDE IN NEW YORK.—Wm. J. Weir, a compositor for many years connected with the Commercial Advertiser office, committed suicide on Sunday by hanging himself at his boarding house in Chambers street. Over $5000 were found in his possession. He is believed to have been a native of Boston.

Another compositor in the same office testifies thus:

"I have known him for the last fourteen years; he was of a sober and amiable disposition; he was very melancholy for the last few days, and seemed suffering from some mental excitement; I was his intimate friend; on Thursday last he sent for me, and told me the cause of it; it was an unfortunate love attachment."

The same attachment and melancholy doubtless prompted his suicide.

The Mail says he served his apprenticeship, and for several years worked as a journeyman printer in Boston. He was intelligent, possessed of refined and amiable qualities o heart, and of good moral character. His age was about 36 years.

NOT RENDERED.—In New York city, on Monday, Calder, the Scotchman, charged with forgery, and claimed by the British government under the Ashburton treaty, was discharged by Judge Edmonds, he having decided that the testimony was not sufficient to sustain the complaint, and that he could not hold him for the purpose of receiving further testimony from England.

The agent of the Salmon Falls Manufacturing Company has caused the Irish shanties in Berwick, near the Salmon Falls bridge where Maxwell was murdered, to be removed from the ground, which meets the wishes of people in that vicinity.

There are some other buildings round there, whose occupants ought to be removed—or improved.

The New York Evening Post in an article on emigration, says—

"It is certainly a most remarkable circumstance that the gold-producing regions of the globe into which the over-peopled regions of Europe are discharging the excess of their living swarms, should be in the possession of the two freest nations of the world. All the extension of the civilized world, in the present age is an extension of the area of liberty. Despotism remains shut up within its ancient limits; the new growth is of freedom. An immense empire on this western continent, and a vast region in the depths of the Pacific, have been reserved to this late day by the wisdom that orders the destiny of mankind, for the establishment of free and equal government, while the despotisms of the civilized world have been shut up within bounds which they cannot overpass.

The southern theives have a cool way of operating. At Memphis, Tenn., the dwelling house of Rev. Mr. Whitehorn was entered and almost literally empted, the thieves taking all Mr. Whitehorn's clothing, bed clothing and almost everything they could lay hands upon. In addition to all these articles, the rascals got obout $50 in money. After ransacking the house, they went to the safe and took such eatables as they could find, went out in the back lot and partook of a hearty meal. A cleaner sweep of everything that could be carried off was impossible; so much so was it that Mr. Whitehorn was compelled to send out to his neighbors to borrow a vest and coat before he could go down to town to purchase new ones. No clue has been obtained as to who were the robbers.

Well: the thieves were quite cool: but what shall we say of the Rev. Whitehorn, or Greenhorn, or whatever he was? Why did he not wake up while the thieves were ransacking? He must have been one of the seven sleepers.

AN INCIDENT.—A little boy, clad poorly, standing in front of the Western Hotel, was accosted this morning by a rude young man, with the question: "Does your mother know you're out?" The little fellow looked at the interrogator a moment, while his bosom heaved and tears gathered in his eyes, "Sir, my dear mother is dead!"—Buffalo Republic.

LOCAL.

FAREWELL SERMONS.—Rev. Thomas Holmes, of the Pleasant Street Church in this city, having accepted the appointment to a Professorship in Antioch College, will close his labors in the pulpit of the Pleasant Street Church, on the next Lord's day. The services of the day will be appropriate to the close of a three years' residence among us, and to the dissolution of the pastoral relation.

THE BIRD FLOWN.—Tuesday forenoon, a man named Oliver Dennett, a caulker, of this city, went into the jewelry store of Mr. Chas. T. Emery, and in the absence of the proprietor asked the clerk to show him some watches.—After looking at a number, he concluded neither of them would answer, and left the store. On replacing the watches in the case, it was found that a silver lepine, valued at $13, was missing. A warrant was immediately issued against Dennett, who was found asleep on a wharf near the Navy Yard landing. The officer took the liberty to search his pockets and found the watch.

Dennett was lodged in the watch house to await examination. Late in the afternoon the officer went to the watch house to see his prisoner, when it was found that he had sprung one of the front slats of his cell so that he could get at the bar, drew the spring bolt, and came out. Then, opening the outer door, which was fastened with a hook on the inside, he left for parts unknown.

☞ The members of the Portsmouth Mercnantile Library Association are notified that a special meeting of the Society will be held this evening. Business of importance will come before tne meeting.

☞ The name of the unfortunate woman who was killed last week on the Cochecho Railroad in Rochester, was Tamson Ellis: she was 86 years of age, and unmarried.

☞ Rev. J. G. Forman of Nantucket, formerly of Dover, is supplying the Unitarian pulpit at Concord.

NAVAL.—The U. S. sloop-of.war Cyane, arrived at Eastport, Sunday, August 29, en route to Bay of Fundy.

THE CROPS.—The season, says the Bunker Hill Aurora, must be considered a favorable one for crops. The grass is looking well every where, and there will be generally a heavy second crop. Corn is looking well—has been very little injured by the drought of June and July, and will yield a full average crop. The potatoes, in many places, are badly affected by the rot, whole fields being entirely worthless. The price, however, has gone up from 50, 75 and 100 per barrel, to two dollars. There will be a fine crop of apples although it is not the bearing year with the Baldwin; other varieties are doing well. Pears are looking finely, and probably the produce will be greater than ever before in this State. Peaches also are abundant, and are coming into market from the neighborhood in considerable quantities. Roots look well everywhere, and there will be a great yield; squashes will be abundant, and the failure of the potato will hardly be felt. Melons are plenty and fine.

THE EMPEROR AND EMPRESS OF FRANCE.—It is stated that the Imperial family will not leave the immediate neighborhood of Paris this summer. There are three reasons assigned for this determination. First, the interesting situation of the Empress, which requires especial care in order to avoid a repetition of the mishap that occurred a few months since; second, the unsettled state of the Eastern question, whose constantly varying phases will not permit the Emperor to be safely absent from Paris, the great centre of intelligence and action; thirdly, the new invisible police (for since the abolition of the ministry of the police, the police is known to be no less real for having become less visible) is said to have reported so unfavorably of the state of the departments, that it has been thought unsafe to risk the Imperial person in an excursion that would offer so many opportunities to the knife or pistol of assassins. Poor Louis! Truly, "uneasy is the head that wears a crown!"

HUNG HIMSELF.—Adam Butterfield of Bedford, at his home, about seven miles from Manchester, N. H., hung himself by a rope around his neck from a birch tree a few rods back of his house, evening of the 26th inst., about 6 o'clock. He was dead when found suspended. He had worked on his farm during the day. He was 32 years old and leaves a wife and four or five children. The cause of his committing the fatal act we have not learned.

STABBING.—A Scotchman named Archer McKenzie was stabbed in the neck on Monday, the 29th inst., at the depot in Woonsocket, by an Irishman. They were in a bowling alley on Main street, and the owner told McKenzie to put the Irishman out, as he was noisy. He did so, and the Irishman meeting him later in the afternoon gave him a severe stab in the neck, which will probably prove fatal.

GREAT BUSINESS.—The number of passengers that passed over the Eastern Railroad and Branches, and Essex and South Reading Branch Railroad, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last, was thirty-two thousand six hundred and seventy-one. (32,671.) In all this immense crowd of people we do not hear of a single accident.—Salem Register.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The Steamship Europa brings Liverpool dates to August 19, seven days later than previous advices. The Peace of Europe does not appear to have been disturbed, nor so far as we can see, greatly confirmed.

EASTERN AFFAIRS.—No change had taken place since the announcement already received that the Porte accepts without modification, the note prepared by the four powers, and already acceded to by the Czar. A rumor was circulated in London, on Friday evening, that new complications had sprung up, and that Parliment would be prorogued till they assumed a more favorable aspect. The story was, however destitute of foundation.

GREAT BRITIAN.—The Hermann takes out the report of the long promised debate on Turkish affairs. It was generally regarded as unsatisfactory, and the English funds opened the next day with further depression, although they afterwards revived from other causes. Lord John Russell stated in reply to Lord Dudley Stuart, that the negociations with the United States, regarding the Musquito Territory were still pending, but he hoped they would be brought to a satisfactory termination before the next session. The Convocation of the Churches was duly gone through on the 18th, and immediately adjourned to November 10th.

Parliament was to be adjourned on the 20th, if nothing unforeseen occurred. A Parliamentary report on decimal currency strongly recommends its adoption, making the sovereign the unit of one thousand mills, and retaining of the present coins the half sovereign, crown, florin, shilling and sixpence; calling in the penny, threepence, fourpence, and issuing new silver coin of ten mills, twenty mills, and new copper coins of five, two and one mill.—The only difficulty of adjustment is in the value of the present penny postage. Four mills as the rate of single postage would entail a loss of £100,000 in the revenue, while five mills the public will not submit to.

A select committee have published their report on the slave trade treaties. It is a long and important document. Its substance is that Britain possessed in 1850, 24 treaties with civilized powers to suppress the trade; of these, ten give Britain a right of search and mixed courts; 12 give right of search and national tribunals; and two, those with the United States and France, refuse the right of search, but agree to maintain squadrons off the African coast. Britain had also 42 treaties with African Chiefs and Princes. Since the above date she had terminated two more treaties with civilized Governments and 23 with Africans—an aggregate of 80 treaties to suppress the trade. The Committee report that the trade would soon be extinguished if the Cuban market would close, and think the present time favorable for the joint efforts of Britian, France and the United States to stop it on the Cuban coast.

Brazil is exonerated from blame. Portugal is charged with conniving at the traffic on the Mozambique coast, and the Committee say that history does not record a more decided breach of national honor than is established against Spain; and it is a matter of great surprise, that while Spain is at this time indebted to England and France for their efforts to form a Tripartite Convention with the United States, to protect Cuba from piratical attacks, the government of Spain should not take warning from the fact that one of the reasons alleged by the government of the United States for not joining that convention, is the continuance of the slave trade in that island. The report does not say what is to be done, but adds from the abuse of the American flag trading to Havana, a more cordial co-operation on the part of the United States, would materially assist the efforts to abolish the trade in that quarter.

FRANCE.—Reynard, a Frenchman, tried on the charge of offering to assassinate Napoleon was acquitted, the jury considering it a mere attempt to extort money from the Prince de Joinville.

Paris letters are entirely filled with reports of the fete of the 15th. The expense of the fete is estimated at three-fourths of a million of francs. The weather was very favorable for this joint festival of Napoleon, the assumption of the blessed Virgin.

Mr. Sandford appeared at the Emperor's soiree in citizen's dress.

Proposals to grant eight million francs to pay legacies of Napoleon I., will probably be carried.

LATER FROM VALPARAISO—LOSS OF THE STEAMER QUITO.—New York, Aug. 30.—The steamship Uncle Sam arrived at Panama on the 17th inst., bringing papers from Valparaiso of the 6th. The Uncle Sam made the run from New York to Panama in 57 days, the quickest passage ever made between the two ports.

Valparaiso papers of the 13th contain the particulars of the loss of the mail steamer Quito, upon a rock a short distance from Huasco, and not far from Santiago. The passengers, mails, and a portion of the silver, were saved. The passengers had arrived safe at Coquimbo. One passenger only was drowned.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.—Baltimore, Aug. 29. The mail from New Orleans is through. It gives an account of the operations of the Howard Association. The number of patients treated by the Association to August 20th, was 4550; of these 2201 were discharged cured, 723 died and 1600 were under treatment still. The expense were $1500 per day.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—The steamship Georgia arrived at New York, August 29, bringing the California mails of August 1st, 250 passengers, and $1,300,000 gold dust on freight. The principal consignees are Adams & Co., $319,000, American Exchange Bank $400,000, Wells, Fargo & Co. $85,000.

The Georgia left Aspinwall at 10 P. M., on the 19th inst.

Nothing of interest transpired on the Isthmus. The general health this summer is better than ever before known.

APPOINTMENTS.—Ex-Governor John W. Dana, of Maine, has been appointed Charge to Bolivia and Col. Polk of Maryland, Consul to Bordeaux.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Browers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fall consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily developed upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
HALF A MILLION COPIES
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.
UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.
CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the "Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.
When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:—

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial &
Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

THE AMERICAN NAVY.

THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF AMERICAN MEN OF WAR.

A correspondent of the Portland Advertiser, gives the following interesting reminiscences of vessels of the American navy, that have from time to time disappeared, leaving no clue to their fate:

The first on the list is the Saratoga, 10, Captain Young, which vessel disappeared in October 1780. In that month and year, after capturing a ship and two brigs, two of them well armed, the Saratoga made sail to convey her prizes to the capes of the Delaware. The following day the prizes were recaptured by the Intrepid, 74, and though the Saratoga escaped it was only to meet a worse fate, as she never was heard of more.

In July, 1798, the frigate Insurgente, 38, Captain Patrick Fletcher, recently captured from the French, and refitted, sailed from the capes of Virginia; but a higher power ordained she should never return, as she was never seen or heard of after.

In August, of the same year, the Pickering, Captain Benjamin Hillar, sailed for the Guadaloupe station, never to return; as in the case of the Insurgente, all on board perished—"not one was left to tell the tale."

The next loss of this kind which I find recorded, is that of the Gun Boat No. 5. She sailed from New York, commanded by Lieut. Ogilvie, May 4th, 1805, for the Mediterranean, at springing her mast returned to refit, and sailed a second time, June 20th, after which she was never heard from.

In 1814, the United States sloop-of-war Wasp, 18, Captain Blakeley, after capturing the Reindeer and Avon, both 18's, in two separate engagements, the last on the first of September, continued her glorious cruise until the 21st of the same month, when she put the present Commodore Geisenger and a crew of nine men on board a prize brig, intending to continue her own course to the Islands of the Azores. This, for years after, was all that was known of her fate. There is only one rumor respecting that ship that has any plausibility—It is, that two English frigates chased an American sloop-of-war off the southern coast, about the time the Wasp should arrive, and that the three ships were struck with a heavy squall, in which the sloop-of-war disappeared.

In July, 1815, the brig Epervier, 18, commanded by Lieut. John Templer Shubrick, sailed from Algiers on her return to the United States—having on board as passengers several citizens recently released from captivity in Algiers, and bearing the treaty that had been concluded with that power on the 30th of June preceding. She is known to have passed the Straits of Gibraltar, about the 10th of July, and that is the last ever seen or heard of her.

In her perished Lieut. Yarnell, who was Perry's first lieutenant in the battle of Lake Erie, and other officers. Shubrick had been present at no less than six regular fights, five of which were between vessels of a force as heavy as frigates; he had also participated in the celebrated chase off New York—yet when he met his unknown fate, he had been only nine years in the service, and was about 27 years of age.

Congress had voted him two medals, and his native State, South Carolina, and the cities of Charleston and New York, had each voted him a sword—none of which he was destined to receive.

The next disappearance of this kind from the navy list is believed to be that of the Lynx, 6, Lieut. Commanding John R. Madison, in 1821, in the West Indies.

The next loss we have to record is probably familiar to many—it is that of the Hornet, in 1828, then attached to the West India squadron, under the command of Captain Otho Morris. The Hornet was sent by the commodore to cruise off Tampico, during the autumnal equinox, which is known to render those seas the most dangerous on the globe. The day before her loss, a considerable sum of money was received on board, and a number of residents visited her on a party of pleasure, which was destined to have a fearful termination. The weather became threatening, and the Hornet put to sea, carrying her ill-fated guests with her. The prognostics proved true—the blast came—one of the most awful ever known in that region of violent convulsions, overturning all before it.

But through twenty years and more that have elapsed since the anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie, on which she disappeared—of the thousand floating objects that were apt to cast themselves loose from a sinking ship, and swim upon the surface, not so much as an oar or handspike has ever been found to tell the fate which time as surely tells. Captain Morris, the commander, bore a high character as a cool and collected officer and seaman; and his first lieutenant, Daniel H. Mackey, left no superior behind him. Picked up on the docks at Liverpool by a charitable American captain, and commencing as a cabin boy in a merchant ship, he had worked his way from the hawse hole aft, to the position he held when the sea closed over him and his career.

Nearly ten years after the loss of the Hornet, in May, 1839, the pilot boat schooner Sea Gull, commanded by passed midshipman S. W. C. Reid, and attached to the South Sea exploring squadron, sailed from a little harbor near Cape Horn, in company with her consort, the Flying Fish, with the intention of doubling the Cape—a terrible storm came on; the Flying Fish regained her harbor, but the Sea Gull found a rest only in the deep blue waves of that stormy ocean.

The Flying Fish, a smaller schooner, afterwards attained the high latitude of 70 14 S. (a higher latitude than any vessel that had ever preceded her) and completed the circumnavigation of the globe.

Not quite four years after the Sea Gull's disappearance, on the 20th of February, 1843, the schooner Grampus, 10, Lieut. A. E. Downes commanding, sailed from Norfolk, with orders to cruise in the Gulf Stream for a short time. She had been encountering a series of storms, and as she was known to be leaky, it is supposed she foundered in one of them.

With the Grampus we come to the conclusion of our list, though, if we mistake not, the Sylph, lost in 1844, and perhaps one or two might be adduced to extend it. At this moment, perhaps, while the reader is quietly perusing these sentences, the sea in some parts lashed into fury, is engulphing some tempest tossed mariners. More than five hundred vessels are wrecked and lost yearly, as has been ascertained by carefully prepared statistics—and of these one-tenth disappear and leave not a trace behind. Furthermore, it is stated, that "for sixteen sailors who die of disease, eleven die by drowning or in wrecks."

SLAVE CASE.—At Cincinnati on Friday, an important slave case was determined. Three slaves, who had been purchased in Virginia, and were in charge of the agent of their owner, were landed in Cincinnati, through stress of circumstances, there not being sufficient water to land them on the Kentucky side. A habeas corpus writ in their favor was served out. One of them was a woman, who was willing to go with the agent; and she had a female child in her charge. The Judge remanded both to the custody of the agent. In the matter of the third, who was a man, Judge Flinn decided, that he was in charge of an agent and not of the owner, and as he was not brought voluntarily to Ohio, and was there in opposition to the instructions of the owner, he must also be remanded,—and all of them were placed on board the boat to be taken South. Bills of exception were filed in case of the "boy" and child.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1853.

RAILROAD BRIDGES.

We are glad to perceive the attention of one writer called to the safety of Railroad Bridges; and that he writes like a sane and prudent man, whose interests are concerned in the Roads.

He asks the Boston Courier to "permit a stockholder, more than half of whose property is invested in railroads running out of Boston, to submit through your columns to his brother stockholders and others concerned, whether OUR INTERESTS as well as the public safety do not demand additional protection against accidents upon our railroad bridges."

He speaks of the long bridges over deep water near Boston, of accidents on the Fitchburg and Maine Railroad bridges near that city, and says:

"The rails are laid upon their extreme verge, and upon many of them there is no visible protection in case a car by any accident should be thrown from the track. It is true indeed that the cars are supposed to be safe and strong,—that the rails are intended to be securely fastened to the timbers,—that the conductors and engineers and firemen and brakemen and switchmen are intended to be careful and competent men,—that the cars are intended to be run slowly over these bridges because of the acknowledged danger; but the best cars sometimes fail, the best rails sometimes become broken, or cracked, or displaced, the best employees are sometimes sleepy or careless and negligent, and the best intentions of slow and safe progress will sometimes yield to a temporary forgetfulness or the pressure of a supposed necessity."

He supposes, justly, that the overturn of a train into the water, which should drown most of the passengers, would bring out such verdicts of damages as to ruin the property of any company; and that such a thing might happen by the mere breaking of a wheel or a rail. As to the remedy, he says it is easy, cheap and certain.

"Let one row of piles, such as these bridges are built upon, be driven on either side, projecting four or five feet above them. Let these piles be locked together by timbers, and no train passing at ordinary speed could, by any possibility, be thrown off. Doubtless other expedients might be adopted equally efficacious. Would not a few thousand dollars thus expended, and which would not be missed from our dividends, by diminishing the risks and legal liabilities of its ownership, increase the public confidence in this kind of stock, and raise its market value?

If this work is to be done, why not now as well as ever? Hundreds of trains, bearing thousands of passengers and millions of merchandise, are passing these bridges by night and by day. Shall a few thousands be now expended in rendering them perfectly secure, or shall we wait till some terrible accident shall send a thrill of horror through this whole community; till we shall be compelled by indignant juries to pay ruinous damages, and by special enactment to do what our own interests and the public safety every day demands?"

The writer hopes prompt action will be taken by the directors of the various roads. We would add, that beside his plan of piles, Dr. Baker of this city, has devised a simple and not very expensive rail, which could be easily applied to some bridges where the piles would be impracticable.

ANOTHER OLD GUARDSMAN.—A paper called the Banner, published at Haverhill, Mass., if we may judge by a paragraph or two, beats Mr. Burke's Old Guard "all hollow." Speaking of Patrick McDonald, Esq., whose story was well told in the Bunker Hill Aurora, the Banner says—"The above is a whig paper, which detracts somewhat from its credit, but it has told the truth, we believe, in the above paragraph. The appointment of Patrick McDonald, Esquire, is in no particular so remarkable as some of the Newburyport appointments which could not by any possibility be any worse than they are."

The same paper says, elsewhere—"The democratic press of this county should have a leather medal presented them for their courage, magnanimity and moral independence, in standing up in defence of the rights of the people. We have been informed that, through some whig agency, the government has been appointing whigs to office in the county, and they dare not say a word against it. Probably their editors are too busy nursing at their own teats. We have yet to learn whether they approve or disapprove of such miserable, mean and contemptible staff, as appointing whigs to office instead of democrats. If such things are to be endured, a democratic victory is nothing to us, and we will soon commence holding up to light such presses and cabinet officers, so that the people may see through them."

We should not like such guards as these, if we were President. We should feel safer without any.

☞ The German who was "locked up for examination" in New York, because a bank-teller overpaid a check to him, giving him 912 dollars instead of 9 dollars and 12 cents, has been discharged, as he ought to be; but we do not learn that the blockhead of an official, who ordered him to be locked up, has been discharged from office, or locked up in his stead—as he ought to be.

INSURANCE.—We learn from a St. John, N. B. paper that in a case tried in the Circuit Court there last week, it was decided that an insurance becomes vitiated in case the premises insured are closed for a temporary space of time, even a day. Families therefore desirous of spending a few days in the country, must leave some one at home to take charge of the house, or in default their insurance policy becomes null and of no effect in case of fire.

A most absurd decision, which if carried out as to principle, would make all insurance a mere farce, and finally destroy it. On the same principle, an insured church, in which on a certain Sudnay no meeting was held, if it chanced to burn down that day, would forfeit the policy; if an insured printing office happened to be empty of hands on a Sunday or holiday, the insurance would be void; and so on. The St. John Judge must be a donkey, and his decision will hardly go for law on this side the line.

NOT GUILTY.—Charles H. Comstock, conductor on the New York and New Haven Railroad, has recently been tried in Fairfield county, Conn., for manslaughter, committed by running his train into the river at Norwalk, Conn., on the 6th day of May last, by which accident several physicians and other persons were killed. On Monday the jury rendered a verdict of Not Guilty, and Comstock was discharged.

The really guilty parties are the public chiefly, and the directors of that road in an inferior degree. The public are too "fast," and that road too mean and narrow in its expenditures for construction and improvement.

The law against fractional bills in Rhode Island goes into operation this week. One bank in Providence recently cleared $50,000 by the issue.—Boston Atlas.

The first sentence is correct; but the second is incredible. We know of only two ways in which a bank can make money by the issue of bills, viz., one by the interest accruing, and the other, by a destruction of the bills, so as to prevent their return. Neither of these things can have happened recently, on fractional bills, to anything like the amount here stated. We think not to one tenth of it.

EMIGRATION.—A traveller in Canada, says great numbers of Irish and Norwegians land in Canada from British vessels, which coming over for timber, land them there very cheap. All of them go to the United States, most to Wisconsin and Iowa. Although the land in Upper Canada is much better and cheaper, yet they hasten through the country, as though driven by a pursuing scourge. The reason is apparent to any one who visits Canada, and can easily be explained. Canada is a colony, dependent on England for every yard of cotton or woolen cloth, and for every pound of iron she wants to use. Labor is cheap, except in harvest, when it will not command what would be considered remunerative prices in the United States. Business is stagnant, and consequently enterprise is impossible. The Irish and Norwegians know this well. They are dependent on their labor for subsistence, and they are not slow to see that their interests lead them where it receives a just reward.

Colonial dependence, on England, or on any other power, is a poor condition. It is not exactly slavery, or serfage, but somewhat of the same nature.

A REVOLUTIONARY RELIC.—The existence of one of the relics of the revolution, not generally known to have been in Jersey City for the last half century, was discovered to the public two or three days since. It is the pedestal of the equestrian lead statue of George III., which stood in Bowling Green, New York, until the year 1776, when the statue was run into revolutionary bullets. The pedestal is of stone, and bears the following inscription:—"In memory of Major John Smith, of the XLIInd, or Royal Highland Regiment, who died 25th July, 1783, in the 48th year of his age. This stone is erected by the brave officers of that Regiment. His bravery, generosity, and humanity, during an honorable service of 29 years, endeared him to the soldiers, to his acquaintances and friends." The stone is of Portland marble, 5 1-2 feet long, 11 inches thick, and was brought to this country from England to be used as a pedestal to the statue.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

TWO NEGROES PUBLICLY BURNED AT THE STAKE.—The New Orleans Delta gives an account of the murder of Dr. Fisk, the violation and subsequent murder of Mrs. Fisk, and the killing of her child, by two negroes, in Jasper county, Mo., stating that one of the negroes had confessed, and that the other, though closely pursued, had not been taken.

At a late date it was stated by the Springfield (Mo.) Advertiser, that this negro was at last captured on the Prairie about fifteen miles from Carthage, taken to that town, tried, and found guilty, but refused to make any confession. The Advertiser says the citizens of the surrounding country, determined to give a warning to all future transgressors of the kind, took the negroes out of the hands of the officers, and burned them on the 30th ult. They both made confessions after being chained to the stake, but the Scott negro (the one last taken,) afterwards denied any knowledge of it. They died in about two minutes after the fire commenced burning.

A free negro named William S. Bishop, a native of the city of Rochester, N. Y., has been imprisoned for some time in Louisville, under the charge, or pretence, of his being a fugitive slave. A short time since his friends in Rochester received a letter from him stating his detention, and also that if he was not proved to be a free man he would be sold for jail fees. His jailor added a postcript to the letter, recommending his friends to procure the necessary evidence of his freedom and forward it, which will be done.

LOCAL.

☞ The Mercantile Library Association, of this city, at a meeting held last evening, acknowledged the receipt of a valuable donation of books from Mr. George S. Walker, of Boston, comprising the complete works of Daniel Webster. A series of resolutions expressive of the thanks of the Association, for this substantial token of the interest manifested by Mr. Walker in its welfare, was unanimously adopted.

A SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—At the funeral of an elderly lady in Newburyport on Wednesday last, there rode in one of the carriages four persons whose united ages amounted to 325 years. They were all friends of the deceased, and followed the corpse of their fellow pilgrim to the silent grave, seemingly but to gaze on the portal into which they must very soon enter, ay, on whose very threshold they now stand.

☞ The Rev. William Horton has accepted the Rectorship of St. Paul's Church in Newburyport. He will commence his parochial duties immediately.

N. H. GENERAL ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of this body, composed of the pastors of the Orthodox churches, was held at Littleton, N. H., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Amos Blanchard of Mendon, from the text: "And she answered, I dwell among mine own people." Reports from the District Associations were presented, which showed the churches to be generally in a flourishing condition. Several have enjoyed extensive revivals of religion during the past year. On Wednesday morning resolutions were introduced and adopted, expressing the high estimation in which this body holds the cause of temperance; its confidence in the principle embodied in the so-called Maine Law; its determination to labor for a similar law in that State; recommending, in the meantime, the enforcement of the present laws restraining the traffic, and that ministers preach on this subject.

The report submitted to the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Bible Society stated that the contributions to this object in the State had been somewhat less than in former years. Six of the ten counties in the State had been explored and supplied with the bible during the year. About $500 have been raised in the State during the year for the Education Society. Anti-slavery resolutions were also introduced and adopted. The receipts for the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society have been larger this year than in any former year—even setting aside $1700 contributed towards the $50,000 church fund. About one sixth of the entire receipts was from female cent societies. The report spoke in strong terms of the very inadequate pecuniary support afforded to the ministers of the State.—The average salary of the missionaries of the society is $377, and the average salary of pastors of the self supporting churches in the State, $473.

On Thursday afternoon the association partook of the Lord's Supper. An appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Cartice of Sanbornton Bridge. The Rev. Mr. Bentley of Connecticut, and Rev. Dr. Badger of New York, officiated at the table. The meeting was harmonious and pleasant.

FIRES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—We learn from the Exeter News Letter, that the dwelling house of Mr. Joshua S. Lyford, in Brentwood, was destroyed by fire on Friday last, with nearly all the furniture. Insured for $450.

On the 18th inst., the building owned by Mr. Benjamin T. Crockett, and occupied by L. W. Pierson, as an English and West India Goods store, in East Northwood, was burnt with all its contents, including the books and accounts of the Post Office. Loss $1200: insurance $785.

NEW HAT SOCIETY.

It is so dangerous to get a new hat now-a-days, that we have concluded to have our "shocking bad" one—like some similar stories—"continued on the outside" for a long time yet. Only hear what the correspondent of the N. Y. Times says recently happened to a hatter in Paris:

"An elegantly dressed gentleman ordered, some time ago, at a hatter's, twenty-five hats of an entirely new form. The maker, when they were finished, tried on one, and finding that it became him, made a twenty-sixth for his own personal use. The individual who had given the order, called punctually for the tiles, and paid cheerfully. The next Sunday the weather being very fine, the hatter gave his new head-dress an airing in the Champs Elysees. When at the Road Point, he observed several gentlemen adorned with the coverings he had made. One came up to him, and said, with a peculiar wink: 'A good day for booty, this, and no beaks about!' Dear me, thought the hatter, I should not wonder if I had been making hats to serve as a rallying signal to members of a secret society. Rather concerned, he kept on his walk.

Under the Arch of Triumph, he saw other individuals sporting other specimens of his last new style. One came quickly behind him, and said. 'Here, put these in your Deep: and these, and these.' He handed him three watches with broken chains, two purses and five handkerchiefs. The hatter now saw clearly enough the sort of society with which he was in league. He peached to the nearest Commissary Police, and the twenty-five pickpockets were speedily lodged in jail.

In Portsmouth, Pa., Charles C. Johnson shot Priscilla Shammo through the breast, killing her instantly, and shot a young boatman named Collier in the back, wounding him mortally. Priscilla was once Johnson's wife, but they had separated, and he was married again; yet he couldn't bear to see Priscilla walking with another man. The murderer surrendered himself.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—The number of visitors on Monday was 6608. The contributions to the Washington Monument, up to that time, amounted to $1893 36.

MURDER IN NEW YORK.—On Sunday evening, John Benjamin, a respectable young man of 22, was quietly walking through Laurens street, when he was set upon by a gang of rowdies, headed by a negro known as "Buckeye Boy," and so barbarously beaten that he died in a few hours. Benjamin gave no provocation whatever. The coroner's jury have requested the authorities to offer a reward for the apprehension of the guilty parties, who are still at large.

THE BURNING OF THE CHEROKEE.—It is said that the machinery and boilers of the Cherokee are comparatively uninjured, and that one of the leading ship builders in New York offers to raise the hull, and put the vessel in sailing order again for one hundred thousand dollars. The fire originated in the hold, near the main entrance to the cabin, and is supposed to have been occasioned by spontaneous combustion among the cargo, which consisted partly of drugs.

SEVERE TORNADO.—A destructive tornado was experienced in the vicinity of Winchendon, Mass. on Saturday evening. It commenced at about three miles below Winchendon, and passed up the valley of Mills River, carrying everything before it. Large trees of a foot and a half thick were twisted off, fences were prostrated, chimneys thrown down, and and several houses unroofed.

The large wooden ware manufactory of Mr. Elisha Murdock—a building three stories in height, was also partially overturned. The steeple of the Baptist church in Winchendon was also blown down. The damage is very large. So far as is known, no person was seriously injured, but sad destruction has been made on the farms, the crops being rooted up, &c.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—We learn that Doct. Avery of Windham, met with a very serious accident on Monday, which may terminate in his death. He was sitting in a chair or stool (from infirmities,) carrying his horse, when the animal fell upon him, breaking one of his legs near to the hip, and doing other injury. The animal has been subject to paralytic attacks, in which he would instantly fall, as in this instance. Dr. A. being well advanced in life, it is feared he may not recover.—Norwich Examiner.

EXPLOSION OF A LOCOMOTIVE.—The locomotive Contoocook, one of the most powerful freight engines, was on the Grand Trunk Railroad, near Upton, Canada, on Saturday, with a heavy train of lumber and fire wood, when her fire-box fell in, and an explosion followed, bursting the engine into fragments, and sending her 16 feet up the embankment, some of the heavy pieces being blown 50 feet in the air, and the engineer, Richard Seeley, the fireman, and a section man named George Bowe, were with difficulty dug out of the ponderous mass. Their lives were despaired of. The Contoocook was built by Bailey, of Manchester, N H.

AN ARCTIC-BOUND VESSEL SPOKEN.—Steamer Uncle Sam arrived at Valparaiso, reports that on the 28th of July, she was boarded by the captain of the brig Isabel, lying at Port Famine, at which place she had put in for water. The Isabel is owned by Lady Franklin, and bound to Behring's Straits in search of Sir John Franklin; captain and all hands well.

NEW ORLEANS, August 28.—The interments of the week amount to 1628, including 1442 by yellow fever.

The clergymen of New Orleans meet every afternoon for prayer, in view of the scourge which hangs like a black pall over the city.

Accounts from Natchez state that the greatest alarm was prevailing there. More than half of the inhabitants had left the city in consequence of the ravages of the yellow fever.—None of the authorities had left, however.—Quarantine was no longer enforced.

A girl named Mohan, sixteen years old, drowned herself at Schaghticoke, N. Y., on Sunday, to avoid cohabitation with a man whom her parents had forced her to marry, or half marry—for when the priest asked her the usual questions she said "no," and ran away to New York. On her return they tried to make her live with the man, but she preferred the fate of Ophelia.

CAUGHT AT LAST.—Israel Reed, who stole from Perry & Jackson, stable-keepers at Lawrence, on the night of the 25th inst., $100 in money, was arrested in his mother's house, in Auburn, N. H., by Sheriff Rowell, and carried to Lawrence. When arrested, he had only $50 in money. His rascality is "nipped in the bud," and his prospects are good for a "steady chance" in the Charlestown State Prison.

SARATOGA, August 30th.—A collision occurred last night on the Schenectady and Saratoga Railroad near this place, by which Daniel Ostrander, a fireman, was instantly killed. A passenger belonging to New Hampshire, was badly hurt, and several others more or less injured.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—At Annisquam, on Monday afternoon, David Saville of Lexington, a lad about ten years old, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun. He was one of a party of boys, out for the purpose of shooting peeps.

OLE BULL.—We have not heard any thing about the great violinist for some time past, but notice by the New York papers that he will give a grand concert in that city this evening, the proceeds to be devoted to the New Orleans relief fund.

Wm. Brown, a colored waiter at the Metropolitan Hotel, New York, was arrested on Saturday night, charged with stealing $2950, the property of a boarder at the hotel. The money was nearly all found on his person.

Adeline Phelps of Northfield, has been indicted by the grand Jury of Franklin county, for the murder of her father last winter by poison. She has been in jail for the last six months.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the third exceeded expectation. It sued like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—the latter still—not always, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily resulting upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.
BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 16mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing the full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

TABLE MOVING.—A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, in describing some experiments he recently witnessed, says: "The table being put in rapid motion, a Bible folded in paper, was laid upon it, when the table stopped instantly, and could not be induced to go again so long as the precious volume remained upon it. The Bible was removed, a copy of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress placed in its stead, when the table revolved as before. A prayer book was tried with like results; and the whole service of the Church of England failed to arrest its rotary motion. Whilst it was still revolving with considerable velocity, the Bible was again and again substituted, but with unvarying results. After repeating these experiments several times, one of the party suggested that the Bible should be unfolded and opened, to try if some portions of it were more powerful than others. This was done; when lo! and behold! what had been beleived to be the Bible, proved to be a copy of Gulliver's Travels! Fancy the consternation of the operators of this discovery, (the hoax only being known to one of the party.) I may add, the experiment was again tried, but Gulliver exposed had lost its power."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore,

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the world without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

BENDING TIMBER.

The New York Herald notices a new invention for bending timber of all sizes, which is recommended by several ship builders.—The Herald says:

One of the most important inventions of the day is a machine for the bending of timber for ships and other uses, and it will produce as great a revolution in the moulding of wood for the innumerable purposes for which it is used, as Woodworth's planing machine has in its operations. This machine was invented by Mr. Thomas Blanchard, and a company has been formed for the purpose of purchasing the rights for the United States, and for conducting, on an extensive scale, the business of bending ship timber and timber for any use, in any required shape. It is the intention of the company to erect extensive works, adapted to the full developement of this important invention. Professor Mapes, in speaking of the scientific operation of the timber bending machine, as adapted to the building of vessels and the manufacture of household furniture, says:

By the plan of Mr. B anchard straight timber can be bent to all the required forms, and this, too, without abraiding the capillary tubes of the wood; for instead of pursuing the old method of stretching the outer fibres and compressing those of the inside or shorter line, he confines the outside of each stick to its original length by end pressure, forcing the fibres into a new figure without rupture, and retaining all the original strength of the wood, nor can these bent timbers be again straightened or rendered liable to assume, in the slightest degree, their former shape.

The bending is performed while the vegetable albumen is softened, and thus much of it must exude, improving the lasting properties of the wood.

Timber bent by this process is doubtless much stronger than that now used, which often owes its peculiarity of shape to diseased growths, and is therefore less dependable when strained in the direction of its curves. The cost of ship timber will be materially lessened, while that required for smaller vessels will be cheaper than ever before known.

For cabinet use this invention will prove no less valuable, and we may now have light furniture of great strength; the entire back of a chair may be made of one piece and of any form, without losing the great strength always consequent upon the use of parallel fibers instead of angular cuts or curves, within which the end of the grain of the wood is exhibited. Indeed, two or three joints may take the place of eight or ten, and reduce the liability to break.

FALSEHOOD IN CHILDREN.—Perhaps there is no evil into which children so easily and so universally fall, as that of lying.

The temptation, too, is strong, and therefore the encouragement to veracity should be proportionally strong. If a child breaks anything, and honestly avows it, do not be angry with him. If candor procures a good scolding, besides the strong effort it naturally costs, depend upon it, he will soon be discouraged. In such cases do not speak till you can control yourself. Say "I'm glad you told me. It was a very valuable article, and I am truly sorry it was broken; but it would have grieved me much more to have my son deceive me." But having said this, do not reproachfully allude to the accident afterwards. I was about to say that children never should be punished for what was honestly avowed; but perhaps there may be some cases where they do wrong, from an idea that an avowal will excuse them; in this case, they tell the truth from policy not from conscience, and they should be reasoned with and punished. However, it is the safe side to forgive a good deal, rather than run the risk of fostering bad habits.—Mrs. Child.

VEGETARIANS.—At a Vegetarian Festival in Philadelphia, the following was the bill of fare, and a very savory bill of fare it was for midsummer. We might as well agree to dispense with beef and poultry, at twenty cents a pound, with such substitutes before us:

First Course.—Vegetable Soup, Savory Omelot, Fried Egg Plant, Baked Potatoes, Mashed potatoes, Baked Sweet Potatoes, Lima Beans, Green Corn, Tomatoes, Parsley Sauce, Pickled Lemons, Pickled Martinas, Pickled Beets, Graham Bread, White Bread, Iced Water.

Second Course.—Mince Pies, Peach Pies, Cocoanut Custard, Cheese Cakes, Moulded Prepared Corn, Moulded Farina, Cream, Moulded Rice, Fruits, Watermelons, Canteloupes, Peaches, Apples.

DESTINY.

PREDICTIONS OF BONAPARTE.—There is never a political storm in Europe, small or large, but some wiseacre repeats the prophecy said to have been made by Napoleon at St. Helena, that "in fifty years Europe will either be Republican or Cossack." Thirty-eight years have elapsed since Bonaparte was consigned to St. Helena, and his prediction seems to be as far from being verified as it was when it was uttered. It was the habit of the great French General to "see visions" of the future of Europe, and a writer in Blackwood's Magazine; for August refers to it in these words:

Napoleon was in the habit of predicting the ruin of England, and pointing out we may presume, with no intention of warning, the blunders of that policy which, however, had rescued Europe from the French yoke, and sent himself to moralize in a dungeon.—"This island," said he, "costs, or will cost, two millions a year, which is so much money thrown in the sea. Your East India Company, if the affairs were narrowly scrutinized, would be found to lose instead of gaining, and in a few years must become bankrupt.—Your manufactuies, in consequence of the dearness of necessaries in England, will be undersold by those of France and Germany, and your manufactorers will be ruined." All this train of ill omen is profitable, if it were only to show how little we are to depend upon the foresight of politicians. Here was unquestionably one of the most sagacious of human beings delivering his idea on the future, and that not a remote future, not a future of centuries, but the future within the life of a generation; and yet what one of these predictions has not been completely baffled?

The professed opinions of men are determined, to a great extent, by the accident of their position at the moment.

Ask men's opinions:—Scoto now shall tell
How trade increases, and the world goes well.
Strike off his pension:—by the setting sun
All Britain if not Europe, is undone!

Had Napoleon retained his power, (says the Boston Courier) he would have talked of Republicanism and Cossacks in quite a different strain. He who is violently thrust from a throne, will see nothing but imbecility in those who take his place—nothing but disaster in their policy. That the exile of St. Helena should talk of Europe as ruined, because his dominion was at an end, is quite natural. But it is not very wise thing in us to adopt opinions uttered by him while giving vent to his ill humor and discontent at the catastrophe which had befallen him.

An elderly lady in New York has received $7000 for the lease of an old shell of a building she occupied on the corner of Church and Warren streets. The papers abuse her for not giving it up cheaper, in order to facilitate the improvement which the owner desires to make. Poor people are always abused by speculators for speculating when they have a chance, perhaps once in their long, weary lives. For our part, we sustain the old woman in the "operation." If the improvement will "pay," why shouldn't it pay her?—Post.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1853.

JOHN NEAL—AGAIN.

This gentleman comes out in the State of Maine, with nearly four columns of reply to Neal Dow. After a column of introduction, he says:

I did sustain the law, as I have acknowledged; I did preside at public meetings, and I did justify the confiscation of liquors upon constitutional grounds—in short, I did all I could do, conscientiously, that the law might have a fair trial; and that when it failed, as I knew it must, nobody should charge me with having stood in its way, though Mr. Dow and all his aiders and abettors knew that I was wholly opposed to it from the first.

But why? why did I change? Because I found him untrustworthy. Because I found that he was not to be believed, as to the working of the law. Because I found him so wilful and so conceited that his best friends could not hinder his making the law hateful to its friends, and worse than useless to its foes: that he would not listen to the warnings of the City Solicitor, but was ready to make oath that "liquors on board a steamboat were intended for sale," which he knew were there only for transportation: and because, when I warned him against a fellow, in his pay, over and over again, he persisted in employing him and paying him out of the city treasury, as a pimp and a spy, till the most laboriously prepared, of many cases, dependent upon that man's testimony, was dismissed with a burst of indignation, by the County Attorney in open court; and the witness himself indicted for perjury: because I found that there was no hope of a change for the better, either here or elsewhere, so long as Mr. Dow had the newspapers under his control, for deceiving the people abroad.

Yet more—I changed my support of the law, because I found that the man upon whose testimony we had to rely for information about the working of the law, was determined to convict everybody that could be suspected or charged, he cared not how, cost what it might—and because, happening to be in court one day, I heard Mr. Sheply, late U. S. Attorney, aver to Mr. Justice Howard, of the Supreme Court, that not one single warrant for seizure had been sustained by the Court upon appeal!—and he was not contradicted by the County Attorney. And finally, because, while inquiring of me, 'Is it well with thee, my brother?' he tried to stab me to the heart.

He goes on to give two examples of the stabbing: one of them is a misrepresentation of a case wherein Mr. Neal was bondsman for an Irishwoman who kept a drinking shanty—and the other a false assertion that Mr. Neal's own son became a drunkard by taking wine at his father's table.

The only material statements beside, are in these words.

I believe on the testimony of both parties, and all parties—rumsellers and temperance men—friends and foes, a part of which testimony I mean to give hereafter, that the trade was never so brisk in Portland—that everybody has enough, and to spare—that all the topers go about with their skins full—and that Bangor pockets, I am told, five thousand dollars a year, clear profit, from the sale of prohibited liquors, for medicine and the mechanic arts, by her authorized agent!

* * * *

And now as to a part of the workings of the law which have hitherto been most carefully withheld from the tax-payers of Portland, by management and connivance well deserving exposure.

It has been the settled usage of our city authorities for a long time, to send forth a yearly report of the fires happening within that city.

Under Mr. Dow's administration, there were fifty-four alarms, and the amount of property destroyed was $224,000—on which the insurance amounted to $107,000—leaving a dead loss to our people of $117,000:—while the year before that loss amounted to only 6,125—and the year after to only $7,100—showing that we have paid about one hundred thousand dollars for the comfort and security we enjoyed under Mr. Dow's management. By reference to table below, it will be seen how far this exceeded the loss of any former year; and when I add that for months after, the oppression was felt—which began to make wise men mad, whispered threats of burning the town were heard—mysterious intimations—day after day, and fires followed with most alarming frequency, night after night, which were already proved to be the work of incendiaries. I trust I shall be heard with patience.

The consequence was, that some of our best fire agencies were wound up, and others greatly discouraged.

In 1846, Mr. Dow being Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, no report was made, for reasons best known to himself, though suspected by others.

Property destroyed.		Ins.	Loss.	Alarms
In 1847	$13,260	$11,775	$2,485	20
" 1848	26,955	13,530	13,425	21
" 1849	106,089	66,882	39,207	59
" 1850	57,195	47,485	9,680	50
" 1851	8,775	2,650	6,125	25
" 1852 (Dow)	224,000	107,000	117,000	54
" 1853	16,400	9,300	7,100	14

I am assured on authority not to be questioned, that the clear profits of the liquor agency at Bangor, the last year, exceeded six thousand dollars. Of course, if the profits were ten per cent., the gross amount of sales was sixty thousand dollars, for medicine and mechanic arts, in one small neighborhood for one year.

And now one word in great seriousness.—So dreadful is the extent of private drinking now, not only among householders, but among our youth—our very children—that something must be done forthwith. We have no time to lose. The law, as it now stands, is wholly inoperative against supply and consumption.

The reader will not fail to perceive that Mr. Neil's statements about fires, put the arguments against the Maine Law in this shape, viz.: It will not do by restraining the sale to cut off the supplies from the drinkers, for if we do they will burn our houses. It is rather a strong argument, but it shows a bad state of morals.

ABUSE OF THE ORGAN.—The editor of the New York Musical Review is often shocked at the manner in which this regal instrument is used, to advertise the digital dexterity of a vain performer. He says that organ voluntaries, instead of being calm, dignified and solemn, (in sympathy with the serenity of the hour, and the sanctity of the day,) are too often but a pot-pouri of operatic tit-bits—a medley of bravura passages, trills, and florid cadenzas in the right hand, and in the left an imitation of the pizzicato accompaniment of an orchestra. He thinks that if such violations of good taste and religious feeling cannot be reformed without, it were better to declare the place of the organist vacant.

EXTRAORDINARY DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING.—On Saturday evening last, during the severe thunder shower, the house of Mr. Needham Nichols, in Reading, was struck by a thunderbolt and nearly ruined. Those who happened to be looking towards the house when it was struck, state that half a dozen bolts descended upon the house simultaneously, and the appearance of the shattered ruin confirms the statement. A hole was made in the side of the chimney, and a large hole some six feet square was torn in the roof.—The lightning spread to all parts of the house, completely shattering it, so that it will have to be rebuilt. Doors were torn from their hinges, windows smashed, timbers charred, and a general wreck prevailed everywhere.—Mr. Nichols was sitting in a chair reading a paper. Strange to say, although the paper was burned and a chair standing beside him was injured, Mr. Nichols himself received no injury. Mrs. Nichols was lying upon a bed, but escaped injury. The lightning descended into the cellar, where it punched a hole in the wall and escaped. The house, in its present position, is a great curiosity.

The interest of the above paragraph would not be injured by having it located in some State. There is one Reading in Massachusetts, another in Pennsylvania, and perhaps a dozen more in other States.

PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, for September, 1853, is on our table from the publishers, in good season and good style. The first article, on Church Architecture in New York, is largely illustrated by cuts of several well known edifices. This work is worthy of an extensive circulation, and is understood to be gaining.

CHINESE DOCUMENTS.

The following items give the best information we have seen of the origin of the Chinese Rebels Proclamation.

The Chinese Insurgents have astonished the world by their accurate statements of of many leading facts and doctrines of Christianity, in their "Trimetrical Classic." It has been translated into English, and extracts from it have been published in most of the leading newspapers of Christendom. Much of the mystery, however, is very easily explained. The greater part of it proves to be as nearly as can be judged from the translation, a literal reprint of a tract, published about the year 1839, by the American Mission, at Singapore.

That Misson was opened in July, 1834; and discontinued, or rather transferred to the London Missionary Society, in the latter part of 1843. Previous to Jan. 31, 1840, the Mission had published in Chinese, besides the New Testament, entire and in parts, more than sixty religious tracts, amounting, in all, to 294, 962 copies, containing 12,778,666 pages.—Many of them were reprints of tracts by Medhurst, Gutzlaff, and others. The author of the "New Three Character Classic," is not now recollected. It was written in imitation of a very ancient "Three Character Classic," which is a great favorite with the Chinese.—It was a tract of 18 pages, 24mo. One thousand copies were published. Very probably it may have been also printed at Canton, or Hong Kong.

The "Trimetricial Classic" of the Insurgents is this tract, printed entire, with interpolated passages, applying its doctrines to Chinese history and to their own designs.

These tracts were published for circulation in China, and wherever Chinese are found.—The printers were Chinese, and some of them were procured from Canton, for the service of the mission. The missionaries were assisted for a time by the Chinese Evangelist, Leang Afa. They published his tract, entitled "Good Words, to admonish the Age," which had so much circulation and exerted so much influence in China itself, as to be noticed in an Imperial proclamation from Pekin. "Teacher Le" was employed to instruct them in the Chinese language, and in 1839, he assisted in conducting a religious service. Whether he returned to Canton, became the teacher of Mr. Roberts, and is the Insurgent Chief Lye, mentioned in the extract from London Times in The Traveller of Wednesday, is uncertain.—There is no proof of it, except the similarity of the name, and of his employment as a teacher of the language.

The epithet "Trimetricial" leads some to suppose that this poem is in stanzas of three lines each, but such is not the meaning of the term. It means that each line is composed of three characters, that is, three words of the written language.

The Insurgents have issued eight or ten other religious publications, but little is known of them, beyond what may be inferred from their titles; from which it appears, that some of them at least, must have had a Chinese, and not a missionary origin.

CITY COUNCIL.—SEPTEMBER 2.

Reported for the Chronicle.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—In the Board of Aldermen, last evening, several bills were approved for payment.

The Mayor was authorized to have the conductors from the spring in Ceres st. repaired.

Mr. Goodrich petitioned for more room in the Spring Market—granted.

The Marshal reported the number of extra watchmen employed, and asked extra pay for them, they being members of the City Police—laid on the table.

Henry Sheafe complained that the road at Wendell's corner is in bad state, and threatens, if it is not attended to immediately, to have the city indicted.—Referred to the Mayor.

No quorum in the Common Council. [The "fathers" of the Council need the goad; is is now a month since they have had a quorum. We hope they will get together soon and appropriate the money for that engine they voted to purchase.]

FORGERY CASES.

Dr. Woodbury Gilman of Epping, was arrested by U. S. Deputy Marshall Towle on Tuesday last, and taken before Horace Webster, Esq., U. S. Commissioner, on a charge of being guilty, in connection with C. L. Godfrey of Epping, of forging a marriage certificate and affidavit, whereby he fraudulently procured a pension for an old lady in Epping. It is said $1200 were obtained.

The hearing was adjourned till Thursday, at 10 A. M., at which time it was found that Dr. Gilman was missing, leaving his sureties to pay the sum of $2500 forfeited for his non-attendance. In the afternoon, Col. George, U. S. Attorney notified the Commissioner, that Dr. Gilman was not to be found, and requested that a hearing of the case vs. Godfrey might be held on Friday, at 8 o'clock, at Epping, to which time and place the Commissioner adjourned the Court.

J. M. MURPHY, for defendant. J. H. GEORGE for United States.

A RUSH OF CUSTOMERS.—Our neighbor Oxford, on Thursday afternoon, placed the last hogshead he emptied of molasses, near the sidewalk at his door on State street. Soon it was entirely lined with myriads of honey-bees, who also kept continual and wide guard of the cask, much to the annoyance of some passers-by, and the amusement of others. While we were watching the scene a moment, two little girls unwittingly passed through the thickest of the swarm, without fear or injury—going unscathed in the midst of danger few of the bystanders cared to face. It is to be presumed Mr. Oxford likes a crowd of customers—but we hardly think he is gratified to wait upon such as these.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.—In the Daily Chronicle of August 25, we published a brief obituary notice in these words: "Died, in this city, 15th inst., Mrs. Elizabeth H. Moore, aged 84, widow of the late Capt. John Moore." The notice was copied, as a matter of course, into other papers in this city, and many enquiries have been made, of sextons, ministers, printers and others,—who it was,—but no one seemed to know. Our answer was, that we copied it from a Boston paper, which was all we knew about the matter.

But we are now informed by relatives of the family, that Mrs. Moore, (whose maiden name was Mills, and who was born in this place,) died in Boston on the 15th, and the error in publication was made there. And we learn also, that the Captain John Moore, of whom she was the widow, was a citizen of this place, and was lost at sea in the year 1797; having sailed from this port at that time in a new brig belonging to Capt. Thomas Manning, which brig was found at sea, bottom up, three days after sailing, supposed to have been capsized in a squall, with the loss of all hands.

☞ The Collector of Boston has appointed John H. Jackson, "aid to the revenue."

"SPIRITUALISM."—One of the most highly educated ladies at Ballston Spa, has become a maniac, and is destined, we fear, to end her days in a mad house. She has been for some months what is termed a "medium," and though possessing more brains and a more finished education than any, or all of the other "mediums" at Ballston Spa combined, yet her intellect has been the first to give way, and she has become a maniac through the influance of so called "spiritualism." She is continually raving about "spirits," alleging that "evil spirits" have seized hold of her, and entreating her parents to cease believing in "spiritualism," &c., &c. We understand from those who have visited her, that it is a most pitiable sight to witness her insane ravings.—Saratoga Republic.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF CATS IN AUSTRALIA.—A letter from Geelong, published in the Australian papers, says that the miners suffer badly from the vast quantity of mice, and that as high as fifty shillings (about twelve dollars and a half) has been paid for a cat. A Mr. Hitchcock advertises that he will pay five dollars a head for a cart load.

LOSS OF STEAMER MONUMENTAL CITY.—The following account from Sidney, New South Wales, is all that we have in addition as to the loss of the American Steamer Monumental City:

"The Monumental City, an American vessel, was wrecked on the night of the 15th by running on a rock in Malagoutta Bay, on her passage from Port Phillip to Sidney. 32 of the passengers and crew perished; 54 were saved. The captain, W. H. Adams, is severely blamed for recklessness and keeping too close to the land, even against the warning of one of the passengers, who was well acquainted with the coast. The night was fine and the wind off shore."

RIOT AT THE POLLS.—Ward meetings of Democrats to choose delegates to the State Convention were held in Buffalo on Saturday last. A fierce conflict took place at the polls on the issue of the policy of the administrational appointments, when the admistration party was entirely routed, carrying only two Wards. In the ninth Ward a custom house official attacked the ballot box, which was broken to pieces, when a general fight took place.

THE MAYOR OF MONTREAL ARRESTED.—The Vigilance Committee, of Montreal have arrested the Mayor, Hon. Charles Wilson, for murder, on the 9th June. He was held in bail in the sum of 8000 dollars, to appear on the 14th Oct. next, to answer at the Criminal Court of Queen's Bench. Three more of the rioters of the 9th of June have been arrested, namely, Garrett Barry, Pierre C. Brouillet, and M. Moses. Moses was second assistant engineer of the fire department.

Santa Anna has not been sweet upon the priests for nothing. He now wants to borrow $17,000,000, at 3 per cent., giving a mortgage on the property of the church as security, and stipulating to pay back the principal in annual instalments of one million of dollars. The clergy kick at the proposition, notwithstanding the decree permitting the return of the Jesuits to Mexico.

Several persons in Gloucester, make and sell $100,000 worth of dried and smoked halibut, in a year. Much care is necessary both in drying on the flakes and afterwards in the smoking. It is smoked in rough built houses with slated floors. One man, Mr Henry Marchant, has purchased from the vessels, this season 165 tons of halibut, and does a business of $20,000 a year. The cured article is now worth $8 per 100 lbs. for the best kind.

The Emperor Napoleon in his celebrated letter to his Admiral at L'Orient, respecting the final adjustment of the Imperial fleet, makes the use of these words: "Know that every moment wasted, in the century in which we live, is an irreparable loss.

MATTHEW HALE SMITH.—This remarkable man was present on Sabbath evening last, at the regular evening service, at Rev. Dr. Stowe's church, in this city, and actually arose, without leave or license, that we can learn, and stated that he left the ministry and resorted to the law, on account of his health. Having recovered he proposed to enter the pulpit again, and spoke of his great regard for the Baptist denomination!—Whew!—Boston Life Boat 23d.

The latest "wrinkle" in house building is the construction of papier mache dwellings for Australia and the East Indies, to be put up in six hours. So says an English paper.

It is not enough for a man to have merit and virtue; he must know how to bring himself into play.

SAD CASE.—A late Indianapolis paper, gives the following melancholy account of a recent death in that city:

Yesterday morning, about 5 o'clock, Joshua Soule, Jr., an old citizen of this place, and well known to most of our citizens, was found in the yard of John Coburn, Esq., in the northern part of the city with no clothing on but his shirt, and in a dying condition.—On being spoken to, he said he believed he was about half drunk, and asked to be lifted up. His request was complied with, but he was scarcely raised to his feet, when he groaned once or twice, and fell back dead.

An inquest was shortly afterwards held on his body by Justice McReady, and the jury returned as their verdict, that he came to his death from a fit of delerium tremens and exposure consequent upon his escape from the residence of John Bishop a few hours before.

We understand that Mr. Bishop stated in evidence, that Dr. Soule had been attacked by delirium tremens several days ago, but was getting better. On yesterday morning, about two o'clock, he got out of bed, Mr. Bishop supposed for the purpose of getting a drink of water. Bishop, who was partially awakened, immediately went to sleep again, and did not again awake till aroused by the information that Dr. Soule was dead.

Thus is another added to the long list of the bottle's victims. Dr. Soule was a son of Bishop Soule of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a man of education and talent. He came here nearly twenty years ago as a dentist, and for several years practised his profession. Many of our old citizens say that none of his successors have equalled him in skill and knowledge. He was subsequently, for several years, a clerk in the post-office in this city—a station he was undoubtedly as well qualified to fill as any man in the United States. His intemperate habits, however, caused him to lose every place of profit and respectability, and ultimately his social position. For several years past he has been a miserable, wretched outcast, subsisting upon what little writing he could get in the public offices here when they were hurried—for he continued to the last an excellent penman and clerk. Once, three or four years ago, urged by some of his old friends, he joined the Sons of Temperance, and made an effort to reform, but association with the friends of his prosperous days, seemed to embitter his life by the contrast their situation afforded with his, and he soon returned to his cups worse than before. Since then he has made no effort to save himself, but has been going down, down, until he met his fate.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.
It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Depot and manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excussable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female should be without a knowledge of her health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

Gov. Winthrop's Idea of Woman's Rights.—We find the following entry in the new edition of Winthrop's Journal, under the year 1643, which clearly shows the opinion of that worthy functionary in regard to the doctrine of woman's mission. There may be a doubt whether some of the modern advocates of the largest liberty on this subject are not obnoxious to the Governor's censure, and might not have "kept their wits if they had improved them usefully:"

"Mr. Hopkins, the Governor of Hartford upon Connecticut, came to Boston, and brought his wife with him, (a godly young woman, and of special parts,) who was fallen into a sad infirmity, the loss of her understanding and reason, which had been growing upon her divers years, by occasion of her giving herself wholly to reading and writing, and had written many books. Her husband, being very loving and tender of her, was loath to grieve her: but he saw his error when it was too late. For if she attended her household affairs, and such things as belong to women, and not gone out of her way and calling, to meddle in such things as are proper for men, whose minds are stronger, etc., she had kept her wits, and might have improved them usefully and honorably in the place God had set her. He brought her to Boston, and left her with her brother, one Mr Yale, a merchant to try what means might be had here for her. But no help could be had."

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

A Cough-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the phlegm instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is warranted free from all mineral substances. By its mild action on the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

Mayor's Office, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. Ship Cumberland, Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

ROMAN CATHOLIC NUNNERIES IN ENGLAND.

Every reader who takes any interest in education or religion must desire to understand something of the institutions of every country and sect. All such will look at the following movements towards inspecting Nunneries in England.

A bill is before the British Parliament, which authorizes, by forcible means if necessary, the inspection of convents, by a commissioner, appointed by the crown for that purpose. The bill had its origin in assumption or allegations—we believe no proof has been given and no facts adduced in the premises, other than what is founded upon common report—that females are, to a greater or less extent, deprived of personal liberty by being detained in these convents against their will, and that difficulties exist in obtaining the writ of habeas corpus.

We observe in a late number of the London Times, a protest against this bill, said to have been signed by a number of Roman Catholic gentlemen of high station and character. These Catholic protestants object to the bill as "mischievous, uncalled for, offensive, and injurious," and as "instituting inquisitorial proceedings of the most novel and intolerable character." They affirm that they are acquainted with the facts, and that the assumptions and allegations upon which the bill is founded, are entirely destitute of all foundation; that no person is imprisoned in any of the convents; and that no physical impediment exists to prevent an inmate from quitting a convent who may be minded so to do.

The bill in question was introduced into Parliament by Mr. T. Chambers, who took the ground, in his preliminary remarks, that the community had a right to believe that something was wrong in the management of convents, because the buildings of those establishments were uniformly bolted, barred and grated like prisons, and all the architectural arrangements were made apparently for one object, namely, that of safe custody. He thought there was reason enough in the circumstances connected with convents to justify the British public in assuming that the inmates in many instances were unhappy, and desirous of quitting the establishments, but were unable to liberate themselves. This assumption could only be negatived by putting the institutions within the radius of the law. Now they were practically beyond the reach of the law. There was nothing analagous to them in England. The inmates were doomed to imprisonment for life, to seclusion from the power of social influence, domestic rights and public opinion, and from the protection of the law. And the most terrible feature of the convents was, that they were affiliated with similar institutions on the continent, by which means an inmate might at any time be transported from England for life, without the knowledge of her dearest friends, and without appeal to the law.

In respect to the legal right of thus exercising a supervision, on the part of government, over nunneries—to say nothing of the duty of government, at all times and under all circumstances, to watch over and protect the rights and liberties of the people—England is behind almost all other nations, if we except Spain and Italy, where the policy of the government is to guard papal institutions of whatever character, from public scrutiny, rather than to secure the liberty of the people. In Mexico, where the whole population is Roman Catholic, the law requires a frequent visitation of nunneries by the public authorities.

In Prussia no novice can take the veil without being first examined as to the sufficiency and propriety of her motives in desiring to take that step. In Russia no convent can receive a nun without making an application to the Synod of Moscow, and producing an affidavit from the novice, showing that it was of her own free will and choice that she is about to enter the institution. In Bavaria monastic vows are not allowed by law for more than three years, and the civil authorities visit all convents every quarter, not only for fiscal purposes, but in order to restore to the world and to society all nuns who may desire to relinquish the seclusion of their convents. In Austria the inmates of conventual institutions, may at any time address the civil government privately, stating their desire to leave the convents, and such applications at once receive attention. In many of the convents in France the vows are temporary, and the mayor of each arrondissement has the power of visiting any convent whenever the city authorities of a locality think it necessary to do so.

INTEMPERANCE IN ESSEX COUNTY.—The Newburyport Union, makes the following statement in regard to the state of morals in Essex North:

It is well that something should be done to stop, if possible, the tide of intemperance; but we have serious doubts if the present liquor law will answer that purpose without essential alterations. It is undeniable that intemperance has been on the increase for the last two years, and that, too, especially among our young men, while the community have far less feeling on the subject than formerly. How far the law has affected it, one way or the other, we don't know. Here it has had no influence except to increase the traffic by stopping the sales in other towns. But there has been a terrible falling off in the popular feeling upon the subject. Ministers preach less against it than formerly; lectures have nearly ceased; temperance societies have died; the temperance orders—the Rechabites and Sons of Temperance, have declined, and in many places are dying out. It should be a question with the friends of temperance, whether they will pursue legal remedies further, or return to the moral agitation that was so successful in other days.

WHAT IS HAPPINESS?—That's it, what is happiness? People look at the question in various lights, and of course arrive at divers opinions. Stand aside and let Sam Slick have the floor. Says he:—

"I ask again, what is happiness? It ain't bein' idle, that's a fact—no idle man or woman was ever happy since the world began.—Eve was idle and that's the way she got tempted, poor critter. Employment gives appetite and digestion. Duty makes pleasure doubly sweet by contrast. When the harness is off, it the work ain't too hard, a critter likes to kick up his heels. When pleasure is the business of life, it ceases to be a pleasure; and when it is all labor and no play, work, like an unstuffed saddle, cuts into the very bone. Neither labor nor idleness has a road to happiness—one has no room for the heart, and the other corrupts it.—Hard work is the best of the two, for that has, at all events, sound sleep—the other has restless pillows and unrefreshing sleep—one is misfortune, the other is a curse; and money ain't happiness, that's as clear as mud.

REVOLUTIONARY WIDOWS.—Twenty-four hundred claims have been made upon the department for pensions, under the act of February 3, 1853, granting pensions to the widows of officers and soldiers of the revolution, who were married subsequent to the year 1800.—When the law was enacted, it was generally supposed that there would not be more than three hundred claims in all.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1853.

OPERATION OF LAW.

The following are passages from Reports made by Temperance men at the late Convention in Concord, Mass.

Cambridge.—Report by Rev. Mr. Holland. Nothing favorable to say—rum interest perfectly triumphant; it defies the assaults of its enemies—have been defeated in every step—would not attack the low groggeries and pass the great and the rich—began with Porter—the best counsel in the commonwealth would volunteer to defend him.

Concord, by Mr. Bowers. The friends of the law are active, vigilant, hopeful—have enforced it—the keepers of the two hotels were both indicted at the last term of the court.—One was tried and convicted. He appealed. The case of the other was carried up to the Supreme Court, by consent, without trial.

West Cambridge, by Mr. Currier. Hard place—not a day passes but men are seen drunk in our streets. Rum sold openly by the two tavern keepers. They are notorious—seem to love to get men drunk. Temperance men dead: cannot find two men in town to go with me to enforce the law.

Charlestown, by the city Missionary. Can't say much good of Charlestown—must take the banner for rum-selling—worse than Boston: 300 places where rum is sold; no barrier in the way; drunkenness on the increase for the last two months. My efforts as Missionary are paralyzed. Conferred with the City Marshal; he says there is no law; it can't be enforced. Great backwardness on the part of temperance men; no effort made to enforce the law. Tried to get signers to petition the city government to do something, but they declined signing.

Lowell, by Rev. Mr. Brewster. Can say nothing pleasant; rum is sold without restraint. The law was executed. Suffer from not having proper police officers; they should know they would lose their place if not faithful—must not depend upon men who drink and get treated at the hotels and shops. Much depends upon the head of the city government. Stop rum-selling, and Police Court is not worth much, pecuniarily. Every drunkard arraigned, puts fees into the pockets of the police; they don't want this source of gain dried up. Are waiting to have the question of jurisdiction settled. The Pearsons Justice Court did good—rumsellers ran away to escape it.

We might copy more of the same sort, but these are enough to show the great imperfection of the law, or the strong opposition to its execution, or both. A Newburyport correspondent of the Boston Chronicle says:

"The Maine law here is not only inoperative for good, but it is directly the cause of much evil; miserable rot-gut being sold instead of good liquors which were sold under the license law."

This is to be received with due allowance; but we don't doubt the badness of the liquors; we only doubt the reason for it. It should be considered also that the Law in Massachusetts was greatly altered from that in Maine—and that a gigantic moneyed interest in Boston is pressing against it with a five million power, employing the shrewdest lawyers, and exerting all possible effort to prevent or pervert its operation.

The present state of things cannot continue long. The law will be essentially modified, as it must be in order to be enforced; or it will be repealed. We rather expect the latter. But the contest now existing will not cease at that point. The political defeat of a given scheme of temperance men at the polls, or a legal defeat in courts, neither annihilates temperate men nor changes their principles, nor diminishes the evils of intemperance. And therefore no one should flatter himself that the community in the New England States will long rest satisfied short of some stringent license law, or other law intended to diminish the evils which every man sees, and every good man deplores. No legislation, however, demands more caution or more sound principle than this.

USEFUL DOG.—Mr. E. Meriam, the writer of many communications in the New York papers and the Portsmouth Journal, upon atmospheric phenomena, has an establishment upon Long Island, where five observers are employed, besides whom an intelligent dog is called into service to give notice during the night when the clock strikes, that it is time to examine the thermometers and record the temperature. Mr. Meriam has correspondents making contemporary observations upon the top of Mt. Washington, at the Equator, in Florida; at the Sandwich Islands, and in Oregon.

THE "WORLD'S TEMPERANCE CONVENTION" met at Metropolitan Hall, New York, on Thursday morning. Rev. Thomas Higginson was chosen President; Rev. John Pierpont and others Vice Presidents; Susan B. Anthony and others Secretaries. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Higginson, Antoinette Brown, Wm. H. Burleigh and Horace Greely, who introduced a series of resolutions. The attendance was very large.

Bishop Doane is again on trial at Philadelphia, but the public have lost interest in the matter, from the frequent reiteration of nearly the same charges which have been as frequently thrown out by his judges.

RESPONSE FROM MAINE.

We have endeavored, as we think all our readers will bear witness, to get at facts in regard to the operation of the "Maine Law" in Maine itself, and to bring them out fairly.

We copied, in the Daily Chronicle of August 27, some statements of Mr. John Neal, endorsed by the Boston Transcript, in respect to the liquor trade in Maine, and called for more testimony from some responsible source in Maine. To this call the Portland Advertiser responds in the following manner:

"As the Chronicle appears to be impartial and sincerely desirous of getting at the truth on this subject, we feel called upon to afford it the benefit of our testimony. In our opinion the statement of Mr. Neal is a very erroneous one, and one which will not be sustained by the judgment of one out of every hundred of the intelligent citizens of the State, aside from those immediately engaged in selling, or strongly attached to the habit of drinking rum. Rumsellers and inveterate rum drinkers have been saying for more than "twenty years"—in fact ever since the temperance reformation commenced—that things were growing worse and worse every day.—It's the old story which has been reiterated at every successive step in the progress of that reformation. And yet, who can have the hardihood to look back and say that nothing has been accomplished? The fact is that Mr. Neal was a very strong supporter of the law, until he became involved in a personal quarrel with Neal Dow. That quarrel has embittered his feelings and biased his judgment, and hence the extravagant statement he has made.

As to the statement of the Boston Transcript, we know it is not correct. We believe there is not a hotel in Portland, and certainly but very few if any in the whole State, in which the sale of liquor is as "open and undisguised as is such sale in the city of New York." That liquor is furnished at some hotels is undoubtedly true. But great caution is practiced as to how and to whom it is furnished. There are no "open and undisguised" bars. According to our best information, some of the hotels furnish liquors to "travellers" in their rooms, and have a private and retired room where some are permitted to drink. In other hotels, we think by far the greater number, there is nothing of the kind. But we find no such thing as an "open and undisguised" bar, where young men can meet to talk, smoke, chew, spit, drink and "treat," as was fashionable, to the ruin of thousands, "twenty years" ago. Nay, more—if any of the hotels, where liquors are now kept in a private and what is termed "judicious" manner for the "accommodation of travellers," should become places of resort for young men, as were the bar-rooms of "twenty years" ago, the law would be "down on them" in a manner which would stop it at once. This the keepers of those hotels very well know. They know that they are now put upon their good behavior—that what they do in the liquor line is by sufferance—and hence, they are under a restraint which the bar keeper of twenty years ago never felt.

In these remarks, it has been our object, not so much to discuss the law, or to point out the state of things which should exist, as to state the facts as they are. Open grog-shops have been suppressed. The sale of liquor at hotels is neither "open and undisguised," nor general and indiscriminate—but as we have stated."

MUTINY.—The bark Utah, Captain Stetson, from Boston bound to Baltimore, returned on Thursday, the crew being in a state of mutiny. When off Cape Cod, the mate, by direction of the captain, ordered the crew to set up the stay, but the order not being obeyed, the mate went forward and spoke to one of the men, who replied in insolent language, and seizing a handspike, struck him a violent blow across the temple, which knocked him down. The captain then went forward, took hold of one of the men and asked him what all this meant. The man, without any direct reply, struck the captain with a handspike, inflicting a deep gash on his head.—Another of the crew seizing the cook's axe struck him with the head of it on the side, breaking one or two of his ribs. The captain finally succeeded in escaping from his assailants and went aft. The mate in the meantime had fainted, but revived and got back to the cabin. The second mate all the while stood looking on, without attempting to render any assistance to the captain or chief mate. The vessel was immediately put about and returned to this port. The captain was brought ashore and a physician called, who says that in addition to the broken ribs, he is injured internally. The mutineers have been arrested by the U. S. Marshal and committed to jail. We did not learn that the crew assigned any cause for their mutinous conduct.

The most probable cause was, the bad liquor they drank, which had not got out of their heads.

A DESPICABLE MONSTER.—It appeared on examination, in the Boston Police Court, of the case of John Fleming, charged with homicide, in causing the death of his son Patrick, by neglect and cruelty, that the monster has five thousand dollars. And yet he kept his son, after he was stricken down by disease, in a damp, dark, dismal cellar, denying the commonest comforts of life: not even treating him as though he was a human being. With gold gleaming from his coffers enough to make his days more than comfortable; himself strong and healthy, he, a father, denied his own son that aid which the poorest and humblest person on earth would have granted.—Boston Bee.

Justice Cushing allowed this worse than barbarian to give bail in $1000 only, for his appearance for trial for his murderous offence.

A terrible explosion occurred at Wheeling on Monday. Twenty kegs of gunpowder exploded on the wharf, killing one drayman instantly, and blowing another in the river.—The wharf boat was completely demolished, and the steamboats, Orison and Salem, damaged. Several windows were shattered throughout the city.

LOCAL.

THE FRANKLIN.—While waiting orders on the repairs of this ship, sixty or seventy men have been discharged from the Navy Yard.—The foundations are in prepration for laying the keel in the large ship house, which is to be lengthened. Late orders forbid the cutting of the keel, which we do not presume to understand—but doubtless the Bureau of Construction understands all about it. The Franklin, if repaired as proposed, would doubtless be a fast sailer.

SINGULAR CASE.

Charles L. Godfrey, of Epping, was yesterday brought before Horace Webster, Esq., of this city, U. S. Commissioner,—or to speak more correctly the Commissioner visited the sick prisoner at his bedside, in Epping. He waived an examination, and was ordered to find bail in the sum of $5000 for his appearance at Court to answer to the charge of procuring pension papers by fraud. He did not procure sureties: but his phisician giving a certificate that he could not bear removal, he was not committed to prison. He is supposed to be in consumption; and his case will probably be transferred to that higher court where actions and motives are weighed together, by the same Almighty hand which weighs the mountains in scales and the hills in a ballance.

☞ Rev. Thomas Holmes, pastor of the Pleasant Street Church in this city, leaves Portsmouth in a few days, to accept an appointment in a western college. He will preach his farewell sermon to-morrow-afternoon.

BEAUTIFUL PHENOMENON.

On Thursday evening, at about 11 o'clock a light cloudy formation was seen in the south-east, and in a very few minutes extended from the south-east horizon through the zenith to the north-west horizon, making a perfect belt of about 8 or 10 deg in width. Its appearance was like that of light smoke, and stars of the third magnitude could be seen through it. The lower strata moved faster than the upper—like the low clouds before a gale of wind. It disappeared from the zenith first, the two extremes of the arch shooting up like the Aurora Borealis, and it was probably of the same electric nature. It entirely disappeared in about half an hour after first being seen. When the arch was whole it was a most beautiful sight.

On Friday evening there was a splendid display of Aurora Borealis. The coruscations extended around the northern horizon nearly from the east to the west.

LITIGATION.—On the Docket of the September term of the Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham Co. there are 430 cases; on the Sessions Docket 9; State Docket 8;—making 447 in all.

TALL CORN.—A sample of "acclimated southern field corn," from a patch at Indian Hill Farm, West Newbury, is exhibited in Newburyport, and measures fourteen feet, seven inches in height. There are over one hundred hills in the same lot bearing stalks that are fourteen feet and upwards in height.

THE REPUDIATING SINGERS.—The Salem Freeman of Thursday morning says:—"We do not know how much money Sontag's agents may have pocketed, and charged to 'purchasing the press,' but we do know that a bill at this office for advertising her concert, which was to have been given in this city a good while ago, remains unpaid, and we would thank Mr. Ullman or the person whose business it is to pay it, to "call at the captain's office and settle."

FROST AND ICE IN AUGUST.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser of Monday states that there was a severe frost the night previous in that city and vicinity. Potatoes, buckwheat and corn were badly nipped, while pumpkins, squashes, cucumbers, melons, sweet potatoes and other tender plants, were completely cut off. In one instance ice was formed in a pail of water outside of a house after daylight on Sunday morning.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 1.—The messenger of the Newport Banks was robbed of his packages containing, it is said, from $30,000 to $50,000, on board the steamer Perry, this afternoon. He had laid down the bag containing the bills, and while his back was turned for a minute another bag precisely similar, containing packages of newspapers cut to the size of bank bills, was substituted. He did not discover the robbery until he delivered the bag at the Merchants' Bank.

SUICIDE.—A young woman named Mary Miller, 18 years of age, wife of Louis Miller, a steamboat cook, committed suicide in St. Louis, on the 24th ult., by taking arsenic.—The alleged cause of her committing the act was that her husband did not treat her well.

The Religious Telegraph, a newspaper published at Circleville, Ohio, by the United Brethren, or Moravians, has been proscribed at Glenville, Va., by the postmaster of that town, who refused to deliver it to its subscribers, on the ground that it contains abolition matter. He had it burned in the streets as an example.

PEACHES.—The Board of Governors of the Alms House, at New York, sent twenty baskets of peaches to the children at Randall's Island on Wednesday.

☞ The Daily Chronicle is regularly and extensively circulated by carriers in all parts of this city, in New Castle, Kittery (Navy-Yard Village and the Point,) in Greenland and Epping; on the Eastern and P. S & P. Railroads; on the Portsmouth & Concord road to Concord, and in Concord—besides having quite a large transient circulation in all this vicinity. The Weekly Chronicle also goes into every neighboring town and village, and has a growing list. Advertisements inserted in the Daily, appear at least once in the Weekly, in most cases without extra charge; which renders this an excellent medium for communicating with the entire public in this region.

FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS.

A despatch of Sept. 1, says. The total interments for 24 hours ending this morning, were 119, of which 103 were from yellow fever. The slight decrease in the number of deaths, which has recently appeared, affords but little valid ground for congratulation, since it should rather be ascribed to the want of subjects than to a relaxation in the virulence of the disease:

The New Orleans papers publish a card from three pastors of the Presbyterian Church, proposing to all Christian Congregations, a a daily public prayer, to be held during the prevalence of the devastating epidemic.

On Sunday last, the Rev. Dr. Leacock, Rector of Christ Church on Canal street, recommended to his Church and Congregation, the observance of Friday next, the 26th, as a day of humiliation and of public prayer to God, for his Gracious Protection and interposition, for early and effectual relief from this calamitous visitation.

A form of prayer has been recently prepared by Bishop Polk, and recommended to be used in all his diocesan Churches and Congregations, during the continuance of the epidemic.

A letter from one of the members of the Howard Association says:

There is not a member of the Howard Association but is daily applied to for charity of all kinds and character—for money to pay for back rent, to take the applicant to the West, North or Europe, or for the support of large families. If all these demands were satisfied, a half million of dollars would not carry us through. All calls made upon us, that come within our province, shall receive prompt attention, and every necessary want be supplied; and to do this, from present indications, more than $100,000 will be required. We have had over 6000 cases, and have a fair prospect for as many more ere the first of October.

The Bee presents a statement of the operations of the Howard Association:

Number of patients treated from July 16th to Aug. 20th, inclusive, 4,554; discharged, cured, 2,201; died, 723; under treatment, 1,630. Total, 4554. This association has employed at least 300 physicians and apothecaries, providing horses and vehicles for at least thirty physicians. Each infirmary is attended by two physicians—and 6 nurses and servants are employed at an expense of $30 to $40 per month each.

The Orphan Asylums established in Hevia street and Lafayette, by the Board, being found too contracted for the proper accommodation of their inmates, the latter, numbering 192, were a few days ago transferred to a spacious building in Foucher street, and placed under the care and control of a society of ladies of the highest respectability and well-known benevolence, called the St. Vincent de Paul Association. Of these children, over 50 were brought to the Asylum by persons who were ignorant of the names of their parents—the older ones being able only to make known their Christian names. Besides the charge of these children, the Society has no less than forty nurslings to support, and employs a number of wet nurses for this purpose, at from $11 to $15 per month. Some of the nurses take charge of two children, at an additional compensation.

The daily expenses of the Howard Association are enormous, and hence, inunificent as the donations have been, every dollar will be expended before the disappearance of the epidemic. Every patient under their care entails on them a daily expense for ice and medicine of from 75 cents to $1 during sickness, and for a week after convalescence.

There are now under constant employment by the society over 300 nurses, at a cost of from two to three dollars each per diem. The entire estimated expense for relief is put down at $1500 per day.

YELLOW FEVER AT PENSACOLA.—Washington, Sept. 2.—Capt. M. Fountleroy, of the Navy, and Capt. Baker, of the Marine Corps, died recently at Pensacola of yellow fever.—Capt. Tatnall is reported to be alarmingly ill. The epidemic is increasing at Pensacola, and the type is more malignant.

There are serious apprehensions of the appearance of yellow fever at various parts of Texas.

FEVER ON SHIPBOARD.—The ship Sheffield, Capt. Lewis, which arrived at Boston on Wednesday night, from New Orleans, has been ordered to quarantine in consequence of having lost one man by yellow fever and having another sick with it on board.

There were ten deaths by yellow fever at Mobile, on the 25th: among the dead are Capt. Fowler of the brig Wetumka, and G. W. Miller, a passenger.

FROM NEW BRUNSWICK.—The Mirimichi Gleaner of the 27th ult., says:—The change in the weather has been most extraordinary, about ten days ago we were scorched and burnt up with the intense heat of the sun; since then considerable rain has fallen, the wind prevailed from the North and Northeast; and the evenings and mornings are damp and extremely cold, rendering a fire necessary for comfort. There has been frost the last four nights, but not sufficient we should think to injure anything.

Lord Elgin and family arrived at St John, N. B. on Monday last, on their way to England.

The fishermen of Shelburne county, who by the way catch a far larger quantity of fish than those of any other county of Nova Scotia, we are happy to learn, have been exceedingly fortunate this season.

The Pictou Chronicle states that a larger amount of coal has been shipped from that port this season, than for some years past.—Freights have ranged higher than for two years past.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 31st.—The New York Free Democratic Convention met here to day. John Day was appointed President. John P. Hale Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, reports a series and an address to the Independent Democracy. An attempt to engraft the Maine Law on the platform was voted down. Senator Chase and Gerrit Smith spoke and were warmly received.—The Convention nominated a ticket for State Officers, and adjourned sine die.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.
Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devoting upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[OR FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

HALF A MILLION COPIES

should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as the loss or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding), "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. English Horses.—Horses in England are deteriorating as a race; they are growing more delicate. At Chobham, the horses are housed carefully, whereas in former times they could do very well in the open air. Modern English horses are so liable to have sore backs after a very moderate march, and they are so weak in the legs, that a number of such marches would produce lameness. The useful class of horses which formerly supplied the cavalry, no longer exists. Breeders confine themselves to raising thorough-breds for the turf, to cart-horses, harness-horses and hunters.—N. Y. Post.

Omnibusses in Boston.—Robert Taylor, Superintendent of Carriages, certifies that the whole number of omnibusses running in Boston, including those that come in from neighboring towns and cities, is 201. Of these, one hundred and forty-three, or more than two-thirds of the whole number, pass through Washington street.

In the Duke of Devonshire's park at Chatsworth, are kept 7,000 deer. The park contains 2,000 acres.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DOCTOR ALFRED G. HALL,

AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in the person of any invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the precise condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes for his Nutritive Fluids and cordials.

Three months' attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions, for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works, "Views of the New Theory, &c.," "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Doctor Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter, or in person at his rooms, No. 15 Winter St., Boston, from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. ☞ Medicines, &c. forwarded by Express to any part.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who resided many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity, where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered to Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fall disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub.ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

READ! READ! READ!

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is warranted free from all mineral substances. By its mild action on the Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial &

Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

Mayor's Office, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jno. E. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. Ship Cumberland,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

VALEDICTORY HYMN,

ADDRESSED TO A PASTOR ON LEAVING HIS CHARGE.

Sung at the Pleasant Street Church in this city, on the occasion of Rev. Thos. Holmes preaching his farewell discourse, Sunday, Sept. 4, 1853.

Brother beloved! a kind farewell
We breathe for thee to-day—
Our hearts with sad emotions swell
The parting word to say.
Thy work is done—thy mission ends—
Thy faithful charge is given:
Oh! may our union here as friends,
Be sweeter still in heaven.

How brief the years since first thy voice
Within those walls was heard!
How many since in Christ rejoice
And love the Living Word!
'Tis not in vain thou'st labored here,
In feebleness of frame—
More precious fruit may yet appear,
To bless our pastor's name.

And is it past? Shall we no more
Thy pious counsels share?
Are all our social meetings o'er
Of melody and prayer?
Yes, we must part! those sacred hours
Of fellowship must close—
Perchance till we, in Eden bowers,
From earthly ills repose.

Thence onward, brother! press thy way,
God's enemies pursue—
The Master calls—His voice obey—
Behold! a crown in view.
Aloud proclaim "the day of grace"—
The Gospel trumpet sound;
Wage war with sin in every place
Where sinners may be found.

Strong be thy heart to do His will,
His service to perform,—
May love for souls thy bosom fill,
And keep it ever warm.
For others' good we bid thee go—
Diffuse the holy fire—
Preach Christ to dying men below,
Till He shall call thee higher.

ADULTERATED WINES.

The Boston Chronicle has often contained valuable articles on bad and vile distilled liquors, some of which we have copied.

Now we have a brief article on Wines, which is commended to all who drink wine, as they doubtless wish to drink it, not only "pure as imported," but absolutely pure. We do not know how they can attain this, unless they make it themselves, from grapes or raisins. The extract is from McMullen on Wines.

"There have been times and places in which the only intoxicating beverege was light wine, and where habits of inebriation were all but unknown. But is that our case? Distillation has filled our land with alcoholic stimulants of the most fiery and deleterious character. Our wines, in a large proportion of instances, are but spurious compounds without grape-juice, and with a large infusion of distilled spirits, and even of more unhealthy ingredients. As long ago as the days of Addison, we read in the Tatler (No. 131) that in London there was a "fraternity of chemial operators, who worked under the ground in holes, caverns, and dark retirements, to conceal their mysteries from the observation of mankind. These subterranean philosophers are daily employed in the transmutation of liquors; and, by the power of magical drugs and incantations, raising, under the streets of London, the choicest products of the hills and vallies of France. They can squeeze claret out of the sloe, and draw champagne out of an apple."

The practice of substituting these base counterfeits for wine extracted from the grape has become so prevalent in this country, that well-informed and conscientious persons aver, that, for every gallon of wine imported from abroad, ten or more are manufactured at home. 'Five and twenty years ago,' says the late J. Fennimore Cooper, 'when I first visited Europe, I was astonished to see wine drunk in tumblers. I did not at first understand that half of what I had been drinking at home was brandy under the name of wine.'

"These adulterations and fabrications in the wine trade are not confied to our country or to England. They abound where the vine flourishes in greatest abundance. 'Though the pure juice of the grape,' says our eminent countryman, Horatio Greenough (the sculptor), 'can be furnished here (in Florence) for one cent a bottle, yet the retailers choose to gain a fraction of profit by the admission of water or drugs.' He adds, 'how far the destructive influence of wine, as here used, is to be ascribed to the grape, and how far it is augmented and aggravated by poisonous adulterations, it would be difficult to say.

McMullen, a recent writer on wines, states that in France there are 'extensive establishments (existing at Cette and Marseilles) for the Manufacture or every description of wine, both white and read, to resemble the produce not only of France, but of all other wine countries. It is no uncommon practice with speculators engaged in this trade to purchase and ship wines, fabricated in the places named, to other ports on the continent; and, being branded and marked as the genuine wines usually are, they are then transshipped to the markets for which they are designed, of which the United States is the chief.

Such is the extent to which this traffic is carried, that one individual has been referred to in the French ports who has been in the habit of shipping four times in the year, twenty thousand bottles of champagne, not the product of the grape, but fabricated in these wine-factories. It is well known that the imposition of these counterfeit wines has arrived at such a pitch as to become quite notorious, and the subject of much complaint, in this country at least.'"

THE LION.—A few days ago, at Hylton's Menagerie, in Glasgow, a mischievous urchin, after teasing the African lion, punctured his nose with a needle. The beast, feeling the smart, bounded against the iron bars of the inclosure, and drove the needle further in.—The keeper, Maccommo, who was unaware of what had occurred, went into the den for the purpose of exhibiting its performance, but fortunately discerned the eye of the needle in the lion's olfactory nerve. The lion seemed to supplicate, and Maccommo, with great courage, extracted the needle, upon which the king of the forest, relieved from the pain, fondled him with all the affection of a spaniel.

Judge McLean's opinion in the recent slave case at Cincinnati, is pronounced worse than free soilism by the Charleston Mercury. The ground of exception is that the Judge, like all other jurists of America of any note in the national courts, said that slavery exists only by local law.
